Tigers Looking For Coach; Have Eyes On Local Man

The Vermilion Tigers are presently without a coach as Les Kreller has gone to hospital for an operation. In order to overcome this handicap the Tiger executive conferred with Chamber of Commerce representatives on Wednesday afternoon. The outcome was that the job should be offered to a certain local man who was out of town and could not be reached at the time

The coach in mind had been a former Tiger hockey player and has met with considerable success coaching juvenile teams. It is felt that he is the man to obtain the maximum results from the present day Tigers. There appears to be plenty of potential on the Tiger line-up but it hasn't been made to click so far

Further announcement will be made next week.

A young V.S.A student is the toast of the Tiger hockey fans today. Leo was moved up to the forward line for Wednesday night's game and won himself a hat from Clendenning's Family Wear by scoring three goals in a losing cause, a hat trick

Leo scored from Ron Hemmingway and then from Peter Link in the second period, and once again in the third on Hemmingway's pass.

Ron Hemmingway turned in one of his best efforts also, scoring one goal and assisting on two. Ike Bronson scored and assisted to open the Tigers' scoring and Ken Brown notched a counter from Gerry Schmidt

The Chevies ran in four counters in the first period, Glen Armstrong accounting for three of them and Strate the other

The Tiger counter came early in the second, Ike Bronson from Gerry Schmidt. For the visitors it was Mills and Bill Armstrong

In the final period the sharpshooters were Thompson, Malinowski, Glen Armstrong, Bill Armstrong and Asleson.

Erstwhile Tiger Hedley Dennill made his initial appearance locally in a Chevy uniform and was given a game-long razzing by the fans.

Tigers were penalized twice, Legasse for elbowing and Strate scored, then it was Redford for slashing and again the Chevies counted. Lloydminster players were banished for two minutes each for four penalties, Asleson earning three of these and Mills the other

COACH NEEDED

Tigers are presently without a coach and it is quite apparent they need someone to direct them in no uncertain manner. The ability appears to be there but it is certainly not unified. Efforts to secure a capable and heavy-handed coach are stated to be underway by the management and it is hoped they will come up with a capable one before the season ends, which is fast slipping by

Local Delegates at Youth for Christ Teen-A-Vision Rally at Calgary

Two teenager delegates from Vermilion attended the Youth for Christ Teen-a-vision, held in Calgary December 29-31. A total of 150 students from Alberta high schools attended the meet. Chartered buses from Edmonton, Wainwright and Coaldale carried members to the convention. Day sessions were conducted at the Berean Bible College campus and the evening services were presented in the North Hill Nazarene Church.

Rev Ron Allen, Director of Alberta Youth for Christ was dean of the convention. Youth leaders from widely scattered areas assisted in the presentation of a program designed to inspire youth to challenge of the Christian Gospel as the only conclusive answer to the threat of world communism and juvenile delinquency.

The program of Youth for Christ includes regular interdenominational youth rallies, High School clubs, the rapidly developing Lifeline ministry to delinquent teens, an outstanding youth film library and the newly organized Frontier Lodge, a camp and conference centre located on the David Thompson highway midway between Banff and Red Deer. Rev Allen says: "Seldom have we seen a more enthusiastic group of teens than the delegates to this Teen-a-vision Rally."

Blood Testing Is Now Under Way In Vermilion Area

Two and one-half million cattle in Alberta are now under the Federal Brucellosis Restricted Areas Program. According to Dr. W. P. Brisbane, Brucellosis Control Supervisor, Veterinary Service Branch of the Department of Agriculture, the vaccination of heifer calves this year is expected to reach an all time high of 400,000.

The beneficial results of calfhood vaccinations are clearly shown as a factor in reducing the incidence of brucellosis. Dr Brisbane reports that the percentage of reactors in the Federal Brucellosis Control areas in the province is approximately one half of the national average for Canada.

There are now 72 areas in Alberta gazetted as Federal Brucellosis Control Areas. The Federal Health of Animals Branch have commenced blood testing cattle in nine of these areas. These are the Municipal Districts of Starland, Kneehill, Mountain View, Strathcona, Beaver, Vermilion River, Lacombe and the Counties of Stettler and Wetaskiwin.

Brucellosis Restricted Areas in the province have increased by thirteen during 1960 which brings the total number under brucellosis supervision to 72. The new restricted areas are the Counties of Forty Mile No. 8 and Newell No. 4, the Municipal Districts of St. Paul No. 86 and Fairview No. 136 and the Improvement Districts Nos. 111, 124, 126, 131, 146, 77, 78, 95 and 99.

Small Industry Prime Requisite For New Year

One year ago farewell was bid to a decade classed as the "frantic '50s". The '60s by virtue of the one year so far experienced have already been aptly named "the age of anxiety" — so many world crises have arisen. It is apparent that this anxiety will intensify rather than abate as far as world relations are concerned.

However, the Standard will satisfy itself wondering just what might be expected by the town and district during the new year. 1960 was a very good year from an agricultural production standpoint, as one farmer stated, it was about as close to "next year" as we will ever get. The town too, can look back on continued steady growth, not as spectacular as 1959 when numerous commercial structures were built and 31 new homes constructed, but nevertheless continued steady building. The erection of the new agricultural centre and the senior citizens lodge were the highlights.

There are other good omens. The addition to and expansion of the Canadian Utilities power plant is a promising sign; and it is hoped that this is but the forerunner of the location here of some industrial enterprise, large or small. The first industry is always the difficult one to obtain — others seem to follow more easily. Situated in one of the best agricultural communities in the province, all that is required is an industry to give the necessary boost to present economy.

Continued development is planned for the Vermilion provincial park, and pressure is continuing for a change in the dam to allow for a higher water level.

The town is fortunate in having many extras, such as the V.S.A., the Park, the Utilities power plant, but it could still use that much-desired industry. Accomplishment of this during 1961 would really make it a milestone year for Vermilion.

Avoid Disappointment By Making Appointments Now

All farmers are urged to make appointments now with managers of their municipal seed cleaning plants to have their seed cleaned and treated before the spring rush. Farmers who take advantage of this off-peak period will, in addition to avoiding disappointment later, be able to enjoy more [illegible] service at this time of year.

J. B. Gurba and S. Goddard, both of the Field Crops Branch of the Department of Agriculture, point out that sound dry seed, treated with recommended dressings for disease and wireworm control, will store well under Alberta winter conditions. Provided the grain is dry and approved [illegible] used, the germination will not be affected and the [illegible] will not lose their effectiveness during a storage period of several months.

At 5c a bushel, seed treatment will prevent disease carried on the grain itself and protect the seed and seedlings from diseases carried in the soil. Municipal seed cleaning plants are equipped with the best facilities available for this job and can do it cheaper and better than the average farmer at home.

Mrs. Wm. Woywitka Pres. Claysmore W I

The December meeting of the Claysmore W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Woywitka with eight members and one visitor present. [illegible] the usual business the [illegible] of officers for the 1961-62 term took place. President, Mrs. Wm. Woywitka; Vice-Pres., Mrs. O. Willes; Sec'y, Mrs. J. Willes; Treas., Mrs. A. Olstad.

A busy afternoon followed discussing plans for the Christmas party at the school and concert [illegible] appointed to look after [illegible] lunch, tree, treat, etc. Date of the party was set for Dec. 17.

Plans for the W.I. program booklets were talked over and a committee appointed to arrange interesting and useful roll calls for 1961. A meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert MacMillan early in January to complete booklets.

The exchange of Christmas gifts was enjoyed by members and a tasty lunch served by the hostess.

C.G.I.T. Reporting

The C.G.I.T. [illegible] service was held Dec. 18 with President Jean Stephens acting [illegible].

At the W.A. Xmas tea and bazaar the C.G.I.T. sold candy and other Christmas arrangements.

On Nov. 29 the Vermilion girls were invited to the Lloydminster C.G.I.T. rally. It was well attended and greatly enjoyed by all. We wish to thank those who drove cars to Lloydminster for us.

On Dec. 19th the girls went caroling at the hospital and the Senior Citizens' lodge. The girls were then entertained at the home of Mrs. Harry Morris, one of the group leaders, who served hot chocolate and cake which was much enjoyed. Thank you Mrs. Morris.

We have now completed our Bible study which was under the direction of Dr. Layton. This study was very interesting. On behalf of the C.G.I.T. and leaders we wish to thank Dr. Layton for this interesting study.

POULTRY FORECAST

Mr. English, Alberta's Department of Agriculture Statistician, says Canada's egg production will be sufficient in the first quarter of 1961 to cause a seasonal price decline. Probably not as severe a decline nor as long duration as last year. At present Alberta egg producers enjoy a price somewhat higher than when eggs are being exported. The rising trend in chick hatchings evident this fall may however indicate an increase in egg production in the latter part of 1961. Higher prices for Canadian turkeys in 1960 are expected to encourage increased production in 1961.

FARM MANAGEMENT

Bookkeeping provides only the information upon which the manager bases his decisions. Before a good decision can be made, as Russian Wild Rye grass or brome grass or clip pasture, to grow grass consider all the information available. Consider where it comes from and what area it applies to. Remember that magazine articles are written in such a manner as to catch attention so that the editor will print them. Most of the valuable information such as day to day research or a farmer's own books would never make the headlines. Your D.A. will help you with bookkeeping, analysis of those books and any other phases of farm management. Why not talk it over with him?

GOOD PASTURE GAINS

Manyberries Experimental Farm approximately twp. 5 range 6 reports Crested Wheat grass and Russian Wild Rye grass pastures grazed at 1/8th acre per ewe per month at ¼ acre per ewe per month. The greatest differences occurred in fall grazing. In 1959 native range grazed continuously for seven months resulted in gain of 7.1 pounds per acre, continuous crested wheat grass 20 pounds per acre. It seems logical that either or both of these grasses should be considered when sowing down pasture on land that once supported prairie wool.

PRAIRIE GARDEN

The Winnipeg Horticultural Society publishes a book annually called the Prairie Garden which will be coming off press early in February 1961. There are over 100 illustrations in the book which sold 10,000 copies in 1960. Persons wishing to receive the Prairie Garden 1961 may do so by leaving your name and 50 cents at the D. A. office Vermilion.

HOMEMAKER'S HOLIDAY

With the Christmas rush over the youngsters will be back in [illegible] bubbling over with vigor [illegible] enthusiasm [illegible] until the thrill of [illegible] new skis or [illegible] wears off. How is your vigor and enthusiasm? Ready for a holiday you say, well certainly you deserve one. It is true that a woman's work is never done, but that isn't as grim as it sounds. Don't you derive a sense of satisfaction from your daily tasks even if it's just "well that's the ironing completed for another week"? And anyway don't you find [illegible] "the happiest when you're busiest"? If you can contrive to be pleasant and happy, your cheerfulness will effect other members of the household. For this you will receive the best reward ever — smiling faces and fewer short tempers.

LIGHTENING YOUR LOAD

There are a number of ways the homemaker can make her work easier. One of the most practical suggestions is to remind you to make a work plan. This does take time, but it is a great time-saver in the long run. Plan your work for the week, the day, the morning. Make your plan flexible. Avoid trying to do the impossible. Whenever your load seems too heavy, try distributing more tasks among family members. When directing the work of children make certain they understand clearly what they are supposed to do.

[illegible]

Analyse your work habits. Be on the alert for new methods of doing certain jobs. Occasionally some jobs or parts of jobs could be eliminated. Are you neat and orderly in handling supplies and equipment? If you can work without clutter you will be able to do more. A feeling of frustration may be the result of confusion in the working place.

SETTING GOALS

If you have something to look forward to at the end of your working period, you can work and not so likely to become bored. These goals can be anything you wish — more time with the family, a period of relaxation, time for sewing or handicraft, an hour devoted to reading or listening to the radio. Make your tasks seem pleasant instead of "must be done" chores. You as well as other family members will benefit.

Chicago has launched what is believed North America's second civic-supported heart disease prevention program. It is based on clearing up abnormalities known to predispose to heart disease. Important is the reduction of animal fats being eaten and an increase in vegetable oils in the diet — especially oils which are liquid at room temperature (called unsaturated oils).

People forced on a simple restricted diet during the war — in Scandinavian and similar European countries — actually had less heart disease than on a full rich diet in peacetime.

South African Negroes called the Bantus have a remarkably low rate of coronary heart disease. They eat primarily a diet of corn cake. Fatty foods of animal origin are believed responsible for high incidence of heart disease among whites.

The Christmas concert at Preston school was really outstanding and great credit is due the three teachers who so ably conducted it. As usual the little ones captured everyone's heart, but they sure do all grow up and what a difference is seen from year to year.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Sweet on the sick list again, also Ray Osterberg. A speedy recovery is wished them.

A few more were added to our power line just before Xmas including Clarence Wilson, Albert Smith, Arnold Ruud and Arthur Beckman.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Parking your car outside every night is no problem during the warm seasons, but the cold weather of winter is another story. Here are some tips that can help you solve your winter parking problem.

If the car is not protected by a building, make sure it's parked with its back to the wind, rather than facing away from it.

Cover the hood of the car with a old blanket or strip of canvas. Anchor it by attaching ends beneath the hood and the car's body.

Newspaper or cardboard over the windshield and rear window prevents snow and ice from caking on the glass. The windshield wipers should keep the front from blowing away or you can buy a special vinyl plastic windshield cover. For the back window a little cellulose tape should do the trick. During these winter months the car's finish [illegible]

How Long Did It Take You To Court Your Wife?

Did you just happen to see her, walk up to her, ask her to marry you, call in the minister — right on the spot?

PERHAPS NOT . . . It probably took a lot of calls, and trips, movies, flowers, candies, and a lot of putting-your-best-foot-forward tactics. You had to sell yourself. She had to know all about you.

IT'S THE SAME WITH ADVERTISING . . . you can't "woo" customers with just one Ad. . . . you've got to "Call On Them" over a period of time . . . you've got to win their confidence and be convincing.

CONSISTENT ADVERTISING wins the customers if its truthful, if it gives helpful information, if it saves shopping steps, if it is backed up with intelligent, courteous service and with honest values.

MADE HONORARY CITIZEN FOR GOOD DEED

City Of Winnipeg
Mayor's Office
John J. Connor,
Honorary Citizen

John O. Connor, a transplanted Torontonian who lived in Winnipeg until a short time ago, has been made an honorary citizen of Winnipeg—for a good deed performed in Toronto. Mr Connor eased his car forward to enable a doctor to park recently in front of a hotel. The doctor, evidently pleased with his good manners, must have written to the mayor. Mr. Connor, above, is shown with the hand-lettered scroll he received from Winnipeg.

LIVESTOCK REPORT

A generally good sale was held on Tuesday, January 3rd. On offering were the following: 350 hogs, 96 cattle and 10 horses.

Prices on all classes of hogs and cattle were in line with the last sales of 1960. One lot of fat steers contributed by Irvine Bell sold for $21.30 per cwt. to Canada Packers. Stock steer calves sold from $20.50 to $22.00 per cwt., heifers 18.00 to 19.00.

Hogs are finding a wider range of buyers. We anticipate even better prices on all classes.

Let us handle your feeder and fat cattle. We'll do our job if we have your support.

JUST ONE BREAK SPELLS OUT JOB

A new employment service, the first of its kind in Canada, has recently opened in Toronto, Ont. JOB, actually the initials stand for Just One Break, is dedicated to finding jobs for the physically handicapped. Mr. Ralph Bult, a polio victim who opened the office, says it is a pilot project. If successful it will be duplicated in other major cities. This is a non-profit organization with no charge to either applicant or employer. ALL PRESCRIPTIONS MUST BE CAREFULLY CHECKED

A pharmacist first studies every prescription before compounding. The dosage is checked for safety. We make certain we know exactly what your physician wants. If we are in doubt we call the physician for more information. Then, you get your prescription quickly.

That is why most new prescriptions cannot safely be ordered by mail. You would lose too much time and this personal checking between the physician and pharmacist, if compounded in a distant centre, far from your physician.

Salvation Army States Religious And Moral Stand In Public Proclamation

A proclamation stating the religious and moral position of The Salvation Army will be read in all Salvation Army Watchnight Services and during the first Sunday of the New Year in Citadels across the nation. Commissioner W Booth made this announcement in Toronto Dec. 20, 1960.

The Salvation Army, brought into being by the inspiration of Almighty God through His work in the hearts of William and Catherine Booth ninety five years ago, views with deep concern the apathy and irreligion of the present day.

In view of universal laxity towards God's moral order on the one hand and the awful threat of global destruction on the other, The Salvation Army declares its unswerving convictions and purposes and proclaims that: It is its God-Given mission to make known that repentance from sin, and faith in the redemption purchased by Jesus in His death on Calvary are the conditions of Salvation and that such Salvation is for all the world, regardless of race, colour, creed, age or circumstance.

Its Officers and Soldiers will press a spiritual offensive, seeking outlook, to one of service for God to lead into Salvation those who have fallen prey of godlessness and sin and literally to fulfil the last instruction of Jesus when He was on earth, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel."

It views with profound sorrow the false creeds and hopes by which men comfort themselves that all will be well with them in spite of their sinful lives.

On the authority of God's Word a firm stand must be taken on observance of the Sabbath Day, remembering that nations or individuals who disregard it do so to their own loss.

No change has been made in The Salvation Army's convictions concerning morality as taught by Jesus Christ.

The Salvation Army is unwavering in its stand against intoxicating drink and harmful drugs, and will continue to do all things possible to save both young and old from their bondage.

Contemplating these thoughts, Salvationists throughout Canada are called upon to renew their dedication to Christian living and service, believing that Jesus Christ is the only hope of mankind; to pray for the world, for the leaders of nations, that hate may be displaced by peace, and that so-called Christian nations shall return to God and His guidance, thus bringing the fulfilment of the prophecy, "Peace shall cover the earth again as the waters cover the sea".

KNOW YOUR HEART

Long established fallacies are hard to kill but many thousands of persons leading happy lives today are walking proof of the fact that coronary thrombosis — "heart attack" — is neither necessarily fatal nor always a cause of invalidism.

The very terms that the [illegible] thrombosis [illegible] persons to one of [illegible] that a physician must overcome in treating these attacks. It is well established that the emotions have a very definite effect upon the circulatory system. Fear is one of the strongest of these.

Complete rest in the initial stages of a "heart attack" is essential. Fear makes it difficult to rest properly. Even though the patient may not be [illegible] a muscle outwardly, [illegible] contractions that affect the behaviour of his heart and blood vessels.

When the physician allays these fears and helps the patient put them in their proper perspective the process of recovery can begin without handicap.

The heart and circulatory system are a remarkably complex [illegible] efficient contrivance of nature — far more so than any man-made machine. They carry within their normal activities the power to repair themselves within reasonable limits. No machine can do this.

In cases of so-called "heart attacks" — coronary thrombosis — the cause of the trouble is formation of a blood clot. Although about 5,000 gallons of blood are pumped daily through and by the heart, that organ does not draw sustenance from the blood passing through its chambers.

The heart — essentially a four-compartment muscle — derives nourishment from the blood passing through its walls out of arteries that branch off the aorta, the heart's great outlet. Naturally, since it works so hard, the heart requires large amounts of blood for its driving force.

Occasionally, a blood clot blocks the flow of blood in one of the coronary arteries. The heart's muscle fibres which this artery supplies are deprived of oxygen, their source of energy. Lack of oxygen causes severe constricting pain. This is a "heart attack."

[illegible] when the artery is blocked, the wonderful mechanism of the body starts to adapt itself to the emergency. Other arteries supplying nearby parts of the muscle gradually begin to expand to increase their flow. They furnish detours for the blood around the "blocked road" just as a highway crew would designate alternate routes to handle traffic while it cleared a road of an obstruction.

During this period of course, the heart is working under a handicap. Therefore, the less it has to do, the less it will be strained. Complete rest is indicated until suitable alternate routes have been "widened" to handle the "traffic".

That is why everyone should understand the nature of coronary thrombosis. If the patient doesn't understand this, his fear may seriously interfere with his recovery. If his family doesn't understand this, he will realize their anxiety and being emotionally upset, will not recover as quickly as he should. Most victims of "heart attack" not only survive but can return to reasonably happy, productive activity.

This is one of a series of articles on diseases of the heart and circulation presented by your Alberta Heart Foundation. It is published by this newspaper as a public service to promote better public understanding of the heart [illegible]

Eating Before Baby's Born

Health Unit Notes

The nutrition of the expectant mother has an important influence on her baby's health as well as her own. Good food is necessary for the growth of the mother's tissues, for the development of the baby and to prepare the mother for nursing. An additional quantity of food is needed, particularly in the second half of pregnancy when the mother's tissues and the baby grow the most. The kinds of food eaten are important at all stages of pregnancy.

Canada's Food Rules are an excellent guide to the choice of a variety of food for the whole family. The following food selection is based on Canada's food rules, adjusted to the needs of the expectant mother.

MILK: At least one pint in the first half of pregnancy; at least 1½ pints in the second half.

FRUIT: One serving of citrus fruit, tomatoes or their juices; or vitaminized apple juice, and one serving of other fruit.

VEGETABLES: At least one serving of potatoes and at least two servings of other vegetables, preferably leafy, green or yellow, frequently raw.

CEREALS & BREAD: One serving of whole grain cereal and at least four slices of bread, with butter or fortified margarine.

MEAT & FISH: One serving of meat, fish, poultry or meat alternates, such as dried beans, eggs and cheese. Use liver frequently. An egg a day. Cheese at least three times a week.

VITAMIN D: At least 400 International Units daily.

Most foods contain more than one food substance necessary for health. Foods rich in growth substances such as protein, minerals and vitamins are particularly important during pregnancy for the growth of body tissue of both mother and baby. Foods rich in protein are meat, fish, poultry, eggs and milk; they should be included in every meal. Meat and eggs also provide the necessary iron for the growth of red blood cells. Milk and milk products such as cheese are the best source of calcium and phosphorous to build bones and teeth.

VITAMIN C FOODS ARE IMPORTANT

Vitamin C foods such as orange or grapefruit, tomato or vitaminized apple juice should be consumed each day. Other fruits, vegetables and whole grain cereals provide additional minerals and vitamins together with sugars and vegetable protein. Frequent use of these foods also provides needed bulk in the diet and aids regularity.

If calcium tablets are substituted for milk, and vitamin pills for fruit, vegetables and cereals, other important food substances will not be obtained. The only vitamin which cannot be obtained in sufficient quantity in food is vitamin D. This should be taken in some form every day.

Women who begin their pregnancy at normal weight for their height and age will usually gain about 20 to 25 pounds. Most of this gain takes place in the second half of pregnancy and normally occurs gradually. A rapid and un[illegible] large weight gain should not occur if mothers are careful to avoid eating concentrated sweets such as candy, soft drinks and pastry, or very fatty foods. Some weight gain during pregnancy may be caused by an unusual amount of water in the tissues which may show itself in swelling of the hands, face or ankles. To help prevent this, physicians [illegible] advise limiting the salt added to food in the second half of pregnancy. If a mother begins pregnancy either [illegible] or overweight her doctor may recommend a special diet to correct this. Foods for growth, i.e., meat, fish, eggs and milk, are equally important in these diets.

Minor digestive disturbances may occur early or late in pregnancy. The morning nausea of early pregnancy may be relieved by a light snack before getting up. The heartburn of later pregnancy is often helped by eating a number of smaller meals instead of three large ones. Foods which cause discomfort should be avoided.

BREAST FEEDING

There is no better food for a new born baby than breast milk. A mother needs no new foods, but added amounts of some foods will help promote successful nursing. Milk should be increased to at least one quart. Other foods such as meat, eggs, fruit and vegetables should be somewhat increased. A mother who is nursing should obtain sufficient rest and avoid worry, as both fatigue and anxiety will interfere with her ability to feed her baby successfully.

MEAL PLANNING

An expectant mother who is careful to choose her food well and who follows the meal plans suggested will help to maintain her own good nutrition and that of her whole family.

MENU PATTERN TO HELP PLAN YOUR MEALS

Breakfast: Citrus fruit, orange, grapefruit, or other juices; whole grain cereal with milk, egg or other protein food, one slice bread, beverage of choice.

JAZZ MODERNIZES RELIGION

Rev. Geoffrey Beaumont of St George's Camberwell, in London believes the often sombre Church of England can enhance interest by the introduction of jazz into its worship services. Mr Beaumont has composed a ballad, the story of the Crucifixion, set to rock 'n' roll music with 1960 lyrics. It may not make the hit parade but it's making an impact in pubs, church halls and jazz clubs. His unique approach to modernizing religion has met with a measure of disapproval, but on the whole more praise than censure. His folk mass has been recorded on two long-play discs, which are available in Canada.

Phases In The Development of Alcoholism

In the beginning alcoholism is unrecognizable and it might occur at almost any point in the person's life, from early to late. All alcoholics probably started as [illegible] and may for a long time have been indistinguishable from those who were never to become alcoholics. But at some point in his life the future alcoholic begins to exhibit certain behavior symptoms that must be considered danger signals. One or two of these symptoms are in most cases meaningless but three or more, a cluster, must be regarded as serious warnings of danger ahead.

Preoccupation with drinking situations usually marks the earliest symptom of the prospective alcoholic. He begins to drink more often for easier handling of situations. [illegible] in alcohol a rewarding relief from them. He primes himself with a drink or two before a social occasion and he may gulp the first few in order to get a quicker "glow." He sneaks drinks, may keep or take with him extra supplies, "just in case."

His drinking still may not be conspicuous either to himself or to others but he is developing a gradual increase in tolerance for alcohol, needing more to get the same effect. His increasing capacity, far from being recognized as a sign of incipient alcoholism, may even gain for him a measure of approval in his circle, for his ability to "hold his liquor."

He may have one or more blackouts [illegible] sufficiently terrifying to convince him that he is in deadly danger, and encourage him to seek help. The blackout is not to be confused with passing out. It is temporary amnesia, partial or complete, an erasure of memory for a period of time.

He begins to "over-shoot", drinking more [illegible] to, and getting drunk with increasing frequency. He may have an uneasy feeling that something is wrong with his drinking pattern. he will probably begin to lie about the amount he drinks, and avoid references to his consumption.

The period described may last from a few months to several years. Up to this short point he can probably, if he so desires, halt the progression of alcoholism's onset, preferably with professional help. Number five in this series will be Part Two, The Early Phases.

Questions are invited and will be answered as soon as possible. For further information write The Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta, [illegible] St., Edmonton.

In the early days men competed with earth's other creatures—today men compete with other men to develop energy sources. In the process our standard of living has sky rocketed.

Competition has helped Canadians achieve one of the world's highest living standards. Take the way it works in the oil business. Imperial, and hundreds of other companies compete to supply Canadians with oil. As a result oil is available at reasonable prices wherever it is needed — and Canadians have turned to oil for more than half their energy needs.

LETTER FROM EDMONTON

Albertans Review Events of 1960; View 1961 With Quiet Confidence

By KEN MASON

EDMONTON —The year 1960 has gone into the record books generally as a year of recession.

This is true in Alberta as well as in other provinces, but [illegible] a [illegible]. In Alberta the economy receded only slightly. And — what's even more important — consider what it receded from. It receded from a boom period of fantastic economic buoyancy, not generally experienced.

Net result was that while things were not as good in Alberta as they have been in recent years, they were still mighty good in comparison with conditions in other provinces.

The pace of industrial development remained practically unchanged during the year. Labor income was higher than in any previous year and employment, although there was more unemployment too, because the labor force was bigger.

Farm income was practically on a par with that of the last two years, although farm costs were up, too. There was also an increase in mineral production. Shipments of manufacturing firms in the province were valued at more than $900,000,000.

DIVERSIFICATION OF INDUSTRY

Alberta's economic behavior in the past year provides a good illustration of the way in which diversification of industry is benefitting the province.

Fifteen years ago farming accounted for more than 50 per cent of the province's wealth-producing activity. Today agriculture, minerals, manufacturing and construction share almost equally as wealth producers. The result is that when one industry slows down temporarily the others soften the overall effect on the economy.

How do things look for the coming year? According to all the experts, the outlook is fairly bright.

MANUFACTURING PLANTS UNDER CONSTRUCTION

There's little hope of any startling increases in farm income but there's no sign of any decreases, either. Manufacturing plants worth nearly $150,000,000 were under construction last year and when they go into production the value of manufacturing will easily top a billion dollars for the first time in Alberta's history.

LARGE SCALE GAS EXPORT

Probably Alberta's biggest cushion against recession is the impending large-scale export of natural gas to the U.S. During the coming year it will result in massive injections of new capital into the economy to finance pipelines and gas processing plants.

So far as the provincial government is concerned, the year coming should be much the same as the one just past. The treasury is somewhat worried because there is no sign of revenues showing any great increase. But inevitably there will be increases in expenditures. Hence the recent rumblings from the capital about the possibility of increasing taxes to finance the ever-increasing cost of government services.

QUIET CONFIDENCE

Other than that, things look fairly good. As Premier Manning said in a review of the year just past: "We go into the New Year in a spirit of quiet confidence."

THOSE STAMPS AGAIN

The provincial cabinet ended the year with another attempt to outlaw retail trading stamps under provincial regulations.

Ministers passed an order amending the general code of fair competition and business practices. The amendment removes specific reference to trading stamps and instead outlaws any "gift, premium, service, commission, prize or other benefit" being given [illegible].

The government hopes that by removing the specific reference to stamps it will not be infringing on the Criminal Code of Canada. A previous regulation under the Licensing of Trades and Businesses Act was recently ruled ultra vires because it infringed on the Criminal Code. Whether the new regulations will be any more valid is anyone's guess. It may take another court test to answer the question. But for the time being, at least, trading stamps are once again [illegible].

New Year's Activities At Alliance Chapel

The old year 1960 was farewelled and the new year 1961 welcomed with special services at the Alliance Chapel on Saturday, Dec. 31st.

Starting at 8 p.m. the film "Goal to Go" was shown to a goodly number including many friends from the Salvation Army and the Mannville tabernacle.

Lunch was served by the ladies of the chapel and a devotional service was held which concluded just shortly after midnight. Pastor J. M. Schroeder and Lieut. David Reynolds were in charge. A feature of this service was the playing of a tape received from Betty Little direct from the mission field of New Guinea, which recorded greetings to her family and singing and recitations by natives in their own language. Others taking part in the service included Leta Francisco, Almeta Mathews and E. Clendenning. Ron Mix directed a special service for the Juniors.

New Year's Day, Jan. 1st was Communion Sunday. Pastor J.M. Schroeder chose as his sermon subjects "Recipe for a Happy New Year", and "What Will Happen in 1961?" Music for services was provided by Ron Mix, a saxaphone solo; A. Mix and Pastor Schroeder, a vocal duet, and a solo by the former. Mrs. R. Thisbury, a vocal solo. Margwynne Clendenning and Leta Francisco were the pianists.

Alliance World Day of Prayer, Wednesday, Jan. 4 was observed by the local congregation.

Visitors in the services were Kathleen Stuart, Lamont, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Peters. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Warkentin and family, of Dalmeny, Sask., visiting his brother, newly-appointed manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Derwent.

BUDDHIST MARRIAGE VOWS, PERFECT WISDOM AND COMPASSION

Four candles flicker, a small figure of Amida Buddha, the Buddha of of Infinite Compassion and Wisdom and the scroll behind the statue with the Japanese characters, NAMU AMIDA BUTSU (I place my faith in Amida Buddha) draws every eye to the altar. The Buddhist wedding ceremony opens with the minister, Rev. Newton Ishiura, left, sounding a [illegible]. Then follows a solemn chant of homage to Amida Budha. At right the picture shows the incense burning ceremony which is a solemn moment in the ancient Buddhist marriage ritual. Minister places an ojuzu, a beaded circlet, on palm of the groom and then the bride. Each burns incense to symbolize purity of intention. The bride was the former Michiko Ichii and the groom Mario Christian Shinohara.

Golden Age Club: A Correction

In last week's issue of the Vermilion Standard in the write up of the club's Xmas party it was inadvertently stated that Mrs. Muir accompanied by Mrs. Roebuck, sang the solo, "The Holy City". It should have read Mrs. Skinner, who gave a delightful performance. Your reporter is sorry ladies.

Also a vote of thanks should have been extended to all who helped make the afternoon such a success, especially the ladies who donated those delightful sandwiches and cookies, which were truly appreciated.

Just a little reminder to you folks who have reached the age of fifty or over, remember, this is your club, so let's make 1961 an outstanding year for the Golden Age Friendship club. A happy new year to one and all.

Alberta Fish and Wildlife Policies Discussed At Conference

Fish and Wildlife officers of the Alberta Lands and Forest Department recently attended a three-day conference in Edmonton at which they discussed such items as area office administration, the Department's regulations and enforcement of regulations. Biologists of the Fish and Wildlife division reviewed research programs carried out during the past year and also reported on game management policies, fish and game plans for the future. Shown at the conference, left to right, are: S. D. Kerik, Lac la Biche; G. W. Steedsman, St. Paul; Albert Kirkwood, Vegreville; F. G. Bradshaw, Bonnyville, and George Senz, Vermilion.

Glen Baldock proved the top sleuth in the Columbia Theatre treasure hunt for $100. Following the clue last Thursday, he pieced all the clues together and came out at the right place . . . a club post at the corner as you turn into the main gate of the exhibition grounds.

Vermilion Old Timer Dies At Chilliwack

Many old friends here will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Teresa Beckett, widow of the late Mr. B. J. Beckett, who passed away at the Valley Haven Rest Home, Chilliwack, on Dec. 28th. Despite her advanced years death was unexpected and came suddenly when she suffered a heart attack.

Mrs. Beckett first came to the Vermilion district in the year 1907, living here until 1954 when she and Mr. Beckett moved to the coast. She was predeceased by Mr. Beckett six years ago.

Mrs. Beckett leaves to mourn her loss one son Hubert B. Curtis of St. Paul, Alberta; two daughters, Mrs. A. R. McPherson (Iva) at Cranbrook, B.C., Mrs. E. McCrew (Eleanor), Edmonton, all children of her first marriage, and one son Larry S. Beckett of Kamloops, B.C. There are two grandchildren, Richard Curtis and Maureen Beckett. One sister, Mrs. C. W. Hagen, lives in Edmonton, and two brothers, F. Watson in Edmonton, and Lloyd Watson at Almonte.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Curtis and son Richard went from St. Paul, Alberta to attend the funeral. Acting as a pallbearer was Mr. Edgar Reid whose wife is the former Margaret Cavil of Vermilion.

Another Bang-Up Midget Hockey Game This Saturday, Jan. 14th

Another bang up Midget hockey game will be played in the Vermilion arena this Saturday, Jan. 14th, with the local Kinsmen Pontiacs taking on the Wainwright Midgets.

Last Saturday the local midgets scored the first win of the season in the local arena. They are out to duplicate that effort.

For those who missed seeing the local Midgets defeat Lashburn by a close score of 8-7 in just as close and exciting a game as could be dreamed up, be sure to see them this Saturday. Everything can and does happen in a midget hockey game. See these 16 year olds play this Saturday, you are missing some real hockey and entertainment if you don't. Story of last week's game on page 4, section 1 of this issue.

UNIFORMS BY COURTESY ROWE & SONS

The Kinsmen Midgets are now officially the Kinsmen Pontiacs. Rowe and Sons Ltd. have generously supplied the Midgets with sweaters and they look more like a hockey team than ever with the new uniforms.

Anglican Men Elect Keith King

Keith King was elected president of the Anglican Men's club at a regular supper meeting held in the newly decorated parish hall on Monday evening. The complete slate of officers for 1961 as follows: Hon. President — J. W. G. Morrison, K.C.; President — Keith King; 1st Vice President — Wm. Boulton; 2nd Vice President — Jas. Blackadge; Secretary Treas. — Jim Finlay.

The election was conducted by Ashley Cooper following a truly delicious dinner of roast beef and Yorkshire pudding. Twenty-three members attended. The supper conveners were Ken Urquhart, Keith King and Lorne Poskett.

Retiring President Sid Burdett and the executive of 1960 received a hearty vote of thanks and were roundly applauded.

Ernie Buckingham was the speaker of the evening and told of the heroic and remarkable exploits of the N.W.M. policeman, Constable Peaches Davis, who, single handed, escorted 1200 renegade Blackfeet Indians from the Cypress Hills to the reserve at North Battleford.

The interesting and historical story was well narrated by the speaker.

February is known as the steak month with Alex Pallo convenor of the supper committee assisted by Ed Roberts, Syd Burdett and Lance Payne.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 6th commencing at 6:30 p.m.

Ruptash to Coach Tigers

As from Sunday last the Vermilion Tigers have a new coach in the person of Larry Ruptash from Vegreville. Larry played with the team at Bonnyville on Sunday and gave them a thorough looking over, coming up with the statement that there was plenty of nice looking hockey ability on the line up, all it apparently needed was some direction.

Ruptash has had considerable experience coaching junior teams and some three years ago spent a year as coach of the St. Paul Hornets.

He is interested in all classes of hockey and would like to coach the boys from the pee-wees up, providing that he was able to work in town.

Larry doesn't make any prophecies about the Tigers except to say that they have the ability to win a few games before the end of the season, and it is now up to him to try to produce results in the short time remaining.

Tigers Lose 13-6 at Bonnyville

Vermilion Tigers lost to Bonnyville Pontiacs 13 goals to 6 in a game played in the north town on Sunday afternoon. From all reports it was a close game almost throughout and going into the third the Pontiacs led by a bare goal 5 to 4.

At this point Tiger goalie Cawthorpe was hurt and had to be taken from the ice. This meant that Lorne Scoggins had to hurry into the pads, go into the close game cold. The Tigers too were short handed, playing with 11 men, such stalwarts as Marvin Redford and Warner being unable to make the trip.

For Vermilion Ken Brown and [illegible] [illegible] with Ron Hemmingway and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] one each.

Vermilion Lady Cares For Girl In Viet Nam

Among the very neediest of the earth's poor is little three year old Hua Thi Ngoc who lives in south Viet Nam. The sorrow and poverty of her small family almost beggars description. She lives with her father and mother and one older brother Nghia who is 8 years old.

The lot of the little girl pictured above will be considerably better from now on as a kind hearted Vermilion lady has become her foster mother under the Foster Parents Plan Inc. With the provision of a cash grant of $8.00 per month, food and clothing parcels and special medical care means life itself to these people and the generosity which assures them of this help is a miracle and a blessing.

This most humble family lives in a rented house of one room. It is built over a swamp and is made of torn palm leaves woven together, and of pieces of wood. For this they pay rent of $1.37 a month. The family owes a debt of $27.50 which might as well be hundreds of dollars to them.

The father of this family has advanced tuberculosis. He looks like a skeleton. The brother was stricken with an undiagnosed disease as a child and is paralized from the waist down.

HUA THI NGOC

Little Ngoc shown above has tuberculosis and had a transient infection of the skin which was aggravated by malnutrition. She is a very shy baby, only three years. She needs everything.

Ngoc's mother works as a carrier, a porter, who carries heavy bundles for long distances so that she is always weary. When she cannot get such work she picks up fallen vegetables and peddles them. She has no education, no skills and there is little for her to do to earn a living. She never earns more than 20c a day. From time to time she suffers attacks of epilepsy.

From now on shy little Ngoc, for in Viet Nam the family name comes first and the personal name last, will be receiving help from a generous and kind hearted lady in Vermilion, and this will better her living conditions beyond telling. Vietnamese children are loving children and are proud and happy to have a friend Overseas. There are thousands more of these children who need Foster Parents.

Death of Well-Known Old Timer

A well known and highly esteemed old timer of the Auburn [illegible] district, Mrs. Minnetta [illegible], passed away at the Vermilion hospital on Monday, Jan. 9th. Born on April 17th, 1872, she was nearing her 89th birthday. She had lived in the district since 1910.

Predeceased by her husband in October 1959, she is survived by one son Jerrold at home, two sisters, Miss Laura Alyn of Toronto, Mrs. Clara Splane of Calgary, and two brothers, Frank Alyn of Algoma, Wisconsin, and William Alyn of Oliver, B.C.

Funeral services were held at the [illegible] church on Wednesday, January 11th, at two o'clock in the afternoon. Interment followed in the Mount Auburn cemetery. Rev. Dr. Lay-ton officiated.

Moyer's Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

How the 'Car Craze' Affects Students

The more a high school boy uses an automobile the lower his grades are likely to be. Such is the finding of the Allstate Insurance Company of Chicago after a detailed survey of the driving and social habits of 20,000 juniors and seniors in 30 high schools in the U. S. and Canada. Good students who yield to the car craze suffer the sharpest drop in grades. The longer a car has been owned by a boy, the less is the chance of his being a good student. It is his greatest scholastic damage.

Dr William Condit, of Belmont High School in Los Angeles, says, "Marks and cars don't mix (Christian Parent, Aug.) His study showed. A teen-ager's stock with the girls may go up when he gets a car, but his marks go down, the car owner may quit school, or at least athletics, to get a job so he can keep the car running — and parking. Other conclusions are:

1) Not a single straight "A" student questioned owned a car.
2) 15% of "B" students owned cars.
3) 41% of "C" students owned cars.
4) 71% of "D" students owned cars.
5) 83% of failing students owned cars.

One great problem of parents today is to so command their households, by teaching, by prayer, and by example, as to convince their youngsters that only by strict adherence to Bible principles can they be assured of success—for time and for eternity. Beware from the first of indulging Junior!

Sad Trend

"Are you reading any books now or have you read any in the past week?" This was the question recently put to a representative cross-section of adult Canadians by Gallup poll interviewers.

Of those questioned, only 26 per cent answered "yes" compared with 31 per cent in 1953 and 40 per cent in 1945. Thus, on the basis of this survey, three out of four adult Canadians were not reading a book of any kind in this particular week, suggesting that most — if not all — of them are not regular readers at any time.

For a country with a literate population this proportion of non-book readers is so high (and is rising so fast) that one wonders how much higher it can get. True, the experience of Canadian libraries in recent years would appear to belie the trend evidenced in post-war opinion surveys on book reading. There are more libraries today in Canada than there ever were and more people are making use of them. This, however, has to be related to the 50 per cent increase in population since 1945 (from 12 million to 18 million).

It is all too probable that the opinion surveys are broadly correct, more's the pity. For all the other diversions that have made their appearance and compete for our leisure hours, good reading remains the hallmark of the civilized man, the fount alike of profitable relaxation and pleasurable anticipation, a source of endless [illegible].

And it is as true as ever it was that the man who doesn't read good books has no advantage over the man who can't.

CANADIAN GENEROSITY GROWS

Canadians are going to give more money to charity in 1961, reports Terence Robertson in The Financial Post. Where will your [illegible] go?

More money was collected by United Appeals across Canada in 1960 than in any previous year. Between September and November, Canadians gave or pledged $30.3 million to charity — $2 million more than the year before. This money was collected by a record of 108 United Appeals which will distribute it among an estimated 1,900 charity agencies. It represents a per capita contribution of about $3.15 which is $1 more than in 1950.

[illegible] alongside this steady financial growth has emerged a new public image — that of the U. A. system as a gigantic impersonal benefactor.

WINTER WORKS RATE DOUBLES

Canadian communities are going for the federal winter works program at more than twice last season's rate. With Quebec municipalities far in the forefront, the total number participating as of December 16 was 1,575 — more than double last season's 767. Spending on the program has also doubled, to $150.9 million so far this season.

Labor department officials say applications have swelled the number of projects to about 3,000. If the figure rises to 6,000 as expected, total spending could top $200 million doubling the number of men hired to 100,00.

GREEN ACRES

District Agriculturist

URINARY CALCULI

An ailment of bulls and steers particularly range steers commonly called "Water Belly" is caused by kidney stones blocking the urinary passage. These stones contain silica (sand) and protein. All prairie hay contains some silica. It has been proved experimentally that steers fed exclusively on alfalfa do not produce silica calculi. Steers fed alfalfa produce alkaline urine and prairie hay produce acid urine. To date stones have only been prevented in ruminants by changing the reaction of the urine. Alfalfa still has some hidden mysteries that science has not yet revealed.

- Lethbridge Research Stn.

MANAGEMENT

Remember your district agriculturist is employed by your Department of Agriculture to help improve your livelihood. Before you launch on a new enterprise talk it over with him. It just could save you a lot of expense and frustration.

CLIP OR GRAZE

Did you know that the Lethbridge Experimental Farm is not yet convinced as to whether clipping is to be recommended on all irrigated pastures. More pounds of beef are produced per acre by clipping than by natural pasturing but this is not all profit. The extra gain was paid for by high cost equipment, hauling feed, extra attention and more labor. In view of these limitations on irrigated land clipping would probably be uneconomical in such a low rainfall area as north-eastern Alberta.

VIRUS PNEUMONIA

Virus pneumonia has been found to retard weight gains by 17 per cent and lower feed conversion by 22 per cent. Because virus pneumonia is not usually accompanied by severe symptoms it is often overlooked. The main and usually the first symptom is coughing. This may continue for a week or indefinitely and is frequently first noticed when pigs are three to four weeks old. Sometimes sneezing and scouring precede the cough. Severe symptoms accompanying the pneumonia can be cured but to date no cure for pneumonia exists. Losses from this ailment can be reduced by well ventilated quarters, avoiding overcrowded conditions, regular deworming and a balanced ration at all times. Most commercial swine producers prefer to clean out the infected herd rather than to nurse pigs along that do have virus pneumonia.

DAIRY OUTLOOK 1961

R E English, Statistician with the Alberta Department of Agriculture says Canadian milk production will increase during the next year from 18.2 to 18.6 billion pounds. 380 million pounds of butter and 115 million pounds of cheese will be produced in 1961 all of which is a greater supply than will be consumed in the home market and exported. Canadian per capita consumption of butter will continue to decline and the consumption of margarine will continue to increase. Because of increased efficiency of cattle and milk production generally there will be a surplus of milk in the large milk shed areas which will in turn aggravate the over production of dried milk and other products. Mr English's predictions are all based on the assumptions that price supports will remain the same in 1961.

WHITE SALES MONTH:

January is usually white sales month — a good time to stock up on your supplies of sheets, pillowcases and towels. Even if local stores do not hold white sales city department stores will so watch the catalogues but first check the ads in your local newspaper.

SHEET SHOPPING:

In buying should you buy muslin or percale? Muslin sheeting may be coarse or fine depending on the size and quality of the yarns used. Muslin sheets are frequently used for everyday service.

Percale sheeting is made of finer yarns than muslin and is a closer weave than muslin. percales are more expensive but are sometimes preferred because of their smooth soft texture and light weight.

Sheets should be long enough to avoid strain on the fabric. They should cover the mattress, keep the sheet from pulling out at the foot of the bed and allow enough fold over to protect the bindings on blankets from soil and undue wear. Sheets are made in lengths ranging from 90 inches to 113 inches. The 108 inch sheet is the most popular. The width of a sheet is as important as its length. It should be wide enough to allow for 5 to 7 inch thickness of mattress and a five inch tuck in on each side. Remember to allow for about 5 per cent shrinkage unless a label indicates they have been fully shrunk.

BUYING TOWELS:

Examine the underweave closely making certain it is firm and close. It is this part which holds the loops securely and is therefore the backbone of the towel's strength.

Look closely at the loops. These should be numerous close to one another and fairly long. The more completely these cover the underweave the more moisture will be prevented from penetrating to the ground weave. The correct twist to the loops gives a towel proper balance absorbency. Guard against a loosely twisted soft yarn that will absorb quickly but will not wear well.

The selvage of the towel should be firmly and closely woven. It too can be subjected to considerable wear. Examine the hems also. The best hems are carefully and neatly made, sewn with small firm close stitches. They should be finished with edges back stitched at the corners to prevent unravelling or turned and stitched across the width of the hem.

GOING TO THE MOON?

Dear Editor:

With your kind permission, perhaps a word would be timely in the columns of your paper during these distressing times of fear and anxiety, after listening to, and reading so much of destructive objects being put into space, said to be possible to destroy all life on the earth. There is no doubt in my mind, that this condition of fear is the prime cause of so many untimely deaths, and if only the present preparations of the nations of the world continue, to destroy each other will end in the greatest catastrophe ever. Since the first sputniks, there have been long distance rockets, I.C.M.'s talk of ships in space and now the desire and purpose to put a human on the moon, and for what purpose? For a long time past, up until recently, we have taught in our schools, the erroneous idea that the moon was the reflection of the earth caused by the sun shining upon it somehow. But since the sputniks we have abandoned that idea, as well as other foolish ones concerning the universe. Only recently I note that the British have on the drafting board plans of an airplane intended to fly 2,000 miles per hour, said to outstrip the speed of the sun, as the speed of the sun at the equator is about 1,800 miles per hour. So there is nothing consistent, as the schools continue to teach that the sun is stationary. These contradictions are continuing to occur. But the facts are, the earth being a disc, and all the celestial luminaries revolving above said disc, now comes the big question. What prospects are there of man ever being landed on the moon? The answer is, absolutely none, because of its composition. It is there in space to give us light by night, and to measure the months, and the seasons, which is done by rotating around over the disc once every twenty-four hours, while at the same time, revolving in itself while in orbit, bring a sphere, one side dark, the other light. A portion of each month we have no visible moon, because the dark side being toward the earth. As it revolves in itself the light side begins to appear, which we call the new moon, this continues to increase until the light is full. This has always been so, and will continue until the end of time. Some astronomers in the past have admitted the moon to be a sphere dark on one side and light on the other.

The sun, moon and stars are all of the same composition as that of our electric light, and power, which no man can define; but we know the severity of its power if not handled according to the law governing it, as is with all things in nature.

No none knows the temperature of the sun or moon, but we do know that it must be terrific at its source, so as to give the earth the heat it requires to [illegible] life on the earth. The [illegible] of the sun from the earth is not more than 3000 miles up. This sounds absurd in the the light of the astronomical distances we receive from other sources, the 3000 miles up coincides and harmonize with the distance it throws its light and heat, viz. 3000 each direction. Would like the opportunity to verify these statements, [illegible] space will not permit here, [illegible] will venture to predict that if any human is foolish enough to be allowed to be shot to the moon it will be dissolved [illegible] ever reaching there: and that seems quite possible, as it is much nearer to the earth than the sun, to this we have the proof.

FEW CANADIANS IN CANADA HOUSE

What happens to the $11 million Canada House in New York, now that it's entirely Canadian-owned, asks Norton Anderson in the Financial Post.

It could go to charity some day or to the Canada Council.

Off the record, the 25-story building is something of a disappointment to its sponsors—but not financially. The Fifth Ave. skyscraper is filled with tenants, with leases running from five to 25 years, but most of them are non-Canadian companies.

Lorna Daley Wed At San Diego, Calif.

A wedding of interest to Vermilion and district people was solemnized at the First Presbyterian church, San Diego Calif., on December 28th at 4 30 o'clock in the afternoon when Lorna Vone Daley became the bride of Mr. Edward Oliver Zeitler. The Rev. William D. Livingstone officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Edwin Daley of Vermilion, Alberta. The groom is the son of Mr and Mrs. Albert Joseph Zeitler, of 346 Bedford Avenue, Buffalo 16 New York.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Mr Edward R. Olin, was charming in a floor length gown of white satin, detailed with appliqued lace. Her [illegible] length veil fell from a Juliet cap, trimmed in pearls. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. John F. Powers of San Diego, as matron of honor, chose a street-length dress of forest green satin, with matching headdress of a green satin bandeau. Her flowers were peppermint striped carnations.

Mrs. Betty Olin, aunt of the bride, wore a dress of royal blue lace with cream and black accessories.

Mr Alfred D Mardel of La Mesa, California, was best man. Ushering the guests were Mr. Paul R. Green and Mr. Ernest J. Gravelle, both of San Diego.

The church decorations included two lighted candelabra, with white gladioli stocks and mums.

A reception attended by one hundred guests in the new west room of the church followed the ceremony.

For her wedding trip to Palm Springs, Calif., the bride changed to a dress in gold wool with cocoa [illegible].

The happy young couple are now at home at 4350 Clairemont Drive, San Diego.

The bride is a graduate of the Royal Alexandra Hospital School of Nursing, Edmonton, Alberta, class of 1954. The groom is a graduate of the University of Buffalo Buffalo N.Y. He is now an engineer on the staff of Convair Astronautics in San Diego.

The soloist was Mr Walter Eckard, who sang I'll Walk Beside You", and "The Lord's Prayer".

Kinsmen Midgets Down Lashburn; Meet Wainwright Saturday, Jan. 14

Vermilion Kinsmen Pontiacs eked out a close 5-7 victory over Lashburn Midgets in a free-wheeling hockey battle Saturday night. The contest was staged before a good crowd in the local ice emporium.

In the opening minutes of the first stanza Pontiacs' Bucella took a pass from Jarock to open the scoring but Lashburn lads were back a minute later to knot the count and went ahead at the 3:46 mark on a nice combination play between Len James and Chuck Tradewell.

Pontiacs big No. 7 Bucella evened things however on a solo effort midway through the period when he carried the puck right through the opposition lines to make the score 2-2. Less than a minute later Bucella again figured in a scoring play when he passed to Williams, who went on to score. Jim Lee tied it up with less than a minute left in the first period. Lee and Pontiacs' Leahy each sat out a two-minute tripping charge in the cooler.

Pontiacs drew first blood again in the second frame when Williams took the rubber on a play from Brennan. The one goal lead held good until 18:12 when Tradewell tied things up again for Lashburn. Jarock, Riddale and Beatty, all Pontiacs, each garnered two minute penalties.

The Saskatchewan boys took the lead again early in the third. James outsmarted Jones in the Vermilion net to make the score 3-4, but Pontiacs came back strong and scored on a play by Keating from Young, followed shortly by another goal by Williams from Leahy. At the 12 minute mark Vermilion's Shaw was sent to the penalty box on an elbowing charge and watched his teammates score two quick goals while shorthanded. Leahy dented the twine on a pass from Bucella and Bucella got his third goal of the night and his fifth point on a brilliant combination play when Jarock intercepted a Lashburn pass, beat a defenceman, flipped the puck to Leahy who handed it to Bucella for the goal.

Lashburn put in a valiant bid to even the 8-5 score when Heaton got a goal at 17:10 and Duffy another at 19:24, but Pontiacs hung on, holding the visitors scoreless from thereon in. Two Vermilion lads, Shaw and Bucella, received minors.

Coaches Rod Baldock and Paul Hemmert of the Kinsmen Pontiacs are shaping the club into what may well be a strong contender for provincial competition. Some of the plays on both sides left little to be desired. Jim Tradewell, scarcely as high as the goal he guarded for Lashburn, shows signs of a budding Broda while the Bucella, Leahy, Williams line for Pontiacs are shades of the famous Toronto kid line of yore, Primeau, Conacher and Jackson.

"Minor Hockey Week" is officially over but Pontiacs host a team from Wainwright this Saturday night in what promises to be a battle supreme. It will be well worth the four-bit investment to see tomorrow's stars in action today.

The spanking new gold and purple uniforms sported by the local lads are by courtesy of Rowe & Sons, of Vermilion, Pontiac and Buick dealers.

Murray Millar and Keith Max well refereed.

Pleasant Valley

Lovely these days with lots of bright sunshine which is Alberta's boast.

The weather is ideal for folks visiting their friends. Mrs. Tillie Gould visited at home during the week, returning Sunday. Mrs. Gillies and Tillie spent two afternoons with the writer. On Thursday tea was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Gillies.

Some of the neighbors have been forced to stay indoors because of bad colds. We are glad to hear Tom Sherwood is home from the hospital feeling some better. Did the nurses fill your stocking with goodies, Tom?

Many thanks for the lovely gift received from the editor and staff of the Standard. Who said, what was it? Why a lovely box of chocolates to keep us sweet.

Happy New Year everyone!

INDIAN WORDS PLAY PART IN ALBERTA HISTORY

Many colorful Canadian [illegible] have inherited their names from Indian words and legends and the name Medicine Hat is no exception.

Many years ago so the story goes, there was a great battle between the Crees and the Blackfeet on the bank of a southern Alberta river. The Crees fought valiantly until their medicine man deserted them . . . losing his headdress in mid-stream as he fled to the safety of the opposite shore. Believing this to be a bad omen the Crees put down their weapons and were massacred by the Blackfeet. The site of this tragedy was called "SAAMIS" an Indian word meaning "medicine man's hat".

Years later in 1882, when the Royal Northwest Mounted Police and the C.P.R. roadbuilders settled the area, the Indian name was translated and shortened to Medicine Hat.

One was made for Mrs. Wolters. The thirteen baby quilts were sent to the Unitarian Service committee. Three meetings were of the social variety, with a lecture by Miss Arnett, a demonstration of flower arranging by Mrs. Albertha Van Wageningen and slides were shown at the third meeting by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fortsmith on their 3 years in Russia. Two boxes were packed for the Unitarian Service committee with baby clothing, used clothing and quilts. A food hamper was presented to a departing member. Donations of money were sent to an Indian family, the School for Retarded Children in Vermilion, March of Dimes, Junior Red Cross fund, to CARE for an orphanage in Korea and to USC. Money was raised by collections, donations, and proceeds from a supper booth, also for making and serving lunch at the Kottmeier auction sale. $11.07 was collected from the 'mite' box for Presbyterian Missions.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. The financial statement was passed around for inspection. When the money is replaced for the recently purchased coffee urn it along with what is already in the bank, makes the year's work of the W. A. most gratifying.

Plans were made for catering to the Ladies' curling banquet to be held towards the end of January. A bake sale was also planned for the middle of next month. The providing of food for the pot luck supper prior to the congregational meeting on Jan. 10th was discussed.

The Rotary Club was treated to an exceptionally interesting address on Friday given by Hanns Jahn, a student at the Vermilion school of agriculture. Hanns talk was based on his experiences in Germany where he was born and grew to young manhood, and since he came to Canada six years ago. He has now taken out his Canadian citizenship as this is the land of opportunity to him and where he wants to live.

Hanns was introduced by Alex Palin and thanked on behalf of the club by Aldous Kent.

Scottish Paper Pays Tribute To Early Mannville Farmer

Fifty-nine years ago George Bennett left his native Scotland for Canada and after a couple of years, took up a homestead in the Mannville district of north-eastern Alberta.

He was soon engrossed in community activities and farm organizations and when farmers decided to organize the Alberta Wheat Pool Mr. Bennett was right in the midst of things. He was soon elected a delegate and then served as a director for many years, three as chairman of the Board. He later served again as delegate for a number of years before retiring in 1958.

This fall Mr. Bennett now in his 89th year returned to his homeland for his first visit since coming to Canada. The local paper in Aberdeen where he was visiting with a sister carried a feature article on Mr. Bennett telling of his part in helping to develop the Alberta Wheat Pool into a large grain handling co-operative.

As the paper states: "Fifty-nine years ago a young man from North Aberdeenshire, arrived in Canada. Little did Mr. George Bennett know that he would become a key man in the development of Alberta as a community."

Hog Marketing In The Prairie Provinces

52 per cent of Alberta farmers feel Marketing Boards would give farmers more bargaining power, although 10 per cent of these emphasized it would require an interprovincial or National Board to be effective, according to a recent survey in which 250 discussion meetings reported following a broadcast on "Hog Marketing in the Prairie Provinces."

Co-operative marketing was favoured by a quarter of the reports, while a fifth of the meetings suggested competitive selling through public auction. The 4 per cent satisfied with present hog marketing arrangements recommended improving the quality of hogs and the grading system. Three meetings felt that more education through farm organizations would solve the producers' problems when it came to selling his hogs.

Production control was favoured by about two-thirds of the meetings, but they were divided in the reasons given. The majority felt the control would protect the family farm, while many thought it would stabilize prices, and a few said the quality of hogs would be improved. Those against production quotas were equally divided between feeling it is not feasible at present or that they wanted free enterprise. Five meetings said that supply and demand would take care of everything, while two meetings maintained there is no over-production, and one meeting felt the administrative costs of a quota system would be too high.

In reply to the question, "Which marketing practice offers the best possibilities for the producer?", the opinions reported showed almost equal division between marketing boards, public auction, and marketing through co-operative outlets. It appeared evident that many did not associate public auction practices with co-operative activities, although the Alberta Livestock Co-operative was largely responsible for establishing this type of selling for hogs. Only eight reports wanted farmer-owned packing plants, and seven meetings saw production quotas as the best answer for hog marketing.

Over 2000 farms in all districts of Alberta were represented in the discussions.

Curling is the big sport this past week when a mixed bonspiel was begun. It was not completed at time of writing. In the first event finals it will be between the Maye and Rayson rinks.

The game between the Rayson rink and the Sunderland rink with Herman Adams doing the skipping was a dandy. An extra end had to be played and not till Rayson threw his last rock was it decided who would be in the finals. Another close game in the semi's between the Teasdale and Maye rinks also kept the experts behind the glass on their toes.

TOLLAND TOPICS

Although most of the following news is old we hope it will still be of interest to some readers.

First of all, a happy and prosperous New Year is extended to all, including the editor and staff of the Standard.

Following the church service Dec. 18th Mr. H. Portsmith presented Mr. Nught with a small token of affection on behalf of the congregation.

Just three days before the Woodvale concert Miss Holgate had the misfortune of slipping on some ice and broke her arm above the elbow. Mrs. Roger Watt came to the rescue once again and the concert went off without a hitch and was very much enjoyed by all. Miss Holgate is expected to resume her teaching duties by the 16th as her arm did not require a cast.

Larry Funnell was back from an Edmonton hospital in time to be in the concert as was Neale Ganton, after his long stay in the hospital.

Yes, we think the frost is very beautiful on the trees, but to R.E.A. line members it is quite a headache. It means keeping your coal oil lamps and candles handy and the old wood stove in the basement ready for action.

Visitors for Christmas from Edmonton were Mr. and Mrs. Castel at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McQuid; Miss Margaret McGrath at her home; Miss Rosa Wolters at Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kottmeier's for New Year's.

Mr. A. McQuid joined Mrs. McQuid in Calgary at the home of their daughter Marion for the holidays.

The January 4th meeting of the Ganton-Watson Red Cross auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Pamila Gow with fifteen members present. Business was shortened considerably in order to allow plenty of time for the demonstration of copper tooling given very ably by Miss Nancy Hooper, District Home Economist from Wainwright. All are eagerly looking forward to another visit from Miss Hooper.

Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Johnston of Fort William, Ont., who were with us two summers ago, send a hello to friends and acquaintances.

Franklin Wolters and Bill Lychuk were delegates of F.U.A. Local No. 738 at the convention held in Edmonton Dec. 5 to 9. Franklin came home early to take part in the Farmers' bonspiel. He, Freddy McGrath, Rolf Marthinsen and Walter Lysons were lucky enough to bring home third prize in the first event. Franklin and Bill gave good reports of the convention on Dec. 13th to a fair number of members and two visitors.

About the middle of December Mrs. F. Kottmeier visited her daughter and family in Ponoka. Don in turn took them all to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coward and family at Easyford.

Noticed lately by Mr. F. Van Wageningen was a lynx.

Church service will be held on Sunday, Jan. 15th at 3 p.m. with Rev. Harold Morris of Lloydminster in charge. Please note change of time.

MARWAYNE C. G. I. T. Notes

The Marwayne C.G.I.T. group has had a very active year.

On Oct. 31st we had a Hallowe'en party to which both the Dewberry and Kitscoty groups were invited, however Kitscoty girls were unable to attend.

On Nov. 29th twenty of our members on invitation of the Lloydminster C.G.I.T. attended a "Friendship Feast" there, followed by a very enjoyable program in which all groups took part. We are very grateful to Mr. Giles, Mr. Gray and Miss McCourt for providing transportation. This has been the highlight of the year. The initiation service along with the Explorers was held the next evening, Nov. 30th.

Christmas Vesper service was held on Dec. 21st with many parents and friends attending.

Instead of having a Christmas party the C.G.I.T. went carolling for two hours and then returned to the church for exchange of gifts and a grand lunch.

For handicraft this year the first project was making clay flowers under the guidance of Mrs. Dave Kvill. Mrs. Kvill is going to teach how to make fancy cushions for the next project.

This year the three C.G.I.T. groups in the Kitscoty pastoral charge which includes Dewberry, Kitscoty and Marwayne are sharing the cost of adopting a war orphan.

We're looking forward to a happy and busy 1961.

In a year Canadians spend more than twice as much on taxes as they spend in all food stores and restaurants.

At Paradise Valley

Christmas Capers Outstanding Event

Paradise Valley. The Christmas Capers held in the High School Auditorium on Dec 22nd was well attended and much enjoyed by those present. The music supplied by Sornitz orchestra was good and the punch bowl and delicious lunch served in buffet style by Mrs. Walter and the grade ten students were popular. The decorations deserve special mention. The pale blue part of the walls, covered with silver stars, interspersed with silver moons, the green spruce boughs with all the blue lighting was unique and very effective. The pictures too were very realistic and the grade eleven students deserve credit for much thought and work put in to this.

The Queen chosen this year was Miss Betty Thomasinos and Mr. Kenneth Flint was the King. The princesses were Miss Sharon Dobson and Miss Joyce Greenwood and the princes were Mr. Walter Baker and Mr. Ronald Cooke. Miss Edith Teasdale the queen of 1959 crowned the queen of 1960 and the royal party led off in the Grand March. We congratulate these young people.

We also congratulate Miss Carol Weeks who was the winner of the scholarship donated by the local high school. Mr. Frank Brassington, on behalf of the local board, in a few well chosen words presented the scholarship to Miss Weeks. Carol thanked all who had made it possible for her to win this award.

Mr. Dale Collins was M.C. for the evening. The receiving line consisted of Miss Ellen Teasdale, Mr. Miller, Mrs. Walsh and Dale Collins. Many former students of the school were welcomed back for this happy occasion.

WHEN IS A LAXATIVE DANGEROUS?

Appendicitis is one of our worst killers and only because of neglecting to get medical attention in time. Most fatal cases develop when taking a laxative or cathartic to relieve stomach or abdominal pains, one of the symptoms.

That is why a laxative or any home remedy should only be secured from a pharmacist. We can caution you against unsafe use and tell you when a physician's advice is preferable.

LETTER FROM EDMONTON

Easing of School Costs Aim Of Coming Provincial Session

By KEN MASON

EDMONTON. — It won't be long now before members of the Legislature are embarking once again on their annual seven or eight-week session here in the capital city.

The way things appear to be shaping up, the major issue of the session (for the second year in a row) will be the growing financial problems faced by the province's hard-pressed municipalities.

If all goes according to [illegible], Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke will be ready to introduce his much-discussed program designed to redistribute the money now in the municipal revenue pot and perhaps add something to it by allowing rural areas to tax power lines and pipelines.

Judging by the length of time taken up with studies and by some of the statements government officials have made, Mr Hooke can be expected to come up with something pretty revolutionary. Whether it will satisfy all the demands of municipalities is another matter. In all likelihood it won't [illegible] that would hardly be possible.

According to government officials, the program as finally worked out by the provincial municipal advisory committee is quite different from the one the government was all set to enact last session. At the same time, though, it embodies many of the principles of the earlier program.

Presumably this means there will be a redistribution of [illegible] tax revenue and a rural tax on power lines and pipelines. Mr Hook won't say what else has been added, but don't be surprised if it's a scheme which in some way is aimed at easing the heavy burden of local school costs.

These school costs probably constitute the No. 1 headache troubling both municipal and provincial governments. Stripped of complicating angles, it's a simple problem: governments are finding it harder and harder to raise the cash they need to meet the ever-increasing demand [illegible].

The answer also is simple— raise more money by increasing existing taxes or imposing new ones.

RETAIL SALES NOT POPULAR WITH PEOPLE

A retail sales tax probably would solve the problem nicely. But it also might be political suicide for the government which imposed it although most other provinces in Canada have a sales tax. An increase in the gasoline tax might be easier to get away with. Alberta has the lowest gasoline tax in Canada at the present time.

But what the government seems to be pinning its hopes on for the time being is the proposed power line-pipeline tax in counties and municipal districts. Presumably the government feels this will bring in enough additional revenue to calm the troubled waters for the time being.

However it's highly unlikely the proposed tax will be brought in without a lot of argument pro and con. Power companies and gas companies will undoubtedly say the new tax will be reflected in higher utility rates. The tax would be imposed in country areas, but the great majority of gas and power companies live in cities and towns. Thus it will be argued urban dwellers are being asked to bear the cost of a rural tax.

Gas and power companies already have said any increase in their operating costs will have to be passed on to consumers and they'll want to present their arguments to the Legislature before any final action is taken. Chances are a number of towns and cities, chambers of commerce and industrial concerns also will want to make submissions. If this is the case there likely will be a repeat of last year's House Agriculture committee hearing on industrial [illegible].

The gas and power companies could make the situation somewhat ticklish for the government. Increases in natural gas rates last year boiled up into an issue in the Legislature with more than one Social Credit backbencher hinting darkly that they thought the government might have done something to keep rates down. Thus Premier Manning's government will have to tread carefully.

LENGTHY SESSION

What else is in store for the forthcoming session? Probably another heavy volume of routine legislation, and the usual relentless round of speeches and resolutions. There's no reason to believe the coming session will be any shorter than usual. There used to be much talk about opposition obstruction tactics prolonging sessions. Last year with practically no opposition, Socreds dragged the session out to nine weeks, made it one of the longest on record thus showing a thorough discussion of all legislation passed.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Know someone who wants to learn to drive? The best tip is to take a driver training course taught by professionals. They know the best techniques of teaching and they know the local traffic laws. Records prove that professionally trained drivers have fewer accidents than those who learn by catch-as-catch-can methods.

If [illegible] professional teaching can't be arranged, an experienced driver can substitute.

Here are some tips on teaching in case you decide to try.

First check your [illegible] motor vehicle laws. Some provinces require learner's permits for beginners and some specify hours when beginners are allowed on the roads.

Teach only in daylight and in good weather. Never take a beginner out at night or in stormy weather.

Use quiet back roads, avoiding congested areas. Be sure your car is in good operating condition. Any Shell station will be glad to service it for you. A beginner will have enough problems without having to handle a balky car.

When teaching parallel parking practice behind an imaginary car.

When your student makes mistakes, be patient. Anger or nervousness can upset him.

Be sure your student learns the motor vehicle laws as well as driving techniques. Literature, obtainable from provincial motor vehicle departments, is helpful for this purpose.

Teaching Machine Ideal for Home Study

This young woman is using a new self-teaching machine for home study. It is the first low-cost device of its type.

You can learn [illegible], algebra, music, and a variety of other subjects at home up to three times faster than by conventional learning methods, thanks to a new teaching machine.

The machine, which sells for $20, is designed for use with a new type of instructional material which was developed by a group of leading educational psychologists. The method and the material have been extensively tested at a number of colleges and universities.

A person using the machine reads a short statement appearing in a window at the top of the device. He then writes his answer to a question about the statement in a space provided for it. When the lever in the machine is advanced, the correct answer is revealed and a new statement and question appear.

This method allows a student to proceed at his own pace and [illegible] with the gratification of knowing immediately whether his answer is correct. The learning process is reinforced through feeding small segments of information at a time. As each segment is learned, it is integrated into the next segment, and so on, until the student has absorbed the entire program.

In some experiments this method has appeared to reduce by half the amount of time needed to acquire a given body of knowledge.

SYMPTOMS

Measles begin about ten days after exposure to infection. The early stage of the disease is [illegible] by fever, loss of appetite, reddening of the eyes, running from the nose and a dry cough. During this period it is often possible to see Koplik spots inside the cheeks, they appear like grains of salt, each surrounded by a small area of redness.

The rash usually develops on the fourth day. It begins behind the ears and on the face, and spreads rapidly to the trunk and to the limbs. The spots are raised and at first separate from each other, but they soon run together and present a blotchy appearance. After a further four to five days the rash begins to fade, leaving some brown staining which may last for a week or so. Sometimes the superficial layers of the skin peel off in flakes resembling bran.

ITS INCIDENCE

[illegible] is one of the commonest diseases of childhood. There is a tendency for epidemics to occur every other year, usually in winter or spring. Children under the age of three can be quite seriously ill with measles and the complications which may follow the disease are occasionally fatal.

ITS SOURCE

Measles is caused by a virus which is spread directly or indirectly by the secretions from the nose and throat of an infected person. The disease is contagious from about 4 days before until 5 days after the appearance of the rash. The infection is not spread by skin peeling.

DIAGNOSIS & TREATMENT

Diagnosis presents little difficulty when there is an epidemic. At other times, however, the diagnosis should be confirmed whenever possible by the family physician or by a public health nurse in order that the disease may be distinguished from rubella and scarlet fever.

The patient should be isolated for ten days, or until seven days after the appearance of the rash. The room should be darkened during the first 4 or 5 days or for as long as the light hurts his eyes. Careful watch should be kept for sticking together of the eyelashes, earache, running from the ear, difficulty in breathing or an increase in the respiratory rate. If any of these signs develop, the family physician should be sent for at once.

PREVENTION

The spread of measles can be limited to some extent by the application of quarantine measures. Susceptible contacts, that is, all those who have never had the measles, should be kept at home for 14 days and should not be allowed to mix with other children except those who are known to have had the disease.

Children under the age of 3 and debilitated children of any age, if advised by the family doctor, should, if they have never had measles, be given an injection of either gamma globulin or anti-measles [illegible] as possible after they have been exposed. Such an inoculation will only prevent the disease with certainty if given within three days from exposure, a similar inoculation given between the fourth and sixth days after exposure will, however, modify the attack.

NOTIFICATION

Measles is a notifiable communicable disease, and should be reported to the city health department, health unit or municipal nursing service, as the case may be as soon as the disease is suspected.

I.O.O.F. Support Eye Bank And Visual Research

It is estimated that some 40,000 persons on the North American continent become blind each year from causes which, at the present time, can not be determined. This condition [illegible] all other parts of the world, perhaps in greater proportionate numbers.

There is no doctor or institution at the present time which is devoting its entire time to the study of the causes of this condition and the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of the world are proposing to establish in one of the leading university hospitals in the United States of America a Chair known as "The Odd Fellows World Eye Bank and Visual Research Foundation." The director of this foundation must be a qualified doctor and there must be assurance that sufficient funds are available to guarantee at least ten years support of the Foundation before any qualified person would be expected to accept this position.

In addition to and necessary for the work of research, there will be required eye banks for the securing of material to be used for research in the Foundation as is indicated in the name of the proposed Chair. These banks will also provide cornea for transplant in the eyes of living persons whose eyesight can be restored by replacing damaged cornea which is the lens of the eye.

At the present time cornea for this purpose must be used within 48 hours of the death of the donor but it is expected that in the work of the Foundation methods will be found to prolong time that this material can be stored for these transplants. Hundreds of persons are now waiting up to a year for transplants due to this difficulty of storage.

In addition to the establishment and support of the Foundation it is proposed that financial assistance will be given to defray the cost of cornea transplants and other corrective measures now available to needy cases where the patient is unable to meet the costs of transportation, hospital and doctor's fees.

The Foundation is recognized both in Canada and the United States of America as a charitable organization for income tax deductions and contributions from individuals will be officially acknowledged. Any Odd Fellow or Rebekah Lodge or member will accept contributions or they may be sent direct to the office of the Grand Secretary, Grand Lodge of Alberta I. O. O. F. 204 Oddfellows Temple, Calgary, Alta.

RED CROSS SETS CAMPAIGN GOAL

"Let's Tell and Sell the Red Cross Story" is the slogan for the 1961 Red Cross campaign which will seek to raise $6,370,926 to maintain the many Red Cross services operating across Canada. The 1961 objective is some $19,913 above the 1960 quota of $6,350,913.

Alberta's fund raising allotment in the 1961 appeal will be $521,300 which is 8.23 per cent of total Canadian objective and an increase of $1,600 above the 1960 provincial goal.

Provincial campaign returns to date in the 1960 appeal total $480,000 resulting in a shortage of some $42,700 from the $522,700 objective.

WORLD'S FIRST FUEL DELIVERY

The first man who picked up a burning faggot and carried it into his cave was making a delivery of fuel. A bit unreliable, perhaps, but it was a step in the right direction.

Man has taken many steps forward since then. One of the greatest was when he learned to use oil.

Because oil products have been made available at reasonable prices everywhere in Canada, oil heats more than half our homes. And speaking of reasonable prices—over the past 10 years the price Imperial receives for home heating oil has risen far less than the cost of other things—only one-third as much as the general cost of living.

Appeal Made For Awards To Students For Achievements

Business Men and Individuals Invited To Sponsor Awards In Fourteen Fields

The Vermilion High School staff in conjunction with the Vermilion local board and the Senior Students' Union have made a study of the various awards and scholarships available to students in the Vermilion high school. It has been found that there are several academic scholarships open to students intending to go to university and for those writing Grade IX for the first time. There are also various academic, service and sports awards made by the Students' Union. There are, however, no major awards in any given subject area nor in the Commercial, Industrial Arts, and Home Economics field. There is no major individual athletic award for either boys or girls in the school.

In order to rectify this situation Mr. Husby, principal of the high school, on advice from both staff and local board has drawn up the following list of awards as suitable for the school.

An academic award in each of the following fields:

(a) English 30, social studies 30 (b) mathematics 30, chemistry 30 (or physics 30 or biology 30) (c) French 30 or another language 30 (d) social studies 20, language 20, literature 20 (e) mathematics 20, science 20 (f) French 20 or other junior language (g) social studies 10, language 10, literature 10 (h) mathematics 10, science 10 (i) senior commercial (j) senior industrial arts, (k) junior industrial arts (l) senior home economics (m) junior home economics (n) senior boys athletics (o) senior girls athletics.

Various organizations and business establishments have been contacted regarding these awards. To date four awards are forthcoming. This means ten more donors are required.

The awards sought are in the form of a plaque to which names may be added each year and which will be a permanent emblem in our school. The donor is being asked to accept responsibility of yearly engraving of the plaque and also to supply a yearly memento to the winning student.

The Vermilion Divisional Board is being approached to provide a mat (using individual year book pictures) for hanging in the rotunda of the school, of all winners of awards, with name and distinction printed below each picture.

AWARD NIGHT

It is the intention of the school to have an Award Night in September under the sponsorship of the school and organizations connected with the school. At this time donors of awards or their representatives would be present to make the various presentations. The Vermilion Standard would give thorough coverage of this event with pictures and write ups.

In order to fulfill all the categories the support of associations, businesses and individuals is earnestly solicited. Anyone interested in donating an award is asked to contact Mr. Husby at his home or at school.

Tiger Players Score Two of 3 Goals in All Star Game

The Vermilion Tiger line of Bronson, Link and Brown scored two of three goals scored by the west section in the EAHL All Star game at Lloydminster last Saturday night. The game ended in a three all tie, following 1 minutes of overtime.

Peter Link scored the first goal of the game from Ken Brown, then Dic Bronson scored the second goal for the west from Peter Link. Nestor Hrytiw of St Paul notched goal number three.

For the East it was Wotters, Dunn and Carson.

It was a very clean fast game, pleasing to the 1200 fans who packed the arena. At the end of regulation time the score was 2 to 2 and the shots on goal were each 22.

The Tiger players showed up very well, Stu Burr turning in a very good game on defence, as well as Bronson, Brown and Link on the attacking division.

Start Legion Zone Curling Play-Offs

Zone play-offs for the Canadian Legion championships commence this Sunday Jan 22nd at Marwayne. Four rinks have been entered from Vegreville, Mannville, Vermilion and Marwayne. The Vermilion rink represented the Zone in the playdowns last year.

Mrs. Lloyd Dowdell was honored at the banquet in the Hub Cafe Wednesday evening, held to mark the retirement from the Canadian National Railways of her husband. A veteran of the Canadian Army Mr McKeen teaches under the registered name of Universal Accordion Academy. After a survey of business opportunities in Vermilion plans will be finalized as to residence and business expansion.

Enrollment of students will take place at the Masonic hall each Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. commencing January 21. All consultations are without obligation.

Lloyd Dowdell Completes 41 Years on the Railroad

Superannuation Marked by Banquet

A railroad career which actually started in 1915 and reached to the end of 1960 came to an official close for Lloyd Dowdell on Wednesday evening, January 11th. To mark the occasion, fellow workers of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers held a banquet in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Dowdell, presenting the former with a purse and Mrs. Dowdell with a beautiful bouquet.

Present at the very fine social gathering in the banquet room of the Hub Cafe were railroad men and their wives from many neighboring points, with fellow workers at Vermilion being fully represented, elevator agents with whom Mr. Dowdell had close contact were all in attendance; the Railroad Telegraphers were represented by their chairman Mr Harry Hlady from Edmonton and the province by the Vermilion constituency M.L.A. Ashley Cooper. A special guest was Mr Charlie Dowdell, Millet, a brother of Lloyd.

Chairing the well planned event in masterly fashion was Mr Harry Brown, locomotive foreman, who paid a high personal tribute to Mr Dowdell. These sentiments were echoed by the second speaker of the evening Sifton Hammond, Vermilion station [illegible]

Adding their tributes and best wishes in turn were Ken Green wood on behalf of the grain trade, William King, Islay station agent, Hartley Sorenson for the trainmen, Campbell Tough and Ashley Cooper, M.L.A.

Flowers were then presented to Mrs Dowdell by her daughter-in-law Mrs Keith Dowdell.

GUEST SPEAKER

Guest speaker for the evening was Mr Harry Hlady of Edmonton chairman of the order of railroad Telegraphers. Mr Hlady traced the career of Mr Dowdell in an interesting fashion stressing points in his railroad career.

STARTED IN 1915

Lloyd was born at Portland Oregon but moved with his family to Millet, Alberta as a boy. His railroad career started in 1915 at Lamont but it was of short duration as in 1916 he enlisted and went overseas to fight in the first world war. He was severely wounded by shrapnell, lost an eye and carries a bullet in his body to this day. In 1919 he returned to Canada and to Alberta.

On July 30, 1920 he commenced his railroad career for the second time, this time at Vermilion, so that his railroading really commenced and was completed in Vermilion.

MANY MOVES

In between however he worked at Vegreville, back to Vermilion, to Vegreville, to St. Paul from 1931 to 1941 when he was finally transferred back to Vermilion.

SONS FOLLOW FATHER

Back in 1923 Mr. and Mrs Dowdell were married. They now have two sons, Keith and Lyal, both of whom have chosen railroading as their career and are now telegraph operators at the Vermilion depot.

LIKES GARDENING, FISHING

Lloyd has two hobbies gardening and fishing. His lovely flowers are well known to everyone. He is also an ardent churchman, a member of the United church.

Completing his remarks with best wishes Mr. Hlady presented Lloyd with a well filled purse.

Mr. Dowdell feelingly replied to the presentations, for the well wishes and for the banquet and party on behalf of his wife and himself.

Frequently when a person retires it means that a social gathering such as held Wednesday evening is also a farewell but such is not the case in this instance. Mr and Mrs Dowdell will continue to live in their lovely home in Vermilion and will have ample time for gardening, fishing, their church work, able to come and go as they wish, surrounded by their family and the good wishes of many, many friends.

ATTENTION, Saturday Curlers

Saturday morning curling will not commence this weekend as scheduled but will start January 28th.

This rescheduling is necessary owing to the Taylor and Pearse play-offs taking place this Saturday.

Wife's Presence of Mind Saves Life of Husband

The presence of mind of a young wife, Mrs. Keith Burt, is credited with saving the life of her husband following an explosion and flash fire in the basement of their home at Lloydminster last Thursday morning. Mrs. Burt kicked out a window and helped her severely burned and nearly asphyxiated husband to escape through the opening from the fume-filled basement.

The injured man, now in the University hospital suffering second and third degree burns to 50 per cent. of his body, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Burt of Islay.

The injured man was overhauling a truck motor in the basement of his Lloydminster home and his wife had gone just next door to visit a neighbor. Glancing out the window she noticed smoke emerging from the basement of her own home. Rushing home she heard a faint voice calling for air from inside a basement window. Kicking in the window she found her husband lying on the earth close to the window opening of the basement. He was badly burned and nearly asphyxiated and had been unable to break the glass owing to the severity of burns on his hands and being almost overcome by the explosion and the fumes therefrom. He had also doused a fire which had started on the basement stairs but refrained from opening the basement door fearful that this would create a draft and start the fire again.

Keith was overhauling his own truck motor in the basement when fumes from the gasoline with which he was washing the parts apparently reached the flame of the little gas heater and exploded.

The explosion and flash fire burned him badly, burning most of the clothes from his body. Seeing the stairs in flames he doused the fire with a jacket and then climbed up on an earthen ledge and attempted to escape through the window when he was practically overcome by the fumes. The timely arrival of his wife and her presence of mind probably saved his life.

Keith was taken to the Lloydminster hospital and then to Edmonton where he is receiving treatment at the University hospital. His condition is reported as fairly good.

No damage except the broken window, was caused by the flash fire as flames which might have resulted in heavier damage were prevented from getting a hold by Burt.

Municipal Paper A Duplication Of Services Already Available

The Standard wishes to affirm the statements made by correspondents in the Letter Box to the effect that services which could be rendered by the municipal paper are merely a duplication of those already available and built up over the years by hard work and service to the people of the area over the last half century. No subsidies were asked by either the Standard or the Lloydminster Times in their fight to survive. Such is being done by the newcomer to the field but the columns of both the Standard and the Times have ever been open to reproduce free the minutes or any other news material of interest to the people of the Vermilion River municipality.

Just why the members of the council should think that additional news media is necessary and at an additional burden to the rural taxpayer is unknown to the editor of the Standard. The members of the municipal office staff will support us when we say that the utmost in co-operation has always been carried out to supply their needs.

The independent business is certainly under a great disadvantage when opposed by something subsidized from other sources and so is not dependent on its own merit to survive. Let the Edmonton publishers of this paper risk their own dollars and try to sell their paper to the individual in the area. If there is a need for it, if it serves any purpose, it would be supported. If there isn't it would disappear the same as any other business or project which did not meet a need or serve a purpose.

The Standard understands that it has taken the Sun Publishing Co. of Edmonton a number of years to finally sell the plan to the Vermilion River council, and their antipathy to condone the project indicates very clearly that it was probably a case of persistent salesmanship that finally had its way — not because the councillors felt that there was any need for it.

Municipal papers in an area not served by any news media have their place, but in Vermilion River with two weekly newspapers blanketing the M.D., with a radio and a TV station right in the territory, it does appear to be, as one correspondent states, "a waste of the farmers' hard-earned tax dollar."

DOWER RIGHTS

C. S. Brandley, Solicitor for the Alberta Department of Agriculture says the Dower Act protects the property of married persons. The wife has a dower right to her husband's property and the husband has a dower right to his wife's property. The Act states that a married person cannot dispose of the homestead without consent of his or her spouse. The spouse's life interest in the property is guaranteed. The homestead is defined as the parcel of land on which a dwelling is situated and occupied by the owner. Country [illegible] can not consist of [illegible] quarter [illegible] urban (town) home [illegible] more than four adjoining lots. If a husband disposes of a [illegible] without obtaining his [illegible] consent of his [illegible] she may sue him for half the value of the property. In many cases where the husband has disposed of the homestead without his wife's consent the sale of the property has been declared null and void. Persons concerned with the Dower Act should never hesitate to seek legal advice. A few questions directed to a solicitor may save endless heartache and expense at a later date.

4-H LEADERS COURSE 1961

January 23, 1961 4-H leaders from Vermilion and Wainwright districts will meet in the auditorium of the Vermilion School of Agriculture at 10:00 a.m. This will be an all day session where leaders may discuss 4-H problems with the 4-H branch people from Edmonton. These courses have always been enlightening and any member of the adult leadership committee is welcome to attend. Further information may be obtained from the local D. A. Office.

AVADEX AND CARBYNE

Avadex and Carbyne are selective chemical wild oat killers. [illegible] for use on barley, flax, sugar beets, peas and rape. It is sprayed on the soil surface and thoroughly mixed into the top 3 or 4 inches of soil with a disk type machine. Uniform application and thorough incorporation are vitally important. Carbyne is recommended for use on wheat, barley, sugar beets and rape. It is applied to the seedling wild oat plant when in the 1½ to 2 leaf stage. Uniform coverage and timely application are imperative.

Both chemicals are expensive. The cost and danger of crop damage focuses attention on the farm sprayer and operator. Many sprayers are inefficient and many operators are careless. The application of these chemicals is critical. An overdose costs money and may seriously damage the crop whereas an underdose may be a complete waste of money as little or no control results.

RAMBLER ALFALFA SEED

Registered No. 1 Rambler alfalfa will be available in 1961 at about 80 cents per pound F.O.B. Alberta points. Don't panic. It is quite reasonable that two pounds of Rambler alfalfa could produce more hay over a period of 5 years in eastern Alberta than four or five pounds of Grimm [illegible] in the same mixture.

CORRECTION TO DECEMBER 29 GREEN ACRES GOOD PASTURE GAINS

The Manyberries Experimental Farm, approximately Twp. 3 range 4, reports Crested wheat grass and Russian Wild Rye grass pastures grazed at 1.4 acre per steer per month produced greater yearling steer gain than native pasture grazed at 5 acre per steer per month. The greatest difference occurred in fall grazing. In 1959 native range grazed continuously for seven months resulted in gain of 7.1 pounds per acre; continuous Crested Wheat grass 25 lbs per acre and continuous Russian Wild Rye grass produced gains of 35.6 pounds per acre. It seems logical that either or both of these grasses should be considered when seeding down pasture on land that once supported prairie wool.

NAP FABRICS:

Suggestions for sewing nap fabrics, corduroy, shags, velvets etc. have been outlined by the Clothing Specialist with the Department of Agriculture. Miss Nancy Paschuk recommends buying a pattern with a layout for "fabric with nap," otherwise you must lay out pattern pieces to determine yardage.

Since the pile reflects light it is essential to lay all pattern pieces running in one direction so that the finished garment is not patchwork of different shadings. For velvet, velveteen and corduroy the pile should run up. For fur fabric, fleece and brushed wool the pattern pieces should be laid out so the pile runs down. If you stroke the fabric you can determine the direction of the pile.

PATTERNS FOR NAP FABRICS

Select a simple design advises Miss Paschuk when sewing very furry fabrics. The fewer seams and darts the better. Avoid set in sleeves and front facing seams by making a self facing. Place facing pattern piece on front pattern piece matching seam lines. Pin together and cut as one piece. Do the same with the sleeve facing. In many patterns you can also eliminate the centre back seam by lining up the pattern piece so that the centre back seam line at the neck edge is on the fold and the fold is in line with the straight grain on the pattern piece. Check to see that this does not allow the style of your garment to change to any great extent.

SEWING NAP FABRICS

Most of the heavy napped and pile fabrics require a light tension and a long stitch. Experiment with the stitch on a scrap of material and always sew in the same direction as the pile.

For fur and shag fabrics, brush as much of the pile as possible out of the seam allowance or dart before stitching it. Cut open all darts and [illegible] seams and facing edges with pinked and stitched edge or overcast edge. Take a pin or large needle and gently pull out all the fur or shag caught in the seams.

PRESSING NAP FABRICS

Press all pile and napped fabrics as gently as possible face down on a turkish towel with a steam iron. Always press in the direction of the pile. False fur should be pressed only when it is absolutely necessary.

Sunday Services At The Salvation Army

On Sunday at The Salvation Army Lieutenant Reynolds gave the first of a series of messages called "The Symbols of the Spirit." His morning topic was "The Pillar of Cloud and Fire." The band provided music for the meeting.

In the evening service, the orchestra accompanied the singing and also presented a hymn tune arrangement "Depth of Mercy." The topic of the Lieutenant's address was "The Kingdom and You."

The 600 Club, a hobbies and handicraft class for young people between the ages of eight and fourteen, was started recently. This club meets every Friday at 4 p.m.

The Senior Youth group enjoyed a Bible quiz night with Mrs. Shirley Scott as moderator. This was the first of many attractive evenings planned by this group for the second half of the season.

This Sunday, Jan. 22nd, visiting the Vermilion Corps in the absence of the commanding officer will be Lieutenant Audrey Walker from the Alberta Headquarters. Lieutenant Walker is fast becoming a much sought after special speaker in the Alberta division of the Army.

Marwayne F.W.U.A.

Twenty-four members of the Marwayne F.W.U.A. met at the home of Ollie Midgley on Monday Dec. 19th for their Xmas meeting.

Betty Hale acted as secretary in the absence of Frances Gray, who was ill at the time. Numerous carols were rendered by all present and the roll call was answered by layette articles, donated to the Unitarian Service Committee. Kay Bacon and Ruby Hale kindly volunteered to sew the diapers for the layettes and Ruby Kvill to parcel and mail off the garments.

An honor award certificate was received from the Mental Health Association and $10 was donated to them.

Christmas greetings were read from Della Protsch of Vancouver and Doreen Allen in St. Albert.

We were happy to welcome Mrs. Elsie Hauck, formerly of Greenstreet, as a new member of the club and to the district.

The members are requested to bring used cards and stamps to the next meeting.

A Christmas party for all the Marwayne F.U.A. and F.W.U.A. members and their families was held in the Elks hall on Wednesday evening, December 28th.

Plans were discussed regarding the smorgasbord and old time dance to be held in the Elks' Hall on January 21st, commencing at 6:00 p.m.

Golline Kvill and Ruby Kvill offered to piece the rose quilt top.

The sum of $25.00 was donated to the Chipman Disaster Fund and an additional $20.00 is being sent to Mrs. Budney, wife of the ill fated Chipman bus driver.

A club contest is being held for which each member makes either a fancy or practical apron to be judged and later sold.

F.W.U.A. silver coffee spoons were presented to past president Mildred Sinclair and past-secretary Betty Hale, and also to Golline Kvill, Lillian Tupper, Lily Quist and Gladys Hutchinson for perfect attendance.

Lillian Tupper, Gladys Hutchinson and Dorothy Milne were the recipients of beautiful bouquets for services rendered.

Each member received the name of her secret pollyanna for 1961 and also a Christmas present from her 1960 pollyanna.

The Christmas Greetings contest was won by Lillian Tupper with a consolation going to Doris Kvill.

A delicious lunch and dishes of candy served by hostesses Ollie Midgley, Kay Bacon and Betty Hale brought another Christmas meeting to a close.

The Marwayne F.W.U.A. local will meet again on January 23rd at the home of Gladys Hutchinson with Angeline McClean and Thelma Saville as co-hostesses.

Letters to the Editor

Islay, Alberta,
Jan. 13, 1961

Editor, Vermilion Standard
Dear Sir:

I have just received a complimentary copy of a new local paper, the Vermilion River News. I find this paper well written and interesting. On that score I have no complaint, but I do object to the M.D. Vermilion River paying the subscription.

In my opinion the council has enough worries and expenses now without providing the ratepayers with a local paper, however good. If I want a paper I will subscribe personally. If I don't like the paper I will cancel my subscription, in which case the expense ceases. Under this scheme the cost is added to the taxes and I feel that taxation is high enough now. Under this proposal we may find ourselves paying for this paper whether we like it or not through our taxes. If you look carefully at the card you are asked to sign, you will see that it is a definite authorization to the council to pay your subscription to this paper, no mention is made of a trial period.

There is another angle to this question: this district is served by a TV station and radio station at Lloydminster by the Lloydminster Times, founded by the present editor's father in law by your paper, started by your father. Surely this is enough news coverage. Advertising is also important, no paper can be published on subscriptions alone and local advertising is necessarily limited.

Is it fair or reasonable for us as ratepayers to assist a big corporation which publishes over twenty local papers to squeeze out two small businesses, both of which have served the district for over fifty years?

In conclusion, may I say that I regard this promotion as absolutely wrong. If these people wish to compete let them send out canvassers to solicit subscriptions. I also feel that the Council of the M.D. Vermilion River should be severely criticized for agreeing to such a scheme.

Yours truly
W. Lloyd Brown

Vermilion, Alberta
January 14, 1961

The Editor,
Vermilion Standard.
Dear Sir:

Apparently the council of the Municipal District of Vermilion River is condoning another demand on the tax dollar of the farmer. I refer to the so-called proposed municipal newspaper for which the council for some unknown reason has given its support and has agreed to pay $1.25 out of taxes for every ratepayer wishing to receive same. If 2000 ratepayers return the card it will take $2500 of hard earned taxpayers' dollars.

I call on all farmers in the Vermilion River M.D. to reject this scheme on the following grounds:

Firstly, we are better served with newspapers, radio and TV than any other rural area in Western Canada. The Vermilion Standard blankets the west half of the M.D. and the Lloydminster Times the eastern half. Augmenting these news outlets we have both radio and TV stations. Why then should we farmers subsidize another paper when all the services possible are right here?

I am quite sure that the Vermilion Standard and Lloydminster Times are ready and willing to print minutes and general information free at any time the M.D. council desires. In fact if I remember correctly the minutes were published in both these papers until discontinued by the wish of the members of the council a few years ago.

One of the facts told our M.D. councils by the publisher of this type of subsidized paper is that all municipal district advertising is carried free. I read the Vermilion Standard very thoroughly with particular note of municipal advertisements. I would be very much surprised if the M.D.V.R. spends as much as $100 in any one paper for a whole year's advertising. Double that for the two papers and it means that for something that costs $200 the council is willing to hand out $2500. Good business with the farmers tax dollar too! [illegible] I am surprised that our council is so susceptible to high pressure salesmanship.

So I say to the farmers, turn down, reject this added and useless expense. Let this new paper, which is published in Edmonton along with some thirty other similar sheets, stand on its own feet if it wants to circulate here. The publishers know full [illegible]

Circle Eight Notes

The Circle Eight held their last dance in the Bowtell hall on Friday, Jan. 13. A good time was had by all dancing to the peppy calling of Johnny Maxwell.

At this dance Johnny announced his intentions to start a round dance class. He stated that he will commence with the basics if there are any who have never round danced before and he will teach the round dances of each month chosen by the Callers' Association so that those of us who don't feel we can keep up the rounds taught at square dances will be able to join in there too. Be at Bowtell on Saturday, Jan. 21 at 8:30 p.m. and give it a try.

Next regular square dance will be at Bowtell on Friday, Jan. 27 with Art Ziegler at the mike. This will be Art's first trip here this season so let's all turn out and pack the hall for him.

The next day, Jan. 28th the Central Callers Association will sponsor their second [illegible] in the [illegible] auditorium. [illegible] of three parts [illegible] turkey supper [illegible] at any single [illegible]. For further details talk to [illegible] caller Johnny Maxwell [illegible] tickets.

Salvation Army Home League Holds Enrollment Service

On Monday afternoon, Jan. 9, a very pretty and solemn service was held in the Salvation Army hall when three new members of the Salvation Army Home league were enrolled. The president Mrs. Earl Geake was in the chair and Mrs. Smith led in prayer.

Mrs. Brigadier Simester from Edmonton conducted the meeting and enrolled the three, Mrs. C. Rankin, Mrs. J. Scott and Mrs. J. Wallington, into the Home league.

Following the enrollment ceremony Mrs. Simester gave the devotional taking as her text "Methuselah" who lived for 969 years, yet very little is written of his life, in the Bible, or any of the good deeds which he had done. She said that one did not have to live a long life to show kindness or to be useful to their fellow men.

Everyone sincerely enjoyed this short but interesting devotional. Mrs. Simester stated further that Vermilion has a very active Home league as the members had made over three hundred visits to the hospital and the Vermilion Valley lodge in December alone. She thanked the group for the book sent her while she was ill last year.

Several hymns were sung with Donna Isley playing the piano. Donna also delighted the gathering with a piano selection.

A bountiful lunch brought the pleasant afternoon to a close. Brigadier Simester and Lieut. Reynolds joined the group for lunch.

Speaking briefly, Brigadier Simester said that a new Salvation Army hall for Vermilion is on the building agenda sometime within the next five years.

Dedication of New Alliance Residence

A feature of the morning service at the Alliance Chapel, Sunday, Jan. 15th, was the dedication of the newly renovated and enlarged residence of the pastor. Work on the residence has been completed and is a most welcome addition to the facilities at the chapel. The contractor for the work was Mr. Floyd Bottorff who, with his own workmen and a large number of volunteer workers, had the work finished in about six weeks, which is something of a record.

Pastor J. M. Schroeder spoke at both services, his subject in the morning was "Spiritual Restoration", and in the evening "Season of Sin". Special musical numbers were vocal solos by Mr. Albert Mix and Miss Doreen Currah. Piano accompaniment was provided by Miss Margaret McLennan and Mrs. Ron Mix. Others taking part in the services were Mrs. A. B. Stephenson and Mr. Albert Tovell.

Visitors from out of town were Mrs. O. Johnson, visiting at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. John Habstritt and Mr. and Mrs. F. Shorland of Lloydminster.

The new president Mrs. Campbell, was in the chair. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, routine business was disposed of and reports heard from the treasurer and various conveners. Roll call brought forth many lovely bazaar items. The ladies spent some time in discussion of the proposed new group for United Church Women, and also a new Christian Fellowship plan. It was agreed that all members would join in the M. & M. "Cent a Meal" gift plan, money raised in this way is to be used to provide food for the hungry overseas.

The devotional was taken by Mrs. Goddard in her usual very capable manner, and was both interesting and instructive. A delicious lunch, served by the hostess assisted by Mrs H. Feenstra and Mrs. Goddard, brought the meeting to a close.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mr and Mrs Laird. Lunch committee will be Mrs. Forsyth and Mrs. Olson. Roll call will be either a bazaar item or a towel for the [illegible]

SISSY BLOUSES in a fabric which looks like lustrous cotton broadcloth and which holds delicate permanent pleats will be making fashion news this spring. A Canadian textile mill has produced an intimate blend of 65 per cent "Terylene" with 35 per cent cotton which makes a ruffled blouse by Kay Silver as easy to care for as a tailored shirt. It stays fresh all day and can be washed and worn again and again with little or no ironing.

Phases of Alcoholism

In number four of this series which described the early warning signs of alcoholism we showed how the incipient alcoholic begins to "over-shoot" — drinking more than he intended to, and getting drunk with increasing frequency. We feel that he is definitely an alcoholic when he loses control of the amount he drinks — that is when he "over-shoots" and drinks more than he intended on even three or four out of ten drinking occasions. Remember how we described alcoholism as "progressive loss of the ability to drink according to intention." As alcoholism progresses so does the "over-shooting."

Later on he will suffer advanced loss of control over time and place as well as quantity but in the early phase he can still refrain from drinking, or go "on the wagon" when he wants or needs to. However, once he has alcohol in his system, some chain reaction in his body, as yet incompletely understood, requires more and more alcohol.

He feels defensive and guilty about his supposed lack of will power and he erects an elaborate system of "reasons" for drinking, partly to answer family and associates, but mostly to reassure himself. He drinks to excess more and more frequently and causes his wife embarrassment, even downright humiliation, on occasion. These occasions do not always arise accidentally or unintentionally as some of his guilt and remorse will be directed toward his wife in the form of aggressive behavior. He may feel that he must act the "big shot" — paying restaurant bills, tipping lavishly, ordering taxicabs, making pointless long distance calls, and so on.

He needs more liquor to get the same effect, but he keeps on "over-shooting" more often, suffering blackouts more frequently, humiliating not only his wife but also his friends who are baffled by this behavior. The social isolation of the alcoholic and his family begins: they are invited out less often, their own invitations are not accepted as readily and promptly; when they do go out their friends don't serve liquor or dole it out sparingly.

Feeling remorseful, guilty, and unworthy the alcoholic tries to "control" his drinking by going "on the wagon" or changing his drinking patterns. This period may last from a few months up to two or three years, and if he is able to recognize his illness, he may even at this early stage arrest its progress and commence recovery through the Alcoholism Foundations or Alcoholics Anonymous, as people are in fact doing in larger numbers each year.

Number six in this series will be [illegible] Three: The Middle Phase.

Questions are invited and will be answered as soon as possible. For further information write to The Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta, 9910 103rd Street, Edmonton.

LETTER FROM EDMONTON

F. U. A. Convention Submits 13 Page Brief To Cabinet

By KEN MASON

EDMONTON.—Private power companies and the rates they charge drew a blast last week from the influential Farmers' Union of Alberta.

In a 13-page brief presented to the provincial cabinet, the FUA asked the government to take over the generation and distribution of power in Alberta. Cabinet ministers were non-committal, but in view of policies laid down in the past it seems unlikely the government will go along with the request.

But it gave the farm union a chance to get a few gripes off its chest and into the public print.

The F.U.A. singled out Calgary Power Ltd., which generates much of the electricity carried over rural electrification lines . . .

"In various splits of stock of the Calgary Power Co. since 1953 the original stockholders have increased their holdings by 15 to 1 without any additional cash contribution," the brief said. "While the stock exchange is currently quoting common shares of Calgary Power at approximately $34 any original shareholder has only about 65 cents per share invested as a result of the stock splitting."

This, said the brief, is an increase of more than 5,000 per cent in share value and "would indicate to us that power rates must be considerably higher than can properly be justified."

The brief said the government will eventually have to take a more active part in power and water resources development, and that any delay may increase the cost to the public "very substantially".

Furthermore, said the brief, the Brazeau River water storage and hydro power project serves as a good example of the need for government-produced power. (In this case the government is helping Calgary Power with the financing, in return for an early start on the project which is urgently needed for river control.)

Said the farmers in their brief: "We cannot condone the use of provincial funds, interest free, to give any private concern an opportunity to continue making the kinds of profits indicated above". (Rural power rates in Alberta are just as low or lower than those paid in Saskatchewan).

The farmers also expressed some concern over the government proposal to permit rural areas to levy a property tax on power lines and pipelines. Their brief expressed the hope that farmer owned rural electrification lines would be exempt.

Another part of the brief asked support for farmers' efforts to snag a greater share of world markets. It claimed Canadian farmers could compete "quite effectively" with any in the world if the competition were on a free market basis.

The brief also contained a long list of resolutions passed at the FUA's annual convention in Edmonton. Among them were requests for recreational grants for municipal districts and for measures to reduce the tax load on rural residents.

Also requested was an easing of the current laws governing establishment of producer-controlled marketing boards. As the law stands, farmers can't set up a board without a "yes" vote from 51 per cent of all those eligible to cast ballots. The FUA wants it changed to require approval of 75 per cent of those who actually cast ballots. The brief also asked for a program of insurance covering crop damage by wildlife and for stiffer penalties for cattle rustling.

REDISTRIBUTION

Watch for a lively battle in the legislature when the committee headed by Hon. F. C. Colborne submits its report on the proposed redistribution of House seats.

Last week Mr. Colborne said committee members feel the present 65 seats in the provincial House are quite enough, and hinted they may even recommend a reduction in representation.

If there is a reduction he said it may be in rural representation. If the cities are to be given more representation and the total number of seats is not to be increased, there will be no other choice.

Of course no one has said yet that the cities will be given more seats but they have been putting up a strong case for increased representation. As it stands now each city member represents a far larger number of voters than each country member. It will be argued, and with some merit, that a country member covers larger areas and has to travel long distances, thus can represent fewer persons. Of one thing you can be fairly certain: if the committee recommends a reduction in rural representation there will be an outcry from the country members; if it goes the other way, city MLAs will be unhappy.

[illegible] JOBS

Preliminary work on Canada's biggest single new employment project — the Canadian storage dams for the Columbia River development — should begin next summer, reports Leslie Wilson in The Financial Post. The Canadian projects: Mica dam on the Columbia River, Arrow Lakes and Duncan Lake dams — may employ 5,000 men when construction gets going at full blast in 1962. They will cost $344 million at present prices.

Clandonald News

With January about half over and no extended spell of very severe weather so far and a very moderate amount of snow, the winter of 1960-61 promises to be one of the better than average variety. Along with the pleasant weather a drive through the district leaves the impression that feed supplies might also be sufficient for next winter as well as the present one.

SICKNESS PREVALENT

Quite a number of old friends have been on the sick list during the past few months and a return to better health is our sincere wish to all.

ACCIDENT VICTIM MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

Mrs. Denis McCormick, seriously ill during the summer, is keeping much better now while her son Denis who suffered a painful injury when he fell from an elevator is reported making good progress. Another member of the McCormick family, Jim, when last heard of was a patient in hospital suffering from the result of an accident about a year ago when a horse, which he was riding, fell.

Following a serious illness which made necessary a stay of several weeks in an Edmonton hospital Joe Carlton is home and getting around and is much improved. Brother-in-law Frank Frank Malonek has also been on the sick list for several months but had made some recovery when last heard of.

Harry Brake, another long time resident, is making good progress toward recovery. He was suffering from a skin ailment which made necessary a stay of several weeks in the University hospital.

At Frog Lake another former resident of many years ago Mrs. Frank Franks is gamely keeping things going at home while her husband is in rather serious condition in Elk Point hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brake recently paid a visit to the Franks' home and also called to see their old friend in the hospital.

We hope that local readers will forgive us for the following items which are not news here but may be of interest to former residents.

PURCHASES SCHOOL BUSES

A fair sized deal was put through early in September when Louie Garnier purchased the two school buses, the franchise house and garage building owned by Tom Stockwell. Tom had been in the business since buses were first operated here. At present Tom and family are still living in town with no definite plans so far for the future.

BUSINESS AND REAL ESTATE NEWS

Another deal involving quite a considerable amount was the purchase of the two trucking businesses owned by Bill Davis, former hotel owner and operated by Leon Roberge. Frank Micard's farm which was up to a few years ago owned and operated by Clarence Free has been taken over by Walter Trach and family who moved here from a location about ten miles to the north-east of town.

TWO NEW BUSINESSES

Two new places of business have started in town during the past few months. Frank Malonek opened an up-to-date gas and service station on the property immediately east of the store run by Frank Chupka. In the former store building owned and occupied by the Mat Hrynkowsky family a television shop and repair service was started early in the fall. Business is reported good in this line following the commencement of telecasting from Lloydminster.

We didn't get around much during the holidays so doubtless many events occurred and many visitors came and went without this writer's knowledge. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seal had their son Ernest and his wife and daughter from Ontario here for Xmas. At the Rowntree home Mrs. Rowntree and son Art had Mr. and Mrs. Ray Phillips and their three children for Christmas and a few days following.

Cliff Stockwell, now of Edmonton, spent Christmas and New Year's with his son Tom and family in town and with other relatives. From Edmonton brother Alex Stockwell spent a few days here at New Year's. Alex used to live here up until about 1920 so still takes a lively interest in neighborhood goings-on. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brake had their daughter Mavis and family from Rosalind as visitors for several days following Xmas. Also at the Brake home from Edmonton was Mike Harket.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coulter and family entertained most of the aforementioned clan as well as some members of their home in Vermilion on New Year's day. It more or less wind up the season's festivities.

OLD COUNTRY VISITATIONS

This seems to have been a year for visiting in the Old Country. Early in the summer Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Lawrence and Mrs. Lawrence's daughter Helen of Fallis paid a visit to the Lawrence's old home in England and Scotland. This was their first visit home for many years and it was a wonderful experience for Mrs. Lawrence to visit with her mother who is now in her 90s. They also visited Mrs. George Brake who lives with a niece in Somerset and who is in surprisingly good health.

Later in the summer Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seal paid their second visit to England having been over previously about three years ago. They also called on Mrs. Brake.

Another resident Mrs. Bob Michael is at present visiting old homes scenes in the Old Country, having left here around the first of December. Shortly before Christmas a niece of Mrs. Ernie Lawrence's arrived here from Dundee on her first visit to Canada. She plans to make her home here in Alberta if suitable employment is available.

At this time we would like to thank all those who so kindly remembered the writer at Xmas. Your good wishes are deeply appreciated.

Some former residents heard from during the Yule season were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Toner and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hagen and Mr. and Mrs. Will Porter. Also former Derwent resident Mr. K. Myerman and the Cook family who left Vermilion in the early thirties to take up residence in Victoria.

DEATH OF OLD FRIENDS

It was with deep regret that we heard of the recent passing of two old friends. Mrs. George Chalmers died in Edmonton just shortly before Christmas. Resident here for many years the Chalmers were noted for always being ready to lend a hand for any worthwhile event or any emergency. Also the death of Paddy Conlin who grew up here. Our sincere sympathy goes out to the sorrowing relatives of both families.

McLean acted as secretary and Mrs. Frank Brassington took care of the treasurer's report in the absence of Mrs. E. Kragnes. In giving her devotional Mrs. J. Gordon included material received on the new organization, the "United Church Women".

Since the new heating system has been installed, the disposal of the two oil heaters was discussed and it was decided to see the local board regarding the advertising and selling of these. Tea and lunch was served after the meeting.

In the list of W.A. officers and conveners of committees for 1961 there was a slight error. Mrs. J. Gordon is convener of the Devotional committee and Mrs. S. Leighton is the Youth sponsor. 'Open House' To Herald Change In Simonsen's Furniture Store

Established thirty years ago by Mac Simonsen, the furniture store bearing his name has recently been sold to a partnership, Floyd Taylor of Calgary and Sig Lindroth of Vermilion. The business will henceforth be known as Vermilion Furniture.

To suitably celebrate their entry into the Vermilion business world, Floyd and Sig are holding open house on Tuesday next week, Jan. 31. There will be free coffee, doughnuts, door prizes and during the day the owners hope to renew a lot of friendships and to meet many new people.

However the open house is only half the story, as starting on Tuesday and continuing to Saturday, every item in the store has been drastically reduced in price. Offering these big savings to the people of Vermilion and district is another and very tangible way Floyd and Sig have of signifying their pleasure at now being business men of Vermilion.

Standard readers are advised to turn to page 8, section 1 for the large display advertisement listing bargains on hundreds of furniture items.

Floyd Taylor comes from Calgary although he is already well known in Vermilion. He and his wife, the former Mildred Larson, and their children are now comfortably settled in town. Sig Lindroth and wife Cora and family are of course already well known here, having farmed in the Buffalo Coulee district prior to moving into Vermilion.

Don't forget the open house. Everyone is invited to call in to the store on Tuesday from 2 to 5 p.m. and get acquainted over a cup of coffee.

New Recreation and Agricultural Centre Completion in May

Completion of the new recreation and agricultural centre will be sometime in May according to information given to the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday by G. W. Sutherland, a member of the building committee. Everything will be finished well before that time with the exception of the cement floor on the rink proper.

As the hockey season would be drawing to a close by the time this could be ready for use it has been decided to delay the laying of the cement floor until April or May, or after the frost season has passed. Laying it now the contractors would be contending with a frost problem. As an A-1 job is desired the decision to delay the floor until late spring was reached.

New Three Sheet Rink Credit To Innisfree

OFFICIALLY OPENED FRIDAY

About the proudest town in Alberta right now is the village of Innisfree where a truly magnificent three-sheet curling rink, of the very latest arch-rib design, was opened Friday. Officiating at the opening ceremonies were the Hon. Russell Patrick, provincial secretary and minister of Industry and Development, Ashley Cooper, M.L.A. for Vermilion constituency, and Alex Gordey, M.L.A. for Vegreville.

WELCOMED BY PRESIDENT

The program was arranged by [illegible] executive of the Innisfree curling club and president of the club Mr. Joe Mokrey welcomed the exceptionally large crowd of visitors and townspeople who had turned out en masse to the gala event. Hon. Patrick cut the ribbon held by the two M.L.A.'s. Led by Pipers Rod MacPhee and Neil MacLean of Vermilion the officials of the club and visiting dignitaries, the [illegible] paraded through the entrance and around the bright and impressive rink.

A.C.A. REPRESENTED

Throwing the first rock was Mr. Art Jelson who represented the Alberta Curling Association. [illegible] for him was none other than that former champion of the game, Lars Thorsteinson, veteran curler of Innisfree.

The throwing of the first rock was the signal for the curlers to go into action and soon the three sheet rink was resounding to the sound of "sweep sweep". Rinks from every town and district over a wide area were represented coming from Edmonton on the west to Vermilion on the east, and from many points to the north and south. The waiting rooms both upstairs and down were crowded with visitors and spectators so that it all added up to a suitable celebration for an historic event.

SPEECHES, MUSIC, DANCE

Curling continued until 8 p.m. when the activity moved to the I.O.O.F. hall for a program of speeches, musical numbers followed by a dance.

Mr. Harry Chamik was the very efficient chairman of the evening with the speakers being Joe Mokrey president of the curling club, Sam Wolowhyn, mayor of Innisfree, Art Jelson of the Alberta Curling Association, Ashley Cooper, M.L.A. and the Hon. Russell Patrick.

A really excellent and well selected musical program was interspersed with the addresses. Several numbers were specially composed and set to music for the rink opening.

Mr. Patrick expressed amazement at the achievement of a comparatively small village in completing a structure of the type of the new curling rink. The ice space is high with the latest type of arch rib construction giving unobstructed vision. The two storied waiting room finished in attractive panelling, offers ample and comfortable spectator space. A nicely planned kitchen and coffee bar caters to the need for refreshment. Upstairs the panelled walls and accommodation make a luxurious club room.

Innisfree as was noted many times by the speakers, was certainly looking to the future when they planned the new rink, and the curlers and the people of the village and district are to be highly praised and congratulated for the ambitious undertaking and the very successful manner in which it was completed.

This Is Minor Hockey Week In Canada

Minor Hockey Week has become an established part of our Canadian sporting year. Observance of Minor Hockey Week is the best way to direct attention of the public to the benefits of minor hockey to our youth and to our community.

Hockey is Canada's national game. It is one of our great heritages, and participation by the youth of our town should be encouraged at all levels. We are proud of our game, for its ability to develop character, citizenship and respect for authority, as well as for its physical and body-building benefits.

A vital feature of minor hockey is the attendance and support by parents and adults at the games, for only in this way can the minor hockey program here in Vermilion prosper. Attendance at some really good midget and juvenile games has been sadly lacking. The young people play better knowing they have the support of their families and the public.

The Standard is happy to endorse Minor Hockey Week in Canada, and calls upon all citizens of the town and district to keep in step with Canada by joining in the observance of Minor Hockey, not only for a special week but for the whole season.

Effects of TV on Children

Canadian children spend an average of 18½ hours a week — about one-sixth of their waking hours — watching the TV set. The Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation believes that this constant exposure to the "fantasy" world of television must be affecting our children. Nobody knows if the overall result is bad, good or insignificant because no long-term, co-ordinated research into the question has ever been undertaken. The Federation, after its 1960 annual meeting, wrote the Board of Broadcast Governors stating that funds should be allocated to undertake this important task (it was suggested that an adequate sum would be one-tenth of one percent of the parliamentary grants to the CBC).

The reply has indicated that there are not sufficient funds to undertake the appropriate research in Canada, but that research studies in other countries may be assembled by the CBC and examined in relation to the Canadian situation. Canadian Home and School is not satisfied with this compromise, and intends to press further for research that will show in what way, and to what extent, this huge new force in our living rooms is influencing our children, and thereby affecting Canada's future.

Farmers Like Their Occupation

Farming may not have been the most lucrative of occupations in recent years, nevertheless most farmers like their work and intend to stay with it if the opinions of Alberta's Farm Forum groups are representative. Of the 270 members of 26 forum groups meeting on January 2nd to discuss the subject "The Business of Farming", 235 said that they still want to be farming ten years hence, only 24 said they will not be farming, while 11 were undecided. Among the changes expected in the next ten years seventeen groups said that the trend toward larger farms would continue. Ten of the groups expected to see more specialization on farms.

Our Big Credit Spree

More than $3,500 million on the cuff . . . that's how much Canadian consumers have gone into debt to "buy now" states The Financial Post. Figures show consumer credit rising faster than personal disposable income, after taxes. Between 1952 and the end of September, 1960, consumer debt increased 150% while personal disposable income, after tax, rose only 80%.

Have we reached the ceiling on consumer debt? Experts say we are close to a saturation point, under existing business conditions. For debt to go higher, Canadians need more personal disposable income, coming from several sources. These include:

Getting more unemployed Canadians to work; Finding ways to channel more income into the family unit, such as by dad moonlighting or putting junior to work; Reducing personal income taxes.

WANTED: NICKELS [illegible]

A drastic increase in demand for Canadian nickels has sent production of the 5c coins soaring. Part of a current shortage has been blamed on the banks' 1960 drive on U.S. silver. Shortage extends across Canada, but is most acute in the Toronto area, where one branch bank had surplus nickels air-expressed from Calgary before Christmas to meet demands of its area merchants.

SWINE BARN VENTILATION

The greatest break through in farm ventilation has been the acceptance of the fact that extra heat is needed to make ventilation possible. Any good ventilation system works as soon as the air has heated sufficiently at the intake so that it will carry off the livestock moisture produced. Heating is quite often cheaper than the installation of expensive electric ventilation systems.

FARM RECORDS

January 1st is the beginning of a new year for farm accounting. January would be a good time to organize a farm management group in your community. Through a group farm families learn by six steps (meetings) a systematic approach to farm and home management. Contact your district agriculturist.

DATES TO REMEMBER

The short courses are being held in North-eastern Alberta during the late winter. Lloydminster, February 27, 28 and March 1. Mannville, February 28th, March 1 and 2nd. The Lloydminster Exhibition Association is holding an annual seed grain show in conjunction with the short course. 4-H "Speech Night" is 8:00 o'clock Mar. 10 at the Vermilion School of Agriculture. Spring bull sales will be held at Vermilion April 27th and at Lloydminster May 1 and 2nd, 1961. The Vermilion Bred Sow and Boar sale is April 3rd.

BUY PEDIGREED SEED

Farmers may again deliver up to 400 bushels of any grain in excess of the prevailing delivery quota, for the purchase of registered or certified seed. This delivery privilege also applies to the purchase of forage seeds. Many farmers are taking advantage of this opportunity to secure pedigreed seed which is guaranteed pure and free from weeds.

1960 RAT REPORT

In 1960 the number of rat infestations along eastern border dropped to less than half the number reported in 1959. Dave Stetlon, Ass't. Supervisor of crop protection reports approximately 22,000 rats killed in 1960. Of a total of 2,732 farms and elevators inspected 171 infestations were uncovered. 18,000 lbs. of warfarin dry mix and nearly 3000 quarts of water soluble baits were used. Of all the areas where the rat battle is carried on the area east of Vermilion was hardest hit. Because of the pressure on this area, citizens must be on constant guard and keep bait stations out at all times.

VARIETY MEATS

These include the organ meats, liver, kidney, heart, tongue, sweetbreads, brains and tripe. The most common ones in the average diet include liver, kidney, heart and tongue. These organ meats are high in food value. Liver is one of the best sources of iron and other essentials for building red blood cells. Kidney and heart come a close second. Tongue and the remainder of the variety meats are not quite so high in food value.

Variety meats have a common feature making them very perishable. They should be thoroughly chilled as soon as possible after butchering and used or frozen immediately.

LIVER. Liver is a tender meat but there is quite variation in the tenderness and flavor of the different types. It has a delicate flavor if properly handled. Like all organ meats it will develop strong flavors if not used absolutely fresh. Although it is not necessary to soak liver before cooking, beef and pork liver will have a milder flavor if covered with milk and allowed to soak for two hours in the refrigerator. Liver may be cooked by panfrying, or braising. Calves liver may be broiled. Do not overcook liver or it will become tough.

KIDNEY. Kidneys differ in flavor and tenderness and are not all cooked the same way. Beef and pork kidneys have a milder flavor if they are covered with cold salted water and allowed to soak for one hour in the refrigerator. To prepare kidneys for cooking, remove the membrane and cut lobes away from fat and tubes. Cut kidneys in crosswise or lengthwise pieces. Cook by panfrying. They are tasty combined with round steak in steak and kidney pie.

HEART. Hearts should be plump and well rounded in appearance with a smooth shiny finish. Since the meat is firm textured and muscular all types of heart — beef, veal, pork and lamb require long cooking at low temperature. A recommended method of preparing heart is to stuff the heart cavity with a [illegible]. Place fat over the heart and baste occasionally during baking. A three to four pound beef heart will require 2½ to 3 hours baking at 350°. A pork heart weighing [illegible] [illegible] 2½ hours baking time.

Islay F.U.A. Hear Talk on "Wills"

The Islay F. U. A. local held a very successful and enjoyable meeting on Jan. 17th when 38 farm men and women attended to hear Mr. James McCorry, Kitscoty barrister, speak on "Wills, Estates and Income Taxes".

One point especially noted was that all property must belong to some person or group of persons. The surest way to ensure its going to the right party when the time comes for a change of ownership through death was to make a will stating to whom the property was to go. A will is not an expensive or difficult document to write. It can be done by the owner of the property and signed in the presence of two witnesses or written by a lawyer. Neither of the two witnesses may be a beneficiary, but the executor named may be a beneficiary. When it is an estate of considerable property and no will made an executor appointed must be able to put up a bond equal to twice the estate. If this is not possible, it goes to a Trust company, or through a Bonding Insurance Company.

Mr. Mike Warawa introduced Mr. McCorry and Mr. D. Sherriff thanked Mr. McCorry on behalf of the audience. An enjoyable social half hour was spent following the meeting.

RIVERTON

Mrs. Bert Parr had her father from Beaver Dam visiting her last week.

Betty Hyatt is a patient in the Islay hospital. We hope to see her home soon.

Mrs. Bill Hansen and Mrs. A.B. Wood went to Edmonton to see the Ice Capades. They report a wonderful array of color and say it was well worth attending.

In the Massey-Ferguson Curl-orama held in Dewberry, the winning rink was Ronnie Tonneson, Lorne Tonneson, Milo Hodgson and Donald Rainey. They are to go to Vegreville Wednesday to continue on their way to the district finals. In the open bonspiel in Dewberry the Grand Challenge was taken by Neil Jones, Mrs. Jim Jones, Ronnie Tonneson and Lorne Tonneson [illegible].

A community get-together was held at Riverton on Friday with a bake sale card party and local films. Winners in whist were: Ladies, high Margaret Wilson, low Mrs. Rainey; men, high Donald Rainey, low Elmer Wilson. Bridge winners, high Mrs. Pete Hansen, low Rose Narbut; for the men, high Raymond Haakel, low Andrew Wood.

Minor Hockey Week In Canada

Minor hockey's slogan "Don't send— take your boy to the arena" is being enacted by fathers in hundreds of communities, from Newfoundland to British Columbia, as more than 100,000 Canadian youngsters take to the ice in organized minor hockey this year.

More and more fathers are pitching in to help coaches and league officials keep pace with the rapid growth of new or expanded leagues, according to minor hockey officials who are finding minor hockey to be a good training ground for character and building citizenship.

An important contribution to this character building aspect of minor hockey, and a proven incentive to good junior citizenship, is the Robin Hood Trophy, which is again being presented for competition during the current season.

In announcing continuance of the Trophy program today, a Robin Hood executive said that the gratifying and heartwarming response from trophy winners, league officials and community leaders, during the first two year's program, has proved the worth and merit of these annual awards for the best all-around boy in each of the hundreds of local hockey leagues operated across the country for boys 13 years of age and under.

"It is a pleasure to be working with those dedicated people who devote so much of their leisure time to provide organized hockey for these boys", he said. "Their guidance and counselling cannot help but produce finer citizens and we are happy to co-operate in this worthwhile activity."

During 1960, 1,343 boys in all ten provinces, as well as the North West Territories and the Yukon, were selected to receive awards, by local league officials who based their selection on a Player's Creed which was drawn up for the young players. The creed, in addition to urging every boy to train and keep fit in order to play to his peak capacity, emphasized the importance of good behavior in school, the home and the community at large.

A crest, a personalized parchment scroll containing the Players' Creed, and the trophy itself all become the permanent property of each winner.

"The development of hardy, competitive young Canadians is only one of the objectives guiding the program," the Robin Hood executive stated. "We are striving to encourage those character traits that in future years will stand them in good stead as adult members of their communities and country. We believe that hockey is best suited to this program because it is Canada's most popular game with boys and because it builds strong and healthy youngsters."

Year End Meeting Held By Islay Municipal Hospital

It was also decided at this meeting that no accounts be written off to reserves this year. Salary scales for 1961 were reviewed and a new schedule for both part time and full time employees was adopted.

Princess Anne W. I.

The first monthly meeting of [illegible] was held at the home of our new president Mrs. W. McIntyre on January 12. After singing "O Canada" and repeating the club creed, roll call was answered by eleven members describing their wedding dresses.

Our social convener Mrs. M. Simonet, reported on the Xmas concert and a card party at Mrs. G. Mead's.

Mrs. R. Mead read a letter from our provincial president re: [illegible] for recommendations as to additional safety measures to be adopted in the operation of school buses that we feel are proper and advisable. We submitted three which we thought were worthy of mention.

Our new business consisted of numerous suggestions but the following were carried:

A [illegible] cent fine be imposed if roll call is not answered.

Mrs. G. Simons moved all past presidents receive an A.W.I. cup and saucer. Mrs. A. Searle to purchase same. Mrs. M. Simonet seconded. Carried.

Mrs. N. Armstrong suggested we have a pot luck supper at her home in honour of the past executive namely Mrs. G. Richardson, Mrs. A. Mead and Mrs. W. McIntyre. All in favor, supper to be January 24 and husbands [illegible] to bring [illegible] except themselves.

Mrs. J. Parchewsky moved all dues to be paid. Mrs. G. [illegible] seconded the motion.

Two card parties are to be held Friday Jan. 20, one at Mrs. A. Simonet's and one at Mrs. N. Armstrong's.

Mrs. W. McIntyre gave a very humorous reading for [illegible] which caused many laughs.

Mrs. Simonet donated her birthday years in silver, a new idea.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM ALICE CAMBRIDGE

Mrs. Potvin sent the writer a very interesting letter to read from Alice Cambridge who with her daughter Frances recently took a 9,000 mile trip through the U.S. and Mexico. They attended a bull fight in Mexico where they witnessed the gruesome sight of six black bulls being killed. In some parts of Mexico people are so poverty-stricken they have to resort to stealing to survive — they take hubcaps, lights, handles etc. off of cars and every Sunday they have a thieves' market where all these stolen articles are auctioned off. Alice said their car was broken into and a piece had to be replaced on the side window to repair it. The part cost $1.80, and two men, who had worked for three hours charged $1.00. Cheap labor folks! Then she told about a vulture flying into the path of the car breaking the windshield [illegible] had a deer go right through his, doing a lot of damage. We really enjoyed the letter Alice, why don't other folks write a report of their travels, we are sure everyone would enjoy reading [illegible].

Alice is presently teaching up at Hay River, N.W.T.

Working For His Laurels

It was no easy chore for skip Roger Renaud and his Vermilion foursome to emerge victorious last week-end. Skipper Renaud is shown working hard to ease an opposing rock through the house. This action was in the first encounter between Derwent and the locals, which went into an extra end before V. H. S. were declared the winners. —PHOTO BY TERRY COOPER

Derwent High School Rink

Coming within an ace of being Zone Champions, the Derwent rink shown above forced the champion Vermilion squad to a split on two extra-end games and then only lost by the last rock in the final game. The name Mrs. Brake appeared and this should have read Mr. Brake.

Letters to the Editor

Co-operation of The Standard Is Appreciated by Islay Hospital Board

ISLAY, Alberta, January 24th, 1961.

The Editor, Vermilion Standard,
Vermilion, Alberta.
Dear Sir:

I wish to thank you on behalf of the Board of Directors, Matron and Staff of Islay Hospital for your co-operation in publishing our reports in 1960.

Our very best wishes to you and to your staff for 1961.

Yours truly,
ISLAY MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL
(Miss) M. M. Carey, Secy-Treas.

Paradise Valley,
Jan. 22, 1961

The Editor
The Standard
Vermilion, Alberta
Dear Mr. Editor

It appears that two individuals "Brown" by name - have taken issue through the local press against our municipal authorities' apparent threat to go into the newspaper business and of course thereby be a party to foisting the Vermilion River News onto we ratepayers, and if this goes over, the subscription fee will be taken off our tax monies.

Well, this letter registers a third complaint by another ratepayer by the name of "Brown", be it known to all and sundry.

The above so-called newspaper comes out after all our newspapers from our local publishers are in our hands. One will see a duplicate of the various news items copied and sent to us at a later date, this is no news at all. Our various local papers were quite willing and often gave news of the various happenings connected with our local council meetings - so just why should our municipal authorities sponsor a newspaper?

It would further appear that the publishers of this "rag", The Vermilion Rivers News, do employ a good con-artist, or in milder form, a really high pressure salesman who must have caught our honorable reeve and councillors in one of their weak moods, or so to speak, off base.

But to shift the onus somewhat a card has been sent out to the ratepayers along with a copy of the Vermilion River News, that a ratepayer might designate his or her desire to have this newspaper come. Of course to then have the subscription fee chalked up on taxes. A great idea is it not? And sure-fire of collecting. Some of the delinquent taxpayers in signing these cards can be the means of this little racket costing our municipality thousands of dollars. We have quite a lot each year of uncollected taxes also of lands sold for taxes. Of course this newspaper idea would only amount to a few thousand more dollars in expense.

Just why should our municipal authorities mess around with such an undertaking any way? Are the ratepayers not capable of attending to their own subscriptions?

Think it over, patronize your own newspapers, printed right here within the boundaries of our own municipality. Let this rag find their own subscribers.

N. A. Brown

[illegible], Alberta,
The Editor,

Dear Sir:

Through your "Letters to the Editor" we would like to express our sincere appreciation for your many favors throughout the past year.

Your co-operation in publishing reports of our activities and assistance in arranging advertising has been a great help to us.

This was the unanimous vote of those attending our recent annual meeting which I have been asked to pass on to you and your staff.

LOCAL NEWS

A paragraph was unfortunately omitted from the story which appeared last week of the dinner and entertainment in honor of Mr. Lloyd Dowdell. The paragraph reads as follows: "Freddy Matrichuk, relieving agent who was called upon to speak earlier in the program, showed some very interesting movies and slides of pictures taken while he was on a recent trip around the world. Fred has just returned from the world journey.

Dr. A. Ben King is in Banff this week attending the convention of the College of General Practitioners. At a banquet on Wednesday Dr. King is being presented with a citation for the Upjohn Scholarship which he won last year.

Miss Lorraine LeRossignol of the local telephone office returned home last Sunday from a trip to Banff where she attended the I.B.E.W. convention.

Attention of friends is directed to the fact that Keith Burt, who was recently burned in a flash fire at Lloydminster, is a patient at the Royal Alexandra hospital in Edmonton and not the University hospital as stated in the story last week.

Donald Stewart of North Battleford spent the week-end at the family home in town.

Michael Lawrence, one of the very efficient and crowd-pleasing auctioneers operating at the Vermilion Auction Mart was born in Winnipeg, Manitoba, and moved at an early age to Red Deer. He completed his grade twelve education at the Lindsay Thurber composite high school in 1956.

Throughout this time he lived and worked in spare time with the Lawrence Brothers Sable ranch at Pine Lake, Alberta. Following high school graduation Michael worked at Bud Bourke's Men's shop, Red Deer, and briefly with Canadian Utilities also at Red Deer.

In 1957 Mr. Lawrence began work with Wood, Gundy and Co. Ltd., nation wide investment dealers, starting in Winnipeg as a stock trader and later in Toronto as a bond trader. While so employed he accepted a two year investment dealer associate course presented by his firm at the University of Toronto graduating with honors. Early in 1960 he moved to Edmonton as a securities salesman with the same firm.

INTEREST AROUSED IN AUCTIONEERING

It was at this time that a strong interest in the auctioneering profession developed because of relatives connected with the livestock industry in Red Deer. These relatives own and operate Lawrence Equipment and Stockmen's Supplies and are also employed by Sims Auction Mart Ltd. in Red Deer.

ATTENDS AUCTION SCHOOL

Michael made a decision in August of 1960 to leave Wood Gundy & Co. in favor of attending North America's most renowned auction school, Reppert's School of Auctioneering, Decatur, Indiana.

After graduating from Reppert's Michael travelled throughout the Edmonton area working sale days with the Triple J Auction Mart, Westlock, and occasionally with Clarence Lavig of the Vermilion Auction Mart.

APPOINTED MANAGER

In December 1960, Mr. Lawrence was accepted as full time office manager with the Vermilion Auction Mart Ltd., and now resides in the town of Vermilion.

COMMUNITY MINDED

He is a member of the Auction Market curling team and was recently installed as a member of the Vermilion Kinsmen club.

The management of the Vermilion Auction Mart deem it a privilege and an honor to have Michael with us. We feel certain he'll do for you, like he is doing for us. (and by the way girls, he's single)

Edward Dardis, well known former resident of the Borradaile district and for the past eleven years a member of the Fargo Oils staff at Lone Rock, Sask., recently retired from his work. The company recognized his faithful service and presented him with a wrist watch suitably engraved, while his fellow employees gave him a solid leather suit case. Ed says that he thinks he will return to his land at Borradaile to live.

E. H. Buckingham will attend a meeting of the Electoral College of the Anglican Arch Diocese of Ruperts Land which is being held in Winnipeg on Jan. 26th. The purpose of this meeting is to elect an Archbishop to succeed Archbishop Barfoot who has resigned as from the end of December. One clergyman and one layman are delegated from each of the nine dioceses in Western Canada to serve on this committee. Mr. Buckingham is the layman from the Edmonton diocese.

Miss Jean Burdett of Edmonton spent a few days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Burdett here.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Cooper and little daughter Heather were here for the week-end visiting their parental homes.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Cooper were home for the week-end. They are presently in Edmonton where "Newt" is taking a rehabilitation course in bookkeeping and office management.

BORN: To Mr. and Mrs. Allan Gannon (nee Joanne Cooper) of Drayton Valley on January 25th, a son.

While cutting willows which have grown up in the Vermilion Park dam, Fred Clarke has broken through the ice into hip deep water each time. Fred says that it was getting in that was the trouble: once you're in you don't feel the cold water — you are too numb!

In loving memory of our dear son [illegible]
Sgt. Ross Harvey [illegible]
R178020 reported missing over Germany in the R.C.A.F., Jan. 21, 1944.

"We do not need a special day
To bring you to our minds
The days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss you yet
God gave us strength to take it
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know
So we think of you in silence.
No eyes can see us weep.
But many a silent tear is shed
While others are asleep."

Always remembered by Mother, Dad, Brothers and Sisters.

Saturday, Jan. 21st, a group on tour from the Canadian Bible College, Regina, Sask., presented a program in the Alliance chapel. This group was under the leadership of Rev. Paul H. Bartel, Dean of the college and formerly a missionary with the Alliance in China and latterly in Hong Kong.

Several vocal selections were given by the ladies trio comprised of the Misses Viola Werm, Yarrow, B.C., Norah Bird, Windsor, Ont., and Louella Branstrom, Vancouver. The pianist was Miss Alice Lutz, Bruce, Alberta.

Mr. Bartel spoke during the evening, showed slides of the new campus at the college and told of the progress being made, also of the planned dedication which will take place later this spring.

Paradise Valley

Congratulations to Cpl. and Mrs. Herb Foxwell of Ottawa on the birth of a son, born Jan. 8, Monterey Lewis. Mrs. Foxwell was the former Heather Hoskins.

P.V. WINS FIRST GAME

The first game of hockey was played on Wednesday night when the McLaughlin team played the locals. When the smoke of battle cleared it was found that the P.V. boys were the winners. With more practice these boys will give a good account of themselves.

Sgt. and Mrs. Oliver Venance and family left on Tuesday morning for Ottawa by plane. They will fly to Germany where Sgt. Venance will be stationed for the next three years.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

The grade 7 and 8 boys and girls from Edgerton came over to play basketball with the following results: Edgerton girls won over the locals by a 21 to 12 count. The boys turned the tables however on the Edgerton boys winning 20 to 16. These youngsters put up a good game and will be able to fill in on the high school teams as the older ones drop out. Friday night the high school teams play at Kitscoty. The Kitscoty teams are at the head of the western division and P.V. is at the head of the eastern division, so it ought to be a good game. Results later.

Mr and Mrs. James Rogers and family have moved to Winnipeg where Mr Rogers has accepted a position. Mrs. Rogers has been visiting with her parents Mr and Mrs. T. H. Rayson for the past few weeks.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SCHOOL DISTRICT

The annual meeting of Paradise Valley school district will be held in the high school auditorium on Tuesday, Jan. 31 at 7:30 p.m. All ratepayers are requested to attend this meeting as important business will come up. Remember the date Jan 31 and the time 7:30.

BEST WINTER TO DATE

We in Alberta should be very thankful that we are enjoying one of the best winters in many a year. Compare our weather here to what they are having elsewhere: gales in the Maritimes, floods in B.C., extreme cold in central Canada and U.S. And it can snow in those Maritimes, we know by experience, 10 to 20 inches is not uncommon.

LEGION PARTY

The Paradise Valley Branch of the Canadian Legion played hosts to their wives on Friday night. Curling with all kinds of handicaps was the order of the evening. A lot of fun and real fellowship was enjoyed by every one. A lovely lunch was served by the McDonald cafe and all went home well satisfied the evening was the best ever!

4-H CLUBS BONSPIEL

The local 4-H clubs are holding a bonspiel as these notes are being written. Results next week. They have some good curlers among their members so the games should be interesting.

Last Rites Held For D. Folk

Funeral services were held December 23, 1960, for the late Don Craig Folk, instructor at the Vermilion School of Agriculture. Born at Leipsic, Ohio, Mr Folk came with his parents to Carmangay, Alberta, in 1910, where he received further schooling. He served in the Armed Services of the First World War from 1915-18, after which he attended the School of Agriculture at Claresholm.

Mr Folk taught school at various points in the province, including Westlock, Manyberries and Drumheller. When the School of Agriculture at Vermilion reopened after the Second World War, Mr Folk joined the staff as instructor of Farm Buildings, a position he held from 1945 to the time of his death. He was to retire in September of this year.

Always active in affairs of ATA, Mr. Folk carried this same interest to Civil Service, serving as chairman of the Vermilion Branch of the Association for a number of years. Wildmere Winks

Our warm weather seems to have departed for awhile, but here's hoping it soon returns. The trees are very pretty right now covered with heavy hoar frost.

Margaret Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Steele is home for a few days from her studies in Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith and Linda, also Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sweet took in the Ice Capades in the city at the week-end.

Jean Dibben accompanied Bill and Elenore McGrath to the city on Saturday.

The shower at Preston Central school for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lynch was well attended and the young couple were the recipients of many varied and useful gifts. These gifts were wheeled in by Kathleen Garnett and Gary Osterberg dressed as bride and groom with many little helpers. Lunch was served by the ladies. Mrs. Holte, past president of the Wildmere W.A. presented Diane with a Bible as is the custom for each young person leaving the district.

Three cheers for the letters in The Standard last week re [illegible]. Most of us now have propane or oil stoves so have no need for "starting" paper.

Several of the men are busy making some new cupboards and installing a propane cook stove at the rink, in readiness for the men's bonspiel which will start Jan. 30th.

Some rinks from here are entered in the Farmers' bonspiel at Wainwright this week.

We are still anxiously awaiting the outcome of the district play-offs of the Curlorama at Vegreville this Wednesday, and pulling naturally for the Osterberg rink, our representatives.

MUST YOU BE SICK?

Your body has the ability to fight off disease. At the first symptom of an invading infection, the body manufactures its own anti-body for relief.

Unfortunately, if your body has not sufficient energy and strength, the battle can be lost. That is why it pays to visit your physician regularly for a check-up. He can prescribe medication, when needed to make your body strong enough to fight sickness.

Guidance Clinics

Health Unit Notes

Function (a) To provide good mental health. (b) To prevent mental disorders.

Types of Problems: Behavior problems, emotional problems, education problems, nervous disorders, personality disorders, in many cases to assist a teenager in choosing a vocation suitable for him.

Clinic service is provided free of charge by the provincial government under the Mental Health Division of the Department of Health. Travelling guidance clinics are held in the areas of the Vermilion Health Unit at Mannville school, Vermilion Health Unit and Wainwright sub-office of the Minburn-Vermilion Health Unit at specific dates during the year. One clinic per year is held at the Winston Churchill school, Lloydminster, where candidates may partake of this service.

These travelling clinics consist of (1) a social worker who interviews parents or individual person concerned, learns about the problem, the child's [illegible] development, school and social adjustments and family attitudes. (2) psychologist who examines the child or adult, [illegible] evaluates problems, outlines method of management and treatment. Treatment of the individual or child, advice to parents and changes in environment may be indicated. The clinical approach leads to (1) better understanding of children's problems, (2) better method of adjustment and (3) better mental health.

In short, the guidance clinic offers help with problems of child development, behavior, emotional difficulties and special education. These clinics co-operate with parents, school superintendents and teachers, family physicians, health units and community services. Wise parents today realize more and more that children need a healthy emotional background just as much as good food, clothing and education. The sum total of an individual is his or her personality. All phases both mental and physical enter into this.

Other points of Alberta guidance clinics are Edmonton, Ponoka, Red Deer, Calgary and Lethbridge. If you wish more detailed information about these clinics there are many helpful publications available free of charge through your Provincial Health Department or at your local Health Unit.

Chatsworth Chatter

As this is the first contribution of "Chatter" in 1961 I extend to all readers and to the editor and staff the sincerest of wishes for a very happy and successful New Year.

The weather is certainly on its best behavior and we've really enjoyed a most wonderful winter thus far.

The holiday season saw the usual many visitors to and from the district. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thompson, Ken and Pat were in Edmonton to spend Christmas with daughter Alice and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Rudi Scheibelhofer and children. Hans Hennigsen did chores at the farm while they were away.

Pat McCann journeyed to Vancouver where he spent Xmas with his mother and other members of his family.

[illegible] was present for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Klashinsky arrived at the home of the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Leo Klashinsky on Dec. 12 to spend a nice long visit throughout Christmas and New Year's. Bernie is in the navy and is stationed [illegible]

In Edmonton to spend the first week of the new year visiting daughter June George and family and son Jack Diane and family were the Henningsen's leaving on New Year's day and returning on Jan. 6th. On the way back a stopover was made at Mrs. A. B. Whitson's of Fort Saskatchewan, an aunt of Mrs. Henningsen.

Former residents of Chatsworth Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hughes of Edmonton were visitors in Vermilion for the New Year's celebration at the home of their son David and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat McCann attended the wedding of the latter's nephew the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mackenzie at Drayton Valley last week.

The Chatsworth local of the F.U.A. held the December meeting on the 10th when a good turnout was present to hear the report of the delegate E. Henningsen with interesting discussion following. It is planned to hold [illegible] form of social gathering [illegible] the latter part of the month.

United Church At Mannville Plan For Successful 1961

MANNVILLE. — The annual meeting of McQueen Memorial United Church of Mannville was held on Jan. 18th with a small attendance. The financial reports were distributed while a representative from each church group gave an activity report.

One of the Hi-C projects was to start a tile drive. All those wishing to buy tiles are advised to contact C. Cavanaugh or any Hi-C member. The tiles are to be used on the floor of the social rooms. A committee of C. Cavanaugh, Mrs. Proudfoot and F. Groenveld were elected to select and purchase tiles.

The Vacation School superintendent told the gathering that Mannville was chosen as one of twelve groups across Canada for experimental work with new curriculum. This is indeed an honor. Volunteers are needed to act as leaders and then planning for this summer school could begin.

A new pulpit has been purchased for the church and will be called "The Elizabeth Gardiner" memorial.

It was decided to have a spring follow-up to the fall visitations with Mr. Norman Crooks agreeing to continue as chairman.

Mr. O. Willes was elected as a new member of session. Starting three year terms on the Committee of Stewards are Mrs. M. Lynch, Mrs. C. Cavanaugh and Mr. W. Ross.

The thought uppermost in the minds of those present seemed to be "let's get together and make 1961 a successful church year".

Nor. Alta. Hereford Club Annual Meet

The Northern Alberta Hereford club will hold its annual dinner meeting at the Moose hall in Camrose on Feb. 1st. Hosts at this time will be the Camrose Chamber of Commerce.

The showing of a special film which was produced at the Canadian Hereford Centennial show during the Canadian National Exhibition will be of interest to all. Club president, Jack Cross, of Vermilion, will be in the chair when the past year's activities are reviewed and plans made for 1961.

LETTER FROM EDMONTON

Social Crediters Win Medicine Hat By-election In A Walk

By KEN MASON

EDMONTON. — On two occasions now Albertans have had the opportunity of making slight adjustments to the imbalance they created in 1959 when they elected 61 Social Crediters to the 65-seat Legislature.

And on both occasions they by-passed the opportunity. I'm referring, of course, to by-elections held last fall and last week in Didsbury and Medicine Hat ridings. Social Credit retained both seats.

Don't get me wrong. I'm not quarrelling with the right of voters in any constituency to choose members who will sit in on the government caucus.

But as a matter of principle I believe democratic government needs an effective opposition and that the party in power should be slapped over the wrist every once in awhile if for no other reason than to remind it of the fact that it is in power at the pleasure of the people who elected it.

A byelection offers a golden opportunity to people who want to worry the party in power a bit without defeating it. Opposition victories in Didsbury and Medicine Hat could have well shaken any complacency there might be among Social Credit ranks. Then, when general election time rolls around again, the voters could go back to electing government supporters if they wished and no harm would be done.

In addition to that, if Conservatives or Liberals had been elected in either of the byelections, the Legislature might have an 'official' opposition. At present there is no such thing in the House. There are four opposition members, each with a different political affiliation.

CAN'T BLAME VOTERS
Other Parties Offer Little

In a way you can't blame the voters in Didsbury and Medicine Hat. The Opposition parties, still leaderless and not yet recovered from their 1959 beating, haven't convince' anyone they can provide an effective alternative to Social Credit.

WATKINS COMMITS FAUX PAS

If anything, Social Credit received a helping hand from the Opposition, especially from the Conservatives who, during the Medicine Hat campaign put on a particularly inept display of political propagandizing.

I'm referring to the challenge thrown out by Ernest Watkins, Calgary Tory MLA, to Premier Manning. Mr. Watkins challenged the premier to a public debate in Medicine Hat. The Premier was to argue the proposition that there is no need for an official Opposition in the Legislature.

This naturally played right in to the Premier's hands. Mr. Manning is always the first to agree that an important function is served by Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition.

His reply to Mr. Watkins: "... see no purpose in debating a proposition on which there is no conflict of opinion and would therefore suggest you devise a less obvious and more constructive method of seeking political publicity."

Trying to salvage something out of the shambles they created, the Conservatives then grumbled that the Social Credit party shouldn't even be running a candidate in Medicine Hat which, if anything, made it worse. Can you imagine people voting in a byelection and denied the right to elect a government supporter?

Looking at the results of the Hat vote they may not be too gratifying as far as Social Credit is concerned. Socred Harry Leinweber polled nearly half of the popular vote for a total of 4573. This is a drop in the SC popular vote from the 1959 returns when the late Mrs. E. G. Robinson received 5604.

CONSERVATIVES HIT SKIDS

The non-Social Credit vote was a hefty 4801, but it was split up among three other candidates. Results should be somewhat discouraging for the Conservatives as their vote plunged to 1000, far down from the 1780 votes cast for the Tory candidate in 1959.

LIBERALS ENCOURAGED

The Liberals, on the other hand, have reason to be encouraged. Their candidate polled 1475 votes, which is a healthy increase over the 897 racked up by the Liberal candidate in 1959.

Even the New Party — which is ruled out as a dead issue in Alberta by most Alberta political pundits — finished ahead of the Conservative standard-bearer. The New Party placed third in the counting with 1326 votes.

So far there has been no comment from Conservative and New Party officials on the results. Premier Manning issued a quiet statement saying he was confident the voters would continue to show "sound judgment and confidence". Earl Hastings, the president of the Alberta Liberal Association, said the results clearly indicate "a continued resurgence of the Liberal party in Alberta."

GREENLAWN Goodwill Club

Betsy Lumley was hostess to the Greenlawn Goodwill club at the home of Ada Lumley on Jan. 19th. There were 24 members and one visitor present.

Old business was quickly dealt with and presiding officers made way for the new ones. Effie Mathison was chosen as the new president for 1961, Bess Nichol was vice-president and Vera Jones, secretary.

As it was thought there are too many clubs in the district the ladies agreed to take over the management of the Greenlawn hall for one year.

All members are reminded that the March meeting will be held on the 8th, a date convenient for Miss Hooper who will be present. Her topic "Bazaar and Gift Suggestions".

The library books have arrived and are at the home of Olive Wood. The club is sponsoring a whist drive in the Greenlawn hall on Feb. 10. Ada Curtis was seen going home with a large box of used cards which she offered to send to a worthy cause.

The February meeting is at Heather Lumley's home. It is hoped to see all members out as this is the Valentine party when secret pals are revealed.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served a delicious lunch with the aid of Ada and Heather.

Golden Age Friendship Club Hold Wonderful Social at Valley Lodge

The January social of the Golden Age Friendship club was held in the beautiful surroundings of the Vermilion Valley Lodge on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 18th with 110 members accepting the invitation of Mrs. Torrance, matron of the lodge. The afternoon got underway with Miss Craig as registrar getting everyone to sign the guest book. Much credit is due Miss Craig for her accomplishment in this matter. Enough praise cannot be given Mrs. Torrance and her staff Emma, Doris and Johnnie for the wonderful reception given the Golden Age club. All that can be said is "Thank you".

Due to sickness the club's president Mr W. Waldenberger was unable to attend but his duties were taken over by Mrs Waldenberger, who very capably filled the job. Master of Ceremonies Percy Cross got the whist, cribbage, Chinese checkers and crokinole underway in his usual cheery and witty manner. There were fifteen tables of whist, 2 of crib, one of crokinole and one of Chinese checkers. During the game many of the visitors who did not participate spent most of the afternoon visiting with old friends and truly enjoyed themselves. After all the games were finished and while the various scores were being checked by Mr Loyal Amos and Mr. Cross Mrs. Torrance and her staff assisted by the Golden Age club's kitchen committee, placed before the assemblage a most wonderful lunch which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. At the birthday table were eight members whose total years was 598, among whom was Mr Peter Jensen who celebrated his 82nd birthday on Tuesday, Jan. 17. Congratulations Pete, and may you have and enjoy many more years of good health and happiness.

After lunch was over, Mrs. Waldenberger, on behalf of her husband, called for a vote of thanks for Mrs. Torrance and her staff for the grand time all had had that afternoon, after the ovation had died down Mrs. Torrance thanked the assembly, saying how pleased she was at such a grand turnout and hoped everybody had enjoyed themselves and extended an invitation for all to return at some future date.

Announcement was then made by Mrs Waldenberger of the next social, to be held in the Legion hall on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 15, commencing at 2 p.m. sharp. She also voiced the thanks of the club to Mr and Mrs. Skinner for the donation of the cribbage prizes.

The club extends wishes for a speedy recovery to all who are on the sick list, and hope that all will be able to be present at the social in February.

Winners of the whist were: Ladies' 1st, Mrs. E. Hodgson, 2. Mrs Marion Davies, consolation, Mrs Amos. Men's 1st Mr E. F. Webber; 2. Mrs. L. P. Horne consolation, Mr. Otto Rapp. In cribbage, Mrs. Waldenberger won 1st for the ladies; 2nd, Mrs. Skinner. Men's 1st, Mr. Ed Rivett; 2, Mr. F. Payne. Prizes for Chinese checkers donated by Mrs. Waldenberger were won by Mrs. Emma Hawgate 1st, and second by Miss Craig. After the distribution of prizes, and amid many handshakes, the afternoon came to a glorious end with everyone appearing very happy as once again they voiced their thank yous to Mrs. Torrance as they took their departure.

Rev. Fr. Nearing Guest Speaker At Rotary Meeting

Rev. Father Nearing was the guest speaker at Rotary recently choosing for his subject "Population Explosion" and the problems attached thereto. It was a very interesting address. Fr. Nearing was introduced by Rudi Renaud and thanked on behalf of the club by Jim Robson.

Phases of Alcoholism

The alcoholic passes into the middle stage of his illness when he feels that he needs a drink in the morning to "get him started," to "settle his nerves," or just because he "needs a drink." He may of course progress further into the middle phase before giving in to this need. He may have heard that alcoholics drink in the morning, he is not an alcoholic.

Other symptoms, however, mark the middle stage, becoming more and more obvious to family, to friends, and to his employers, even if not to himself.

His drinking, formerly confined for the most part to week-ends, now is apparent on week nights and his work suffers accordingly. His week-end benders are lengthening out, carrying over to Monday more frequently. His personality seems to be changing, with unpredictable periods of irritability and aggressiveness, mood swings and then frantic efforts to ingratiate himself with people whose feelings he has hurt.

He is coming under more and more pressure at home and on his job. He tries to break the hold that alcohol has on him, or to control his drinking. He will switch from one form of beverage to another, beer to whiskey or gin, from rum to beer or wine. He will determine to drink only at home or on week-ends, or not until a certain time of the day, but by now he badly needs that medicinal drink in the morning, shrinks from facing the day without it. He bitterly resents any mention of his drinking, and he may start drinking alone, brooding over his fancied wrongs, filled with remorse and guilt, but at the same time resentful and critical. He may lose his job, or quit to avoid being fired. His continuing anti-social behavior causes his friends to turn away from him more and more, or he may drop them first as a defensive measure calling them "stuffed shirts" or interfering busybodies.

He is becoming less able to control whether or not he will drink at all, but he can go "on the wagon" for varying periods. He is still not aware that his body has undergone a change, described in "The Early Stage," which makes it impossible for him to control his alcohol intake once started.

As he moves [illegible] the middle phase he is plagued more and more by sleeplessness and many kinds of discomfort which are conquered temporarily by more alcohol. He begins to neglect his food when he is drinking. Jobs become harder to find, and harder to hold. He may seek medical advice, but if the doctor tells him he is an alcoholic he will resent and repudiate the diagnosis. He is rapidly approaching the advanced stage of a disease that is often fatal. The middle phase may last from two years to seven or eight and toward the end is marked by more excessive drinking, desperate attempts to pull himself together, daytime drinking, more terrifying blackouts, more agonizing hangovers, neglect of his appearance and his family responsibilities.

Number seven in this series will be Part Four in the Phases in the Development of Alcoholism. Questions on alcohol and alcoholism are invited and will be answered as soon as possible. For further information write to: The Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta, 737 13th Avenue S. W., Calgary.

FWUA Recognized For Safety Work

International recognition has been given the Farm Women's Union of Alberta for its work in farm safety.

The award was made by the farm division of the National Safety Council in the United States. It was based on F.W.U.A. locals' work in rural traffic safety and in their rural accident reporting program.

In granting the commendation, Maynard Coe, director of the U.S. council's farm division, said the Alberta group's record is "excellent".

At a ceremony in Edmonton last week, the certificate of commendation was accepted on behalf of the F.W.U.A. by Mrs. C. R. Braithwaite of Red Deer, F.W.U.A. president, and Mrs. F. A. Simons of Clive, first vice-president and safety convener. It was presented by William Perkins, field service manager for the Alberta Safety Council.

Laggard Policy in Calgary High School Is Proving Successful

Thousands of mentally competent Canadian high school students are getting disgracefully low grades simply because they are not bothering to try, says Calgary superintendent of schools Robert Warren, in the February issue of Imperial Oil Review.

The waste that these "laggards" represent to themselves is obvious, he continues. "But what is worse they believe that there is some sort of respectability attached to failure, and, so, try to convert good students to this new-found prestige symbol."

Warren points out that this is a disturbing situation since "the next 20 years will probably make greater demands on Canadian brainpower than any other period in our history."

Warren finds that parents, teachers, some educational phychologists and students themselves have all fostered failure. Among some Canadians "getting something for nothing has become a virtue" and this is reflected in their children's attitudes. Many parents and teachers, while not condoning failure, do not stress the importance of success and "I suspect that many parents are little interested in their children's high school careers." Too many teachers fail to arouse the laggard's interest, Warren continues. Some educational psychologists and educators contributed to the problem when "they let students believe that they did not have to be self-determining individuals, responsible for their own future and for setting and maintaining standards."

As a solution to the failure problem, Warren suggests the controversial "laggard" policy initiated by Calgary in 1952 and subsequently adopted by several other Canadian high schools. Calgary high schools dismiss—on February 15 for the balance of the school year—students who are still failing after warnings in Noovember and at Christmas. Laggards are identified by a scale which shows what marks a student with a given I.Q. should achieve. Dismissed students may appeal to the school board.

Since the policy has been in force the number of Calgary students getting less than 50 per cent on examinations has dropped from 40 per cent of the student body to 20 p.c. Warren adds that because the policy maintains a steady pressure on students, the number of potential laggards has also been reduced.

"Calgary teachers are working harder and devoting more time to their profession" he continues. Some parents are showing more interest.

Warren believes the policy is beginning to create a new social norm where success is respectable. He cautions, however, that while schools can do much, "for a really lasting cure, we need the co-operation of society at large."

"It can be done and I am certain that in time we can pay the laggard policy the supreme compliment — by making it no longer necessary in our schools," he concludes.

Community Level Conferences Arranged by Chambers of Commerce

Representatives from some 187 communities in Alberta have been invited to participate in three Regional Conference-Seminars at the community level to be held during February. Sponsored by the Alberta Chamber of Commerce and The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the full-day conferences will be held in Peace River on Monday, Feb. 13th, [illegible] on Wednesday, Feb. 15th, and at Medicine Hat on Friday, February 17th.

These one-day conferences of community leaders are designed to help make local Chambers of Commerce a still more effective force for community growth and improvement. At the three conferences in Alberta, Chamber leaders will discuss how they can provide better leadership and organization in the service of their communities. Each of the seminars will bring together provincial and regional Chamber personnel, business men from surrounding communities, and staff personnel from The Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the Alberta Chamber of Commerce.

The program at the Alberta conference will include two separate and concurrent sessions on the respective roles of the president and the secretary and also the committee chairman and the individual member in Chamber work. These will be followed by group discussions on such topics as "program of work", "public affairs — the voice of your community", "provincial matters", "area projects and problems."

Ontario Has Oldest Oil Field

The oldest commercial oilfield in the world will be given another chance to make history. Plans are being made to inject new life into the veteran field at Oil Springs in Ontario's Lambton County, which started producing in 1858.

Production of the Oil Springs field has dwindled to around 30,000 bbl a year and the famous old field has been dwindling for years. But the oil expert estimate that less than 50% of the oil in place has been recovered.

Letters to the Editor

Minister of Education
Province of Alberta
Edmonton, Jan 31 1961

Editor
Vermilion Standard
Dear Sir

On page 3 of the January 21st issue of "Vermilion River News" there appears an article which misrepresents my views regarding this new weekly.

One evening about two weeks ago an employee of Mr T W Pu[illegible] 10613-82nd Avenue Edmonton called at my home to ask me [illegible] the Report of the Alberta Royal Commission on Education and other matters in connection with the school affairs of the Province. During the course of his visit this gentleman informed me that his employer had recently commenced publication of "Vermilion River News" and gave me a copy of the first issue dated January 7 1961. Since it was the first time that I had heard of this new weekly newspaper I expressed a polite interest in the venture which has been grossly misinterpreted and exaggerated in the article to which I refer so please allow me to set the records straight.

I have not voiced and I have no intention of voicing any special approval of "Vermilion River News" as a "paper for the Alexandra Constituency". In my opinion this paper is in no way superior to any of the weekly newspapers being published at Lloydminster, Vermilion and Wainwright and which have all served the people of Alexandra for a great many years.

I would respectfully request that this letter be published in an early issue of "The Vermilion Standard".

Yours truly
Anders O. Aalborg

Mrs. N. N. Bentley Writes From Baghdad, Iraq

UNTAB
P. O. Box 175
Baghdad, Iraq
Jan 11 1961

Dear Mr Cooper

The Standard is a treasure as it turns up regularly at this other side of the world. I expect that it is read as thoroughly and carefully by us as by anyone, with the possible exception of the editorial staff. We're glad to get it, and look forward to its arrival with the news of our friends in Vermilion.

May we take this opportunity to greet our friends and wish them a "Happy New Year". Christmas cards are an impossibility at this distance. We're looking forward to our return, and an opportunity to tell of our experiences in greater detail than is possible in a letter.

We are enjoying a variety of experiences that are a real novelty to us. One of the most interesting parts of the life here is the opportunity to meet people of many different nationalities.

A trip that proved especially exciting was taken in December. We flew to Beirut to pick up our car which had arrived there by ship from England. En route back to Baghdad we detoured a little to go to the Holy land. We found it a thrill to see the Dead Sea, Jericho, Jerusalem and Bethlehem. The Biblical stories and phraseology seem to be much more vivid when one can actually see the locale.

In Jerusalem, the old part of the city enclosed by high thick walls through which we entered by the Damascus gate, we walked down the Via Dolorosa, the street which Jesus carried the cross. Because 2000 years, of necessity, make many changes and because Jerusalem has been partially demolished at times, the present Via Dolorosa is actually about 10 feet higher and approximately 12 feet to one side of the paving stones on which Jesus walked. We saw the original stones though. They now form the floor of the basement or lower story of a convent situated alongside the present street.

Another surprise to me was the stable where Jesus was born in Bethlehem. It was actually a cave. There are many caves in that hilly dry country. The manger was in a small cave off from the main one, and at this time the Church of the Nativity is built over both of them. It is from the belfry of this church that the bells ring out on Christmas eve across the world by radio.

As can be imagined all this part of the world is dotted with Biblical place names. Some of the cities have only the ruins now uncovered by archeologists, for example Babylon. Others are flourishing modern cities surrounding and interspersing the old places that date back for thousands of years. It is claimed by the archeologists that the mountain on which Noah landed the ark after the flood is in the north of Iraq.

It may come as a surprise to Western Canadians that a place noted for its heat is right now having temperatures very close to freezing during the night. It does warm up to about 60 degrees above during the day.

We live in a two storey house, made of brick plastered over. All the floors are tile, the ceilings are very high. Fortunately, in this weather we have a most efficient fireplace. That and a kerosene heater make do for the first floor. For bedroom and bathroom use we have a portable electric heater. Central heating is uncommon here.

We have a small garden enclosed by high brick walls, and the metal gate has three locks on it. The roses, poinsettias, bougainvillea and other flowers whose names aren't known to us are in full bloom.

New Year's Day was a picnic day for us. We ate under the palms in a grove near the site of Babylon whose partially uncovered ruins we explored for about two hours before our picnic lunch.

Best wishes to everyone at Vermilion.

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING

Spring is just around the corner now and this year the North Eastern Artificial Breeding Association is offering beef and dairy artificial breeding at cost. The association is considering the expansion of its business eastward to the meridian. This can only come about by more farmers applying for membership. The cost appears to be high but this will be reduced as more and more farmers breed more cows. When considering the purchase of a new bull, even a poor bull, a small farmer (10 cows more or less) must consider the cost and nuisance of keeping a bull on the place. A bull consumes as much feed and management as two cows. If a small farmer used A.I. instead of boarding a bull he could sell two extra calves every fall. If he used A.I. instead of the neighbor's bull he would be more popular with the neighbors. Furthermore artificial breeding offers the small farmer outstanding breeding which is usually considered only possible for big operators. The North Eastern Artificial Breeding Association's phone number is 126 Vermilion between 8 and 10 a.m. seven days a week.

OUTLOOK FOR OILSEEDS

Larger supplies and lower prices are expected to encourage a wide use of flaxseed products says R. F. English, Alberta's Agricultural statistician. The price of flax has been seriously affected by the increased use of substitute oils in paints. Canada produced 404 million pounds of rapeseed in 1960 which [illegible] proved quickly because of crop failures in France and Sweden. These markets must be considered temporary. Now that rapeseed oil is accepted as edible in Canada there should be more demand for it on the local market.

CHANGE IN BUTTER PRICE

The Toronto Globe and Mail issue of Jan. 23rd, reported on the front page that Ottawa plans considerable change in the butter support program which in turn will result in lower butter prices to the consumer. Ottawa reports no final deficiency payment plan has been adopted. It is estimated that there will be some reduction in the price of butterfat.

SEED CLEANING PLANTS

Is your seed worth sowing? This area is served by three seed cleaning plants which are operated at cost organizations. It pays dividends to sow only the seed you wish to grow. It pays dividends to sow sound large kernels which provide more food for the emerging plant. Don't take a chance, make certain and treat the seed with a mercurial or the equivalent dust. This can be done at the plant when the seed is cleaned. Treated sound dry seed stores well under Alberta's winter conditions.

MILK DILUTION

The Dairymen's Act states clearly that it is illegal to adulterate milk by any means, including the addition of water. A cryoscope now in use throughout the province is capable of detecting added water in milk as low as 1 to 2 per cent.

WEIGHT WATCHING

Anxiety about over weight has tempted many well-meaning but ill-informed people to publicize so called miracle diets. Unfortunately many of the public have attempted self-treatment with such diets. They soon discovered that while following these diets may result in weight loss, as soon as the diet stops weight gaining begins again too. In addition many of these so-called wonder diets are expensive, difficult and dangerous to health.

FOLLOW DOCTOR'S ORDERS

If you are one of those who feel you should go on an extensive weight reduction plan, by all means consult your doctor. Ask him just how much you should lose, how long it should take and what your diet should consist of. Your doctor will recommend a wholesome reducing diet and quite likely it will only cut down, not eliminate, many of the foods you are now eating. Each day's meal pattern should be that of the healthy diet with foods chosen from each of these groups: milk, meat, fruit and vegetable and bread-cereal.

FOLLOW THE DIET:

It is best if one does not skip meals and always has a good breakfast. It will supply you with the needed energy to get started at the day's activities and you are not so likely to overeat at lunch-time. Eat more of the foods which are high in protein — meat, eggs, cheese and fewer of the high carbohydrate group — starches and sugars. Between meal snacks are usually allowed provided you do not exceed the day's recommended caloric intake. If you do this, you'll likely have to refuse second helpings at mealtime.

MAKE FOOD ATTRACTIVE

Garnishes and seasonings add no calories but they do make food more attractive. A sprig of parsley, chopped chives or a dash of paprika will add a dress up touch to many plain foods.

EXERCISING:

Strenuous exercises are not always necessary to keep weight under control; in fact for many persons they are not recommended. Regular, less strenuous exercise can be effective for those who should take it easier, and who want to lose weight while eating enough food to be satisfied. Strangley enough one of the easiest exercises happens to be one of the best if done with regularity — try taking daily walks.

Tigers Drop Close One To Neilburg By 5-4 Count

Vermilion Tigers spotted Neilburg three goals in the first period and then came back to almost win the game in the second by scoring four goals. In the second ten, the visitors tallied two more, the third was a blank, both from the goal-[illegible] angle and the penalty [illegible] as well.

The game was an exciting one from the start of the second period on, both from a scoring standpoint and refereeing.

The two officials, Enns and Auchstadey from Maidstone, incurred the wrath of the crowd by three cheap penalties to as many Tigers in a row. [illegible] and Brower were both [illegible] and served at least part of their time simultaneously, the Tigers playing three against five. The penalty to Brower was for tripping when the allegedly tripped player didn't even fall down.

Just when everyone was set for a hot third period the game calmed down and no penalties were handed out and no goals [illegible] in that frame.

Statistics

Tigers Outshoot Maroons But Lose On Final Count

Vermilion Tigers outshot the league leading North Battleford Maroons by a wide margin in the second and third periods Saturday night and but for an injury to goalie Cawthorpe might have emerged the winners from the hectic game. In the third with the score just 6-5 against them, after the Tigers had scored three unanswered goals, Cawthorpe was hit on the forehead with a hard shot and before his head cleared the Maroons had run in three goals.

Maroons got away to a head-start, outscoring the Tigers 4-1 in the first and outshooting the locals 14 to 11.

In the middle frame it was just the reverse. Tigers really roared back, outshot the visitors 22 to 10, with each team scoring twice. The period ended 6-3.

The Tigers had the edge on the shooting in the third as well 12 to 9, but goalie Ellis is a hard man to beat and the game ended 9 to 5 for the Maroons. Five penalties were handed out, all to the marauding Maroons.

A modern light standard, embodying the new mercury vapor luminaire, above, has been erected by Canadian Utilities, Ltd., in a number of communities in east central Alberta, to commemorate National Electrical Week, Feb. 5 to 11, which honors Thomas Edison, and the role electricity plays in our lives today.

National Electric Week Feb. 5 to 11

February 5th to 11th is "National Electrical Week" marking the birth date of Thomas A. Edison who developed the first practical use of the incandescent electric lamp. It is also a period set aside to emphasize the important role electricity plays in the daily lives of every Canadian.

In commemoration of this observance Canadian Utilities has joined with other branches of the electrical industry as well as electrical dealers and contractors in its service areas, in drawing attention to the dramatic impact electricity has made to growth and development of our nation.

Theme of the 1961 National Electrical Week observance is "Make Electricity Work For You". This theme was selected as one which could be adapted to all segments of our economy in emphasizing how electricity works for the consumer — on the job, in the community and on the farm.

More than an educational slogan, to "Live Better Electrically" is indeed the 20th century way of life. At the touch of a finger electricity goes instantly to work. It speeds the work of millions and enables everyone to enjoy the highest standards of living in history. The nation is more productive, healthier, happier, wealthier and more secure thanks to the multiple tasks electricity performs.

In science and medicine, electricity has also enabled man to explore areas that were formerly inaccessible. Today's children can look forward to a lifetime in which electricity will make even greater contributions to their way of life. Electricity stands ready to create more jobs, even whole new industries.

Looking forward, the abilities of electricity seem boundless.

Dewberry 4-H Hold Amateur Hour

DEWBERRY — The Amateur Hour and dance sponsored by the Dewberry 4-H club was held on Friday, Jan. 27 and was not as well attended nor had as many entries as in former years. This was probably due to many other entertainments going on at other places the same evening. Nevertheless the event proved very enjoyable.

The program was opened by the singing of "O Canada", led by Mr Kruger, while Mr. John Anderson emceed the evening in his usual humorous manner.

THE [illegible]

The judges, Mr Harlan Green and Mr Kruger, spoke of the difficult task they had had in picking the winners as all contestants had given of their best and were very good.

The Heinsberg orchestra provided enjoyable music for the dance which followed.

RIVERTON

RIVERTON PIONEER CELEBRATES 70th BIRTHDAY

The home of Mr and Mrs Bob Spicer was the scene of a festive gathering on Sunday Jan 22 when friends and relatives arrived to celebrate the 70th birthday of Mr Spicer Jan. 23rd. The guests were visitors from Edmonton, Mr Spicer's sisters, Mrs Lynn and Mrs. Bentley also a niece [illegible] Bentley daughters Ariel [illegible]waite and husband Bobbie, Iona Berg and husband Lloyd, and son Herb and wife Doris. Friends included among the guests were Bill and Lilda Kinsella, Mac and Madge McLean Mae [illegible] and Nellie Durnin not to forget the smallest guest of all Kathy Lynn the month-old daughter of Lloyd and Iona, who registered a feeble wail of protest now and then, at the goings-on, gave up in despair finally, and went to sleep, no doubt wondering what [illegible] grown-ups act so queer.

A wonderful turkey dinner with all the trimmings was thoroughly enjoyed by all and the evening then took the form of impromptu games and gossip. Mr Spicer received many gifts of various kinds, useful, ornamental and humorous. One of the highlights of the evening was a phone call from Ralph Mc Gray of Santa Maria California. Ralph is an old friend of Bob's having homesteaded at the same time many years ago. Fortunately Ralph was footing the bill as he had a short chat with many of the guests. After [illegible] about midnight the party reluctantly broke up and we are [illegible] guess of [illegible] [illegible] even 70th birthdays [illegible] compensations.

Credit Union Achieves Increase In Share Capital, Membership

The annual meeting of the Vermilion Savings and Credit Union Ltd. was held at the V.S.A. on Tuesday, Jan. 24. In his opening address, Mr. Tom Davis, the president, said that 1960 had been a wonderful year for the Credit Union which had achieved a 100 per cent increase in share capital and a 25 per cent increase in membership.

Following the various committee reports, discussion was held on the directors' recommendation to pay 4 per cent dividend on shares and 5 per cent rebate on interest paid on loans and the motion was approved by the meeting. At a member's request it was explained that, by the latter, it was meant that borrowers would receive back five cents for every $ interest they paid on loans in 1960.

After the regular business of the meeting was concluded a short address was given by Mr. Harold Webber Supervisor of Co-ops and Credit Unions for the Province of Alberta. In his speech Mr. Webber stressed the increasing importance of the role of Credit Unions in the field of consumer finance. He also spoke on the stability of the movement in Alberta and said that with the establishment of the stabilization reserve founded by Credit Unions, the members' share investment was indeed secure. He finished his speech by pointing to the success of neighbouring Credit Unions in Wainwright and Lloydminster and suggested that Vermilion use their achievements as a target.

The meeting concluded with refreshments.

Only One Reducing Plan Worked

"Your plan is what I have been hoping for. I have tried the other plans with no results and was just about convinced I was fat for life when my friend told me about the Naran Plan. To my surprise I began to get results at the end of the first week and have been losing ever since. I am sure that I can now keep my weight where I want it."

W. [illegible]
Montreal, P.Q.

Overweight people generally fall into two classes, those who have tried to reduce and failed and those who have never tried at all. You don't have to be in either group. Make up your mind that you are no longer going to suffer the discomfort and embarrassment of being overweight. You are not far from a drug store, walk over and ask for the Naran Plan and begin today to lose weight. It is that simple. After you have lost weight you will wonder why you didn't do it sooner.

ALBERTA
ALBERTA

The Alberta Government Travel Bureau is distributing almost 6,000 posters of three scenes of Alberta to hundreds of travel offices and other points of travel vantage abroad, as part of its intense campaign to step up tourism in the province from outside the province and outside Canada. The three posters are full color litho reproductions of Alberta scenes, and are striking in their intensity of color, and fidelity of detail. They were produced by an Alberta printing house.

The subjects show a view of Waterton National Park with the mountains fringing the length of Waterton Lake, and the small excursion steamer circling for a landing at Waterton townsite after a trip to Glacier National Park at the other end of the lake; a view of Banff townsite from the side of Sulphur Mountain, with two cars of the Sulphur Mountain gondola lift in the foreground, framing Mount Stoney Squaw; and the popular view of a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police chatting with an Indian in full dress at one of Alberta's many festive Indian occasions.

It is hoped that in successive years, other views of Alberta's many attractions will be used on these posters. In the above picture, Dan E. C. Campbell, Director of the Alberta Travel Bureau, inspects the posters with Hal Martin, Director of Publications.

NEWS from ISLAY

Mrs. Joan Moncrieff and Mrs. Davidson, leaders of the Islay 4 H Sewing club, [redacted] the 4 H leaders' convention at the Vermilion Agricultural college on Wednesday. Mr. A. Palin, acting principal, was one of the speakers. Some of the ladies who had heard Mr. Ken Stone on V.S.A. broadcasts had asked to meet him and this was done at the coffee break in the afternoon. Parents may hear their own children or perhaps some that you know being interviewed on those V.S.A. broadcasts. Last week girls of the sewing class were heard. Mrs. Johnson will broadcast next week.

WHEAT POOL PARTY

The Islay Wheat Pool agent, Bill McLean and Mrs. McLean were hosts to the people of the area on Friday night last. Mr. M. Fleming showed some interesting films. He also gave much information regarding Wheat Pool insurance and spoke of the many scholarships available to students. Many of these scholarships are wasted because no one applies for them. Anyone interested should contact your Wheat Pool agent for further information.

All were sorry to learn of the illness of Mr. Ray Kent who is in the University hospital. Mr. Parke Dobson of Paradise Valley filled in for him and gave a full account of the Pool convention in Calgary. At one time the Wheat Pool organization was just a grain business, now it has launched into seed grain, fertilizers, weed sprays and other items.

Mr. John Petersen, the travelling superintendent for this area was present and answered some questions asked by members of the audience.

There was a good attendance and the coffee, doughnuts and currant buns were very much enjoyed as well as the chance to visit with neighbors and others.

Mrs. Gordon Purser visited at Mrs. Hellington's on Monday.

An event we are looking forward to is a Valentine tea on Feb. 10 in the evening by the 4 H girls of the Sewing club. Mothers and members of the Islay United Church W.A. are to be invited.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING

Another event to mark on the calendar is the annual meeting at Kitscoty of the Vermilion School Division No. 25. "Have you any ideas on how not to increase the school tax?" Come and air them if you have.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil McLennan are having a grand time at Kitimat where they are visiting daughter Jean and family. Mild weather there is being enjoyed, around 20 above. Folks in Kitimat are great users of coffee seemingly. The scenery is very beautiful and several sight-seeing trips have been enjoyed.

Birthday parties are popular here of late. Linda Terrance celebrated on Thursday, entertaining her friends Beverly Good, Jeannie Axley, Peggy Brown and Betty Hannon. The girls enjoyed a chicken dinner and had a pleasant time.

Mr. and Mrs. Kay and son of Purves and Sheilah were at Mrs. Maxine Purves' home Sunday for dinner, celebrating the birthdays of the two little girls Anne and Jacqueline.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Robertson, Wayne and Sharon were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Terrance on Sunday. We are happy to say Mrs. Robertson is really well now having been in to the city for checks and results are O.K.

Cathie King had her 6th birthday on Jan. 30th and entertained several little girls. They had a lovely party with those present being Debbie Axley, Charlotte Moncrieff, Sheila May Cote, Alice and Natalie Selyma and [illegible].

The Bill Axley family were supper guests on Sunday at the home of Miss Jean Wolochyn in Vermilion.

YOUTH SUNDAY FEB. 5

Sunday, Feb. 5th is "Youth Sunday". The youth organizations will parade to church in uniform. At Islay the Cubs and Scouts are expected to attend church service at 7:30 p.m. An old saying "The place you'll most often find a helping hand is at the end of your own arm."

Unique Page In Masonic History Written Saturday

Another page in Masonic history, in Vermilion, was written on Saturday evening, Jan. 28th, when a special meeting was held with one hundred present. The program started with a banquet served at the Hub cafe at 6:30. Vermilion Chapter No. 14 then opened at the Temple, and the degree of the Holy Royal Arch was conferred on three members by a special degree team from the Edmonton Chapters. This was a return visit to repay a visit by Vermilion to put on the same degree some time ago. There were over 100 at the meeting in the Lodge room, with 41 visiting from Edmonton, other towns represented being Lloydminster, Vegreville, Viking, St. Paul, Provost and Wainwright.

Ex-residents of Vermilion present were Frank H. Walker, Dr. W. H. Scott and Chas. McCormack, retired C.N.R. engineer. Many friends of several years standing met at this meeting, and interesting chats were enjoyed, this coupled with making new friends, made the [redacted] a memorable one. Two of [redacted] attending were together during the [redacted] world war in France, 43 years [redacted].

Oldsters receiving [redacted] mention included two revered members of Vermilion, J. W. G. Morrison and A. E. Kaiser, the first ninety years of age and the latter over 80 . . . give and take a few years. An interesting summary was made of eight of the members present, starting with Mr. Morrison, their total years came to around 600, and there were probably others who could have made this even higher. Also of interest to [redacted] was the fact that no less than seven members in attendance had the rank of Past Grand First Principal, many others had achieved Grand Office [redacted] also over the years.

Mannville Masons Hold Card Party And Dance

MANNVILLE. — Members of the Masonic Lodge No. 28 AF and AM entertained wives and friends at an evening of cards and dancing on Jan. 20th.

Prize winners at whist were: Ladies' 1st, Mrs. George Younge; consolation, Mrs. James Bennett; men's 1st, Merle Main; consolation, Jack Bryden.

Following cards, two hours of dancing were enjoyed to the tuneful rhythm of the Weaver orchestra. At the stroke of 12, the men served lunch, which was most welcome and all present are looking forward to a similar evening of fun and fellowship again in the near future.

4-H Turkey Club Holds Second Annual Banquet

Culmination of Another Succesful Year

The second annual dinner of the Vermilion-Mannville 4-H Turkey Club was held in St. Saviour's Parish Hall on Friday, January 20th. It was another successful year and the 4-H club members took the opportunity of entertaining their parents for the night. Mum and Dad were guests at a roast turkey banquet; the turkeys were purchased before Christmas at the Club's annual turkey sale. Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Harry Good, 4-H members' mothers, cooked the turkeys and the banquet was catered to by the afternoon branch of St. Saviour's W. A.

Mr. Douglas, District Agriculturist, spoke on the future of the Club and Mr. Buckingham dwelt for a few moments on Alberta's only poultry club's illustrious past.

SPEAKERS

Mr. Velma(?) Cooper, M.L.A., Vermilion [illegible] brief [illegible] introduced [illegible] Honorable Mr. [illegible]rick, Minister of Industries for Alberta. Mr. [illegible]rick spoke a few minutes on the [illegible] of Alberta's industry [illegible] of interest to the [illegible] ties, the development of Alberta's youth and the disbursement of recreational grants in rural communities.

The guest speaker of the night was Mr. Stewart Fraser, Assistant Supervisor of 4-H Clubs who spoke on the challenge of 4-H to young people and their parents. He said 4-H means rural youth not the products of the farm. He suggested a club should include more than one project in its program, and stated that perhaps the Vermilion-Mannville 4 H turkey club should carry another project in 1961.

A pleasant and inspiring evening was brought to a conclusion by Mr. Fraser showing a film of 4 H clubs in Alberta. Before the activities ended for the year it was unanimously agreed that the club should be reorganized on or about March 1st, 1961.

Circle Eight Notes

The Circle 8 held their dance on Jan. 27 with Art Ziegler doing a splendid job of calling. Although it was chilly outside, Art certainly warmed it up in no time, within the hall. Our visitors came from Vegreville, Mannville and Lloydminster.

As if we didn't have enough dancing on Friday night, nearly two squares of our club members travelled to the 'Fun Fest' the next night to join with approximately 25 squares to complete a real square dancer's week-end.

It was suggested at our first round dance that Friday evening was more suitable than Saturday so anyone interested in learning to round dance in general and learning the rounds of the month in particular be at the Bowtell hall this Friday, Feb. 3rd at 8:30 p.m. This is open to non-square dancers as well as square dancers.

The next regular dance will be at Bowtell too, on Friday, Feb. 10 and club caller Johnny Maxwell will be doing the calling. Circle these dates on your calendar and don't fail to attend.

Sunday At The Alliance Chapel

A special building fund offering was received on Sunday, Jan. 29th at the Alliance chapel. Proceeds from this fund, coupled together with loans made by members of the congregation, will enable the chapel to completely pay the costs of the newly renovated and enlarged residence for the pastor.

Announcement was made of World Wide Alliance Youth Week, Jan. 29 to Feb. 5, and appropriate activities will be held each night during the week by our local Young People, the theme "To Reach Lives — Evangelize".

On membership night, Jan. 27, twenty-five new members enrolled.

Pastor J. M. Schroeder spoke at both Sunday services, in the morning on the subject "Spiritual Prevarication", and in the evening "The Wiles of the Devil". Special music was provided by a vocal duet, Mr. A. [illegible] and Mr. Schroeder and vocal solos by Mrs. A. Curtis and Mrs. W. Matthews. Piano accompaniment was by Miss Margaret McLennan and Mrs. Ron Mix.

Visitors noted in the services were Wm. Love of Olds, brother of John Love, D.C., and Mr. Smiley Sr. of Lavoy, now a resident in Vermilion Valley Lodge.

Care of Your Children's Ears

Health Unit Notes

Formerly more than half of adult deafness resulted from neglect of ear infection in childhood. Medical attention when a child shows signs of ear trouble can check the infection and guard against loss of hearing.

There are two chief causes for serious ear trouble and defective hearing in children. One is an acute infection in the middle ear and the other is a milder chronic infection which [illegible] inflammation of the ear drum.

Acute ear infections are usually a complication of some infective disease of childhood, such as red measles or scarlet fever. The symptoms of acute infection include earache, rise in temperature, difficulty in hearing and if the child is younger, restlessness, crying with pain and occasionally pulling at his ears. A doctor can often check the infection before serious damage is done.

If an abscess occurs in the ear, pressure from the exudate may burst [illegible] and the yellowish fluid escapes from the outer ear. This is what we call a running ear and a doctor must treat this infection to prevent it becoming chronic and to save the child's hearing. Untreated the discharge may cease in a few days and the child's hearing may return to normal. In most untreated cases however the discharge persists for weeks and eventually becomes a chronic middle ear infection. Head colds and damp weather may cause the ear to run again with a progressive loss of hearing with each attack. In such cases there is often an unhealed hole in the ear drum. In this case the attention of a doctor can do much to clear it up.

When the ear is discharging, do not place absorbent cotton in it but allow the pus to escape freely, wiping it off as required with absorbent cotton moistened with warm water. If there is a hole in the ear drum, do not allow water into the ear as it sets up an irritation which may result in a fresh discharge, hence the reason for ear plugs when swimming.

Mastoiditis is serious but due to modern medicines a less common complication of acute ear infection. This is manifested by an increase in temperature (often the initial temperature has subsided and the discharge has slowed down and ceased) earache and tenderness sometimes with swelling behind the infected ear. In this case the infection has spread to the bone behind the ear. Since the collecting pus cannot now escape, operation is necessary.

A type of deafness called obstruction deafness seen more commonly in older children is caused by mild infections in the nose and throat. The difficulty in hearing is caused by infection obstructing the eustachian tube (which runs from the throat to the middle ear). Your doctor can usually check the infection and relieve the obstruction and this results in an improvement in hearing. Enlargement of the adenoids may also block the eustachian tube resulting in difficulty in hearing. Removal of the adenoids will relieve the symptoms in such cases.

Another common cause of defective hearing in children is the pressure of some object in the outer ear canal. Sometimes this is due to wax which can swell up overnight and produce sudden deafness. This wax can be removed by syringing the ear. In smaller children, they may push small stones and such like into their ears. No attempt should be made to remove this except by a doctor, since you may injure the ear lining on the ear drum.

TOLLAND TOPICS

We were sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Walter Hinchey Sr. of Edson. Condolences are extended to relatives in the district. Mr. and Mrs. Duff McGrath and Bill journeyed to Edson last Monday to attend the funeral of Mr. Hinchey on Tuesday.

We were indeed shocked to hear of Dr. Bradford's sudden passing. Sympathy is extended also to Mrs. Bradford and Dolores in their sad loss.

Mrs. Fred Koffmeier spent last week in hospital with a very painful knee as a result of falling and cracking her knee-cap last fall. Hope it is completely better soon, Ruth.

How many heard the snow cracking after the little rain we had about a week ago? The writer's dog was barking just as the sun was streaking the eastern sky on this morning. On opening the balcony window and sticking my head out, I could hear "cracks" all over the place. One close in the yard made me realize just what was happening. The sound was like the [illegible] of a car door being [illegible] and a gun report from a distance. No wonder the dog [illegible].

Next church service at Tolland and thereafter will be the second Sunday of each month making the one in February the 12th, time 2 P.M.

Buffalo Coulee High School Tried

Among the rinks that tried but were not successful in the TPC zone play-offs held in Vermilion recently, was the Buffalo Coulee quartet skipped by Lyall Gabrielson. In an action photo in their encounter with Clandonald, Skip Gabrielson is urging his rock to slip into the house, while Rod Haverslew, Bob Caron and Rex Cunningham lend him moral support.

Summer Jobs, 1959

An article by Bill J. Gannon,
V. H. S. Student

My summer jobs this year were many and varied. I delivered papers, ran cement, was a pump jockey, a carpenter (I picked up lumber scraps one afternoon), a lumberyard manager (here I was in charge stacking them), faro dealer at Dummy's joint (it wasn't really faro, merely pinochle but whoever heard of a pinochle dealer), a cattle wrestler and a fresh air inspector for Street and Walker, a good reliable firm. It most definitely is not that I'm lazy and that I could not hold a job for long. In words of some [illegible] man "Work fascinates me. I could sit and watch it for hours."

And I've done it, too. Ask any of my many ex-bosses.

[illegible] jobs are supposed to be very important, as they allegedly assist unstable people such as I, to choose their future vocations. Of the many positions that influenced me last summer I would say that I liked faro dealing best. Man, that was a soft touch! Except of course when I played with my own money. I honestly believe I am the most unlucky person since that guy in "Li'l Abner" who walks around with the rain cloud over his head. To this day I am afraid to attempt to figure out how much money I lost — my greedy little black heart can only take so much, you know. However by far the most disastrous and memorable of my ventures into the business world last summer was running cement.

Running cement is not one of my more favoured pastimes. I tell of many harrowing experiences of mine in my brief term of employment in this manly occupation. For instance there was my first of many mishaps, which took place approximately three minutes after work had commenced. This was a rather messy business, as cement has a tendency to be sloppy. Well anyway [illegible] just-filled wheelbarrow spilled over one of my [illegible] slaves and myself. The boss at the time commended me on my quick work. [illegible] said that he couldn't understand how anyone could manage to do what I had done so quickly and efficiently. Not wishing to appear conceited I assured him that I seemed to have some kind of knack for things like that. Apparently my wit wasn't appreciated, for he proceeded to let fly with some highly descriptive language not wholly warranted of course, pertaining to my face and character in general. Innocent that I was, I couldn't fully comprehend his forceful speech but I somehow got the impression that he was angry. I'm not mentioning any names of course but I honestly do feel that some adults are terribly immature.

Another tender moment I shall keep imbedded in my memory forever is my lone venture with a loaded wheelbarrow onto the kitty walk (everyone else called it a cat walk, but I know better — no self respecting full grown cat would dare to attempt THAT flimsy apparatus). I was wheeling my barrow over the kitty walk long and narrow when my foot slipped; this it had a habit of doing at the DARNDEST times. The wheelbarrow went over one side of the kitty walk and I went over the other.

I did not let go of the wheelbarrow [illegible] it was a two storey drop and [illegible] we both hung precariously for a surprisingly long time [illegible]. The wheelbarrow had been fully loaded. Needless to say, it was no longer so. The contents had fallen in a huge mass faintly reminiscent of "The Blob" directly into an empty wheelbarrow passing below (this was very nice I thought, for none had been wasted. Unfortunately I was alone in this thought).

Meanwhile up on the kitty walk my trusty barrow was seized in a grip of iron (the boss) while Helpful Hans (the foreman) beat me firmly about the head and ears with his shovel in a vain effort to persuade me to let go and like a sap I fell for it ... right on my bloated head. The battered bulk lifted gently ... oh ever so gently ... carried, mind you CARRIED, to an out of the way spot and checked over carefully. Body okay but wheel somewhat battered. Handles dirty from my hands but otherwise ready for work.

And what of me? Oh, I managed to crawl as quickly as my battered and bruised body would allow out from under the other slaves' cruel feet to a relatively safe refuge beneath the man made mountain of empty cement bags. When I came to the next morning I was informed by my nasty old land lady that Iron Cementing and Reburnishing no longer required my services. This was all okay with me except for a few small details for example there was the payment for the near loss wheelbarrow which consisted of turning in my lunch kit, thermos and all and I received no wages for my services. I now firmly refuse ever EVER to run cement again no matter how my [illegible] arms and fingers are twisted and bent. I shall stand fast on my rights.

At this point still being of reasonably sound mind and body I [illegible] discontinue my musings [illegible]

LETTER FROM EDMONTON

Much Conjecture re: Proposed Municipal Taxation Program

By KEN MARKIN

EDMONTON. — In bits and pieces, more information dribbled out last week about the provincial government's proposed municipal taxation program. But the overall picture still remained somewhat clouded.

Premier Manning, speaking to reporters at a press conference, all but ruled out any possibility of a reduction in taxes. What the government hopes to do, he said, is broaden the tax base and iron out inequities in the existing tax structure.

When you do this he said you are bound to have increases in some instances and decreases in others. As for an across-the-board reduction, he said it is "just not in the picture."

Mr. Manning's statement appears to be somewhat out of line with pronouncements attributed recently to Municipal Affairs Minister Alfred Hooke, the man behind the new taxation proposal. Addressing a meeting in Jasper Place, Mr. Hooke said the government is seeking a new approach to municipal taxation with the hope that property taxes can be reduced.

If property taxes are to be reduced without lowering the overall sum of municipal tax revenue, it would almost have to mean an increase in industrial tax. This probably is where the proposed rural property tax on power lines and pipelines comes in.

But Premier Manning indicated he isn't too happy about the idea of increasing industry's tax burden. If the burden is too heavy, he said, industrial expansion is discouraged, and Alberta needs continued industrial expansion, he said, to produce payrolls and keep the economy buoyant.

Furthermore, the premier [illegible] if taxes on industry in Alberta are out of line it will just encourage further centralization of industry in eastern Canada.

Statements by the premier and Mr. Hooke are slightly contradictory on the surface, but this may be only because the whole program has not been made public and much is conjecture. The plan of course is subject to the approval of the members of the Legislature.

At any rate cabinet ministers seem pretty well agreed on the major points of the program they will place before the Legislature during the forthcoming session. Mr. Manning said the program is "pretty well" whipped into shape although it is still subject to revision. Lately the cabinet has devoted quite a number of its meetings almost exclusively to discussion of the tax plan.

TAX PROPOSAL WILL BE MAIN LEGISLATURE

Without a doubt the tax proposal will be the most contentious issue of the forthcoming session, and it will generate hours of talk. Premier Manning said he doesn't anticipate another House Agriculture committee hearing into the pros and cons of the plan such as the one held last year. [illegible] but he was quick to point out that this is entirely up to members of the House.

At week's end some observers were saying they'll be surprised if the program doesn't come before another hearing of the committee of the whole in order for members to hear the views of municipalities and industries on the new proposals.

Former M. P. To Move Speech From Throne

Premier Manning last week announced the names of the men he has chosen to honor by appointing them to move and second the reply to the Speech from the Throne on Friday, Feb. 17th, the second day of the 1961 session.

The reply will be moved by Ambrose Holowach, member for Edmonton Centre riding, a former member of parliament who lost out to a Tory in 1958 and bounded into provincial politics the following year. The man who will second the motion is Robert Clark, 21, the newly elected member for Didsbury riding and the youngest member of the House.

Moving and seconding the reply to the Throne Speech is a formality which always takes place on the second day of the session. In effect, the speakers move and second a motion putting the House on record as thanking the lieutenant governor for the opening-day speech in which he outlines the government's proposed legislative program.

Being chosen to do the job is considered a high honor. Usually the mover and seconder use it as an opportunity to praise the government for the things it has done and is going to do, in addition to giving them unlimited time to cover nearly any subject they wish.

Province Seeking Increased Industry

R. Martland, Director of the Industrial Development Branch of the Department of Industry and Development, left this week for an extended tour through the western and south [illegible] United States, promoting increased industrial attention to the potential in Alberta.

During his tour, he will confer with industrial executives in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Dallas, and Denver, as well as many other intermediate points.

The increasing emphasis by the Government of Alberta on selling the resources of the province as an incentive to more plant location here, has resulted in a growing industrial stability in Alberta. It is expected that this policy will expand in the future.

World Seed Year

One of the most effective methods of increasing the quantity and quality of world food production is by the use of high quality seed from high-yielding and well adapted crop varieties. This statement was made by O. G. Bratvold, Alberta's representative to the National Committee of the World Seed Campaign.

1961 has been designated "World Seed Year" by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. The purpose of the Seed Campaign, an integral part of the F.A.O. Freedom-from-Hunger Campaign, is to increase food production throughout the world by the use of better seed.

A New Farm Program

Agriculture Minister Hamilton painted a glowing picture of the government's proposed Rural Rehabilitation and Development program when he spoke at a meeting in Andrew, Alberta recently. While he said he was not able to outline the details of the program, because it was not due to be introduced into Parliament for a few days, he did give some background to the program.

Mr. Hamilton pointed out that one-third of all farmers in Canada have a gross income of $1,200.00 a year or less. "Not only is it impossible under present conditions for these farmers to improve their position but the amount of production for which they are responsible adds just enough to total production to create a dragging effect on the farmer who works our better land," he said.

He indicated that under the program, opportunities would be given these farmers to move into other forms of production, giving the more highly productive farmers increased opportunity to pick up their share of the market. The balance of farmers, and particularly those in the West, will feel the impact immediately, he predicted.

Mr Hamilton said that the government had hesitated to put the program into effect because of the heavy expenditures involved in assisting farmers during the adjustment period. But he added: "We think that the people of Canada are prepared to support the government in putting this money into agriculture because it can be shown that not only will it help raise the standard of living of the farmers who make the adjustment, but it will also have the effect of increasing the total wealth of the nation." (Presumably the program will require the participation of provincial governments).

Mr Hamilton also indicated the program involved conservation works to improve marginal and sub-marginal areas, decentralization of industry into rural areas and vocational training for farmers moving to other occupations.

Canadian farmers will be watching with anticipation, and some hope, for the introduction into the House of Commons of this much talked about program.—Wheat Pool Budget

4-H National Delegates Attain High Records of Achievement

The Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs has completed an analysis of the [illegible] records of the 140 delegates to last year's [illegible] National 4-H Club Week in Toronto and Ottawa, November 12 - 18.

The results of the study are impressive. They show that the delegates averaged 17.6 years in age with an average of 5.8 years of participation in 4-H work. In addition, they have completed a total of 1076 farm and home 4-H projects or an average of 7.7 for each of the 140 delegates.

In education, the study reveals that 28 are college or university students, 7 are enrolled in teacher training courses and 85 are attending high schools.

The goal of every 4-H member is to some day win the trip to National 4-H Week. This all-expense award is organized and financed by the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs. The delegates — a maximum of 14 from each province — are selected on the basis of their records in 4-H and community activities.

Inquest Held Into Lamont School Bus Tragedy

By KEN MASON

EDMONTON. — They held an inquest last week into the November 29th school bus-freight train disaster which took the lives of 17 high school students at Lamont.

And the situation was summed up very nicely by the chief coroner, Dr. Max Cantor, as he addressed the six-man jury. He said: "It seems the barn door has been closed now that the horse has run away."

He was referring to regulations which have been imposed and the precautions that are taken since the cold November morning when the speeding freight locomotive sliced the loaded schoolbus in two.

Evidence given at the inquest concerning the hiring of school bus drivers and the standards they are required to meet was mighty revealing. Not that the regulations weren't on the books. They were there ... but enforcement was lacking.

It was established in evidence that the driver of the bus, Frank Budney, did not have a class 'A' driving licence as required under Alberta law for school bus drivers.

But the startling thing was that no one had ever asked him to show his licence. Even when the school division board voted to place Budney's name on the list of approved drivers, it didn't occur to anyone to demand that the driver produce his licence.

Budney was employed by the owner of the schoolbus, Gregory Moshanski of Lamont, who had a contract with the school division board to provide bus service. The contract specified that Moshanski must drive the bus himself or provide a properly licensed driver.

Evidence was that Moshanski never demanded to see Budney's licence. He apparently took it for granted Budney had an 'A' licence ... so did a previous employer who found Budney's driving satisfactory and recommended him to Moshanski.

Another previous employer told the jury that before he hired Budney he gave him $5 to pay for a medical examination so he could qualify for an 'A' licence.

He said Budney reported back to him that he had "no trouble" obtaining it. But the employer didn't actually see Budney's licence.

Budney himself testified that he didn't recall anyone asking him if he had a class 'A' licence but others ... including Moshanski ... said they asked him and were told he was properly qualified to drive a schoolbus.

CLASS 'D' PERMIT

If anyone had demanded to see his licence it would have become known that he had a class 'D' permit ... which allows him to drive passenger cars and trucks with a gross weight of less than 6,000 pounds.

In fairness, even though Budney didn't have a proper licence all the people who employed him said his driving was completely satisfactory.

Chance of the same sort of situation developing again have diminished since the accident. Officials of the Lamont School Division testified that they now must file with the Highway Traffic Board a list of all bus drivers, complete with driving licence numbers. In addition, the drivers have been called in to produce their class 'A' permits.

And a Lamont schoolbus driver who testified said that since the accident drivers have been opening their bus doors before crossing railways tracks ... not necessarily for better visibility, but to be sure they can hear an approaching train.

The jury came in with the best verdict it could in view of the conflicting evidence over such things as whether the bus had stopped before it moved onto the tracks. The driver could not say because he lost his memory.

It said the driver moved onto the tracks when it was not safe to do so, and said the speed of the train ... around 50 mph ... was "in excess of what we consider safe" at an unprotected crossing near a community.

The jury also recommended a number of safety measures including flashing lights for trains, bright colors to make them as conspicuous as possible and some sort of distinctive auxiliary whistles or horns on trains for emergency use only.

It also recommended that drivers be required to open the doors of their buses when they stop for railway crossings. And, perhaps the most significant of all, it recommended that the schoolbus regulations be "rigidly enforced".

The most striking thing about the inquest evidence was the apparent situation of no one being in a position of final authority to see that the regulations were obeyed. The regulations were there, but everyone left it to someone else to enforce them.

Probably schoolbus operation in Alberta and in other provinces as well, will be safer as a result of the accident and investigation, but it seems an awfully high price to pay.

Average carrying capacity of freight cars on Canadian railways has been increased from 35 tons to 46 tons since 1920 and speed of freight trains between terminals has been increased by 60 per cent, factors that have combined to increase the utilization of freight cars by 70 per cent.

MILLION DOLLAR BULL BUSINESS

A total of 3,104 purebred beef bulls were sold through consignment sales in Alberta in 1960 realizing $1,325,000. Of this number 2,310 were Hereford bulls selling for an average price of $431 and 402 Shorthorn bulls averaged $370.

AVADEX AND CARBYNE 1961

W. Lobay, Supervisor of Soils and Weed Control for Alberta stresses that even though Avadex and Carbyne are now quite widely accepted they cannot replace cultural methods for the control of wild oats. These chemicals must be considered as powerful supplemental tools in the wild oat battle.

Avadex (pre-planting application) has received full recommendation for use on flax at rates of 1½ to 2 pounds per acre and 1¼ to 1½ pounds on barley. Avadex is only recommended for trial use on wheat.

Carbyne is recommended for wheat and barley at rates of 5 to 7 ounces and for rapeseed at 7 ounces. Carbyne is recommended for trial only on flax (5 to 7 pounds to the acre). Maximum rates of Carbyne should be used on very heavy infestations. For optimum results the chemical must be applied when the majority of wild oats are in the 1½ to 2 leaf stage.

Best results were achieved with Avadex when five gallons of liquid under 30 lbs of pressure per square inch and the treated ground worked the same day to a depth of not more than 3 inches. Carbyne responded well when applied in four gallons of liquid per acre applied at a pressure of 40 pounds per square inch.

LAST CALL FOR TREES

The demand for trees from the Alberta Department of Agriculture has been greater this year than ever before. 2200 applications have been received in Edmonton to date. These trees are provided free to be used as windbreaks, farmstead and road side shelterbelts. Contact your District Agriculturist to-day.

AN ECONOMICAL WEED CONTROL MEASURE

As much as 25 per cent of the seed used by Alberta farmers grades "reject" according to O. G. Bratvold, Supervisor of the Crop Improvement Service of the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

Since approximately 19 million bushels of cereal seeds are used in this province every year, about 4¾ million bushels are planted with a weed count so high that it cannot meet [illegible] standards for [illegible] grade.

Many farmers believe that because their land is weedy there is no point in clean seed. This, of course, is the worst kind of deduction. It implies that a weed problem cannot be solved so why fight it. Nothing could be further from the truth, says Mr. Bratvold who stresses that one of the first steps in a weed control program [illegible] be [illegible] planting weeds.

There are seed cleaning plants in this community whose average charge for cleaning is about 6 cents per bushel. Since farmers used an average of 2 bushels per acre they can sow clean seed at a cost of less than 15 cents an acre. Compared with the cost of spraying, cultivating etc. this is a very economical weed control measure.

The members of the Claysmore Community club have demonstrated an outstanding example of the Golden Rule.

A cheque for $303 representing the net proceeds from a dance and raffle held by the club in the Claysmore Community Hall recently has been forwarded to Mrs. Frank Budney of Lamont.

Mrs. Budney is the wife of the school bus driver whose bus was in collision with a CN freight train at a level crossing near Lamont resulting in the death of seventeen schoolchildren.

Mr. Budney was seriously injured in the accident and is still unable to work.

In addition to the proceeds from the dance the Claysmore Community club cheque included proceeds from the sale of tickets for a rug which was won by the Vermilion Furniture store. The rug was returned to the club to be raffled again at a later date.

Music for the dance was provided by the Happy Hill Billies.

Paradise Valley

It is with deep regret that we hear of the death at Kimberly, B.C., of one of the old timers here in the person of Alex McDonald. Mr. McDonald lived in the Moyerton district for many years before going to Kimberly. He leaves his widow and three children, Neil at Hazelton, B.C., Robert in Kimberly and Helen (Mrs. W. Heaton), also in B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilchrist of Owen Sound, Ont. are visiting with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Royden Gilchrist and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Adams.

Curling has been going so strong during the past week that we cannot keep up with it. Mrs. Baxter's rink took second in the first event at the McLaughlin ladies bonspiel. The Knutson rink took fourth at Rosedale and the Rawson rink won fourth in the third event. There is a local draw going at the rink in town at present at which some good games are being played.

Our fine weather has come back after a week of winter. The cooler temperatures were hard to take for a few days but now it is all sunshine and milder again. When we hear of other parts of Canada and the U.S. we realize how lucky we are!

Whoops! Tigers Do It Again! Win Hockey Game at Lashburn

The Vermilion Tigers finished off their North Eastern Alberta hockey league play Wednesday night with a 3 to 2 victory over last year's league [illegible] the Lashburn Flyers.

Last night's win, only the second of the season for the locals, was also the club's second in a row. It came about by and large through superior defensive work, with Ian Cawthorpe in the nets stopping 42 shots, while his opposite number in the Lashburn cage handled 27.

In addition to a fine display on the part of Cawthorpe, his defence men were clearing the puck quickly, and covering up on the rebounds.

Offensively, Warner was a standout for Vermilion, opening the scoring early in the first period. This was followed by two first period goals by Lashburn.

The second period was scoreless, and the third was about half way through when Bronson tied the game for Vermilion followed a minute later with the game winner as Warner scored his second goal of the night.

The final standings in the western section of the NEAHL show Lloydminster in first place, St. Paul second followed by Bonnyville with Tigers in fourth and last spot.

PLAYOFFS

The playoffs for the western division get away this Saturday, with Vermilion going to Lloydminster and Bonnyville to St. Paul, in the first games of the best of five semi-final series. Lloydminster will play here Monday night.

At press time no word has been received on the final standing in the eastern division.

In the B round, played at Wainwright last night, the Currah foursome stuck with Dr. Geddes of Edmonton for eight ends but were finally defeated 10 to 5.

Members of the local rink were Ed Lyons, lead, George Webb Jr. second, Roge Rowe third and Darrel Currah, skip.

Aren't You Ashamed Of Being Too Fat?

We all are like to be appreciated, admired and envied. Unfortunately overweight persons don't look their best, don't feel their best, and consequently don't act their best. Naturally they aren't often envied. Nothing will help you to regain a youthful feeling and get the admiring glances of your friends quicker than losing those excess pounds. Why wait a day longer to begin losing those burdensome pounds? Go to your druggist and ask for the Naran Plan. In a short time you will notice results or your money will be refunded by the manufacturer.

Cabinet Minister Speaks to Rotary

HON RUSSELL PATRICK

Guest speaker at a recent Rotary Club meeting was the Hon. Russell Patrick, provincial secretary and Minister of Industry and Development. Mr Patrick took for his subject, "Alberta [illegible]." This branch comes under his direction so he was able to give first hand information on the aggressive program being followed in locating and marking historical sites. The speaker introduced his remarks by stating that Vermilion was situated in the most interesting and important historical area of the entire province. This was due to the fact the Saskatchewan River was the highway giving access to this country, with the result that all the old fur trading forts were located along the river's banks north of Vermilion.

The speaker was introduced by Mark Norton who arranged the interesting program.

ALLANDALE

February 1st warmer sunny weather came our way. Certainly no complaints about the winter.

Rev. James Shortt of Kitscoty had a very comforting message for the relatives and friends at the funeral of Mr. Sandy Good, Tuesday, Jan. 31 at the United church in Vermilion. The family met after the funeral at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John David. Their kindness was appreciated very much.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold on their forty first wedding anniversary Feb. 5th and to Mr. and Mrs. Pat McCambridge of Campbell Lake on their forty fifth Feb. 10.

TO IMPROVE ROAD

The bush is being cut along the road allowance from Clandonald to Borradaile. Plans are to begin work in the spring to widen the present road. Land is being bought from the farmers and fences will be moved. Power and telephone lines will also have to be set back. The new road will go straight over the hill north of the river and a new bridge with a higher grade will be put in. This will be a great improvement.

An enjoyable evening was had at the Princess Ann W.I. whist party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dutchak. Ladies high and low came to Allandale, high to Mrs. Mary Wilson, low E. M. Omness.

Sorry to hear of the illness of Jimmy Mead, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mead, who, at the time of writing is in the Vermilion hospital with pneumonia.

Terry Throndson, baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Throndson, is also a patient in the Vermilion hospital.

On Jan. 27th Jim McCormack was released from the University hospital in [illegible] and is now home. He is getting on well following his serious operation but will be under the doctor's care at Elk Point for some time.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Hareuther Sr. [illegible] members of the family on the loss of a daughter and sister.

What an interesting letter in the Standard from Mr. and Mrs. Beatty. We shall certainly be awaiting their return to hear more of their wonderful adventures and work.

Pleased to hear that little Stuart Mead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mead, is home and feeling much better after his stay in the hospital before Xmas [illegible]

Provincial Minister Meets Crowded Schedule Here

(This story was held over from a previous week)

Hon. Russell Patrick, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Industry and Development, spent last Friday and Saturday morning as the guest of the local member of the legislature, Ashley Cooper. During Friday he kept no less than five appointments at meetings in company with Mr. Cooper.

INSPECTS NEW CENTRE

Arriving at 11 a.m. Friday, Mr. Patrick met the building committee of the recreational and agricultural centre, and was taken on an inspection tour of the new building. Recreational grants are made through the provincial secretary's department. The grant to Vermilion which is being used for the centre is $22,400.00.

GUEST SPEAKER AT ROTARY

Following the inspection of the centre the minister was guest speaker at the noonday meeting of the Rotary club.

OPENS NEW RINK AT INNISFREE

Immediately following the Rotary meeting Mr. Patrick was hurried into a waiting car by the M.L.A. and rushed to Innisfree where they, in company with Mr. Alex Gordey M.L.A. for Vegreville, officiated at the ribbon cutting ceremony opening the Innisfree three sheet curling rink.

While there they also saw the new skating rink which the village built for the young people with the provincial recreational grant.

ONLY 4-H TURKEY CLUB

At 6:30 Mr. Patrick and Mr. Cooper were guests at the annual banquet of the Mannville-Vermilion 4-H Turkey club, the only 4-H poultry club in the west, where each was due to speak.

RETURN TO INNISFREE

A return trip was made to Innisfree, where a program of speeches and musical entertainment was scheduled at 9 p.m. as a further part of the official opening celebration. Both Mr. Patrick and Mr. Cooper were on the speaking portion of the program.

Hon. Mr. Patrick enjoyed meeting the many people at the various functions. He remained in Vermilion until Saturday and that morning paid a call on his great-uncle Mr. Hiram Hodgins. While here Mr. Patrick was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cooper.

Delegates Chosen For Diocesan Annual Meeting

MANNVILLE. — With nine members present, the Happy Hour group met at the home of Joan Lugg on Thursday, Feb. 2.

Mrs. Ida Norman led the Litany with President Mrs. Nancy Coxford leading the prayers. Mrs. H. Shell conducted a most interesting study of the Mission book which nearly completes the story on Africa. Reports of the secretary, treasurer and other officers were all adopted as read.

Plans were made for the coming Valentine supper, Feb. 8th and delegates were chosen for the annual meeting of all W. A. groups in the Edmonton diocese. Mrs. Edith Laidler and Mrs. Joan Lugg are the delegates. Permission and money was allocated to the two ladies to choose a suitable gift for the Refugee table at the conference. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Muriel McLuckie. Lunch was served by Mrs. Shell and the hostess at the conclusion of the gathering.

"Know Your Youth Groups" Leaders

A leader of any group is usually a dedicated person . . . in the case of youth groups they definitely are such people. How many of the above leaders do you know? They may be helping your child, so it is to your benefit to know them personally. The above group, by no means complete, are, left to right: Mrs. Mary Mitchell, Guide Leader; Mrs. Dorothy Webb, Guide Leader; Mrs. Maxine King, Brownie Leader; Mr. John Johnson, Scout Leader; Mrs. Marguerite Winter, Brownie Leader; Mrs. Joan Norton, Cub Leader; Mrs. Vera Moren, Brownie Leader. —A Standard Staff Photo

C. G. I. T. Groups Adopt Young Korean War Orphan

Marwayne, Kitscoty, Dewberry Join in Humanitarian Act

By Shirley Hale,
Sr. C. G. I. T. Reporter

MARWAYNE. - The Marwayne C.G.I.T. is assisting the Kitscoty and Dewberry groups in adopting a "war orphan". Our orphan, Lee Chang Hi, comes from Korea. She is 6 years old and has four brothers, aged 3, 11, 13 and 17. Lee Chang Hi's father, who was unable to get work, disappeared two years ago and has not been heard from since. Mrs. Hi supports her family as best she can by sewing, washing, peddling and various other jobs. She does not earn very much this way and little Lee Chang Hi is often cold and hungry. That is why we are going to help her by sending $15 a month, $5 from each of the three groups. We also send parcels and write letters. Marwayne group is in charge of sending the parcels. Right now we are collecting clothes, not only for Lee Chang but for her mother and brothers as well.

Korean children are usually small, taking a size smaller than their actual age. Any donation of clothing for Chang Hi and her family would be greatly appreciated.

The number of persons killed in motor vehicle traffic accidents on Canada's streets and highways in the first half of 1960 was 1,173 compared to 1,195 in the first half of 1959.

Dewberry P. T. A. Plans Public Speaking Contest

January P.T.A. meeting held in Dewberry was very well attended. Mr. Bob Gray presided and led in the singing of 'O Canada'. The minutes of the last meeting were read and accepted. Mr. Kruger gave us a short talk on the public speaking contest sponsored by the Home and School. The committee for this contest is Mrs. McMullen, Mrs. B. Gray and Mrs. Brown. Further details would soon be available as to time of this contest.

Since Mrs. Ruthe Brown reporter for the resolutions committee was called to Edmonton on important P.T.A. business, Mrs. Kruger the secretary read a letter sent in by Mrs. Brown. This wasn't exactly a report but dealt with the importance of groups sending resolutions to the right quarters. Also what may be accomplished by these same resolutions that are sent in. Mrs. Brown cited in detail one instance where great changes were wrought by carefully worded resolutions which finally materialized. Resolutions can be used as tools to bring worthwhile ideas to the fore.

A film "Be Your Age" was viewed and brought forth much discussion. A delicious lunch was served bringing the evening to a close.

Mannville Mystery Is Solved!

(By Joan Lugg)

MANNVILLE. Yes, one of the most baffling cases in the history of the village of Mannville has been solved! What mystery? you may ask, and rightfully so considering you, the villagers, pay taxes to learn just such things.

Well, have you not noticed an air of secrecy on and about the school 'campus'? Did you know a new idea has been born in conjunction with the ice carnival on Feb. 25th? (Even though it is sponsored by the Canadian Legion again.

With the help of Perry Mason and Nellie Cotter I solved this case, and, can you imagine what they have dreamed up? It's the most unique idea since the invention of the parchute! The candidates are running in pairs, Kings and Queens, so now the Queen will not freeze if it's a cold night, for what chivalrous King would let his Queen freeze I ask you?

Now for details. The High school has chosen for its King "Clever Colin" Kennedy and "Luscious Lorraine" Anderson as Queen. We hope to have pictures in the Standard of each pair next issue. Now the Junior high, not to be outdone by the High school, has selected "Dashing Derek" Boe as King and "Darling Dawn" Kreller Queen.

The liveliest ticket sales campaign in years is well underway and we suggest that all possible turn out on Feb. 25th to witness the best ice carnival yet. No effort is being spared by the Legion and its auxiliary to put this over and when public spirited people work in this manner for your children's as well as their own children's pleasure it is up to everyone to support the project. How about it Mannville and district?

The usual races are to be run and added entertainment of the finest type. Costume prizes to be given are $3, $2 and $1. Admission tickets entitle the purchasers to a lucky draw prize of $15. Draw is to be made at the carnival. New ideas in races are being planned so young and old are urged to dress in costume. Pre-school young fry will be paid 50 cents each for attending in costume. Mayor Malin will personally crown the King and Queen and distribute the prizes.

Why The Public Health Nurse?

Health Unit Notes

By Dr. John S. Willis
Indian & Northern Health Services

What is there about public health nurses that is different from other nurses? If they are really different what do they do for a living and why do we need them in our community any way? What does it cost to employ them? Will they give the community value for its money or are they not simply another medical fashion, a social luxury we can do without? These are honest questions that demand honest answers.

In 1920 Dr C E A Winslow Professor of Public Health Yale University wrote

"Public Health is a science and art of preventing disease, prolonging life and promoting health and efficiency through organized community effort for (1) the sanitation of the environment, (2) the control of communicable infection, (3) the education of the individual in personal hygiene, (4) the organization of medical and nursing services for the early diagnosis and prevention of disease, (5) the development of the social machinery to insure everyone a standard of living adequate for the promotion of health."

How has the public health nurse help to achieve these goals and do her services cost more than they are worth? The term 'Public Health' has come to embrace all the measures required to maintain a community and the individuals within it at the highest possible level of physical and mental health.

It is concerned with sanitation, with immunization, with pure water and safe milk, with wholesome food, with shelter and warmth, with safe living and working conditions, with the health of the unborn, the newborn, the child, the adult and the aged. It is concerned with the prevention of disease, the early recognition of disease and the enhancement of existing levels of health.

The public health team is captained by a medical officer of health and consists of sanitarians, public health nurses and, possibly dental officers, social workers and health educators. Their work involves co-operation with local health workers, town officials, industrial personnel, school authorities and family units. It falls into two main categories: administration of the existing health legislation, and provision of health services if, as, and when needed. Before a public health program can be planned it is necessary to assess the needs and the resources in a community. The public health nurse is trained to share in both assessment and planning.

No public health program can be effective without the co-operation of the community individually and jointly. It is the public health nurse who can do most to ensure that co-operation is forthcoming. Meeting people individually and together in their homes or while carrying out organized public health services, she makes friends for public health. Through her function as a home visitor at times when she is wanted and needed, she can establish a personal basis of trust and friendship with many individuals which is impossible for other health workers.

WHAT SHE DOES

"Specifically what does the public health nurse do?" First, she must familiarize herself with all the special problems of geography, population distribution, communications and medical and health facilities of her territory. She may be working within the limits of a city or she may have a territory extending over hundreds of square miles. To be effective she must get to know the people she serves — where and when and how they work and live and play.

MATERNAL AND INFANT HEALTH PROGRAM

One of her most important functions is the implementation of a maternal and infant health program. Many maternal and infant deaths are preventable and are due to ignorance of the need for medical supervision and of the practices of healthful living. The public health nurse is trained to visit the home and encourage prospective parents to seek medical supervision and to carry out instructions intelligently. She is also expected to run pre-natal, post-natal and child health clinics where needed. Such clinics are designed to keep mothers and babies well and to detect early and refer for action any signs of conditions that may require medical attention or social assistance. The public health nurse must also be available to speak and to give demonstrations to groups which extend invitations to her and to make effective use of visual aids on such occasions.

PLAYS IMPORTANT PART IN LIFE OF COMMUNITY

Immunization is a continuing service constantly promoted by the public health nurse in her personal contacts. It is her job to know something of the symptoms of most diseases and of mental and emotional abnormalities, and to know the community resources for dealing with the whole gamut of human problems so that she can direct people to agencies that can help them. She must be able to debunk 'old wives' tales" and to interpret in every day language the many articles on health published in magazines and newspapers.

In co-operation with the medical health officer, school authorities, parents and teachers she plays an important part in guiding the health of children through school health services. Not only does she watch for abnormalities among school children and explain them to teachers and parents with encouragement to have them corrected, but she, together with the teachers, tries to [illegible] in the children themselves the principles of health that will result in their living at their peak of efficiency and happiness. At the other end of the life span, older people can be helped too. Often a public health nurse can interpret the needs of older people to the people in whose homes they live, the changes in food needs, in sleeping habits and in attitudes. She can [illegible] illness before it becomes serious and help arrange for necessary care.

Another important function of the public health nurse is to show families how to carry out simple procedures of home nursing. Nowadays with hospital stays becoming shorter, a basic knowledge of home nursing is very important. Equally important is a knowledge of first aid.

PREVENTION PAYS OFF

There is plenty of evidence to prove that where little is spent on preventing disease the cost of hospital and medical care soars. In dollars and cents this is important but not nearly so important as the personal loss of well-being of the community's citizens. The malnourished, diseased or worried individual is usually the worst pupil, the worst parent, the worst worker and the most unreliable citizen. Industries, governments and the most up-to-date communities have long since learned these lessons. They recognize that the public health nurse, working patiently and unobtrusively with individuals and groups, trained to prevent ill health, is the logical person to deal with the health problems at their roots. Support her and give her enough time and she will, as teacher, sister-confessor, mentor, guide and friendly home visitor be a surprising influence in bringing people together for community action towards healthier living. She has become a key figure in the development of a modern healthy nation.

News from Dewberry

The following is an excerpt from a Comox paper

Aide Resigns after 14 Years

"Mrs. Isobel King, who joined St Joseph's hospital staff in September, 1946, as a nursing aide, has the unique record of not losing one day during her many years of service to the sick.

At the staff Christmas party, held Monday evening, Mrs. King was the recipient of farewell gifts and good wishes from the Sisters and her co-workers."

Mrs. King is well known around these parts. She came from Scotland in 1926 with her husband and family and settled on a farm in the Deer Lake district until 1946 when they moved to Courtenay, B.C. and Mrs. King joined the St. Joseph hospital staff in Comox. Two of the daughters live around here, Peggy, Mrs. John Porter of Dewberry and Elsie, Mrs. Colin Midgley, Marwayne.

Mrs. King certainly achieved quite a record, one to be proud of, fourteen years without missing a day.

The C.W.L. wish to thank everyone who helped make their tea and sale a success. Thanks to the Dewberry Shopping centre and the Co-op for the use of their stores and their help [illegible]ing the afternoon.

Johnny Machon of the R.C.A.F. flew from Trenton, Ont., to spend a three weeks' leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Machon. John has been in the air force for seven months and is taking a course in electronics.

FIRE BRIGADE CALLED

The fire brigade was called out at 11:40 p.m. one day last week to douse a fire at the home of Mr. A. Stone. Mr. Tom West, who lives opposite the Stone home, turned in the alarm and the fire brigade was at the scene of the fire in their usual prompt manner. Fortunately it proved to be only a chimney fire.

Congratulations to the Neil Jones' rink on winning the Grand Challenge at the local bonspiel. Granddad Jones, 83 years, can handle those curling rocks with the best of them. It is a pleasure to watch him play.

Mr D. Proud had his name drawn last week on the 'Money Tree' game. Unfortunately he did not have the right number.

Miss Doreen Poitras spent a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Poitras.

TOLLAND TOPICS

Mrs. Van Wageningen Sr. spent most of the week in the city visiting with Mrs. King and daughter Joy. While there she called on Mrs. Vernon Foster and took in the Ice Capades, which she thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. Euna Lysons is presently visiting her daughter Mable and son in law, John Crooks and family at Airways, Alberta.

Folks celebrating special events lately were Mr. Keith Galloway, a birthday with a party, Mrs. Dorothy Seitz a dinner, and Mr. and Mrs. Florent Van Wageningen a first wedding anniversary dinner.

Miss Margaret Watt and Mrs. Gladys Wolters motored to Edmonton after school on Friday last. While shopping there on Saturday they met Mrs. Jean Drysdale and grandson and Mrs. Ted Dale better known around here as Evie Holmen.

The Wheat Pool show and talks Saturday evening last at Union hall were much enjoyed by a good sized crowd.

Wildmere Winks

First of all, a couple of items omitted last week. Mrs. Lloyd Howard spent a few days in hospital having a minor leg operation. Roy Garnett spent a few days in Edmonton. On his return he brought his sister Anne and Mr Dick Gilhome for a few days' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Garnett.

Sorry to report that our Wildmere representative lost out at the Curlorama at Vegreville. The Massey Ferguson dealers are to be congratulated on the very fine hospitality shown. This event will soon be bigger than the "Brier".

A rink skipped by Arnold Rand got into the prizes at the recent Wainwright Farmers' bonspiel.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Shepherd (the former Marie Smith) on their recent marriage. A shower and party will be held in their honor in Hazelwood community hall Feb. 10th. Everybody welcome. May you have many happy years together Marie and Bob!

Congratulations also to Mr and Mrs Don Gibson on their marriage in Vancouver on Jan. 28th. We are all looking forward to seeing you on your way back to [illegible].

Mr and Mrs. Wilson Ford, Mr and Mrs Bob Martin and Doreen, and Ron Hemmingway were supper guests at the Gibson home [illegible], the occasion being Mary's 20th birthday.

Mr and Mrs Clarence Wilson and family visited the Dave Hughes home on Saturday evening.

SPIEL UNDERWAY

The annual men's bonspiel is well underway at the Wildmere rink. The ladies are being kept very busy feeding everyone - a very enjoyable task. Results of the spiel next week.

A ladies' rink skipped by Mae Fluney participated in the Dewberry ladies' bonspiel last week end.

The latest victims with the chicken pox are Howard's, Nichols, Friesen's, Oderberg's, Hughes, Rands, Dunlys and Thomson's.

David Dibben spent the week end in Edmonton. Fred Dibben did the farm chores in his absence.

Claysmore W. I.

The January meeting of the W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. Robert MacMillan on Jan. 11 with nine members and two visitors present. Following repeating the creed the usual business session opened. A donation of $5.00 was made to the Mannville Library. Mrs. F. Watling was chosen as delegate to attend the January library meeting.

The Claysmore W.I. have taken handicraft for their subject for January February March. The roll call for January was quick methods of sewing and patching. Some very good ideas were given.

Mrs. Robert MacMillan gave a demonstration on fabric painting and showed several pieces of painting that she had done.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Weyant [illegible] February [illegible].

The meeting was brought to a close by a social half hour during which lunch was served by Mrs. [illegible] and the hostess Mrs. MacMillan.

Golden Wedding Is Celebrated At Heinsberg

HEINSBERG — Friends and family of Mr. and Mrs. J. Nichols gathered at the Frog Lake hall to honor them on their Golden Wedding anniversary, Jan. 21st. There were a number in attendance from Heinsberg as well as the Frog Lake district as Mr. and Mrs. Nichols had engaged in farming and lived there until 19 years ago when they retired and moved into Heinsberg. As Mr. and Mrs. Nichols were real old timers of the Frog Lake district it was thought only fitting that the 50th anniversary be held in the Frog Lake hall.

Mrs. Ethel Jones, a daughter from Prince George B.C., came for the special occasion.

The people of the community presented the honored couple with a generous purse of money. Other gifts received were hostess chairs, and an electric clock. A very nice program featured the evening. A bountiful lunch was served by the ladies of the Canadian Legion W. A. of which Mrs. Nichols is a member.

Many more years of happily married life was wished the highly esteemed and well loved pair.

Guest Speaker

Clifford S. Smallwood, M.P.

A recent guest speaker at the Vermilion Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting, Mr Clifford S. Smallwood, M.P. for Battle River-Camrose constituency, spoke on four acts passed at the fall session of Parliament. These acts dealt with loans to small businesses, the railroad strike, Unemployment Insurance and World Trade, with specific reference to trade with Japan.

Mr Smallwood also dealt in an interesting manner with conditions in other parts of Canada, and stated that in his opinion Alberta was the best province of them all. It is generally recognized, even in Ontario, that industrially Alberta will lead Canada in years to come. In Quebec and the Maritimes you really see hardship with the exception of Prince Edward Island which is comparatively prosperous.

In closing, Mr Smallwood stated that in regard to the request he had for a new R.C.M.P. barracks for Vermilion that he was doing all he could to bring [illegible].

HEINSBERG

The writer is sorry to hear that Nels Lichtfield is in the Elk Point hospital. He was brought back from the States where he had gone to spend the winter, as he had suffered a severe stroke. Best wishes are extended to him for a complete recovery.

Mr Jenner is expected home soon from the hospital but at last reports still isn't too well. He has been a patient in an Edmonton hospital off and on for quite some time.

Irvin Vinge has returned to Norman Wells again where he has been employed for some time. He has recently enjoyed a two months' vacation.

Walter Sawak was a business visitor to the city last week for a few days.

Mrs. Mike Buck is visiting in Edmonton for a two weeks' holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Drysdale went to the city with the idea of just spending the day. However they missed the railiner for the return trip and had to get a car to catch the train which they managed to do at Smoky Lake.

Angus MacMillan Reviews Chamber Of Commerce Activities For 1961

This is the President's Report which covers briefly the work of the Chamber during the past year. I have thoroughly enjoyed my term of office as president of this organization, and particularly so because of the enthusiastic co-operation of the members of our various committees of the Chamber. I wish to sincerely thank one and all for the work they have done during the past year.

I also wish to express my appreciation to the members at large for their support and interest they have shown in the work of the Chamber. The increased average weekly attendance at our luncheons during the past year demonstrates the continued and increasing interest of the members and I trust the same will be true of the coming year. These weekly luncheons are of the utmost importance as they make for continuity of effort in achieving the objects of the Chamber, namely the betterment and prosperity of the citizens of the town and district.

I would like to mention briefly some of the activities of the Chamber during the past year.

Agriculture

The Chamber is at all times fully cognizant of the importance of Agriculture in the Vermilion district.

I acknowledge our indebtedness to Mr. Ralph Wilson, Chairman of our Agricultural Committee during the past year. He has never failed to bring before the Chamber any matter relative to Agriculture in which he feels the Chamber should take an interest and support.

We were hosts last year at a very successful Hereford Association Banquet attended by over 107 people.

The Chamber endorsed a resolution presented by the Thorncliffe Wildmere F.F.A. and a resolution presented by the Claysmore F.U.A. Local in connection with hog payments.

Our Agricultural Committee canvassed the district with a view to have someone nominated from the Vermilion district as a contestant for the Master Farmer Award, but as this project was started a little late in the year the Committee was unsuccessful in obtaining a candidate. The Chamber, however, did have the pleasure of entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Oester from Paradise Valley who had been given this award as our guests at our Annual Farmers' Banquet last fall. The Chamber welcomed the delegates to the Annual Meeting of District No. 7 of the F.U.A. held on January 27th of last year and our Chamber printed Courtesy Programmes of the meeting.

The Chamber's annual Farmers' banquet last fall was, as usual, a very successful affair and was attended by officers of the F.U.A. Locals in the district.

Civic Affairs

One of the big events during the past year was the establishment of the Recreation Centre Building which is now nearing completion. This is a most wonderful thing for the Town of Vermilion. The members of our Chamber enthusiastically supported this project and paid the expenses of the delegates, headed by Mr. Bill Sutherland, Chairman of our Civic committee, who attended at Red Deer early in the year in connection with the establishing of this Centre. I would like to here tender the thanks of the Chamber to Mr. Sutherland and others who worked so hard to get this Centre at Vermilion.

The chamber sent a resolution to the Town Council suggesting that the council consider the matter of installing a water softening system in the Town.

Spring Clean Up

The Annual Spring Clean-Up of the Town was put on by our then Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Mr. Dan Lutzak, and our thanks are due to him, Mr. Aldous Kent, second in command, and Messrs. Mark Norton and Gordon Wilkinson, who worked hard to make this a success.

The Chamber was successful in having the Greyhound Bus Depot moved back into the centre of the Town, namely at the Brunswick Hotel premises.

The Chamber brought to the attention of the Town Council that "Teen Agers" were late at night or in the early hours of the morning racing their cars through the Provincial Park and up and down hills, and drinking after dances were held in town, and suggested that the Council take some measures to correct this.

Last September we were very glad to welcome the "Friendship Train" from Edmonton and to have the opportunity of driving the passengers around the Town

Right off the boat

The Volkswagens arriving in Canada these days are quite a bit different from earlier arrivals.

For one thing they've got a new engine that delivers 10% more acceleration and passing power. And a new heavy-duty transmission [illegible] up to almost any abuse!, with new gear ratios selected to deliver every ounce of the extra engine power to the driving wheels. (You get better performance with the same gas economy.)

The first gear is synchronized. Now you can slip into first on the move, just as easily as you engage the other three.

There have been many other improvements too. Among the most recent, a better heater, and fully adjustable seats.

We're constantly seeking ways to make the Volkswagen more efficient. And when we find them, we build them in. So far we haven't discovered how we can improve the basic design of our vehicles. That's why the latest arrivals look just like the ones that came over last year, the year before, and the year before that.

Try as we might, we can't upset the logic of putting the driver up front and the engine at the rear. It provid[illegible] traction in mud and snow, and the load rides cradled between the wheels.

Look at the vans. Big, double side doors, and a rear door make them easier to load than any van ever built.

Volkswagens still deliver the goods for less. Less loading and unloading time. And less running cost. Your dealer has the facts to prove it.

Come and drive one of the new Volkswagens this week.

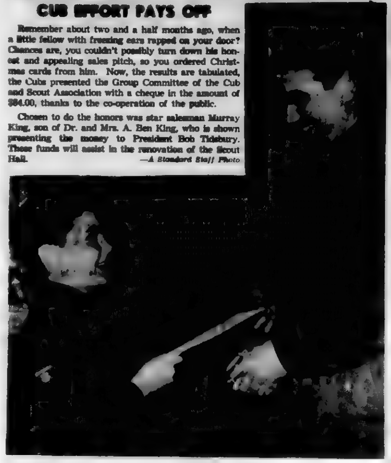
CUB EFFORT PAYS OFF



Remember about two and a half months ago, when a little fellow with freezing ears rapped on your door? Chances are, you couldn't possibly turn down his honest and appealing sales pitch, so you ordered Christmas cards from him. Now, the results are tabulated, the Cubs presented the Group Committee of the Cub and Scout Association with a cheque in the amount of $84.00, thanks to the co-operation of the public.

Chosen to do the honors was star salesman Murray King, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Ben King, who is shown presenting the money to President Bob Tidsbury. These funds will assist in the renovation of the Scout Hall.

Vermilion No 'Poodles' Paradise'

At their last meeting, members of the Vermilion Town Council took steps to settle the perennial controversy between those who would allow dogs the free run of the town, and those who are "agin" it. Council ruled in favor of the anti-dog faction — they appointed a dog catcher and poundkeeper, and put "teeth" in the anti-dog by-law.

Under the new regulations, the poundkeeper, G. B. Barton, is instructed to pick up all dogs running at large, and if the animal is unclaimed it is to be destroyed in 48 hours.

The new by-law also provides for substantial fines, to be assessed the owners of dogs for allowing the animals to run at large in the town. The fine is $5.00 for the first conviction and $20.00 for each subsequent infraction of the by-law.

Dogs which are picked up are to be held for forty-eight hours at the pound, and where the owner can be identified through a dog tag, he or she will be notified and may reclaim the animal on payment of a levy of $2.00 per day for the time the dog is in the pound.

During the first week the by-law was in force at least a dozen animals were picked up and several were destroyed.

The Vermilion Boy Scout Association is planning a week of activity to commemorate Boy Scout Week and "Thinking Day."

"Thinking Day" is Feb. 22nd, and is the birthday of the founder of the movement, Lord Baden-Powell.

Anyone having bottles to donate is asked to have them ready on Saturday, Feb. 18th when the boys call. Any people living in rural areas are asked to leave them at the Scout Hall in town.

The official opening ceremony of Scout Week will take the form of a Thinking Day service, to be held in the Scout Hall in Vermilion at 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon. All Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies with their parents, are asked to attend.

Other activities during the week include plans for special displays in the windows of business places and, on the last day of the week, Sunday, Feb. 26th, Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies will attend their own churches in uniform.

To Become Citizens

Wednesday morning, Feb. 22 at 10:00 o'clock in the Court House in Vermilion, two district residents will take their Oaths of Citizenship.

During the ceremonies, Mrs. Ethel May Rooks of Vermilion and Alex Porcena of Elk Point will be presented with their Citizenship Certificates by Judge Buchanan, Chief Justice of the District Court for Northern Alberta.

Following the ceremony at the Court House, the Vermilion Chamber of Commerce hopes to arrange to have Mrs. Rooks and Mr. Porcena as guests during its regular luncheon meeting at noon that day.

Trophy Donated To Curling Club

Johnny Beveson, manager of Robinson Stores in Vermilion, has donated a trophy to the Vermilion Curling club to be presented to the rink winning the Club championship.

The winner of the new trophy will be decided by an inter-sectional play-off and will be for annual presentation. Four individual trophies go to the members of the winning rink for their trophy rooms.

The new trophy is on display at Robinson Stores in Vermilion.

Al Oeming Film, "In The Land of The Black Bear" in High School Auditorium This Friday

The Vermilion Tigers hockey club is sponsoring a showing of Al Oeming's world-famous outdoor film, "In the Land of the Black Bear."

The show will be held in the Vermilion high school auditorium this Friday, Feb. 17th at 8 p.m.

"In the Land of the Black Bear" is a two hour long motion picture in glorious technicolor with full sound. The film was made while on a fifty five horse pack train trip from Dawson Creek, B.C., to Banff. The entire trip took seven months and many matchless scenes of mountain beauty and wildlife were recorded on film.

Such captivating action as a huge black bear killing an elk, grizzlies and bugling elks, cannot help but hold the audience spellbound.

Al Oeming, who has gained recognition as Canada's top naturalist, will be in the auditorium in person to commentate the film and will be accompanied by his famous pet cheetah, "Tawana". Folks are cordially invited to bring their flash cameras along and take pictures of this magnificent animal.

For the finest evening of your life don't miss "In the Land of the Black Bear". You will remember the glorious scenes always. The picture is being shown throughout the capitals of the world and everywhere is being received with enthusiastic acclaim. It is hailed by naturalists everywhere as the finest wildlife production ever made in North America. Don't miss it!

50th Annual 'Spiel Slated Next Week

Sometime Sunday afternoon, or early Monday morning, the first draws in the Vermilion Curling club's annual bonspiel will get underway at the 6-sheet rink.

The event, the 50th in the history of the club, bids fair to draw more entries than the planned 64. Hence the possibility of a Sunday draw, using Vermilion rinks. The exact situation will not be known [illegible] Saturday night when [illegible].

Five events are scheduled and the short draw system will ensure the playing of all finals on Thursday. Each rink is assured of at least five games, with all competition to be held in the Vermilion curling rink. During the past few days the rink has been heated to bring the winter's accumulated frost down from the roof. After this operation the ice was flooded and everything possible has been done to make the six artificial sheets in perfect condition for the week of the bonspiel.

BUFFET BANQUET

The curlers will take time out on Thursday evening from 5 to 7:00 o'clock to attend a buffet banquet in the Elks hall.

Entry fees are $20 per rink and curlers are asked to forward or phone their entries in at once to Rus Carroll, secretary, phone 215.

Agriculture and Recreation Centre Will Be Ready For Use in April

At Monday night's annual meeting of ratepayers, Cr. C. T. Heckbert reported that present plans call for the new Agricultural-Recreation building to be completed in March, with the first events in the form of live stock sales slated for April.

It is expected that the cement floor will be laid during the month of May and the ice plant installed during the course of the summer. In his report to the meeting Mr. Heckbert said the overall cost of the building excluding the ice plant will run around $[illegible]. Contributions to date include $60,000 from the town of Vermilion, $22,100 from the Provincial Recreation grant, $10,000 from Vermilion service clubs and other donations which amount to $25,000.

As of this moment, the sum of around $2,000 is required to finance the completion of the building, and another $5,000 for extras such as a public address system, coffee counter, chairs, tables and miscellaneous items.

P-V Rink Is Winner At Teachers' 'Spiel

A rink skipped by school trustee A. Weekes of Paradise Valley Saturday won the annual Teachers' Bonspiel of the Vermilion school division. The event was played at the Vermilion rink.

Members of the winning rink were Margaret Watt, Vermilion, lead; R. Backman, Dewberry, 2nd; R. Mead, Vermilion, 3rd and A. Weekes, skip.

The winning team accumulated a total of 20 points out of a possible 24.

All scoring was done on a point basis with each rink playing three games. A win was worth two points and an additional point was awarded for each winning end.

Second prize at the spiel was won by a rink representing four different divisional schools, being skipped by M. Osinchuk of Louise Lake. Other personnel included Lloyd Seath of the Vermilion School of Agriculture, Mrs. F. Sweet, Preston Central, and Ardis Sand of Dewberry.

Third prize in the spiel went to the rink skipped by J. Gardiner, principal at Marwayne; on his rink were Carol Richardson of Marwayne, Janet Hall from Islay and Helen McCourt of Marwayne.

Curling started at 9:30 Saturday morning in the Vermilion Curling rink and all the play was finished by 6:00 o'clock, six artificial sheets being available for the annual event. In the evening members of the Vermilion sub-local of the A. T. A. entertained the curlers at a pot-luck supper during which the winning rinks were awarded their prizes.

VERMILION LEADS PROVINCE IN CANCER CONTRIBUTIONS

For the second year in a row Vermilion, in 1960, led the province in its per capita donation to the Fight Against Cancer.

Vermilionites can be particularly proud with the results of last year's canvass when it is realized that last year's per capita donation of 69.2 cents was more than double that of any other centre.

Second in the province was Drumheller with a per capita contribution of 34.2 cents. The over-all provincial average was 25.4 cents per capita in 1960.

Annual Ratepayers' Meeting Told Street Improvements to Continue

High praise for all town employees and an indication of the start of further major public works projects for the Town of Vermilion were highlights of the report of Mayor C. J. McCormick, delivered to the annual meeting of town ratepayers on Monday night.

The meeting drew a disappointingly small crowd, a condition attributable, in part, to the very cold weather and conflicting events such as play-off hockey.

In his report Mayor McCormick said that financially the town of Vermilion was in excellent shape, thanks to the administrations of past years. He added it is the intention of the present council to keep things that way, but at the same time to go ahead in every way, but to do so in moderation.

The Mayor expressed his appreciation for the fine work done by the councillors, and noted that he could cite many cases in which the alertness of a councillor had saved the taxpayers of the town of Vermilion many dollars. He said the town superintendent of public works, Ken Urquhart, had been of great assistance in smooth operation of town services. Mayor McCormick also had good words for the town office staff thusly, "The office staff has left nothing to be desired."

The mayor's report followed [illegible] of the minutes of the [illegible] meeting and the [illegible] of a chairman for the [illegible]. The chair was occu[illegible] president of the [illegible] Chamber of Commerce, J. W. G. Cleadinning.

FINANCES IN GOOD SHAPE

In his report as chairman of the Finance committee Cr. C. T. Heckbert said: "Generally the town of Vermilion is in a good financial condition, with no immediate problems of importance".

The report noted that the town's bank balance was somewhat reduced from last year as a direct result of a $60,000 grant to the new Agriculture-Recreation Centre, but that this grant created no debt as it was taken out of reserve funds. If the grant was added to this year's town bank balance at year end Vermilion would be $11,000 better off than at the end of 1959.

The only major debt incurred during 1960 by the town was the borrowing of $90,000 to finance the construction of a new sewage disposal lagoon which is now in operation.

Capital expenditures out of revenue to the sum of $30,000 provided funds for a new fire engine, a new tractor and new work done on streets and roads.

LAGOON TOPS 1960

In his report on the Water and Sewer department Cr. K. E. Rowe said: "The big news from my department in 1960 was of course the construction of the sewage disposal lagoon which was put into operation late in the year". He said that the flow from the residential section in the east end, the Senior Citizens' lodge and the high school have been diverted into the new system relieving the seriously overburdened plant in the valley below 52nd street.

Councillor Rowe said that while the final cost of the new sewage disposal lagoon has yet to be ascertained, it is expected to be close to the $90,000 voted by the ratepayers. He added that the new disposal system, in addition to its chief purpose of providing adequate disposal facilities for present and future growth of the town, has already provided another full block of choice residential lots on the sewer main, with seven new connections not previously possible already completed.

During the year there were 21 new water connections and 29 new sewerage connections, being down only slightly from 1959.

Councillor Rowe concluded his report with very high words of praise for the co-operation and work done by the town staff in carrying out its duties, including working all night Christmas eve and well into Christmas morning to effect temporary repairs to a broken water main on 50th St.

TWO MILES ROADS, STREETS

The report of the Public Works department presented by Cr. A. R. Kent, showed that during the year a little over two miles of roads and streets were constructed at a cost of $7,312.44, while 27,920 square feet of sidewalk were laid, at a cost of $7,[illegible]12.73. Cr. Kent reported that during the year his department had installed lights in the street lighting system to a total cost of $800.50.

Plans for public works in 1961 include a further 8,300 lineal feet of sidewalk, a continuation of the roads and street construction approximately equal to 1960's program.

Councillor Kent noted that an immediate project was the stockpiling of 3500 yards of gravel for the summer work in which the costs are shared by the federal, provincial and municipal governments.

Heavy Session Of Alberta Legislature Is Forecast

Industrial Taxation, Redistribution Subject of Conjecture

By KEN MASON

EDMONTON. — As this report is being written, politicians from all parts of the province are gathering here in the capital to open the second session of the 13th Alberta Legislature.

Social Credit members, 61 of them, arrived here two days prior to the Thursday opening to attend their annual pre-session caucus, during which government ministers brief them on the proposed legislative program. One of the first arrivals from rural Alberta was the Vermilion constituency member, Ashley Cooper, seen ascending the steps of the Legislative Building early for an appointment with a cabinet minister.

HEAVY SESSION INDICATED BY TWO-DAY CAUCUS

Indications are that a fairly heavy session is in prospect. Usually the pre-session caucus lasts only one day. The fact that it is two days this year could mean the government has a lot to tell the backbenchers.

REDISTRIBUTION AROUSES MUCH CONJECTURE

Chances are a great deal of the caucus discussion will be on the report of the House committee which has been studying a redistribution of Legislature seats. Country members, in particular, are going to have a lot to say about the report.

EXTRA SEATS FOR CALGARY EDMONTON, LIKELY

This hasn't been confirmed yet, but we have it on good authority that the committee will recommend the dropping of four rural seats and the addition of one seat each to Edmonton and Calgary. Net result will be a drop to 63 from the present 65 in total House membership.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

When you consider Edmonton and Calgary have nearly 50 per cent of the province's population, there's strong argument in favor of increasing their House representation. But country members, with some justification to be sure, point out that the city MLAs can look after more people because they aren't faced with the problem of travelling great distances to reach their constituents.

We don't know what constituencies the committee proposes to abolish, but there was talk at one time about the possibility of combining some of the smaller rural ridings in central Alberta [illegible] population is fairly dense and the roads good.

NEW APPROACH TO MUNICIPAL FINANCING

What shapes up as a real big issue is Municipal Affairs Minister Alf Hooke's proposed new approach to municipal financing. The latest word from Mr. Hooke [illegible] that he hopes to outline the whole program fairly early in [illegible] have facts and figures to show just what the effect will be on Alberta communities.

We Enjoyed These Visits

After separate visits by the English 20 classes from the Mannville and Dewberry high schools, the editor and staff of the Vermilion Standard are more than ever of the opinion that the future of Canada will be in good hands. The young people were mannerly and co-operative, followed suggestions, asked intelligent questions despite the fact that for some it was a first visit to a printing plant, and made observations which would have been a credit to an adult. The deduction could easily be made that, without exception, they were all ambitious to make something of their lives and willing to study and work to achieve their aims.

The visits of these two classes and their teachers left the editor and staff members with the feelings that these representatives of the rising generation have certainly benefitted from their Alberta education, and optimistic about young people generally. It was a distinct pleasure to have them make a tour of the plant, and their quiz period following on every phase of the [illegible] operation, mechanical, editorial and policy was refreshing, enlightening as to their general knowledge, and very interesting.

It's Fun . . . But Don't Do It!

It is fun to ride on a toboggan being towed by a car, but this is a very dangerous type of recreation. A tumble from a fast-moving toboggan can easily break limbs, or worse yet the fall can come at a time when meeting an approaching vehicle. Again, a toboggan has a habit of not trailing a car too well, and can swerve into oncoming traffic without the slightest warning, with disastrous results. Yes, it's fun, but it is wise not to do it, and even wiser to refrain when smaller children are the passengers on the toboggan.

Bank Merger of Interest Here

Close examination of the merger of Commerce and Imperial banks brings the conviction that this makes very good sense indeed, says The Financial Post, and adds: At a time when corporation changes so often mean that control goes to some foreign country, there is satisfaction in seeing no such result in this case.

Commerce, with over $3 billion in assets, was a "big" bank and similar in stature to that of the other giants operating nationally. Ever since the union of the Toronto and Dominion banks in 1955, Imperial with assets of $1 billion has been out of size with the rest. Imperial has, indeed, for some time looked like a spinster who might be willing to be wooed if everything were decent and proper.

Bigness for the sake of bigness would not justify the move. But the situation suggests there are good reasons. There will be some loud theorizing that the reduction by one in the number of Canada's banks which operate nationally will somehow reduce competition. This is true only in arithmetical terms. It has no reality in fact. Chartered banking in Canada is fiercely competitive and the fact that all contenders in the national field are now "big fellows" may even intensify the competitive battle.

Who's To Lead Saskatchewan?

If Premier Douglas leaves Saskatchewan to lead the new party, CCFers believe the province will become the sacrificial [illegible], reports The Financial Post.

The Saskatchewan CCF without Douglas is like a Saskatchewan without wheat, they say. Even the CCF's best supporters feel they cannot win the province without him. They'll have a good stretch to build up a new leader — the next election will be in 1964 — but they're not optimistic. Most likely successor, if Douglas leaves, is W. S. Lloyd, provincial treasurer.

New Industry For Rural Areas

How do you get industry going in rural areas? Manitoba is showing one way, with emphasis on local financing, and creating climate to attract new operations and outside financing to supplement local funds.

Six communities have already raised funds to help finance new industries, and 12 more are prepared to do so. Others are likely to follow soon. This could provide a pattern for the rural re-development plans now brewing in Ottawa, and it could point the way to more Canadian financing of Canadian industrial growth.

Printing's Value

(New York Times)

It is useful to pause now and then to realize that the printer, the printing press and the printed word have served for more than 500 years as champions of liberty and human rights. Printing has opened the storehouse of knowledge and has contributed to all progress. It has spread culture, science and learning throughout the world.

Letters to the Editor

Tolland P.O., Alberta,

To the Editor the Vermilion Standard,
Vermilion, Alberta.

Dear Sir — The members of the Ganton-Watson Red Cross Auxiliary wish to thank you for all the free reporting you have given their organization during the twenty years of its existence. This letter of appreciation probably should have been written a long time ago, but now a newspaper is being published in Edmonton and distributed in the Vermilion River municipality, subscription to [illegible] of tax money, we think it is time to show that we have valued the Standard for its service to the community and the rural parts in particular.

The members of this organization are not in favor of another paper, duplicating local news and reports already available, and that at the taxpayers' expense.

For the Ganton-Watson Red Cross Auxiliary,

Sincerely,
(Mrs. F.) Dolly Van Wageningen.

Vermilion, Alberta,
Feb. 14, 1961

Dear Sir:

In the January 19th issue of the Vermilion Standard you were good enough to print a double column story relating to awards [illegible]. Since then I have made contact with organizations and business people in town. The result is that practically all the awards have been picked up.

Would you [illegible] so as to indicate in this week's paper that almost all of the awards have sponsors. Business firms still wishing to sponsor an award may do so by contacting me either at the school or at my home.

I feel sure all awards will have the required backing by the end of next week and do not want anyone to feel they have not been contacted.

A. L. Husby,
Principal,
Vermilion High School.

EDITOR'S NOTE: At press time Mr. Husby advised "The Standard" that all awards have been picked up by sponsors.

BIRDSFOOT TREFOIL

In reply to [illegible] Bratvold, Supervisor Crop Improvement Service, [illegible] department of Agriculture [illegible] Birdsfoot Trefoil is not [illegible] winter hardy in Alberta although it will persist in moderate amounts in pastures through reseeding. It is difficult to establish [illegible] stand does not yield as well as alfalfa or the clovers.

Extensive testing of Birdsfoot Trefoil was discontinued by the Experimental Farm and the University of Alberta about fifteen years ago because they felt, at that time, that Birdsfoot Trefoil did not have a place in this province. Birdsfoot Trefoil has not been known to cause bloat. However we are of the opinion that bloat is largely a matter of pasture management rather than forage composition. We believe our efforts should be directed to the problem of correcting the management weaknesses rather than encouraging the use of an inferior legume in our region. Seed supplies are scarce in Western Canada and would likely have to be brought in from Ontario at relatively high cost.

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING

There is now living evidence of the North Eastern Artificial Breeding Association's quality breeding (Phone 63) Vermilion. Outstanding calves are being born all over the country which will prove to anyone what artificial breeding can do. Sure! The price is [illegible], but this is quality breeding. Now is the time and the year to join up and use artificial breeding on those milk cows, those heifer calves (breed them to an Angus bull and avoid calving troubles) and those small herds. If more people use this breeding service lower fees will be charged. The Association is a co-operative association offering service at cost.

Compaction under the tractor wheels is usually only a problem in wet clay and heavy clay soils. The operator who has experienced difficulty with germination and reduced plant growth due to "wheel tracks" should consider a larger width tire option that may be available from the tractor manufacturer. He should not, however, use a tire wider than necessary as the wider tires have greater rolling resistance.

Lot 6 in Block 8 was sold on Tuesday by A. Hansen for $1,100. Lot 11 in Block 11 was purchased by A. Kurtz of Knoxville, Iowa for [illegible]. The latter price is up to the present the top for Vermilion town lots and is a [illegible] that [illegible] Vermilion values being very low in the face of the wonderful development going on in the town.

Another sale of two lots on Main street east, for $2,000 each was recently put through.

Dewberry Ladies to Hold Bake Sale

The February meeting of the Dewberry United Church W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. R. Young with nine members and two visitors present. Another member was welcomed at this time.

The opening hymn, "Showers of Blessing", was followed by the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Hatfield read from the Bible and Mrs. Proud gave the reading for the day from the Upper Room.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the acting secretary, Mrs. A. Porter, and the president moved that they be adopted. Roll call was then taken and the Sunshine Lady gave her report.

The W.A. will have a bake sale at the Explorers' tea on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 11th in the Dewberry hall. Each member is to bring at least two articles for the sale. Prices were discussed and a list was drawn up for those in charge.

The Red Cross material will returned as the W.A. asked that it not be sent to them this year. The C.G.I.T. asked if the members would care to donate candy for their candy sale at the school on Feb. 8th.

A suggestion was made to purchase twelve low table centres (flowers) and a motion was passed to this effect. Another motion was to the effect that an inventory of dishes and silverware be taken once a year and with this in mind the March meeting will be held in the [illegible].

A reminder was again given that sandwiches and two sweets were all that was to be served at the meetings.

NEWS from ISLAY

4-H SEWING CLUB MEETS

The Islay 4-H Sewing club met in the church hall at 7 p.m. Friday evening. It was a double affair as the girls were holding their public speaking contest and also entertaining the ladies of the church W.A. and mothers of the Club members at a formal tea. For their speaking contest each girl chose her own topic, i.e. "Value of 4-H Competitions and Awards", "Why I Enjoy 4-H", "Good Manners", "Being a Good Hostess", "Clothes", "I Like Camp Whitney" to mention but a few topics. The judges were Mrs. Sweet, Mrs. Wm. Waterfield and Miss M. Stone.

LADIES ENTERTAINED

At 8 p.m. the ladies arrived and all partook of the delicious servings of sandwich and cakes. At the head table Peggy Brown poured coffee and Betty Hannon poured tea while the other girls served the sandwiches and cakes. Decorations were in keeping with Valentine's day. Each table had a centrepiece prepared by one of the girls of the club, each different and novel. All too soon the very pleasant evening came to an end. Credit is due the leaders, Mrs. Moncrieff and Mrs. Stan Davidson, who gave of much of their time, also to the parents who co-operate in getting the girls to the meetings as some come quite a distance.

A number of friends called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Allan on Friday to offer birthday greetings to Mrs. Allan.

Noticed Bob Shattuck in town Monday. It looked like a new truck he was driving. See Paddi McGuigan with a new Falcon also Harry Waterfield driving a different car.

Omar Easton is delivering groceries to some of his neighbors which we are sure is much appreciated.

Noticed Rod Jarvis riding the wee pony. The children are having one grand time with it. Billie Axley is the proud owner of the pony and is quite generous in allowing his playmates to have a ride.

Some of the neighbors and friends called Tuesday afternoon on Mrs. Steinhauer Sr. to help her celebrate her birthday.

BENEFIT DANCE

A benefit square dance was held in Islay hall Tuesday night for Keith Burt who was badly burnt several weeks ago in Lloydminster. It seems he will be many months in hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shimko attended the wedding of Mrs. Shimko's cousin in Viking on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Sven Naslund of Robin Hood, Sask., is spending a few days visiting his niece and family, the Allan Olstads.

Measles are making the rounds of this district. The Maier children and Donna Olstad are the latest victims.

Anglicans Re-elect Wardens; Four New Members on Vestry

Parishioners of St. Saviour's Anglican Church met at their annual meeting on Feb. 3rd and re-elected L. H. Pockett as People's Warden and J. V. Kneale Rector's Warden. The vestry now has four new members, Ed Roberts, E. H. Buckingham, C. N. Brennan and J. R. Robson. Re-elected to the vestry were J. H. Blockidge, W. H. Boulton, Harry Brown, Ashley Cooper, Harold Cooper, Walter Coulter, Keith King, Alex Palin and Gib Stephen. Three members of last year's vestry have moved away, Wm. Fooks, Don Keen and Jim Thompson.

Envelopes secretaryship remains with Tom Watts, while delegates to Synod are Messrs. Buckingham, King and Kneale.

REPORTS GIVEN

Reports were given reviewing the activities of every branch of the work of the church. Mrs. M. Urquhart reported for the Afternoon Branch of the W.A., Mrs. Don Keen for the Happy Hour branch, Mrs. Jim Thompson for the King Edward group. Alex Palin, Sunday school superintendent, gave a satisfactory report of the work of that very important branch of the church. Tom Watts gave an analysis of the giving by envelope and told also of the choir activities.

Rev. W. A. Champness was chairman of the meeting. He also gave a detailed report of the services held in the parishes of Vermilion, King Edward, Islay and Pleasant Valley. He had conducted services at Clandonald and Kitscoty in addition.

GENERAL OPERATING

The receipts for the year totalled $8,905.33 with expenditures of $8,661.31, leaving a small balance at year's end of $241.02.

Extensive renovations to the church at the end of the year, along with the installation of an entirely new heating system cost $5,645. This is to be liquidated over the next three years.

ACTIVE W.A.s RAISE FUNDS

The two W.A. groups made their usual marvellous showing and contribution to church work. The Afternoon branch raised $961.20 during the year, with the Happy Hour branch raising $1,[illegible].

Reports were given by numerous other church groups including Little Helpers and the Badminton club by Mrs. Boulton, the Men's club by Wm. Boulton, the Sanctuary Guild and Dramatic Society by Mrs. Gib Stephen.

PRESENTATION MADE TO FORMER MEMBERS

Following the annual meeting a social hour was held with Bill and Gladys Fooks and daughter Lynn as guests of honor. This Anglican family has recently moved to Forestburg after some seventeen years in Vermilion. All of these years had been spent as ardent workers in the church, serving on the vestry, the W.A., in the choir and being members of all organizations where they could be of help.

In making a presentation to them the Rev. W. A. Champness mentioned what great workers the Fooks family had been in the parish, real workers to the glory of God. On behalf of the people he presented them with a TV rocker.

In accepting the gift and kind words, Mr. Fooks noted that the church had also done much for them, and that they had received great satisfaction and happiness from their connection with St. Saviour's.

Vermilion Rotary Sponsors Dewberry 4H Public Speaking

Members of the Dewberry 4-H Beef club combined the regular meeting with their annual public speaking contest last Wednesday.

The speeches were heard immediately following a short business meeting and were judged by Vermilion Rotary club members Ed Corley and Gil Rampling with Ben Bachman assistant school principal at Dewberry acting as the third judge.

Evan Finlay was the winner in the Junior competition with Joan Gray delivering the winning speech among the Seniors.

TO PURCHASE TROPHIES

During the business session of the club meeting, it was decided that the Trophy committee of the club should meet at the Finlay home to discuss the purchase of trophies for the various competitions to be held throughout the year. These trophies will be presented to winners at the banquet on Achievement day. They will include the trophy presented annually by Dennill's garage to the owner of the Grand Champion calf.

The program for the March meeting will include the showing of slides by C. Kinshella, a demonstration of the making of rope halters and a discussion of plans for the club's spring tour.

Rotary Speaker Talks On "Wills"

Vernon U. Miner Q.C. of Lloydminster was the guest speaker at the Vermilion Rotary Club dinner meeting on Friday. Besides being the speaker Mr. Miner was the personal representative of the District Governor, as he himself is a past district governor. He is also mayor of Lloydminster and a member of the Rotary Club there.

The speaker dealt in a very interesting manner with wills, dealing with many aspects and giving points which should be carefully considered in a well executed will.

Carl Heckbert introduced the speaker, with thanks being extended by Mr. Miner's colleague, J. W. G. Morrison.

Guests at the meeting were Joe Hart, Cliff Hollen, Rand Calvert from Beaverlodge, Rev. C. Miller and Dave Lilwall.

Sunday At The Alliance Chapel

An interesting feature of the morning service at the Alliance Chapel Sunday, Feb. 12 was the dedication of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tovell, Grace Isabel. Pastor J. M. Schroeder officiated.

The services were well attended. Special music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Warkentin, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Franciscus vocal duets, a saxophone solo by Mr. Ron Mix. Piano accompaniment was by Margaret McLennan and Mrs. Ron Mix. Mrs. Wayne Mathews was "On the Witness Stand."

Visitors in the service were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Peterson, Killam, who visited at the home of her brother Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Sorensen.

Pastor Schroeder spoke at both services his subjects were "Spiritual Organization" and "Backsliding."

DEWBERRY ENGLISH 20 CLASS TOUR VERMILION STANDARD PREMISES

On Wednesday, February 8th, the Vermilion Standard premises were invaded, and cheerfully capitulated to a group of cheerful and knowledge-seeking young people from the Dewberry high school. Under the charge of their principal, Mr. Kruger, and guided by Editor Ashley H. Cooper, the English 20 class were shown every step in the handling of processing of news and advertising, from the time it was received until disseminated through the columns of the completed paper.

At the conclusion of the tour, Miss Joanne Gray graciously thanked the editor and staff for the opportunity to see the "Fourth Estate" in action.

Chatsworth Chatter

Weather remains almost unbelievably enjoyable. This has really and truly been a winter to remember, a record-breaker for mildness and lack of snow, according to statistics. Roads are good, though a bit icy in spots, and much sociability is being enjoyed due to the open roads.

On Jan. 20th nine tables of whist were played at the school. Winners were: Ladies' 1st, Mrs. J. Farkash, Jr., 2, Mrs. Arthur Scoggins, consolation, Mrs. W. D. Woyewitka of Claysmore; men's first, Mr. Kochan, 2, W. D. Woyewitka, consolation, Ed Wasylik. A bean guessing contest was won by Heather Scoggins.

This district was well represented at the John Deere show, a much looked-for event of the late winter.

ALBERT TOVELL ELECTED

The annual meeting of the Chatsworth Community Association was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Thompson on Jan. 25th with a good representation present. The election of officers resulted in Albert Tovell being elected president, J. Farkash vice-president, Mrs. H. Good secretary-treasurer and directors Mrs. J. Farkash Jr., H. Henningsen, Harry Good. Lunch was served by the ladies at the end of the meeting and a social time was spent.

A whist party was sponsored by the Community association on Feb. 3rd at the school, with nine tables in play. Winners were Mrs. J. Farkash 1st, Mrs. H. Good, 2nd; Ian Davis 1st, and M. Kochan, 2nd.

Mrs. Julia Farkash left on Feb. 3rd for a visit to friends in Saskatoon and Regina.

WORK FOR PAST YEAR
Members of the cabinet and the provincial-municipal advisory committee have been working steadily on the plan for the past year. Recently they've been in the session, and he says he will consultation with H. Carl Goldenberg, Montreal lawyer and economist who is an expert on municipal financing.

OPENING THURSDAY
Thursday's opening of the session was to be carried out with the traditional color and pageantry. The lieutenant-governor, Hon. J. Percy Page, was to open the session by reading the Speech from the Throne containing the usual sketchy outline of the government's program.

15 GUN SALUTE
A 15-gun vice-regal salute was to greet the governor and the Legislative building was a riot of color with military honor guards, bands and scarlet-coated RCMP.

Members and invited guests were to attend a tea later.

Tigers Even Series Monday Turn Back Mighty Chevies 8-7

Vermilion Tigers really roared on Monday night and turned back the mighty Lloydminster Chevies by an 8 to 7 score, sending some 300 fans home wide-eyed and happy. By so doing they evened the series as Lloydminster had taken the opener in the Border city on the Saturday night previous by an 8-4 count. The series swings back to Lloydminster for Wednesday and then to Vermilion on Saturday, Feb. 18th. It is a best 3 of five series.

CAWTHORPE SHINES
The Tigers were all a team of stars on Monday night with goalie, young Ian Cawthorpe, the starriest of them all, turning in a marvelous exhibition to shed twenty three fast travelling pucks and had no chance on the seven that found the net.

Van Hollen turned aside 19 shots and another 8 escaped him.

RUPTASH IN AGAIN . . . OUT AGAIN
Coach Ruptash who has been bothered by an inflammed appendix ever since being operated by Coolidge in the game against Lashburn here, was playing an exceptional game and directing the team in masterly fashion when he was again hurt by an illegal dump into the boards for which no penalty was handed out. It looks as if he might be out for the rest of the season just at a time when he had the team looking like a real contender.

DISALLOWED GOAL
The referees, Ed Robin and Jack Lamon of North Battleford, roused the ire of the crowd when they whistled a fraction of a second before the Tigers scored a valuable goal which of course was disallowed. The referees explained that the penalty called was to two players for roughing, and when two players are involved the whistle must be blown the second the infraction occurs, with no delay.

The Tigers ended the first period two goals behind, 4 to 2. They came clawing back in the sandwich session to score four in a row. The Chevies then notched two and the Tigers one, with the period ending 7 to 6. In the third the Bengals made it 8 to 6 with the final tally of the game by the Chevies to end the scoring at Tigers 8, Chevies 7.

Line Ups
Lloydminster — Van Hollen, D. Lowrie, G. King, Boyer, E. King, B. Armstrong, K. Strate, Brower, Dennilis, M. Lowrie, J. Yaschuk, Smith, Malinowski, G. Armstrong.

Vermilion — Cawthorpe, Barr, Brower, Manning, Legaree, Redford, Warner, Ruptash, Bronson, Brown, B. Schmidt, Link, G. Schmidt, Hemmingway, J. Lin Jones.

STATISTICS

It's Do or Die For the Local Tigers At Arena This Saturday

DO OR DIE FOR TIGS
A gallant third period stand by the Vermilion Tigers in Lloydminster arena on Wednesday night fell short by one goal, and as a result, the locals find themselves facing elimination from the North Eastern Alberta Hockey League playoffs.

Trailing the Border City Chevies by two games to one, in the best of five Western section semi finals, the Tigers must win Saturday night at home or hang up their skates for the season.

Wednesday night's loss came as a direct result of Tigers' disorganization in the second period. During this lapse the Chevies were able to run in three unanswered goals on Cawthorpe, piling up a four to one lead.

It was too much, and in spite of a two-goal effort by Warner in the third period, and pulling Cawthorpe from the nets in the last thirty seconds of the game in favor of an extra forward while Lloydminster was a man short the Tigers lost out.

The first period of the game ended one-all as Link scored for Vermilion to tie the game after Lloydminster had taken an early lead.

The second period was Chevies all the way as they rattled in three goals without a reply, as the Tigers couldn't get anything going for them.

Once again one of the highlights of the game from the Vermilion fans' point of view was the work of Ian Cawthorpe in the Tiger nets with Warner outstanding among the men "up front".

TIGERS LOSE OPENER
Playing in Lloydminster last Saturday night against the Chevies, the Vermilion Tigers dropped the first game in the best of five semi-finals in the Western Division of the NEAHL by a score of 8-4.

PENALTIES MAR GAME
The game was marred by an even dozen penalties, three of them majors for fighting. The Chevies led 2 to 1 at the end of the first period, 5 to 2 in the second and increased their lead 8 to 4 by the end of the game.

Outstanding for the Tigers in an otherwise listless performance was a three-goal effort by Ike Bronson. The fourth Vermilion goal came from the stick of Bob Warner.

Circle Eight Notes

The Circle Eight held their last dance on Feb. 10th. A speedy recovery to our club members who were ill and unable to be with us that night. With still some energy to spare a square of our members travelled to the Air Base at Cold Lake on Saturday where they attended the [illegible] dance. A very good crowd turned out and many accepted the hospitality of the Polar Squares and made a whole weekend of it.

We are pleased to announce that Billy Coulter of Edmonton has been able to make the necessary arrangements so that he can be our guest caller for our next dance Feb. 24th. Billy has visited our club on previous occasions but this will be his first trip in quite some time, so we urge all members and visitors to make a special effort to get out to the Howell hall on this date.

Ashley H. Cooper, M.L.A. for Vermilion, has received word from the Provincial Health Department of "approval in principle" for plans to renovate the nurses' residence at the Myrnam Municipal hospital.

The proposed renovations will cost around $25,000.

The building in question was formerly used as the hospital, and present plans cover the installation of laundry facilities for hospital use, the moving of a boiler, wiring, plumbing, painting and repairs to the roof. Re-dashing of the stucco to conform with the exterior on the hospital itself is also planned.

Community Pasture Board Formed

MANNVILLE — A general meeting attended by sixty farmers, was held on Jan. 24th in the Elks hall by those interested in using the community pasture.

With Castle Scott in the chair Gordon Stirling from the Department of Agriculture addressed the meeting in regard to fencing of the pasture and the policy for 1961.

It was estimated that accommodation for 900 mature cattle could be provided there. A vote found a large majority of those present favoring a policy of using Hereford herd sires, to be inspected by a committee of four including the D.A.

Directors elected to the advisory board for 1961 were Les [illegible], Wm. Bryden, John [illegible], Castle Scott, C. Ewing, Gus Maron and Lloyd Nafziger.

Deficiency Diseases

Health Unit Notes

It is still hard for many to realize that diseases may be caused by the absence of something, as well as by the presence of a germ or virus or poison. The spectacular stories about vitamins lead people to think of "deficiency diseases" only in terms of vitamins, but actually other food substances, such as minerals and proteins are just as important in this connection.

In fact, the simplest deficiency disease is a lack of enough to eat and the resultant thinness, slow growth and poor resistance to infection are just as real a [illegible] as any vitamin [illegible]cy. In the midst of capricious appetites among children, do not be afraid to give your child plenty of food. If he wants three eggs, let him have this good food, but if he wants three pieces of pie on the grounds of being hungry, give him one plus a chance to fill up on bread and butter.

PROTEINS

Proteins are the chief building and repair materials for the tissues although minerals are sometimes included in this category for their contribution to the bones and teeth. Proteins are especially needed to form new tissues during growth and convalescence from illness. The best sources of protein are fish, poultry, meat, milk, cheese, eggs, nuts and dried peas or beans. Cereals also provide some. Small amounts of other food elements maintain the body health and regulate its functioning. These are minerals, water, cellulose and vitamins.

MINERALS

About fourteen minerals are important to the body but a lack of calcium, phosphorous, iron and iodine cause easily recognizable diseases.

Calcium and phosphorous help build strong bones and healthy teeth. They are also important for proper functioning of the nervous system by the digestive apparatus and for the clotting of blood. A deficiency or an imbalance of calcium and phosphorous results in rickets (a fragile state of bones), poor dentition, nervousness and convulsions. Milk and cheese are the chief sources of calcium while phosphorous is also supplied by egg yolk, fish and cereals. Iron is essential for the formation of the haemoglobin in the red blood cells which carry oxygen from the lungs to all parts of the body. Women and children need more iron than do men. A lack of iron results in anaemia. Good sources of iron are liver, kidney, heart, egg yolk, molasses, dried fruits, whole grain cereals, dark green leafy vegetables and maple syrup. Iodine, in very small amounts, such as supplied by iodized salt, helps prevent simple [illegible]re.

WATER

Water is vital for the processes of digestion and elimination.

CELLULOSE

Cellulose is the indigestible structural portion of vegetables, fruits and whole grain cereals. It is useful for keeping the digestive organs functioning properly.

1960 RESULTS OF COMINCO DEMONSTRATION FARMS ARE ANNOUNCED

During the past season, five Alberta farmers worked closely with Cominco District Supervisors in carrying out field scale demonstration work with Elephant Brand fertilizers. The results of this demonstration work using recommended application rates on cereals, grassland and flax crops are summarized on this page.

CLYDE

Single Bros.

Olli Barley on stubble land was fertilized with 80 lbs. of Elephant Brand 16-20-0 per acre. This application gave an increased yield of 13 bushel per acre over the unfertilized check strip, resulting in a net profit of $8.11 more per acre after paying the cost of the fertilizer.

On this same farm a long established brome-alfalfa field was fertilized with 150 lbs. per acre of Elephant Brand 27-14-0. An increased yield of 1.6 tons of hay per acre resulted from this fertilizer application. Valuing the hay at $20.00 per ton, the use of fertilizer returned and additional $32.00 per acre — a net profit after deducting the cost of the fertilizer of $24.92 per acre.

VERMILION

N. Stewart

An old stand of brome was fertilized with Elephant Brand Nitraprills at 200 lbs. per acre. The fertilizer application increased the hay yield 1 ton per acre resulting in an increased profit of $10.46 after deducting the cost of the fertilizer. Also on this farm a fertilizer treatment of 125 lbs. of Elephant Brand 27-14-0 on a grass-legume mixture increased the yield by 1 ton per acre. This gave an extra net return of $12.77 per acre.

[illegible] seeded on second crop stubble gave an increased return of $8.12 per acre after paying for a fertilizer application of 125 lbs. of Elephant Brand 27-14-0 per acre. In this demonstration the yield was raised from 47.7 bushels to 58.4 bushels per acre, an increase of [illegible] bushels.

FORESTBURG

[illegible]

At this demonstration farm barley grown on stubble land benefited from an application of 50 lbs. of Elephant Brand 16-20-0. The $1.97 per acre [illegible] on fertilizer returned grain worth $10.20, a higher profit of $8.23 per acre.

Also on this farm the yield [illegible] old brome alfalfa [illegible] from [illegible] used to .97 tons per acre with the application of 150 lbs. per acre of Elephant Brand 27-14-0. Extra profit after deducting the cost of the fertilizer was $1.80 per acre.

Yield was raised from 40 to [illegible] per acre when wheat [illegible] was fertilized with 50 lbs. per acre of Elephant Brand 11-48-0. The $2.61 per acre spent on fertilizer returned extra grain valued at $10.80 giving an extra profit of $8.19 per acre.

CONRICH

E. W. Johnson

On this farm the fertilizing of barley grown on stubble land gave an increased return of $19.20 per acre. The treatment consisted of 150 lbs. of Elephant Brand Nitraprills prior to seeding and 50 lbs. of Elephant Brand 11-48-0 at seeding time. Yield was increased from 28.5 to 64 bushels per acre. The value of the extra 35.5 bushels was calculated at $26.62. The cost of the fertilizer was $7.43.

An application of 150 lbs. of Elephant Brand 27-14-0 per acre to an alfalfa-brome mixture increased the yield by 1 ton. Valuing the increase at $20.00, the extra profit after deducting the fertilizer cost was $12.53.

Yield of a brome hay field fertilized with 150 lbs. of Elephant Brand 27-14-0 per acre was increased by .9 tons per acre giving an extra return of $11.33 after accounting for the $6.67 cost of the fertilizer.

VULCAN

DEMONSTRATION FARM No. 5

D. G. "Pat" Walker

Despite damage due to hail Redwood flax fertilized with 50 lbs. of Elephant Brand 16-48-0 per acre yielded 1.6 bushels more than when not fertilized. Yield was increased from 12.8 bushels to 14.4 bushels giving an extra profit due to fertilizer of $4.46 per acre after deducting the cost of fertilizer.

A three year old brome-crested wheat grass mixture was fertilized with 15[illegible] lbs. of Elephant Brand 27-14-0. The hay yield from the fertilized acreage was 1.1 tons compared to [illegible] tons from the check strip. The [illegible] yield due to fertilizer was valued at $11.00, resulting in a profit of $7.00 per acre [illegible] for [illegible].

Angus MacMillan Reviews Chamber Of Commerce Activities For 1960

(Concluded from last week)

We were very pleased to see the completion last fall of the Senior Citizens' lodge in Vermilion, which our Chamber had urged. We had done everything in our power to aid the efforts made to establish this Lodge.

Roads and Communications

During the past year we have as in the past, consistently urged the reconstruction of Highway 41 and the matter of sending another delegation to wait upon the Minister in this behalf is now under consideration.

Our Roads Committee has also under the chairmanship of Mr. E. M. Stewart taken up such matters as the dangerous railway at the Auction Mart, the matter of a "Yield Right-of-Way" sign at the Checker Transport corner in town, and traffic lights at the intersection of 50th St. and 50th Ave.

Mr. C. J. McCormick, as our delegate attended the annual meeting of the Trans-Canada Association (Yellowhead Route) held at Kamloops on the 25th of June and we were very pleased that Mr. McCormick was appointed a Director of the Association.

Publicity and Provincial Park

Last summer under the direction of the Chamber's Provincial Park Committee we instituted a special publicity promotion and carried out a fine programme of entertainment.

On behalf of the Chamber I wish to voice our sincere appreciation for the untiring work done by the Chairman of this Committee Mr. Champion and the members of his committee Messrs. Al Locke and Cliff McCormick.

The Band concerts every Sunday were I understand very much appreciated by visitors to the park and the band concerts were outstanding. All in all the park had an excellent season with a very large attendance of pleased out of town visitors some of them from quite far distances including the United States, all of which gave Vermilion the very best kind of publicity.

[illegible] Meeting

In connection with publicity generally, your President and Mr. Smith who were delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at Calgary last October also did a good job of the publicizing of Vermilion. They took with them a large number of the last Economic Survey Booklets of the Town all of which, they reported, were taken up by the end of the third day of the meeting.

It is my opinion that whenever possible we should send delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber. There are very few small towns who send delegates and the very presence of our delegates brings this town to the notice of people from all over the Dominion. Apropos to this you will remember we sent a delegate to the National Business Conference of Progress with Freedom at Edmonton last February and we were the only small town besides Viking who sent a delegate.

Before I leave the subject of publicity I would like to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to Mr. Ashley Cooper, Chairman of our Publicity Committee for the "write-ups" and publicity he has accorded the Chamber in the Vermilion Standard and in the Edmonton Journal. We are fortunate indeed to have Mr. Cooper as Chairman of our Publicity Committee.

I might also add that in fields other than publicity, Mr. Cooper never fails to do what he can to promote the interests and objects of this Chamber.

National Affairs

Our National Affairs Committee under the chairmanship of Mr. W. Rosenquist with his committee member Mr. W. Champness attended various sessions of the Court here and welcomed new citizens of Canada and brought them to our luncheons. In January we had the pleasure of listening to a very interesting address from Mr. Cliff Smallwood, Federal Member for the Battle River-Camrose Constituency and we were assured by Mr. Smallwood that he was doing everything in his power to have a new R.C.M.P. Barracks built in Vermilion.

Entertainment and Public Functions

Our Entertainment and Programme Committee did an excellent job during the past year under the chairmanship of Mr. Gus Mireault.

This committee organized a most successful Spring Banquet with guest speaker Mr. J. L. Davies, United Kingdom Trade Commissioner from Edmonton, to which we invited the representatives of the various Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce in the surrounding towns and villages, preceded by a reception to the invited guests.

A farewell gathering for Mr. Ross Brake a former President of our Chamber, who was presented with a purse of $50.00.

Our customary Town and Country Banquet with guest speaker Mr. Syd Woods, Q.C., Edmonton. On this occasion the Chamber honoured Mr. and Mrs. C. Oester and presented them with the Chamber's Certificate of Merit, and Mrs. Oester with a bouquet of carnations.

At this meeting we also had the great pleasure of presenting the [illegible] Chamber of Commerce Scroll to Mr. Morrison in testimony of his good citizenship and as a mark of our appreciation and affection.

Miscellaneous

There are a few other things I should mention.

The Chamber under the direction of the Civic Committee publicized Fire Prevention Week.

We took steps to urge the building of a new R.C.M.P. Barracks in the town.

Provided cars for the transportation of our hockey teams.

Welcomed the visiting Fire Chiefs attending the Fire Chiefs' School here.

Presented a Scholarship to the student in the Vermilion School of Agriculture who during his first year contributed to the academic, literary, athletic and social life of the school.

Tendered the usual Christmas treats and free show to kiddies at Christmas. This affair was capably put on by our Retail Committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Renaud.

Undertook a canvass of the town for voluntary contributions for the Recreation Centre.

On November 2nd passed a resolution that this Chamber is opposed, in general, to the [illegible] distribution of Provincial [illegible] stituencies by population without regard to the areas involved, and that the matter be referred to the Executive for action along the lines of this resolution.

Put on our usual home lighting contest with the co-operation of Canadian Utilities Ltd., which firm contributed towards the cost of the prizes.

ACTIVE, INTERESTING YEAR

We have had a very active and interesting year. I trust that the year 1961 will show further progress and development in the work of this Chamber.

The whole idea and meaning of a Chamber of Commerce or Board of Trade in this community can be summed up by one sentence "People working together for the development and welfare of the community". The collective knowledge of the people in a community is greater than the knowledge of the individual but to be effective this collective or [illegible] knowledge must be brought together, assembled and used by an organization. It is the function of your Chamber of Commerce to do this. It is the place where an idea for the betterment of a community can be discussed and acted upon or a fault within the community life brought to light and measures taken to correct the same.

If we keep our Chamber of Commerce vigorous and active and advance with unity of purpose we can be of real benefit and advantage to the community in which we live. I feel sure that our Chamber has in past years so conducted its affairs and I am sure will continue to do so.

May I again thank all the members for their loyal support during the past year. I am sure my successor will receive the same support and I wish you all every success in Chamber of Commerce work during the year 1961.

The rarest Canadian coins are $10 and $20 gold pieces minted without official authority in British Columbia during the Fraser River gold rush.

PARADISE VALLEY NEWS

Mrs. P. Wood, Mrs. Nell [illegible] and Mrs. Leo Siegar, all of [illegible] nation, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Trussler. Mrs. Wood who is in her 80s, is in good health and gets around very well.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Miller were recent visitors with Mrs. Miller's brother and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Venner are spending a two weeks' holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Venner and Mr. and Mrs. Teasdale.

SIXTH BIRTHDAY

The Paradise Valley Sioux Square Dance club will celebrate six years of square dancing at a club birthday party dance on Feb. 22. Henry Lien will be guest caller and all square dancers are cordially invited to come and help celebrate.

CURLING STILL GOING

Curling is still the order of the day. McLaughlin is holding its annual spiel this week in which quite a number of rinks from P.V. are taking part. However we understand they are falling by the wayside in the different events.

At the local rink the knockout competition wound up on Tuesday night. Winners were: Bill Herbert and his rink consisting of Bill, skip, Jim Knutson, P. Stoddart and D. Swedak, who won over the Adams rink, made up of D. Adams, skip, K. Adams, [illegible]. On the other side of the fence the Leighton rink won over the [illegible] rink. For the Leighton rink were Mrs. H. Rayson, skip, S. Leighton, E. Kragness and Mrs. W. Gunn. Members of the runner up rink were: Tony Bassarabe, skip, R. Whitney, L. Holgate and V. Phillippe.

"FATHER KNOWS BEST"

On Friday evening the Marsden players put on their play "Father Knows Best" in the hall. This was sponsored by the Ladies Hall club. A good crowd attended and the play was well received. The cast was well chosen and the players are to be congratulated on the excellent job they did of their parts.

FAMILY NIGHT

On March 2 at 7 p.m. the group committee for the Cubs and Scouts will hold a Family Night in the school auditorium. Mrs. Dorothy Selte of Tolland will be showing pictures of her tour in Europe taken last year. Everyone is cordially invited. A silver collection will be taken.

BASKETBALL

As a final wind-up to the season the Paradise Valley high school auditorium was the scene of two good games when Kitscoty came down to take on the locals. The PV girls played first and won their game but the Kitscoty boys proved too much for the locals.

The weather in our district has been good for the past week. A change to colder weather has been forecast.

Vermilion S. D. Bus Drivers Accident Free in 1,500,000 Miles of Driving

In the past two years — ending in June, 1960 — drivers of school buses in the Vermilion School Division have driven 1,500,000 miles — roughly the equivalent of sixty times around the world — without an accident!

Only two incidents even remotely resembling mishaps have occurred during this period. Two buses, moving over extremely slippery roads, slid into ditches.

The question of driver qualifications need present no worry, either, for parents of children riding in the division school buses.

In a routine check of the drivers' licenses conducted last June by the Highway Traffic Board, all but one of the operators of the division's seventy odd school buses had an "A" license, and that one had a "B" license, evidently issued in error at the time of application for renewal of his "A" license. This error was rectified immediately upon discovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Haverslew Honored on Golden Anniversary

Residents of the Vermilion district since 1911, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Haverslew marked their golden wedding anniversary on Tuesday, February 14th. A reception, given by all members of their family, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Gerald Stephens, honored the esteemed couple.

The bride and groom of fifty years ago were both born in Denmark. Mr. Haverslew came to the United States in 1901, and returned to his native land in 1910. On Valentine's Day February 14th, 1911, Martin Haverslew and Miss Margrethe Christensen were married. The young couple came to Canada and settled on the now well-known Haverslew farm south of Vermilion. Here they farmed until 1946, winning the esteem and affection of their neighbors and making a wide circle of friends.

In 1946 they moved into Vermilion where they have since [illegible].

Mr. and Mrs. Haverslew have three children; a daughter, Mrs. Gerald Stephens (Betty) in town, and two sons, Henning and Henry, both of whom farm south of Vermilion.

During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Haverslew spent a happy time receiving the many friends who called to extend their congratulations and best wishes.

Messages of congratulations were received from the Hon. J. Percy Page, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, the Hon. E. C. Manning, Premier of Alberta, and Ashley Cooper, M.L.A. for the [illegible].

Election Called for Div. 3; Div. 1 Filled by Acclamation

Lower Rates Are Asked For Senior Citizens Lodges

At an extremely interesting meeting of ratepayers of Vermilion River municipal district held at Kitscoty on Saturday afternoon, numerous reports were given, many questions asked and several resolutions passed with other motions being lost.

The [illegible] were on a high plane at all times, [illegible] and there was no time lost with matters of little importance. Veteran chairman Lloyd Brown of Islay was at his best . . . besides having a wide knowledge of procedure, Lloyd has a quick wit and vein of humour that certainly smooths over many of the rough spots.

REEVE'S REPORT

Following the reading of the [illegible] meeting minutes of Feb. [illegible] 1960, the report of the [illegible] inspector was read. A concise report was then given by Reeve J. H. Kelly covering all phases of the administration and work of the council for the year 1960. A general discussion followed.

SENIOR CITIZENS' LODGE

The fact that a second lodge for senior citizens would soon be completed at Lloydminster posed a question for the council as the original lodge at Vermilion is presently occupied by sixteen guests and has accommodation for fifty. A motion that the lodge at Lloydminster be not opened until the Vermilion Valley Lodge was filled to three-quarters of its capacity was made and lost on a close vote.

ASK REDUCED RENTAL

The question of reducing the present board and room rates at the Vermilion Valley Lodge was the subject of a motion and that a pensioner did not have enough money left to provide for the little extras needed. A motion that the rates be lowered to $50 per month was carried for the consideration of the council. It was felt too that the lodges would be filled much sooner at the lower rates.

These rates, it should be pointed out, were set by the Department of Welfare after considerable study of and information gathered from lodges already operating in the province.

COUNTY DISCUSSED

Ross Taylor asked if consideration had been given to changing to the county form of administration. The reeve stated that a meeting to obtain the opinion of ratepayers on this question had been called during the summer of 1959 and this meeting by motion had rejected the county plan. Until the council was directed otherwise they would abide by the decision of that meeting.

Ashley Cooper, Vermilion M.L.A. was asked to explain the difference between the present form of municipal government and the county plan and did so briefly. Opinions pro and con were expressed with no motion being made.

MUNICIPAL NEWSPAPER PLAN REJECTED

The plan of the Sun Publishing Company, Edmonton, to supply the municipality with a municipal newspaper was unanimously rejected by the 140 ratepayers present. A well-worded motion was proposed by Mr. George Mead of Vermilion seconded by Mr. M. D. Brown of Paradise Valley. The motion was spoken to by a large number all being decidedly against the proposed plan. The thoughts expressed were that the area was already well covered by three weekly newspapers who could give all the services on the spot without the municipality paying several thousands of dollars for subscriptions, therefore it was argued that it was a useless expenditure of municipal funds. The motion to reject the municipal paper scheme was carried unanimously. Several other [illegible] entered into the decision.

COMMENDS COUNCIL

A motion commending the council for maintaining excellent services to the ratepayer and at the same time keeping the municipal mill rate at a steady 30 mills without any rise for many years was also passed unanimously judging by the applause which greeted the motion.

OPPOSE TAXATION OF R.E.A. LINES

A motion worded as follows was submitted by George Mead, discussed briefly and passed

Appreciation . . .

The Vermilion Standard wishes to publicly express appreciation and thanks for the unanimous action of the ratepayers of Vermilion River municipality in rejecting the municipal newspaper plan. This was tantamount to expressing the opinion that the area was already well served with news and advertising media. There is no doubt but that the Standard and other weeklies involved will seek still further ways and means to justify the confidence placed in them and which was so decisively voiced at the ratepayers' meeting at Kitscoty on Saturday.

Springs and Streams Need Trees

"Healthy, well-managed tree-growth and cover are the best of all water holders and the natural way of controlling the steady flow of springs and streams. Under the protective growth of shrubs and tall trees, a luxuriant carpet of mosses and other shade-loving plants covers the stream margins and spreads downward over stones and windfalls to the water's edge. The mosses soak up water like a sponge, prevent erosion of the porous forest soil, and water from rain and snow seeps slowly underground only to bubble to the surface again in innumerable tiny springs which, threading their way through the mosses, unite to form large rivulets of cold, fresh water."

The foregoing conclusions were taken from "Land and Forest Wildlife", a publication published by the Department of Lands and Forests, and dedicated to the wise use of the province's forest and wildlife. Excerpts were from an article by R. G. H. Cormack, Professor of Botany, University of Alberta.

The reason for drawing attention to these wise thoughts is to act as a word of caution against the indiscriminate and thoughtless clearing of certain areas in the Vermilion Provincial Park. Certainly the area is large enough, that natural springs and watersheds should be left untouched. The water level in the lake itself benefits greatly from these fresh-water springs, regardless of their size, and the natural protection afforded wildlife makes it mandatory that springs and spring-bottoms be left in the natural state.

Red Cross Praises News Media

We wish to commend the men and women in these fields of communication and extend our sincere thanks for their willingness at all times to help us tell the Red Cross story."

Vermilion's Unsung Heroes

VERMILION PROVINCIAL PARK, THE AGRICULTURE RECREATION CENTRE, BETTER ROADS, THE SENIOR CITIZENS LODGE, STREET LIGHTS, BONSPIELS — you name 'em — Vermilion has 'em. The list (looking at it cold-bloodedly) seems endless.

But Vermilion didn't acquire all it has today through an attitude of "laissez-faire" and that which may come to us in the future will not "fall into our collective lap." Whatever has come to Vermilion in the past, and whatever may come in the future has, and will, come about through promotion . . . letting the rest of the world know what Vermilion has to offer.

Many individuals have contributed and will contribute to this trend. With some it was, and will be, an idea . . . with others, a chance to make a dollar. But whatever the motive, if the idea could be proven to be potentially good for Vermilion the members of the Vermilion Boards of Trade and (since January of this year) Chamber of Commerce have worked [illegible] unselfishly to bring it to fruition. The Unsung [illegible] of the Boards and Chamber through the years have, by and large, been Vermilion Firsters.

The above had its genesis in a column appearing in the Edmonton Journal this week. Under the heading "Fifty Years Ago" (from the files of the Journal) we read:

> "The Vermilion Board of Trade issues a letter citing the advantages of its area and warning of conditions in the 'highly advertised' Peace River and Grande Prairie regions. The letter, signed by the board's secretary, quotes disgruntled north [illegible] settlers: 'You advertise the merits of these districts, you [illegible] people to locate there but you do not provide us with any [illegible] of transportation. We have no roads, we have no [illegible] and nobody knows when we are going to [illegible] any. We spend all our money to get there and when we locate, then we find out how things are, but unfortunately we cannot get out; we have to stay because we cannot do otherwise.'
> "Consequently the letter urges that attention be [illegible] to [illegible] of 'easy [illegible]', such as the Vermilion colony, where [illegible] land for [illegible] of settlers, good roads, railway communication is [illegible] at different points, the land is good, there is already an extensive local market, schools are available and doctors near at hand."

Blood Supply Is Maintained

Last year the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service provided 40,354 [illegible] of blood required for transfusions to over 18,000 patients in Alberta hospitals. These figures on the major Red Cross program operating in the province, were revealed in a joint report by Dr D I Buchanan and Dr. Eric W Nation, medical directors of the two Alberta B.T.S. depots in Edmonton and Calgary. Total blood collected during the year was 44,943 pints, the report showed.

In his report on the Edmonton depot Dr Buchanan noted that 32,920 bottles of blood were collected by Red Cross permanent and mobile clinics in northern Alberta in 1960 with some 30,885 bottles issued to hospitals in the north. More than 21,000 blood transfusions were administered to 9,604 patients in this area.

A Million Dollar Industry

A total of 3,104 purebred beef bulls, sold through consignment sales in Alberta during 1960, realized $1,2[illegible].

With a new bull sale season getting under way later this month, it is interesting to look back at last year's statistics in this million dollar industry. According to W. C. Gordon, Livestock Supervisor with the Department of Agriculture, 2,[illegible] Hereford bulls sold for an average price of $[illegible]. The [illegible] Angus bulls averaged $[illegible] and the average price for the [illegible] Shorthorn bulls was $[illegible].

MARKET LIGHTER HOGS

Statistics indicate that Alberta farmers have been losing money by marketing hogs too heavy. Hogs over 200 lbs. usually add the extra weight by increased back and shoulder fat. By marketing too heavy, many potential grade A's are lost. The farmer loses the $3.00 premium and uses more feed to do it. Good type hogs must be marketed in a growing condition at weights ranging between [illegible] and [illegible] pounds. Short, [illegible] off type hogs should be marketed at lighter weights.

BRAND ACT

The Brand Act states that when livestock, marked with a recorded brand, is sold the vendor must either place a vent on the animals or give the purchaser a statement covering them. A vent consists of placing a second marking in the form of a letter or numeral in a horizontal or "lazy" position immediately below the brand. A statement must give the name of the purchaser, the date of the sale, a description of each animal and a description of the brand on each.

The Stock Inspection Act requires that all livestock brought into a public stockyard, slaughter house or other place where they are to be held for selling or shipping out of the province, must be inspected by a livestock inspector.

An inspector cannot approve the sale of livestock unless the vendor can prove ownership by being listed as the registered owner of the brand on the animals in the brands having been vented or by the possession of the required statement from the former owner.

If the vendor cannot establish ownership the inspector may approve the sale but direct that the settlement be held in trust until ownership has been proved. The vendor if he is the rightful owner can prove his ownership by obtaining a statement from the former owner. If, however, the former owner has subsequently moved away or died, the necessary statement could be very difficult to obtain.

One of the basic reasons for the Brand Act and the Stock Inspection Act is to prevent stolen cattle from being sold. If they are sold, the money will be held in trust until the real owner can claim it.

WINTER FEEDING SILAGE

Grassland silage is high class roughage for all classes of cattle. It may be fed alone or with hay to pregnant cows. The cows may lose weight but the vigor of their calves will be unaffected. In recent trials in Ontario yearling cattle maintained their weight on nothing but good grass silage. Usually silage is considered to be of too high moisture content for most animals to eat enough to meet their energy requirements. By adding grain to the silage ration the energy requirements may be met easily. Good quality silage high in feed value and acceptable to stock, should be greenish or yellowish [illegible] and have a mildly sweet and pleasant odor.

PREVALENT INFECTIONS

Mastitis was Alberta's most prevalent cattle infection in 1960. Erysipelas accounted for the highest infection in swine.

P.F.R.A. Assists Water Projects

The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation [illegible] has provided assistance in the construction of 67,640 small water development projects to the end of 1960. Included in this figure are dugouts, stockwatering dams and small irrigation projects.

Figures released recently show that 43,[illegible] small water development projects have been constructed in Saskatchewan to the end of 1960 with Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration assistance. In Manitoba, this Federal Government organization has aided in construction of 12,[illegible] projects, while in Alberta, the figure is 11,[illegible]. This is a total of 67,640 projects.

Sixty four community pastures have been constructed by P.F.R.A. in Manitoba and Saskatchewan to the end of 1960. Total construction costs have amounted to over $5,800,000. P.F.R.A. is also responsible for the operation of the pastures.

The Federal Government, through P.F.R.A., has developed 1,818,664 acres into community pastures during the 25 years of P.F.R.A. operations to the end of 1960. These 64 pastures were able to handle 124,812 head of livestock during the fiscal year [illegible].

An A filter brought out the clouds in all their billowy whiteness in this shot.

The ABC's of Filter Facts

A number of our readers have asked us to tell them something about filters. In the main, their problems are concerned with [illegible] what kind to choose.

Though there are a great many [illegible] we'd like to describe the three that you'd probably find most useful to you in your black-and-white snapshooting [illegible]. These are a red or A filter, a medium yellow one called K2, and a deep yellow or G filter.

If you're looking for dramatic dark sky effects with sharply contrasted clouds try slipping a red filter over your camera lens. It's amazing what that little piece of dyed gelatine can do in turning an average shot into something quite spectacular.

A medium yellow or K2 filter will cut any haze there might be at [illegible] time, but for a truly brilliant [illegible], the deep yellow G filter is [illegible]. It's that G filter again for landscapes where distant details are important, and for bringing out textures of sand and [illegible] against blue skies.

You'll find that marine or water scenes can also be much more effective when filters go to work on the job. To show up the shimmer and sparkles in water, a medium yellow (K2) filter is a good choice, but if you prefer your print to have the water more dramatically darkened, a deep yellow (G) filter is the one to do the trick for you.

FURNITURE ARRANGEMENTS:

You can make use of space if you know how to combine and arrange your various pieces of furniture. In all successful rooms the groups have a purpose related to the furniture of the room. The bride who is planning new furniture is in the best position to achieve a unified attractive home. Others who have collected furniture over the years may have to cull out useless or worn pieces.

There are certain fundamentals of good decoration which will help you in planning your arrangements.

SCALE:

This is the act of using things of the right size for the space they are to occupy, for the use they are to have and for the persons who are to use them.

For example, large pieces of furniture are unsuitable for a small room and vice versa. Perhaps you have seen a large attractive chesterfield flanked by two diminutive end tables and short squatty lamps. A handsome sofa demands important end tables and tall lamps both in the interest of scale and adequate lighting.

BALANCE:

In room planning, balance is achieved through proper distribution of weight and the best use of space. Never overcrowd a living room, as it lends an uncomfortable and restless atmosphere. If it can be avoided, do not place furniture kitty corner. Important pieces such as chesterfields, pianos, desks and radios should be parallel with or at right angles to the walls.

Establish a focal point, a centre of interest in your room. This may be a fireplace, a large window or an unbroken wall. Place your furniture so that this focal point is enhanced. If the room lacks such a "natural centre" create one, a "built-in-unit" or a large picture hung over some piece of furniture will give the room one point of interest. With furniture grouped about it the room will be successfully attractive.

PATTERN AND COLOR:

These are dependent on the style and scale of your furniture. Never burden a small chair with a large pattern or a heavy color; let the big chesterfield or chair carry off a flamboyant design.

COMFORT:

This is a prime necessity. A truly comfortable room is one that suits the family living in it.

BEDSPREADS:

These are an important part of the decorative scheme of your bedroom. Tailored and trim, or frilly and feminine, a bedspread's color, pattern and texture are important. If the spread is to be used in the master bedroom, one of subdued femininity or of a tailored type should be used. A young girl will be delighted with flounces and frills. The boys in the family are not concerned with the appearance so the homemaker's chief concern is wearability. Choose a textured hard finished spread for the boys' rooms.

COLOR AND PATTERN:

The bedspread is a wonderful starting point for a color scheme. Your draperies may match or contrast with the drapery material or echo one of the colors found in a patterned spread. The walls and woodwork must harmonize with the spread. Your lamp shades and accessories should be of a bright hue found in the spread.

Gaily patterned bedspread or one of brilliant hue will change a dull bedroom to one of life and interest. It will distract the eye from some structural or furnishing feature that is not too attractive. On the other hand if your color scheme has proven too intense a neutral textured bedspread will subdue the atmosphere.

STYLES:

There are many styles to choose from, the soft throw type floor length spread is easiest to make. It must reach the floor at the foot and both sides and at the head be long enough to lap over the pillows. If the spread is to be laundered, allow extra for shrinkage. Hems should be three inches deep. The envelope type of spread provides a box type of cover for the mattress and a plain or gathered flounce below it extending to the floor. The flounce is the decorative part of the spread. It may be smooth and box-like with inverted box pleats at each corner and [illegible] with cord or braid. It may be gathered, [illegible] or flared for the feminine [illegible]. The flounce may be attached to the box top or may be attached to the [illegible] for [illegible].

Choose the fabric for bedspreads carefully—the amount of wear and tear they receive is surprising.

OF MANY THINGS

By AMBROSE HILLS

A pretty young woman called to see me this morning, chin firm and eyes snapping.

"I am a delegation of one," she told me, "to get you to write something in your column about what the government is doing to widows."

I grinned. It seems that anyone who wants to blast the government thinks of me as a natural ally. I am not as anti-government as some people think, but I do try to complain from time to time when I think it will do the most good.

"What," I asked her, "is the government doing to the widows?"

She told me her story. Apparently if a woman loses her husband, and he has arranged that she will receive her legacy in the form of an annuity or a pension, the government clamps down with a death duty tax that really hurts. The widow is not taxed just on what she and her husband have put into the pension; the tax is based on her entire life interest in it. If she is young, that is likely to work out a pretty high figure. As a result, the widow might have to use all the payments the first year or so to pay the government.

"Income tax would be enough," the widow said, "without this ridiculous tax on the whole life interest in the pension. It is a disgrace in a country that calls itself Christian."

"Look," I said, "it sounds wrong to me, too, but I'm no tax expert. Why don't you write Mr. Fleming?"

She firmed her chin even more. "Don't worry about that," she said. "I've already written to Mr. Diefenbaker. And you don't have to be a tax expert to know it is silly on the face of it. The trouble is that a woman doesn't know about it until her husband dies and then she finds out that instead of helping her the government [illegible]. I want all the women to know about this and that's where you come in. All the women I know read your column in our paper every week."

That sold me. I called a banker friend and asked him if it is true that widows are taxed on the capitalized value of their life interest in a pension. He told me it was true and that it was a darn shame. "To escape it, a man would have to move to the States or some other country before dying. I've often wondered why women don't launch a protest."

"She has," I said.

"She?"

"She's an army with flashing eyes," I told him. "And she's just getting started."

"More power to her," said the banker. "But how many widows are there?"

I told him that every woman is a potential widow and if they all start writing to the Prime Minister or snapping fiery eyes at him, something has to give. We'll see.

Results of Farm Accident Survey

In light of the increasing farm accident rate in Canada, a farm safety survey was conducted in 1959 to compile statistics and information which could be used in the development of accident prevention programs. An analysis of the survey has been completed and the results announced, in booklet form, by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

J. W. Huxley, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and J. Ernest Dube, President of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs, paid tribute to the work of 4-H members across [illegible] who played a key role in reporting the accidents on their home farms. In a joint statement they said: "Farm accidents, in addition to causing much suffering and hardship, are responsible for serious loss of time, production and income to the farm industry."

The following are some of the results of the survey:

One member of every fourth farm in Canada was involved in 1959 in an accident and every one in fifty was fatal.

Thirty three and a third per cent of the accidents reported happened to [illegible] age group.

Aside from off-farm accidents the farm yard was the major danger zone followed by the field and the farm home.

Accidents caused by farm machinery accounted for 40 per cent of the mishaps on the farm.

July was the most dangerous month of the year. August was second and May, third.

The survey was taken over a year's period and carried out through the co-operation of the Provincial and Canada Departments of Agriculture, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs.

As stated in the booklet, "Farm safety is everybody's business and everyone benefits by giving full co-operation and support to local safety campaigns."

Vermilion C.G.I.T. Hosts District Groups At Friendship Feast

On February 13th in the basement of the First United church, Vermilion, at 5.30 p.m., 108 girls and leaders gathered at a "Friendship Feast". Registration at 5:30 took the form of each girl receiving a tag with her name and group on it and of a country being studied in Mission work this year, the theme being "We Belong Together". After registration Grace was sung and the gathering sat down to a delicious dinner which was enjoyed by all. Following dinner, Joan Stephens, president of the Vermilion C.G.I.T. introduced those in attendance and Ruth Stewart extended a welcome to the visiting groups. Mrs. Boggs ably conducted a sing-song with Mrs. Morris accompanying her on the piano. The sing-song included old and new group songs as well as some very pretty round songs. Two humorous skits were presented by the Lloydminster and Marwayne groups and Dewberry favored with a song by their group.

[illegible] SHOWN

Following this everyone went upstairs where Mr Arthur Boggs showed slides and commented on his experiences and knowledge of "Church Work Camps". He showed films on a work camp project he went on to Alaska. Mr Boggs was introduced by Dorothy Tovell and thanked by Wendy Wright for a most enjoyable talk.

WORSHIP SERVICE

The evening was brought to a close with the Senior group conducting a worship service which related to the theme of the entire evening, "We Belong Together". Rev. Carlton Miller gave the benediction. The girls then formed a circle around the church and sang taps.

The Vermilion C.G.I.T. group and leaders would like to take this opportunity to thank the following ladies for their help at the gathering: Mrs. Grace Marfleet, Mrs. E. M. Stewart, Mrs. Hazel Coulbourn, Mrs. June Herbert, Mrs. Hazel Wilkinson and Mrs. Margaret Pool.

All enjoyed a social cup of tea in the church hall. We were pleased to have Mrs. Redmond and Mrs. Pascoe who came from quite a distance in the country.

Mr and Mrs Bruce McLennan are the happy parents of another little girl born Friday, Feb. 17 in the Islay hospital.

SEWING CLUB TO MEET

The Islay 4-H Sewing club is having a meeting on Friday, March 3rd at 8 p.m. in the church hall when they will hold open house to any who are interested in "Oriental Flower Arrangement". Mrs. Dr Clarke of Vermilion and an assistant will be guests.

Next church service at Tolland will be on March 26th at 2 p.m. and will be a Communion service, very appropriate for Lent. Everybody welcome.

Mrs A. McQuid left early in February to visit with her daughter and family in Calgary for awhile. The writer accompanied her as far as Edmonton where we were to have a check up at the University hospital. While waiting for a bed in the hospital and staying at the home of Mr and Mrs Vernon Foster we had the pleasure of visiting at the homes of Mr and Mrs Ted Dale and family, Evie Holman, Mr and Mrs [illegible] and chatted over the phone with Mrs Hazel Robinson (Thomas) and Mrs. I. F. Shrigley and Miss Rosa Wolters who all wished to send their hellos to folks they knew down this way. The first Sunday in the city we phoned the W. O. Nugents and Mr Nugent was home on a surprise visit which pleased everybody concerned immensely.

Well, after the weather had its fling for a few days, dumping snow on us and reaching 40 below zero or so it is back up again to what we have been used to all winter, above zero and thereabouts.

Marwayne H. & S. Addressed By Traffic Official

Mr. McKay of the Safety Division of the Highway Traffic Board spoke to the Marwayne Home and School Association at their regular meeting on Tuesday Feb. 14th. Visitors were present from Kitscoty, Dewberry and Streamstown. His talk was most interesting and informative with many questions asked and answered. Pictures were shown of the Lamont bus-train accident. He paid high tribute to the people of Lamont and the hospital for the efficient way everything was handled there.

He stated the reason for accidents is that people have no conception of the magnitude of traffic. People killed in motor accidents far exceed the number killed by war and disease. There are 'habits' both good and bad, we cannot live without them. Good habits pay dividends, bad ones always collect. We should take inventory of our driving habits, kick out the bad ones and our traffic problems would be licked.

A short business session preceded the talk by Mr McKay. Vice-President Kvill was in the chair. The book for January was won by Mr Petryshen's room.

The play "Three Bright Girls" by the Hazeldine W.I. will be sponsored in Marwayne by the H. & S. Association. The committee in charge is comprised of Mrs. Sinclair, Mr. Gardiner and Mrs. Miller. A motion was made to pay expenses for a delegate to attend the convention at Banff March 21 to 24.

Vermilion Midgets Down Willingdon By 4-3 Score

Vermilion Kinsmen Pontiacs advanced another round in the Provincial Midget hockey playdowns when they defeated Willingdon 4-3 last Thursday evening in Vermilion arena.

VISITORS TAKE EARLY LEAD

Willingdon took an early lead and were two up at the end of the first stanza. While holding Pontiacs scoreless, the visitors notched two. Only goal in the second period was scored by Vermilion's Bakala, on an assist from Bobby Williams.

PONTIACS BACK STRONG

Pontiacs came back strong in the final frame outplaying Willingdon and outscoring them three to one. Louis Jarock took the rubber from Ricky Shaw fired it towards the Willingdon net and after it had ricocheted off a couple of skates it ended up in the goal to account for the tying score. This gave the local lads a moral boost and Bill Bakala scored his second of the night to put Pontiacs ahead 3-2, when he again teamed with his linesman Bob Williams on a brilliant play. The Willingdon boys tied things up again before Bob Williams counted when he received a pass from Ralph Pederson.

In the dying minutes of the game, Willingdon was shorthanded when two of their men were penalized, but the Pontiacs failed to take advantage of the situation to strengthen their lead. Scorers for Willingdon Midgets were L. Billey, Dave Mulyduik and Dennis Elko.

WIN SERIES ON PROTEST

This was the first game of what was to have been a total point two-game series. Pontiacs won the series on a protest however, when it was disclosed that Willingdon had padded their lineup with a juvenile player. The series was awarded Vermilion by A.A.H.A. officials at [illegible].

Pontiacs now meet the winner of the Edmonton and district series in the next round to eventually decide the provincial champs.

Legion Announces Polio Fund Canvass

At a regular meeting of Vermilion Branch of the Canadian Legion it was agreed to hold the annual canvass for the polio fund about the first of March. George Martin was named chairman of the campaign and stated that it is planned to make a canvass of business places for subscriptions while the [illegible] Auxiliary will hold a house to house canvass.

Information received from the president of the Alberta Chapter for Polio lists over $88,000 as being collected in Alberta last year. This was $7000 less than the objective. The outbreak of polio last year claimed 135 paralytic cases, three times as many as we had in 1959.

Last year our objective in this town and district was $1560 and we collected and remitted over $1200 to headquarters. In view of the increase in cases and the extra requests for help it is felt that the objective should be [illegible].

The Legion is very grateful for the splendid support given to this fund in the past. The increased objective however indicates that even greater assistance is needed. The work of the fund is most urgent at present.

It came to the Legion's attention last year that some people in town understood that this fund was only for the assistance of Legion members and their families. This is definitely not so. As a matter of fact no Legion family in this area benefited last year. A total of $2025 was paid out in [illegible] where polio had struck. As mentioned previously, $1200 was collected here so $825 more was used here than was collected.

KINSMEN PONTIAC MIDGETS ADVANCING IN PROVINCIAL 'B' HOCKEY PLAYDOWNS

The Vermilion Kinsmen Pontiac Midgets, all resplendent in their smart new uniforms, generously supplied by Rowe & Sons Ltd., Pontiac-Buick dealers, have been playing heads-up hockey all season. When play-off time rolled around manager-coaches Paul Diemert and Bud Baddock figured the boys were prime and entered them in the provincial 'B' play-downs. To date, the team has responded to this confidence by winning two rounds, one against St. Paul by quite a lop-sided 23 to 7 score in a two-game series. In the second round, Willingdon was defeated 4 to 3 in one game, but Vermilion was awarded the series owing to an ineligible player being used by Willingdon. Now the Vermilion boys are awaiting the winner of the Edmonton district series to provide their next opposition.

Reduce On Three Meals a Day

"My doctor recommended that I lose weight but it had always been difficult for me to do. I heard of the Naran Plan and am delighted with the results. I have lost weight easily and I don't have to starve. I feel so much better after losing weight. I hope overweight people will try the Naran Plan. I am sure they will be pleased as I am."

Mrs. M. Larchman

Going without food can be as bad for your health as being overweight. You can reduce in a safe, sensible way which permits you to eat three meals a day and still lose weight. If you wish to reduce easily and sensibly go to your drug store and ask for the Naran Plan.

A.C.T. Search For Talent Show At Mannville Sets Record

This is one of the two new tractors introduced this year by Cockshutt. The "570 SUPER" is a 5-plow, six-cylinder diesel. A company engineer says "The 570 SUPER' is well named. It is built for heavy-duty service and economical operation and maintenance. A torque converter is not required. Cylinder sleeves are unnecessary. It has a new fuel system with three filters protecting finely machined parts. The crankshaft, rod and main bearings and the eight speed transmission are designed to handle heavy work loads with ease". Options are power steering, "Live" P.T.O., "Live" hydraulic system, 3-point hitch, nose and wheel weights and choice of three front ends.

MANNVILLE — The February 11th Talent Show at Mannville broke all records, as receipts totalled a gross count of 30 per cent more than last year, playing to standing room only. The Associated Commercial Travellers Search for Talent show was sponsored by the Mannville Elks.

Prize winners, as selected on merit by Mrs. Katherine Simpson of Edmonton who was the judge, were as follows: 1. Patricia Lynkowsky, Myrnam, pianoforte solo, 2. The Weaver Family of Mannville, orchestra; 3. Gail Mercer and Dawn Kreller, Mannville vocal duet.

Particularly noted was the high calibre of talent exhibited by the various artists, and remarked upon by the judge later.

As regards the professional show put on by CFRN troupe and MC'd by Walter Makiens in his usual charming manner, it was felt that this year's performance topped all others. Lovely Roberta Pike delighted the dance enthusiasts, while fans welcomed Jack Wallace back with open hearts as he sang the beloved western numbers in his own special style. Johnny Forrest (Scotty from Glasgow) was also very warmly greeted on stage as a return artist of radio and TV fame with his special brand of folk songs and "toe tapping rhythm" as he accompanied himself on his piano accordion. New artists were most popular, one being Maureen Burley, the Irish song bird whose warm charm won many friends. Finally Al Jones (the tramp) must be mentioned. He is a born comedian. The accompanist was lovely Mollie Kyttem, who has a charm of her own.

Jack Benhan is to be congratulated on producing an exceptionally fine show. Mr. Albert Schmidt of Standard Sales and Service, Innisfree, made a presentation of $100 on stage to the ACT (in lieu of Christmas calendars).

Bottle Drive Success

The Boy Scout bottle drive, conducted Saturday, part of Boy Scout and Girl Guide week, produced very satisfactory results. Despite cold weather the Scouts and Cubs managed to collect 204 dozen pop bottles and 180 dozen beer bottles.

The Boy Scout committee would like to thank Frank Welsh, Martin Shelin, Ray Matheson, Lloyd Smith, Dave Lawrence, E. J. Smith and Lew Martin for donating their cars and time to help with the pick-up of the bottles, also Mrs. Dr Lynn and Mrs. Doug Cooper who served hot chocolate to the boys during the cold morning.

Saturday afternoon the Girl Guides and Brownies held a tea which was an outstanding success with all tables being in full use all afternoon.

Sunday afternoon's combined Guide-Scout-Parent church service held in the Scout hall, saw most of the boys and girls turn out with their parents for the special service.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Carleton Miller of First United Church, Vermilion.

IN MEMORIAM
"[illegible]"

In loving memory of our dear Father who passed away Feb. 24th, 1958, and our dear Mother who passed away May 13, 1960.

They troubled no one, their wants were few,
And now Dear Lord, they have come to you.
Take care of our parents as they take their rest,
Because to us, they were the best.
Tonight the stars are shining on two lonely silent graves,
Where sleep in dreamy slumber
Ones we loved, but could not save.
To all you who have parents
Cherish them with care
You'll never know the heartache
'Til you see their vacant chairs.
Dear Lord, please take a message
To our parents in Heaven above
Tell them how we miss them
And give them all our love."

Ever remembered and sadly missed by daughters Lillian and Pauline, sons Fred, Earle and Clyde, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Improved Tigers Lose To Chevies 3 to 1

The vastly improved Vermilion Tigers were ousted from the E.A.H.L. western section play-off on Saturday evening when they lost to the Lloydminster Chevies by a score of 3 to 1. This victory gave the Chevies the semi-final series by three games to one. On the basis of play Saturday night the game could quite easily have been the other way as there was little to choose between the two teams.

OUT IN BLAZE OF GLORY

The Tigers bowed out in a blaze of glory. They showed vastly improved team play in the latter stages of the league schedule and really gave the league leaders a battle in the semi-final series. Losing the first game 8-4 the Tigers came back and won the second 8-7. The third encounter saw a meagre one goal victory for Lloydminster, 4-3, then the climax Saturday night with the Borderites being worried all the way before emerging with the 3-1 win. During the game goalie Van Holen was called on to stop 32 shots ticketed for the hemp while goalie Ian Cawthorpe in the Vermilion nets stopped 31.

PRAISE FOR RUPTASH

The Vermilion Tigers are now a vastly different team under the coaching and directing of coach Larry Ruptash. He welded the players into a unit, got good results and turned in a very helpful and heady game on the ice himself.

For the past several games Larry has been playing against doctor's orders as he has a badly inflamed appendix. This was greatly aggravated by being speared in the abdomen here in the last game played against Bonnyville. He was determined however to see the team through to the end of the play-offs and scored the lone Tiger goal on Saturday night, with a nice assist going to Andy Redford.

FANS LOYAL TO LAST

Vermilion probably has the most loyal fans in the league. There were 710 paid admissions to the game Saturday and the support has been steady all through the year despite the long string of losses.

TIGERS SCORE FIRST

In the Saturday game Tigers scored at the 16-minute mark of the first period for the opening tally of the game. They had an edge on territorial play, outshot the Chevies 15 to 12 but found Van Holen having one of his better nights in goal. Ruptash picked up a pass from Andy Redford and Vermilion fans had visions of a big upset.

SCORE 3 IN SECOND

In the second period, usually a bad one for the Bengals, the Chevies scored three without a reply, although shots on goal were even, 12 and 11, but the visitors made theirs count. It was Malinowski unassisted, Armstrong unassisted, and then Malinowski again, this time from Stewart and Strate.

There was no scoring in the third, with Cawthorpe stopping seven shots and Van Holen six.

Referees were Eddie Rabin and Jack Lemon of North Battleford.

HOW TO PREVENT POISONING
A Message from Your Pharmacist

1. Keep all drugs, poisonous articles and household products away from reach of children.
2. Do not store any non-edible products on the shelves used for storing food.
3. Keep all poisonous substances in their original containers. Do not transfer them to unlabelled containers.
4. When medicines are discarded, destroy them. Do not throw them away where they might be reached by children or pets.
5. When giving flavored or brightly colored medicine to children, always refer to it as medicine — never as candy.
6. Do not take or give any medicine in the dark.
7. Always read the labels before taking any medicines or using any household products. Before we dispense any prescription we check each ingredient out at least three times. First, as we take it off the shelf; second, when we take the medicine out of the container; and third, before we set the bottle down to use the contents. You should do the same before taking any medicine.

WINTER AT VERMILION PARK BEACH —A Standard Staff Photo

Vermilion Provincial Park Suggestion Cards Received From Many Points

Last summer the Provincial Department of Lands and Forests and the Vermilion Provincial Parks committee, handed out cards to visitors to the park, asking for comments on, and suggestions regarding the park and its facilities.

Answered cards were returned from park visitors whose homes are as far separated as Montreal, P.Q., and Sacramento, California, the State of Florida and Lodgepole in Alberta. Without exception the cards indicated that the visitors had enjoyed their stay . . . the setting, the courtesy shown by Vermilionites and the park in general were praised — almost effusively in many cases.

There were however, a number of suggestions for improvements, some of which appear to be so easy to make and comparatively inexpensive, that they ought to be considered in part or as a whole as 1961 projects. Others for obvious reasons, would have to be dealt with on a long term basis.

At least seventy-five per cent of the criticism of the park centred on the lack of adequate toilets and showers, with one lady adding a suggestion for the installation of laundry equipment. In this connection, showers and laundry facilities will be provided this summer.

There was also a suggestion that the path leading to the men's toilet was too steep for older people, and another that a few electrical outlets for house trailers would be very welcome.

A suggestion from a lady in Lodgepole, Alberta, would certainly merit discussion at a meeting of the Vermilion Ministerial Association. Here is an extract from the letter in question: "A Sunday morning church service would be wonderful for the campers and a decided change for many others." Possibly the members of the Vermilion clergy could arrange during July and August to take turns with each denomination holding one morning service at the band shell during the holiday months.

Other suggestions for improvement of park facilities included more explicit and easier to read signs from the highway to the park; that water skiers and motor boats be kept further away from the two swimming areas, north and south sides, as required by law; the levelling of space to allow for tents; widening of the road west of the band shell, mosquito control and arrangements to have a supply of ice and groceries for sale in the park.

Finally a card from a doctor in Vegreville was unusual in that, in addition to noting the lack of modern sanitary facilities in the park, suggested something which might be developed into a project to overcome this serious shortcoming. On his card the doctor notes that the setting for the park is lovely, but the lack of hygenic arrangements is extremely noticeable. He suggests that Vermilion Provincial park would be a good place to do some research in the form of a pilot plant, as to what is required in the way of materials and buildings in providing parks and other summer camp recreation areas with adequate sanitary facilities.

We think the Vegreville doctor has offered a very sound suggestion, and in view of the situation, which must exist in many other small parks and camp areas, an approach should be made to organizations interested in promoting parks, such as ours, for aid, both in technical and financial assistance. Financial support might possibly be obtained on the grounds that such a plan for the Vermilion park would be experimental and will require extensive and expensive alteration as experience is gained.

In this regard government help could be sought from the Provincial Departments of Lands and Forests and Health from the Federal Parks Board and Tourist Publicity Bureau and such organizations as the Red Cross and others interested in promoting health and welfare in our parks and at our beaches.

Admittedly such a plan would be a big one, much planning and work would have to be done here in Vermilion before any approach to outside help could be made, but if anything concrete came of it those who use Vermilion Provincial park will agree that the effort would be well worth while.

Kinsmen Kemets Klobber Kids

Vermilion arena rafters shook from the hysterical screaming of two rabid hockey fans Sunday afternoon when five valiant members of the Kinsmen Midget Pontiacs, pitted their youth and stamina against the crafty cunning and experience of members of their sponsoring club.

KINSMEN CLAIM VICTORY

Kinsmen claim a victory over the Pontiacs, but the midgets have protested and issued a challenge to the Kinsmen to even the score.

Kinsmen Kemets, managed by "Muscles" Morgan, looked like a winner at the start. This changed rapidly, however, and the Kemets looked like a million dollars spent, a Ger a few minutes of play. The high-flying midgets were as [illegible] as ever, but the Kemets were a motley crew at the final gong.

LINE UPS

KINSMEN 'Flash' Ferguson, 'Rocket' Rowe, 'Boom Boom' Baddock, 'Diesel' Diemert, 'Tipper' Topott, 'Flocky' Flechuk, 'Mustang' Menzies, 'Lucky Lawrence' and 'Chipper' Chomyc.

This august body of would-be sportsmen plans to issue a challenge to Wainwright or Vegreville Kinsmen, or will toss the gauntlet to any local organization either for hockey or broomball . . . Anyone for tiddley winks?

Management Com. Confirmed For Recreation Project

Vermilion town council at its bi-monthly meeting endorsed the proposed slate for the Management Committee for the Agricultural-Recreation building.

The committee includes: J. S. Cross, representing the Agricultural Society, W. Sutherland, the Vermilion Chamber of Commerce, Clarence Lovig, manager of the Vermilion Auction Mart, Elmore Stewart, Cr. Charlie Heckbert.

Council instructed letters be sent to the members of the new Management committee asking that they hold a meeting in the very near future, as at least two matters under the committee's jurisdiction are pressing, one being that a local machine agency wishes to rent part of the building for a free show on March 17 and, before council can take any concrete action on the use of the new premises the members wish to have the committees' ideas on a tentative budget.

Mannville Cubs Present Play

MANNVILLE. - Members of the Mannville Cub pack, under the guidance of their leaders, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shell and Cub Mothers' auxiliary, provided members of Mannville community with one of the most refreshing evenings spent in some time as they enacted a play entitled "Gone East". In the cast were David Allen—Mr Jackson, Robert Markin—Charles, the office boy, Teddy Willmer as Mahamed Ali, the magician, Colin Hasinoff as Mr Jackson's partner Bill, Clarence Schork—as Percival Spratt, a most angry man, Roderick Bee—as the errand boy, Robert Coxford as Joan Sinclair.

The magician heard a chair which threw everyone into convulsions who sat in it, whereupon the two partners decided, upon finding the magicians "recovery" pills, to capitalize on this turn of events thereby luring all and sundry into the chair. All parts were extremely well acted, with Robert Coxford stealing the show as the attractive young girl "Joan".

Prior to the play the Rev. Shell explained the meaning of many terms used in Cubs and demonstrated games which in themselves made the meaning of Cub work clearer.

From 1929 to 1959 expenditures of all levels of government of Canada on goods and services increased from 10.4 cents to 19 cents of every dollar of national expenditure.

Geriatric Nursing in the Home

Health Unit Notes

Extracts from Lorraine E. Wilson, Provincial Nurse

Two thousand years ago the average life expectancy was 20 years. In 1900 it was 49 years and today it is 70 years. An increasingly large number of Canadians are living longer than 70 years. Meeting the problems of an aging population is a major task. What can be done to make the last of life the best? Too many of our senior citizens are not enjoying these latter years. They are often the tragic products of a society that has lengthened their life span without planning and providing for the consequences.

SOME OF THE PROBLEMS

Elderly folk, like young ones, vary greatly. Many at an advance chronological age are mentally clear and alert, enjoying life. Others who are much younger require full care. In between is a large group who need some assistance and supervision.

The elderly person for whom a program of care is being developed should be asked to take part in the planning.

Parents and grandparents who have accepted responsibility for years and managed adequately should not be suddenly asked to accept changes and plans that others have made for them. They appreciate consideration and, wherever feasible their advice and reaction toward impending changes should be considered and accepted.

Loneliness is a great problem for the elderly. Their contemporaries may have died, moved away or become unable to get about. The loss of husband or wife leaves the partner lonely and often without an incentive to go on living. Families may contribute to loneliness by moving the elderly person to be near them but away from friends of their own age group. The family has usually adjusted by this time but the older person has to adjust to extreme changes at a time in his life when it is not easy. Frequently elderly couples move to a city where they find life easier but more expensive. Their means are usually limited, so they tend to economize on food. Loneliness coupled with such economy can lead to illness.

To those who have always been active inactivity causes unhappiness. Sudden lack of something to do results in apathetic listlessness. Grandparents can be asked to help with the housework, handiwork, odd jobs. The home offers many opportunities for activity. Families must accept the fact that most elderly people are happier and healthier when they are encouraged to help and have regular tasks to do.

THE PATIENT AND THE FAMILY

The family may present a greater problem than the patient. One must always be sure that they can fulfil the responsibilities left with them. Plans for care must be made with consideration for the abilities and emotional involvement of the family members. They are on duty 24 hours a day.

The chronically ill patient, especially those with arthritis, are always hopeful of an elusive "cure". It is important for the family to follow the advice of the family physician and not be influenced by well-meant advice from friends and neighbors. The family needs to understand that attaining goals of rehabilitation takes time.

Every patient and his family experience emotional reactions. The elderly must adjust to the frustrations of limited activity, the family must adjust to the loss of a guiding influence, or to the care of a bedfast individual or one who is mentally incompetent. To achieve a happy medium of support and encouragement is all important — doing neither too much nor too little. Both the nurse and the family must recognize that an unco-operative ill-tempered patient may be expressing his rebellion and insecurity.

Senile patients may be very difficult to care for at home, but they often die very soon after they are removed from the security that the home affords. The family who keeps a senile oldster at home needs a great deal of help and encouragement. Some days will be good, others very bad. It requires infinite patience and love to meet the demands for care under such circumstances.

Frequently elderly patients have been active church members. Their spiritual needs remain the same. If attendance at church is not possible, they welcome visits from the clergy. The nurse can often help the family to arrange for such visits or for transportation to religious services.

The need for a break in routine for the family is all important. "Senior sitters" or a temporary admission to a nursing home may be arranged. Both sides benefit from a "vacation" of this kind.

Putting Her Right Foot Forward

Snowshoeing is fun and one mode of travel. But whatever way you choose it's still fun with lightweight luggage. By plane, by car, by train or bus this "Flite-zip" bag will be handy travelling companion. It holds enough for a week-end trip and because of its compact size—21 inches by 14½ inches by 3½ inches—it may be carried aboard an aircraft. Covered with practical "Fabrilite" the bag is easily cleaned and long lasting. A zipper side opening with lock and key keeps the contents safe.

Took Money Orders, Apprentice Jailed

Raymond George Woodley 22, an apprentice telegrapher who stole 60 CNR money orders while working at Mannville, was sent to jail for a year in Edmonton Police Court when he pleaded guilty to theft and nine charges of uttering forged documents.

Magistrate W. Dupre in city police court recommended the term be spent in the Bowden Institute where Woodley could further his education.

Woodley who used the name D. F. Jones while working for the railway and while cashing a number of forged money orders, stole the bank orders from the safe in the station at Mannville, then went to Edmonton and opened several bank accounts after forging the documents. He was chased and caught by the teller of a bank who became suspicious.

When arrested Woodley was found carrying a map of the city on which he marked out the banks and business premises where he intended to cash the money orders. Police said Woodley also went to Vancouver where a number of the orders were cashed.

The court was told Woodley came west from Toronto after separating from his wife and two children. Police there hold a warrant for his arrest on a charge of non-support. His trouble resulted when he attempted to "live beyond his means" probation officer Sam Mahaffey told the court. Police are trying to trace down the money orders for $100 each Woodley mailed to a girl friend in Toronto.

College Courses via T-V

Pioneers in a new (for Canada) way of getting higher education in a deceptively comfortable manner are students taking courses via TV, writes Vincent Egan in The Financial Post.

Here's where some of the pioneering is taking place: Each Saturday and Sunday, 38 students registered at the University of Toronto cope with the conjugation of Russian verbs and the various forms of nouns. Some 200 McMaster University (Hamilton) students have begun a new early-morning course in introductory biology. In northern Ontario, other students working toward their degrees from Sudbury's Laurentian University are pouring over French grammars.

If U.S. TV is any guide to the future, the courses in Russian, biology and French are the forerunners of a TV curriculum that could include all the more popular university subjects.

In recent years Canada has become the world's largest buyer of foreign-made, fully-manufactured goods: the comparative per capita figures for imports of this kind are Canada $202, the U.K. $49, West Germany $66, the U.S. $32.

Vermilion W. I.

Eleven members met at the home of Mrs. E. Rooks for the February meeting of the W. I. Five visitors were present, Mrs. F. Gibson the constituency convener, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. A. Cameron, Mrs. Maggs and Mrs. Wallington.

With the president, Mrs. W. J. Bell, in the chair, the meeting opened with the usual exercises, the minutes were read and approved and the treasurer's report given. During the month nine get-well and nine sympathy cards were sent and one bouquet of flowers. Thirty two sick calls were made.

A very successful magazine subscription campaign was carried out by the National Organization Service. A wheel chair is to be purchased from a local resident who has one to dispose of. A deposit will be taken on crutches and wheel chairs and refunded on their return. It is hoped this will ensure a prompt return when no longer needed.

Roll call was many delightful poems. Mrs. F. Gibson in her talk brought the meeting up-to-date on the help that can be given here at home and abroad. Mrs. Maskell won the mystery box.

Mrs. Rooks served a delicious lunch at the close of the meeting.

Old Arena To Remain In Use

The Vermilion Recreation Commission has already taken steps to ensure that the present arena, in use for the past thirty-four years, is put to good use when the new recreation centre is opened.

Councillor C. T. Heckbert reported to the town annual meeting on Monday night that present plans call for the old arena to be used as an additional skating and hockey rink and for activities along this line which could not successfully be accommodated in the new plant.

BATTLES AHEAD IN CUBA?

The Castro government of Cuba has confiscated American properties worth $975 million without compensation. This total equals 98 per cent of U. S. holdings in the island and includes nearly everything except the Cuban branch of IBM, whose machines the Cuban ministries use but couldn't operate without American technicians. Former colleagues of Castro now organizing a counter-revolution say that if they are successful in knocking out the Castro regime, they will return some but not all of the seized assets to the original owners and pay compensation for those, such as public utilities, which will stay nationalized.

Construction on South Saskatchewan River Dam Continues Ahead at Steady Pace

REGINA. — One of the more spectacular operations to take place at the South Saskatchewan River damsite this past winter, occurred on Sunday, February 5, with the "Mole" equipment which will be used to drive the river diversion tunnels in the downstream section of the dam.

Work on the present tunnelling contract which involves the driving and reinforcing with concrete of 10,000 feet of 20 foot diameter tunnel, the installation of steel lining in tunnels, has been primarily concerned to date with the batching and placing of concrete for the outlet structures. With this work now completed, the contractor can proceed with the actual tunnelling operations. The tunnels will carry the flow of the river after closure of the river channel has been made.

In moving the heavy equipment into position, every available piece of machinery on the job had to be brought into use to anchor and control the descent of the 200-ton drill as it was gradually lowered by cable into the tunnel entrance. In operation the massive electrically powered cutting head of the machine rotates slowly, grooving and pulverizing the shale face of the tunnel before it, the crushed material dropping into metal buckets that elevate and dump the material by way of a continuous conveyor belt, into awaiting cars for disposal. The over-all diameter of the cutting head as adapted for use on the South Saskatchewan River Dam is 15 feet.

This particular unit is owned and was previously used by Peter Kiewit and Sons on the Oahe Dam Project on the Missouri River in South Dakota. Modification to the design of the machine was carried out by a firm in Brandon, Manitoba, to meet the specific requirement of this contract. Although not the first time the machine has been used in Canada, this will be by far the largest construction job on which a Mole has been employed in this country.

Through the use of the "Mole" greater speed in tunnelling is looked for as compared to other more conventional manual methods. The degree to which this will be achieved, however, cannot be fully evaluated until the machine has been fully tested on the present job. On the Oahe Project the average drilling capacity of the Mole proved to be around 60 feet per day and over shorter periods, as high as 100 feet per day.

As the tunnelling goes forward, steel ring beams, presently stockpiled at the site will be installed as reinforcing in the tunnel along with the connecting steel supports and wire mesh. This will then be covered with blown Gunite (a form of mortar) to prevent shale walls in the tunnel from drying out.

It was anticipated that drilling would commence within a week or ten days.

1960 is the 100th anniversary of the laying of the corner stone of the Parliament Building in Ottawa by the then Prince of Wales, later Edward VII.

A 386-pound meteorite now displayed in Toronto, has the profile of a man and when it struck the earth at Iron Creek, Alberta local Indians regarded it as a god and when white men took it away, in 1869, the Indians blamed that for the disappearance of the buffalo from their hunting grounds.

Water Development on Prairies in 1960 sets all time high

Regina — Financial assistance extended by P.F.R.A. on water development during 1960 reached an all time high of $[illegible]. In terms of projects built under this program, this assistance represents the construction of 4,136 individual farm water storage projects to January 31, 1961. Outstanding accounts still to come in are expected to increase this number by a further 500, making a final total of around 4,700 projects constructed for the full fiscal year.

The reason for this increase in activity has been partly due to the extremely dry weather conditions that prevailed last summer and the relatively open fall which permitted construction activity to continue well into the latter part of November.

A further incentive has been the Federal Government's policy to increase the rates of assistance paid on water development works which have been in effect since April 1, 1959. Under this new rate-scale, assistance on individual farm projects and community water storage and irrigation schemes has been increased from payment of one-third of the cost of construction to approximately 50 percent. Engineering advice and assistance in the planning and design of such projects are provided free by the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration.

Since the inception of P.F.R.A. in 1935, which saw a start to this program, over 85,000 water development projects have been built with P.F.R.A. engineering and financial assistance on the prairies. Modernization on the farm has been a principal factor in stimulating demands for more plentiful and dependable farm water supplies and bring about a greater realization of the importance of developing and making the [illegible] of this valuable resource.

In particular, water development facilities which have been built over the past 25 years have played a major role in meeting demands for irrigation to assure livestock feed supplies and irrigate farm gardens. Although many of these schemes supply water to irrigate only small acreages of land individually, when taken together they serve an impressive land area estimated to be well over 100,000 acres.

PARATROOPS ON EXERCISE. Airborne troops of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry from Edmonton, parachuted into Camp Wainwright, Alberta, to wipe out the enemy "Fantasian" forces — a company of the 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada from Calgary who invaded the camp. It was all part of exercise "Snow Trooper Two", an airborne-airlanded Army-RCAF exercise designed to test the two services in the defence of Canada's northland and one of the largest winter exercises staged in Canada this year. Members of 2 PPCLI gather up their equipment on toboggans which have been dropped from aircraft and move off across the lake to encounter the "enemy."

Golden Age Club Members Brave The Elements

The February social of the Golden Age Friendship club was held in the Legion hall on Wednesday afternoon Feb. 15. Despite the wind, snow and bitter cold to say nothing of the snow drifts, 36 members turned out for an afternoon of whist and cribbage. There were twelve tables of whist and two of cribbage, winners being: Ladies 1st, Mrs. P. Cross, 2nd Mrs. Olive Larson, consolation, Mrs. Bertha Jones; men's 1st, Mrs. Tory, 2nd Mrs. S. Carroll, consolation W. Armstrong. Cribbage winners were: Ladies — 1st Mrs. Skinner, 2nd Mr. Roy Walker; men's 1st, Mr. L. Amos, 2nd James Cameron. A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Amos for the donation of whist prizes, also to Mr. Amos for his assistance in tallying the scores.

After the games were over the girls of the Kitchen committee took over and in their usual cheery and efficient manner had lunch on in very short order which was enjoyed by all, especially the birthday cakes made by Mrs. E. Rivett and Mrs. P. Cross. There were five members at the 'Birthday' table, total years 380. Following lunch Mr. Waldenberger thanked one and all who so [illegible] faced the elements also saying the executive wished to express thanks for the loyal support given, and stating that this is possibly the most sincere senior citizens' club for [illegible] miles around.

Just a word to any newcomers in the district. If you are fifty years of age or over, please feel free to attend the socials and join in the fun. There is no entrance fee no forms to fill in. Just sign the register and that's all there is to it.

FROM THE LEGISLATIVE PRESS GALLERY

Throne Speech Reveals New School Finance Plan

By [illegible] Sheppard

EDMONTON. — The skyrocketing costs of education and the taxation burden on real property will receive a thorough study by the Alberta Legislature when new legislative programs are submitted at the second session of the fourteenth Legislature now underway.

Lieut. Governor J. Percy Page read the Speech from the Throne Thursday afternoon, Feb. 16th, outlining the government's proposed program. There were few surprises but the speech highlighted the fact that a new program of school financing will be submitted, designed to distribute the burden of school costs in a more equitable manner and to provide more effective control over such costs.

Legislation will also be introduced designed to broaden the tax base and establish a more equitable basis for real property taxation throughout the province. Of major interest to municipalities was the reference to the fact that every effort will be made to restrict borrowings to essential capital projects.

Premier Manning has commented on all three of these legislative proposals in the past. He has said "not one single dollar of unnecessary debt would be permitted" — that "skyrocketing education costs have to be stopped" and that "a broader base of taxation on real property would be introduced to remove inequities".

Also in the field of education, amendments to The School Act and The School Building Assistance Act will be presented to the Legislature, while approval will be sought for appropriations for construction of the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology in Edmonton and the new school for the physically handicapped. Other Public Works projects outlined in the Throne Speech included the new provincial hospital at Calgary and Diagnostic and Referral Center as well as a start on the Auxiliary Hospital program at points throughout the province. These projects are the third year phase of Alberta's 5 year program. The Calgary hospital will be a Mayo Clinic type estimated by some to cost in the neighborhood of $15,000,000. The Auxiliary Hospital program will cost about $16,000,000 and will be four years in the making.

Construction of homes for senior citizens will take place in Edmonton and Calgary this year, while the program of paved streets and sidewalks in towns, villages and hamlets will be continued — both phases of the five year plan. Other continuing projects to go before the Legislature will be appropriations for major highway construction, construction of trunk [illegible] systems in the St. Mary and Milk River developments and the Bow River [illegible] irrigation projects.

The Throne Speech took note of the unemployment problems nationally, pointing out that while this is a national question, Alberta pledges to do all in its power to bring about economic and financial reforms that may be necessary.

TO INCREASE AGRICULTURE SERVICES

In the field of agriculture the Government proposes increased services to meet the needs of the livestock industry. Further development of community pastures, programs to aid in the control of livestock diseases, a new Soil Act [illegible] practices [illegible] conservation of soil resources and amendments to the [illegible] Irrigation Districts Act and the Water Resources Act. A new Expropriation Act will also be introduced providing for more uniform and equitable procedures for expropriation of land.

The Speech from the Throne also outlines amendments to legislation dealing with natural resources to revise such legislation in the light of present day circumstances thus ensuring the continuation of a sound and efficient development program in the interest of the people.

WELFARE ASSISTANCE

Legislation dealing with Welfare Assistance, approved at the last session of the Legislature, but not proclaimed, will be carried out this year. The Welfare Assistance is related to individual need and gives recipients of Mothers' Allowance, Disabled Persons' Pensions, Widows' Pensions and Supplementary Allowances the option of continuing their present pensions or receiving the social allowance benefits. Amendments to the Child Welfare Act clarifying administrative procedures will also be considered during the session.

A capital works program for parks, research relative to conservation of fish and wildlife, a major expansion of the Alberta Government Telephone system and further work on forest protection and management will receive legislative consideration.

The Speech from the Throne paid tribute to two late members of the Legislature, Mrs. E. G. Robinson, MLA for Medicine Hat constituency and James Lawrence Owens MLA for Didsbury, who died last fall.

Sympathy of the Legislature was extended to families of victims of the Lamont school bus tragedy of Nov. 29 that claimed seventeen lives. The Speech from the Throne said "special attention will be given to the elimination, as far as possible, of the hazards created by level and unprotected railway crossings".

Two special committee reports will be studied by the Legislature this session — one related to the Workmen's Compensation Act and the other concerning the redistribution of electoral representation in the Legislature.

TWO NEW MEMBERS

Prior to the opening, Lieut. Governor J. Percy Page swore in the two newly elected Social Credit members of the Legislature. H. C. Leinweber, member for Medicine Hat and Robert Clark, member for Didsbury, took their oaths standing side-by-side in the Lieutenant-Governor's office. Mr. Page, when introduced to Mr. Clark said, "What, this schoolboy?" Mr. Clark, at 23 years of age, has an extremely youthful appearance and is the youngest MLA to be elected to the house.

Friday afternoon the formalities of moving and seconding the reply to the Speech from the Throne took place with Ambrose Holowach, SC-Edmonton Central the mover and Mr. Clark the seconder. Both commended the Government on its proposed program, with pleasure expressed that the tax burden would be on a more equitable basis. Mr. Clark, in his maiden address, spoke of his inexperience, but proceeded to speak fluently in a very commendable manner for twenty minutes. He warned that education standards should not be lowered to save money and called for action in removing the railway crossing hazards.

OPPOSITION MEMBERS GET INCREASED SPEAKING TIME

An historic event also took place Friday as Premier Manning moved a motion, unanimously approved, permitting opposition members two opportunities to speak during the Throne Speech and Budget debates. Up until now all members have been permitted to speak once. Reason for the change is the fact that only four members, each representing a different political affiliation, are the whole opposition.

AUTO SALES SPEED UP

Canada's automobile producers and dealers are looking for a good year in 1961 but they don't expect another record year on top of the last two, each of which set new high marks in total sales.

Sales of new cars in the fourth quarter of 1960 immediately after introduction of the 1961 models surprised nearly everyone by chalking up a sparkling 10 per cent increase over the last quarter of 1959. In that year, however, production and sales had been slowed by a steel strike. Sales in January have slowed from that hot pace, but early figures indicate that they were about on a par with those of one year ago.

Between the census of 1951 and 1956 the rural population of Canada [illegible] from [illegible] to [illegible] and the urban population from [illegible] to [illegible].

Former Vermilion Girl Married at Edmonton

EDWARDS—GREEN

Baskets of spring flowers decorated St. Paul's United Church of Edmonton for a recent candlelight ceremony in which Miss Clare Dianne Green and Mr. Gerald [illegible] Edwards exchanged wedding rings.

Rev. J. G. E. Bell read the marriage vows for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Green and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet S. Edwards, all of Edmonton. Mrs. Stewart Eyben, cousin of the bride, was organist and Mrs. R. M. Rae was soloist.

BRIDAL GOWN

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white organza over taffeta, a slim bodice with lily-point sleeves and rounded neckline topping a bouffant skirt. A tiara of rhinestones held in place her fingertip veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink [illegible] roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and three attendants preceded them up the church aisle. Miss Barbara Green was her sister's maid of honor. The groom's sister, Miss Annaine Edwards, was bridesmaid, and Linda Kary was flower girl.

Their gowns of pale pink silk organza over taffeta were fashioned with short, full skirts, three-quarter length sleeves and rounded necklines. All wore pink satin shoes and short white gloves. Senior attendants wore bridal veils caught to matching pink organza bows. The attendants' colonial bouquets were of pink carnations.

Mr. Glen A. Irving, cousin of the bride, was best man. Ushers were the groom's cousin, Mr. Barry Munroe, and Mr. Neil Crawley.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Green chose a sheath of navy taffeta complemented with coral accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

A beige [illegible] silk linen was chosen by the groom's mother, who wore pink and beige accessories and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

RECEPTION AT HOME

At a reception for 60 guests at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. Howard Irving, cousin of the bride, proposed the bridal toast. Miss Lee Smith was in charge of the guest book. Serving guests were Miss Gayle Wright, Miss Sharon Bjorge and Miss Arlaine Helland.

For a wedding trip to the United States, the bride donned a black wool walking suit with a picture hat of black velvet and white marabou. Her shoes and bag were of geranium-colored suede and she wore white kid gloves, with a white orchid on corsage.

The Royal Botanical Garden at Hamilton, Ont., was started in an abandoned gravel quarry in 1929 and now covers 1,900 acres.

From 1955 to 1959 the total of expenditures on education by municipal and provincial governments rose from $660 million to $1,017 million.

At the present time the value per capita of all goods and services produced in Canada is $1,343, compared to a per capita production of $2,237 in the United States.

Mannville Saddened By Death of Edwin Terrance

MANNVILLE. — Funeral services were held on Wednesday, Feb. 8th in McQueen Memorial United church at 2 p.m. for Edwin Clifford Torrance of Mannville. The Rev. Frank G. Andrews officiated. Taking part in the graveside ceremonies were officers of the Royal Black Chapter, Royal Black Knights of Ireland, from Edmonton, Giltedge, Lloydminster and Mannville, of which he was Grand Censor. He was also Past Master of L.O.L. No. 1946.

Edwin was born in Edmonton on Aug. 30, 1910, and received his early education there. He came to Mannville in 1931 with his brother Clarence who predeceased him in 1958. He was a member of BPOE No. 385, affiliated with the Royal Purple Lodge, besides being a member of the Volunteer fire brigade and had received his button from the Red Cross scroll for donations of blood for over thirty years. He was an honorary member of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. Post No. 32. An avid hunter and fisherman, he loved the out of doors and gardening and spent many happy hours among his prize winning blooms.

In words of wisdom as he reflected on death at the funeral service the Rev. Andrews likened it to a ship sailing out to sea, and those watching her until she is only a ribbon of white cloud where sea and sky come together. Someone on shore remarks "There she's gone". Gone where? From sight only, for on the other shore someone else says "There she comes". That is dying.

Edwin leaves to mourn his loss his loving mother, two sisters, Edith (Mrs. Fox of Kelsey), Ada (Mrs. Garrison of Red Deer) and one brother Leslie of Mannville.

Honorary pallbearers were A. Bodard, George Clark, Bill Jackson, George Pemberton, Jim McCauley, Chris Hamilton. Active pallbearers were Albert Williams, John Finlay, Charles Lynck, Edward Sloan, Fred Proudfoot and Gwyn Morse.

A Tribute To Edwin Terrance

MANNVILLE. — Mannville recently lost one of its most respected citizens . . . a man who would help anyone, anytime, anywhere, and especially as regards community projects.

Death is always a shock, even when expected, but no one was quite prepared for the suddenness of Edwin's passing which affected the entire village and district.

It was a great tribute to Edwin that he had attained his 20-year button for blood donations and was approaching his 30th. He assisted the Legion of which he was a member and its auxiliary, when they sponsored the various clinics. Many a neighboring gardener will miss his kindly help when planting, be it seeds for gardens or lawns and shrubs. Especially was he concerned with the welfare of the aged, and kept a watchful eye on them.

In the Orange Lodge he was "Johnny on the Spot", at all meetings and functions, and was a Past Master of L.O.L. No. 1946. In the Royal Black Chapter of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland, he held the office of Grand Censor, and the esteem in which he was held was shown by members attending from Edmonton in a body to conduct graveside services.

An ardent fisherman, Edwin could tell many interesting tales, and within one hour at any location was no longer a stranger to others there.

In the B.P.O.E. Lodge, Edwin assisted at the Christmas dinners always, to prepare and serve the festive food to all widowers and bachelors. He likewise helped in all projects undertaken which are of a benevolent nature as the Lodge title indicates.

It has been said of Will Rogers that he never met a man he didn't like . . . it can be said of Edwin . . . he never met a person who didn't like him.

SMOKERS EASING UP

Canadian smokers disappointed the cigarette industry in 1960, says Clive Baxter in The Financial Post. Most experts predicted a 5 per cent increase in consumption. It now looks more like 1 per cent. Actually even 1 per cent is a lot of cigarettes, about 285 million. But the industry had been hoping for 1,700 million.

Nobody is quite sure what went wrong. Certainly the tightening of economic belts played a part. But most important was the full impact of the 1958 tax increase which came too late to have much effect on that year's totals. Per capita consumption was 2,000 cigarettes in 1958, dropped to 1,900 [illegible] 1959. Net result of this [illegible] in market growth has [illegible] a sharpening of competition.

CANADIAN INDIAN CHIEFS AT HOLLYWOOD PREMIERE

LOS ANGELES — Hollywood rolled out its red carpet for Chief Walking Buffalo, 89 year old Indian patriarch from Alberta, and Rajmohan Gandhi of India, grandson of Mahatma Gandhi, at the premiere of the Moral Re-Armament Technicolor film "The Crowning Experience". Both personalities take part in the film which will soon be presented on every continent.

World famous actors and actresses packed the big Fox Wilshire Theatre for the gala premiere. Los Angeles KTTV featured a live telecast for half-an-hour of the opening ceremonies. Film actor Joel McCrea said, "The Crowning Experience is the kind of picture the world is waiting to see. It portrays the true America to which the whole world can and will respond."

Rajmohan Gandhi introducing the film said, "The Crowning Experience" marks a new page for the film industry. It shows an America the whole world will love, understand and follow. It is America's answer to Krushchev's bid for world take-over for Communism. Hollywood with it's fantastic power and potential linked with America's real ideology - Moral Re-Armament - can usher in a new age of unity, peace and plenty."

At the end of the first week of showings the Hollywood Reporter wrote "MRA film tops Los Angeles box office biz. "The [illegible] Experience" is leading the town."

Louella Parsons, columnist read from coast to coast, writes of "The Crowning Experience", "This film takes away the bad taste left by some of our recent films on perversion and immorality and gives a promise of a better America. Muriel Smith is a joy to the ear."

Starring in the film are Muriel Smith, Broadway's original "Carmen Jones", who also sang the role of "Carmen" in London's Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, and Ann Buckles of the Broadway cast of "Pajama Game" and national television productions.

Mannville and District Local News

Mr and Mrs. Gordon Henderson, Brian and Elaine from Vegreville, were recent visitors at the home of Mrs Henderson's mother Mrs Ruttan. On Sunday the family visited the home of another daughter, Mr and Mrs. Harry Modin where an enjoyable time was reported.

Mr and Mrs Harry Allen were completely surprised on the week end to receive a visit from their very good friends Edna and Sveinn Kristjanson, a daughter Jole and son Douglas from St. Gregor Sask. Mr. and Mrs. Allen were former residents of St. Gregor, and became fast friends with the couple who are now coming to Mannville to live. Mr. Kristjanson is to be the new Co-op manager.

Bob White is being transferred to Vegreville entirely in charge of the hardware section in the Co-op. We all wish him luck, his friendly manner will be missed at the store after such a long sojourn in Mannville.

There are 12 rinks entered in the local women's spiel, and full results will be published in next [illegible].

Seen aboard the CNR Railiner recently one early morning Mrs. R. Leitch, Mrs. J I. Jones, Mrs. E. J. Lugg and Mrs. R. Lugg bound for Edmonton.

Disease Spreads Among Rabbits

J H Brown, director of entomology for the Alberta health department issued a warning last week against hunting rabbits which may have contracted tularemia, a disease peculiar to rabbits and small rodents.

A number of rabbits that have died from the disease have been found in the central and northern areas of the province, where the rabbit population is high.

Mr Brown said some cases of the disease are found every year in rabbits. Tularemia, he noted, reached epidemic proportions about every seven years, when the rabbit population reaches a peak.

This sudden outbreak occurs in northern latitudes of the temperate zones throughout the world. The disease has been known for hundreds of years.

Mr Brown said the disease is carried through contact between rabbits, or is transmitted by fleas and other insects. Animals that have eaten diseased rabbits also have come down with the disease.

A rabbit with tularemia becomes sluggish. Upon skinning one, the hunter will find enlarged glands under the neck and front legs and possibly a watery substance being secreted from these glands. Skinning of diseased rabbits may result in humans suffering ulcerated areas and enlarged glands under the arms. Improperly cooked meat will bring on a typhoid-like fever. Mr Brown said. Eye infection stemming from rubbing the eyes when skinning a diseased rabbit is most dangerous and could lead to blindness or even death.

Sixty persons have contracted the disease in Alberta in the past 15 years and six of the cases were fatal.

The last major outbreak of tularemia in rabbits occurred between 1952 and 1954.

The VW panel truck is available with double doors on both sides at an optional extra.

Can your truck pass this test?

The real test of a truck is not how much it can carry, but how little. Could you afford to deliver a hundred, twenty or even ten pounds? Or would operating costs eat up the profit?

The curious thing about Volkswagen Trucks is that they not only make larger loads practical, they make small loads profitable.

This is one reason why you're seeing so many Volkswagen Trucks around. Owners know a VW does its job at half the cost of standard half-tons. Half the gas, half the oil, half the tire wear. Even the smallest delivery makes sense.

Aren't most of your deliveries under full capacity? If they are, you ought to look into the VW operating story. But if you carry heavy loads over bad roads in all kinds of weather, there's something else you should know about Volkswagen. The new VW engine gives you 10% more acceleration and passing power. The new heavy-duty transmission that will stand up to almost any abuse! has new gear ratios selected to deliver every ounce of the extra engine power to the driving wheels. (You get better performance with the same gas economy.)

Whatever you're delivering it's easier to unload from the double side doors and rear door. And it's easier to park. The VW is three feet shorter than standard trucks.

If you like the idea of paying less for more deliveries, talk to your authorized Volkswagen dealer about it.

Mannville Delegates Attend Anglican Meeting at Edmonton

MANNVILLE — Attending the Diocesan Annual of the Anglican Church W.A. Mrs. Edith Leibler and Mrs. Jean Lugg found a registration of 306 delegates in attendance, plus several who were not registered as delegates.

Following the annual corporate service of Holy Communion members enjoyed a luncheon at the Corona Hotel, at which Mrs. J Grant Sparling delivered an inspiring address. Mrs. Sparling is Dean of Women at the U of A. During the sessions following greetings were included from members of sister church W A groups. Mrs. R Douglas, wife of an Anglican clergyman from Yellowknife addressed the gathering during the conference her topic "The Golden North" proving a stirring one.

All reports were given at this annual including those of the Youth groups, Little Helpers, J A. and G A.

Following an interesting Educational forum on Tuesday evening lunch was served courtesy of Dominion Stores for which thanks were graciously given by the Diocesan president Mrs W Neely of Edmonton.

Separate conferences were held for Prayer Partners which were attended by one of that group or a proxy. Deanery presidents also met and both of these conferences were attended by the two Mannville delegates.

Address by Suffragan Bishop Gerald Burch informed the gathering of the appointment of the Primate of all Canada as the Metropolitan of Ruperts Land. He therefore will be obliged for historical reasons to move his place of residence to the Primatial See at Winnipeg.

On Thursday morning the W.A. Annual was addressed by the Rev. C. E. Elliott S.T.M. Ph.D. of Robertson United Church Edmonton, who spoke earnestly of Missions and what he found while travelling to European Mission fields, on a tour of inspection with a group of other ministers. It was indeed an outstanding revelation.

Leadership Course

A Federal Leadership Seminar will be held by the Young Social Crediters on February 17 and 18, in the Alberta Social Credit League in Edmonton. Registration will be limited to two delegates per federal constituency. A dynamic schedule of events has been slated to give Young Socred leaders an advanced program in economics, effective public speaking, and campaigning technique. A desire to learn and lead others is being stressed.

Young Socreds will be competing for a trophy to be presented by the Hon. E. C Manning on the basis of outstanding achievement during the seminar. A banquet with Alberta's MLA's will climax the activities.

Varsity Guest Week-end From Feb. 23rd to 26th

Nearly 15,000 visitors from all parts of the province will come to the University of Alberta campus in Edmonton during Varsity Guest Week End 1961, Feb 23 to 25.

The Week-end, unique in Canada, is sponsored and directed by the student body and is designed to acquaint the general public with the work being carried out at the university. A special invitation is extended to senior high school students and their parents.

Theme of the Week-end is "Out with the Old, in with the New".

Varsity Guest Week-end from its beginning ten years ago has increased in scope to include musical concerts, teas and coffee parties, variety shows, a winter carnival, guided tours of the campus, as well as displays designed by the various faculties, schools and departments.

Phases of Alcoholism

The late stage of alcoholism is marked by advanced "loss of control," and by more prolonged benders. In the early stage the alcoholic gradually lost control of the amount he drank once he started. Now he is losing the ability to control "where" and "when." Even when it is important for him not to drink at all, he will get drunk. His drinking creates more and more greater problems all the time and he drinks to ease or escape the problems created by his drinking.

His increasingly dominating role of alcohol in his life and the struggle against the demand for that "morning eye-opener" slowly but surely break down his resistance. He finds himself becoming intoxicated in the daytime on weekdays and he continues until he is increasingly incapacitated. Benders become longer and closer together. This behavior meets with increasing social rejection and the isolation of the alcoholic steadily becomes more near complete.

His ability to think and reason clearly becomes impaired, his ethics and his morals deteriorate. He is subject to the "shakes" when alcohol is not in his system, his fears and his tremors can be alleviated only by more alcohol.

A loss of alcohol tolerance is frequently noted in this period. He becomes stuporous now on perhaps half of the amount formerly needed to get "high." He finds it difficult to complete even simple mechanical tasks like tying his shoelaces or winding his watch. The need to control all these symptoms of drinking still exceeds the fear of the discomfort and pain that will follow, the drinking takes on an obsessive character. He may become indifferent to the kind of alcohol he drinks and may turn to bay rum, rubbing alcohol or extracts. He is filled with resentments against nearly everybody and equally bitter persistent remorse.

Neglect of proper nutrition may by now be causing symptoms of deficiency diseases and a generally run-down condition. He may have auditory hallucinations, hearing music or voices, bells ringing and so on, perhaps even D. T.'s or "snakes." He may be hospitalized for physical ailments or for alcoholism or for both. He may feel utterly hopeless and that death is the only way out. The entire system of rationalizations that sustained and prolonged his illness fails, tested so frequently and mercilessly by reality.

Even in the late stages however, the alcoholic can make a good recovery if he is sufficiently motivated and skillfully treated. The usual alternatives of Skid Row, mental hospitals and premature death can be averted.

The next in this series will be discussion of the subject "Recovery from Alcoholism: Treatment Resources." Questions on alcohol and alcoholism are invited and will be answered as soon as possible. ELEPHANT BRAND FERTILIZER PAID FOR THIS TRACTOR

This is how we illustrate a basic principle — "It doesn't cost, it pays to use fertilizer." Fertilizer can provide the money for those many things you need to make the job easier or your familly living better.

You make more money in two different ways when you fertilize with Elephant Brand. You grow better grade crops which sell for higher prices; you get greater profit from each bushel because it has cost you less to produce each bushel.

GROWING WHEAT?

You can make extra profits of $9.75 per acre and even more by fertilizing your wheat crop.

Here is an example of how fertilizer increases profit from wheat

Increased yield per acre with ELEPHANT BRAND	10 bu.

THE VERMILION STANDARD

Vol. LII. No. 34. $3.00 A Year Vermilion, Alberta, Thursday, March 2nd, 1961. 12 PAGES Single Copy 10c

When Vermilion Curling Club's 50th annual bonspiel came to a close last Thursday night after a total of 173 games—played in five competitions—only one rink had escaped unscathed.

Pictured above are the members of the only rink that went through the five days of hectic activity without a defeat, the Garnett Scott rink of Lloydminster.

The above picture was taken immediately following the presentation of the trophy to the winning rink. From left to right: Cliff Ranger, lead; Bob Manners, 2nd; Roger Rowe, president of the Vermilion Curling Club with the trophy; Garnett Scott, 3rd; and Dr. Ralph Nattress, skip of the winning rink.

The second event was taken by the Tookey rink of Kitscoty, skipped by Bill McGuigan; the third event by the Darryl Currah rink of Vermilion; fourth event went to the Ed Gauf rink of Fort Saskatchewan skipped by Gerry McGee, and the fifth event was won by the Walter Johnson rink of Maidstone.

More pictures and further details on the Vermilion Curling Club's fiftieth annual bonspiel will appear in next week's Standard. —Standard Staff Photo

On Local Improvement Basis

Curb, Gutter Program Planned For Vermilion

The Vermilion town council has decided to make a start this summer on curb and gutter installation. To be financed on a local improvement basis, the plans call for building of the curbs and gutters in several sections of the town amounting to around four miles of construction.

A list of the streets and other thoroughfares along which it is planned to make the initial installations appears elsewhere in this week's Standard.

Costs will be borne by a levy against property abutting the proposed improvements, with an additional assessment of 25 feet being charged on corner lots.

Rates will be 18 cents per foot per year for fifteen years.

MAY APPEAL

An appeal against the plans for installation of curbs and gutters will only be considered by the town if owners of property affected and representing one-half the assessed value of the property in question, present a petition to the council within two weeks of the final publication of the "Notice of Intent"

Town and Country Entries Reach Sixteen

Sixteen teams will take to the ice in the Vermilion arena on Saturday in the Vermilion Tigers' annual town and country one-day hockey tournament.

Starting at 9.30 a.m. Saturday there will be games every 45 minutes until 9.30 in the evening when the survivors of the knock out competitions meet in a regulation game for the Northern Hardware trophy and the first prize money of $60.

FIRST ROUND DRAW

9:30 — Marwayne vs. Vermilion Nighthawks.
9:15 — Mannville vs. Lloydminster Carpenters
10:00 — Vermilion Juveniles vs. Irma.
10 45 — Heinsburg vs. Paradise Valley
11:30 — Fort Pitt vs. Vermilion Lynx
12 15 — Indian Creek vs. VSA
1:00 — Leduc vs. Lindberg.
1:45 — Artland, Sask., vs. U. of A. (not the Golden Bears')

SECOND ROUND

The second round of the tournament will start at 3.15 and the hectic pace will continue until all teams but the finalists have been eliminated. Each game is to consist of two 20-minute periods of straight hockey until the finals slated to start at 9.30. The final game as mentioned previously will be a full game of three 20-minute periods.

Other prizes are: 2nd, $45; 3rd, $30 and 4th $15.

Admission for the full day of entertainment is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Present indications weatherwise are that good ice will be enjoyed as forecast is for lower temperatures.

Reports of C.N.R. Divisional Move Premature Speculation

E. J. Smith, chairman of the Industrial Committee of the Vermilion Chamber of Commerce, told this week's meeting of the Chamber that as the result of an interview he had had with the Area Manager of the C.N.R., he could say that reports to the effect that the railway is considering the imminent removal of the divisional point from Vermilion are, to say the least, premature.

Mr. Jamieson, the C.N.R. spokesman told the Vermilion representative that at the moment the C.N.R. is investigating the economic feasibility of further increasing their tank car storage trackage in Lloydminster but that any action toward the removal of the terminal from here was one which would require long and careful consideration, as not only railroad policy would be involved but the Unions' opinions would have to be taken into consideration.

Finally Mr. Jamieson assured Mr. Smith that if the day comes that the C.N.R. does decide to move its terminal facilities the local Chamber would be told first.

Park Decals To Be Issued This Summer

The Vermilion Chamber of Commerce is in possession of two thousand four-color decal transfers which will be issued to tourist visitors to the Vermilion Provincial park this summer.

The decals are three inches square and portray an artist's impression of the beach area of the park from the south side of the lake looking toward town.

The original order placed by the Chamber, was for 1000 decals, but the printers made an error in instructions for the use of the decal, and are forwarding another 1000 copies correctly printed, free of charge.

Ardmore Girls, Wainwright Boys Win Trophies at Annual Basketball Tourney

A team of sharp shooting girls from Ardmore high school, and boys from the Wainwright high school, won the district basketball championships in the annual tournament sponsored by the Students' Union of the Vermilion Agricultural College. The popular event was held on Saturday last and gyms at the V.S.A. and V.H.S. were used to complete the competitions in the one day.

CLENDENNING TROPHY TO ARDMORE GIRLS

Emblematic of the girls' championship for the district, the Clendenning trophy, was won by the Ardmore high school girls' team. They met Wainwright in the final game emerging the winners by a score of 20 to 18.

To win the championship Ardmore defeated Andrew, Lloydminster and then Wainwright in the final. The Wainwright girls had gained the final bracket by ousting Two Hills and Vegreville.

SECONDARY TO V. H. S.

In the secondary event the Vermilion High girls found the competition to their liking and defeated Two Hills and then Glendon to win the event. They had lost their first start in the primary to Vegreville.

BOAKE TROPHY WON BY WAINWRIGHT

In the boys division the Wainwright high, although overshadowed by their Vegreville opponents in height and reach managed to [illegible] the basket with great regularity and emerged the winners by a 25-23 overtime score. They thus won the Boake trophy and have custody of it for one year.

To reach the finals Wainwright eliminated Ardmore, Lloydminster and then Vegreville. Vegreville had previously won from the V.S.A. and Andrew.

The teams which lost in the first round played in a secondary event with Ardmore emerging victorious in this section. They defeated Glendon in the final after turning back Two Hills.

16 TEAMS COMPETE

Sixteen teams, eight girls and a similar number of boys, competed in the championships, representing eight school divisions. The entries in the boys' division were from: Lloydminster, Two Hills, Ardmore, Wainwright, Glendon, Vegreville, the V.S.A. and Andrew. Girls' teams were from: Vermilion, Vegreville, Wainwright, Two Hills, Glendon, Lloydminster, Ardmore, Andrew.

The games drew a goodly quota of fans throughout the day with the two final games at the V.S.A gym attracting sell-out crowds.

Arrangements and administration of the well conducted tourneys were by the V.S.A. staff and students.

A BUSY DAY

Monday of this week Renaud and Casey, hardware in Vermilion opened for business in their old stand on the south side of 50th Avenue . . . Tuesday at 9 a.m. the store was open for business, but across the street at its new location.

In the intervening twenty four hours, the majority of the stock had been transferred from one store to the other, placed on shelves and made ready for sale.

To further complicate a very smoothly run "moving day", business continued all the time the move was underway, with customers being served from the store in which the merchandise they wanted happened to be located at the moment of the sale.

Old House Moved To Clandonald

One of the oldest landmarks in the Vermilion district was moved recently to a new location north east of Clandonald.

The house was built around 1916 by Lance Littlewood and added to some time later by Pete Stoddard. The George Mead family lived in the house for many years from 1934 on.

Recently the building was purchased by Art Gratton and taken to its new site near Clandonald.

10c BUS. INTERIM WHEAT PAYMENT APPROVED

On Feb 14th the Minister of Agriculture announced that the government had approved a 10c per bushel interim payment on all grades of wheat (including durum) delivered to the 1959-60 pool. This payment will involve the distribution of approximately $37.7 million on total deliveries of 377 438 470.

Producers in Western Canada will welcome the announcement of these two payments which between them will mean the distribution of some $41.5 million among producers of oats and wheat in the prairie provinces.

A few days ago in an impressive ceremony conducted by Judge Nellis V. Buchanan, Chief Justice of the District Court, two district residents took their Oaths of Allegiance to the Queen and became Canadians. The picture above was taken a few minutes after the ceremony.

Legion To Launch Polio Fund Drive

Vermilion Branch of the Canadian Legion will sponsor the Polio Fund campaign for the eighth consecutive year. George Martin is chairman of the collection committee.

The campaign is Dominion-wide, with the Canadian Legion taking charge in Alberta. The two hundred branches of the Legion in Alberta will canvass for donations to this fund. In Saskatchewan the March of Dimes organization handles the canvass.

Mr Martin wishes everyone to know how the money collected has been used in the past. Here is the report of Dr Graham Huckell of Edmonton, chairman of the provincial committee.

1 Transportation of victims to recognized polio hospitals. This service is not provided from government funds.

2 Aid during the initial and acute stage which occurs during the first 10 to 15 days. This is not provided by any other agency.

3 Aid for any victim who has not resided within the province for a full year. Department of Health regulations do not cover these cases.

4 Funds are used to supply [illegible] wheel chairs and braces to [illegible] the needs of patients.

5 Aid during rehabilitation.

6 Where the wage-earner is struck down groceries and medicines are supplied.

This fund depends entirely on the goodwill and generosity of the people in this district. If funds are not available needy cases cannot be helped. The committee can vouch for one thing and that is the families who have received assistance from this fund in the past are now the most generous givers.

Please try to give something. Maybe more than you gave before. The need is greater as there were 105 paralytic cases in Alberta last year. This is three times as many as the year before.

Donations may be made to Thos. Wilson, Geo Martin, R.H. Buckingham, Thos. Watts or to any of the directors of Vermilion Branch of the Canadian Legion.

Lila Eyben Wins Rotary Trip

The other competitors were Joan Dibben, Elaine Stowe, Bobby Ford and Sharon Redmond.

The contest consisted of an essay and a talk on some topic selected by each contestant.

The Vermilion Rotary club provides the transportation and expenses while Ottawa Rotary club arranges the program. There will be quite a large group at the capital city. Visits will be made to the Parliament Buildings, the governor-general's residence, the mint and the museums.

Joe Blackridge handled the arrangements for the local competition and Gordon Ross was chairman of the meeting. Mrs. [illegible], teacher of English at the Vermilion high school took a large part in directing the students.

Alex Polin thanked the young people for their wonderful effort at speaking in public all of them for the first time. President [illegible] Stewart of the Rotary club added his thanks and mentioned how glad the club is to have a part in the program.

NEED FOR LARGER ADMINISTRATIVE UNITS FELT ACROSS CANADA

Rural municipalities across Canada are faced with an increasing financial burden each year as demand for services of all kinds increases, writes Forbes Gilbertson in The Financial Post. Regional planning, cutting across old political boundaries, is seen as the answer for bringing rural areas into more economic and more easily administered units.

In Ontario, demand for services are only now beginning to be felt in rural areas, say experts, and there's a confusion of local planning boards all trying to plan for limited areas on limited budgets.

In Manitoba, there's the prospect of a new municipal framework by the mid-1960s which would reduce the number of incorporated municipalities to about one-third, and eliminate hundreds of small school districts.

In Saskatchewan, a government committee, after a 3-year study, wants the province reorganized into 65 counties to replace almost 300 rural municipalities and other instruments of local government such as local improvement districts, larger school units and superintendencies.

Alberta recognized the advisability of such moves more than twenty years ago when the present large school divisions and municipal districts were organized.

NOT DONE YET . . .

If you are thinking of Trans-Canada Highwaying-it this summer, be prepared for about 25 per cent of the 4,500 miles being unpaved as yet. That's the word from the Canadian Press, whose various provincial bureaux made a survey of local conditions and came up with an overall picture.

Newfoundland, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Ontario and British Columbia all have stretches to be paved.

Alberta and Saskatchewan have completed their sections. Manitoba and Prince Edward Island have just about finished their obligations to the system.

Quebec, later to join the national program, has pavement from border to border but not all up to trans-Canada standards.

The whole program must be finished by the end of 1963 as result of a three-year extension of time by the federal government from original completion date.

WELL WORTH THE EXTRA INVESTMENT

A good quality bull is well worth the extra investment. His heifers will produce most of their calves for markets during the "improvement" years, forecast for the last half of the 1960's.

With the spring bull sales fast approaching, Joe Kallal, Live Stock Fieldman with the Alberta Department of Agriculture, stresses that it is never a waste of money to buy a good bull. Not only will he sire better calves for market but his heifers will be better cows.

Studies at Purdue University showed that, through faster gaining, less feed per 100 pounds of gain and higher market prices, a superior bull on 30 cows can return, in four years, approximately $2280.00 more than an ordinary bull. This figure is based on 24c a pound calves. In the case of 20c a pound calves, a superior bull can return about $1900.00 more than an inferior animal in the same period.

World Seed Year

OTTAWA, Feb. 17th. — Canada has joined the ranks of countries the world over in recognizing 1961 as "World Seed Year."

Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton today announced that Canada is actively participating in the World Seed year Campaign being sponsored by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.

The Minister also proclaimed March as "Good Seed Month". A concerted effort will be made during the month to improve the quality of seed being used by Canadian farmers.

World Seed Year aims at focusing attention on the importance of using good seed of improved varieties. FAO directors have found that this is the most effective means of increasing food production. It brings immediate results at a relatively low cost.

Second objective is to stimulate all phases of seed improvement work, which includes plant breeding, variety testing, seed certification, seed testing, and seed control work.

Canada's major contribution to the campaign is an international training course, which has already been held in 1960 and again last year. Twenty-two Colombo Plan students have investigated seed control, seed certification and plant research facilities, and the program is continuing.

Along with the training course, an active educational program is under way in Canada, coupled with publicity and promotional campaigns.

All provinces and many organizations serving agriculture are co-operating in this national endeavor.

Moisture & Seed

OTTAWA. — Chances of getting a 13-bushel crop from wheat seeded into dry soil are slim, states D. W. L. Read of the Experimental Farm at Swift Current, Sask. Wheat yields in the Prairie provinces depend upon stored soil moisture as well as rainfall during the growing season, he said.

Stubble land is more likely to be deficient in soil moisture at seeding time than is fallow. In areas of low rainfall, stubble land should not be seeded unless it has ample moisture — dry soil should be moist 18 inches deep, loam 24 inches deep and sandy loams 30 inches deep.

VARIETIES OF GRAIN FOR ALBERTA

The revised edition of "Grain Varieties for Alberta" is now available from this office. This leaflet lists the recommended varieties of cereals and flax for all soil climatic zones in the province. A brief description of each variety is included making this publication a handy reference for farmers. A new feature of the revised edition is an outline of the Canada Seeds Act and what it does to protect the seed buyer. Promotion of a better understanding of the functions of the Seeds Act, its enforcement and its value to the farmer are its objects.

CARE AND FEEDING OF BREEDING EWES

The quality of lambs and the number that survive depend upon the way in which the ewes have been fed and managed during pregnancy. From now until lambing the ewes should be fed the best quality green leafy alfalfa hay or a mixed alfalfa hay. According to A. P. Charnetski, Supervisor of Livestock with the Alberta Department of Agriculture, the last two months of pregnancy are the most critical. A good supply of vitamins A, D and E plus protein and minerals is essential at this stage of growth. If hay that is being fed is of low quality, a vitamin A and protein supplement should be added to the ration.

SMUT ON BARLEY

Farmers who have a good supply of seed barley may find it feasible to use only the larger seeds. Experimental work done at the Canada Department of Agriculture Experimental Farm at Lacombe by A. D. McFadden found that small seeds had five times as much loose smut and medium size seed three times as much as the large kernels. The objection to this system is that 500 pounds of bulk grain would normally yield only 100 pounds of the large kernels which results in high seed cleaning costs. On the other hand, a general lowering of loose smut infection could be expected if only the large kernels were used, and also the surrounding areas would be exposed to fewer smut spores.

When parents are able to answer the children's questions it's a sign that the kids are growing up.

Letters to the Editor

Wetaskiwin, Alta.
P. O. Box 482

Dear Editor:

Please find enclosed a cheque for $3 for the Standard for another year. After fourteen years away from Vermilion it is surprising how many names are still familiar to me yet.

My wife and I were down to visit her sister Mrs. Rod Semple and their families last summer when you were on holidays, and as soon as we stepped out of the car there were about six people there that we knew. On the Sunday we went to the park to hear the Pipe Band, and of course we knew about half of them and met many more that we knew.

It is marvellous how Vermilion has grown, especially at the west end, and also what fine streets you have now. When we left the roads were all dug up as they were putting in water and sewer so you can guess how different it looked to us.

I took many colored pictures of the town and park and also of the beautiful garden of the Semples, and they are amongst the best pictures I have.

Thanking you for sending the paper so promptly.

Yours sincerely,
Douglas Edwards

Vermilion, Alta.

Dear Editor:

By your kind permission, I would like to introduce a topic through the medium of your paper which should be food for thought, for at least some, of your readers.

That of the origin of Life, including that of man on this planet. As there has been numberless volumes written on the subject with two schools of thought, one, the record of creation, as we have in the Bible, another, that life sprang from slime in and around stagnant pools and the like (that to me is not worth consideration).

There always has been speculation as to how the Red Indian came to America, because he resembles the Mongoloid; therefore it is conjectured that he came across the Bering Strait, as it is only a matter of fifty miles. My theory differs after considerable thought, and which theory is just as feasible and perhaps more so than the Mongoloid. The new theory is, accepting the record of creation of a human male and female, I am forced to come up with the theory that there were created five Adams and five Eves. There is five habitable continents and one different human pair placed on each continent.

Now on these continents we have five distinct races and colors which have never changed, viz. the white peculiar to Europe, the yellow with the slant eye for Asia, the black with the short curly hair peculiar to Africa, the Red Indian for America and the dark skin for Australia and New Zealand. Then there is animals, birds, trees and plants each peculiar to its own continent, and would have remained that way had it not been for the interference of man in transplanting from one continent to another. We know that climate do not make the peculiarities in the different continents, such as the short curly hair of the negro or the yellow with the slant eye for the Asiatic, because these peculiarities abide with them after being transferred to another continent.

There are other mixed colors among the races, but each one from mixed breeding but the originals stay as they always have been. The white man do not know at what period the red man was first on this continent but from archaeology findings, they are very ancient. As the Red man is an altogether different race to the Mongoloid it is not at all probable that he came from Asia.

The Homemaker

NANCY HOOPER
District Home Economist

BLEACHING HINTS:

Homemakers who are eager to keep their white clothes looking "as white as snow" will fall into the habit of bleaching these almost every time they do the family wash. With proper washing and rinsing, bleaching should be necessary only every four or five washings.

TO BLEACH OR NOT TO BLEACH:

These fabrics may be bleached: cotton, linen and sturdily made nylon, orlon, arnel and terylene. The list of "do not bleach" fabrics include silk, wool, rayon and the very sheer synthetics, unless using powdered perborate bleach. Do not bleach embossed cottons or drip dry cottons and all garments that state "do not bleach".

HOW TO BLEACH:

It is commonly known that too much bleach will weaken the fabric fibres so follow directions and measure carefully. Use bleach in the wash water. Soap suds buffer the bleaching action so there is less danger of damaging the fabric. Rinse well to remove all traces of bleach. Do not use bleach in the rinse water. If you do, bleach is left in the fabric and will continue its bleaching action and so weaken the material.

KEEPING NYLON WHITE:

Much of the yellowness and dinginess that often occurs in white synthetics is due to improper washing and rinsing. Whites should be washed separately. Use a short soaking period before washing for garments which are badly soiled. Wash in softened water with a detergent. Be certain to rinse thoroughly.

DINGINESS IN WHITE NYLON:

Soak garments for an hour in a solution made up in the proportion of one quart of cool water and two teaspoonsful of sodium hexametophosphate (obtainable at drugstore). Rinse in a solution containing half the amount of chlorine bleach usually used. Rinse thoroughly in clear water. If dinginess persists try white dye or color remover (available from drugstore). Some authorities advocate bluing when laundering white nylon. Bluing is an optical bleach which makes the fabrics appear whiter without actually making them so. For best results, use bluing in warm water. The bluing dissolves better this way. In addition the fabric is softer when wet and the bluing will penetrate the fibre to a greater degree.

"The House that Service Built"

Good Administration Evident In Eagle M.D.; 1960 Net Balance $102,742.46

DERWENT. — Reeve John Dudar gave his report on the year's activities to Feb. 20 meeting of district ratepayers. There was standing room only at the meeting, which was held in the Elks hall, Two Hills.

"It is my privilege and pleasure as Reeve of Municipal District of Eagle No. 81 for the first time, to present to you on behalf of the council as complete a report as possible on the activities during the past year.

BETTER YEAR THAN AVERAGE

The year was as good or better than average, both from the farming and the road construction point of view. Early hail storms in parts of the municipality did some damage, however, the yield and quality of grain was better than we had for some years. Although the crop market was poor, the interest-free grain advances and the reasonable livestock prices made it possible for most of us to meet our many financial obligations.

PUBLIC WORKS

In 1960 the total public works expenditure was $363,614.77 and the greater portion of it was spent buying some new equipment very comprehensively accounted for in the financial statement, and in the construction and gravelling of the following roads:

No. of miles bladegraded — 19.
No. of miles graded — 86. No. of miles gravelled 101 and No. of miles regravelled 188.

In addition to the above, costly road repairs were done, all newly-constructed roadsides were seeded to grass, some trial spraying of weeds on road sides was undertaken and a few miles of road were backsloped in preparedness for grass seeding and tree planting. The council also took advantage of the Federal-Provincial Winter Works Incentive Program at a total labor cost of $14,376.38. The federal share of this cost was 50 per cent and that of the province 25 per cent. Three road diversions were surveyed and 103 miles of roadsides were brushed under this program.

HOPE TO COMPLETE CONTINGENCY ROAD

The contingency grant work was continued on the Myrnam Ferry road. Five miles were constructed and gravelled under this program. It is hoped that this road will be completed in 1961 and that an additional contingency grant will be made available for the Willingdon Shandro Bridge road.

SOUND FINANCIAL CONDITION

As indicated in the inspector's report, our municipality is in a sound financial position and even though the municipal mill rate was reduced by one mill we ended the year with $102,742.46 net balance and cash on hand $20,000 in Victory Bonds and $63,308 road grant due from the province. Other receivables will more than offset the few unpaid accounts at the end of the year.

I wish to congratulate the ratepayers on their payment of taxes. Total tax collections were 103.9 per cent of the current levy. At the end of the year the outstanding taxes are $248,167.75 as compared with last year's $270,744.83.

MORE SERVICES

Ratepayers generally expect higher standards of living conditions. High grading and gravelling roads, their regular maintenance and snowplowing, pest and weed control and welfare work are but a few of the services expected. With the mounting cost of labor and machinery taxes must continue to rise. Last fall your council was approached to approve the establishment of a regional library. This additional service would involve an expenditure of slightly over half a mill. The council would like the ratepayers to express their wishes in this connection.

In closing, may I extend my sincere thanks to the ratepayers, to the secretary-treasurer and his staff, the Agricultural Service Board, Public Works employees and my colleagues on the council for the help and kind co-operation.

CHATSWORTH CHATTER

Although we've had considerably more snow within the past two weeks than in preceding months of winter we still cannot complain. The snowfall of Feb. 12th and snow and wind on the following Wednesday blocked all the side roads, and some main ones too, but was removed by the big plow shortly thereafter. Weather remains sunny and very mild — really a winter to remember.

Mrs. Julia Farkash has returned from an enjoyable visit to friends in the city of Saskatoon. She also visited a cousin in Regina whom she had not seen nor heard of for 35 years since leaving her native land Hungary. The cousin and his wife fled from Communist held Hungary, leaving their children behind.

On the sick list are Mr. Robson, who is at the University hospital in Edmonton. Mrs. Albert Tovell, who is ill at home. To both we wish a speedy return to good health.

Mrs. Nelmes, Mrs. Tovell's mother, is at the Tovell home while Mrs. Tovell is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Good visited Mr. Robson on Sunday the 19th.

A number of folks from this district were in attendance at the Co-op annual meeting and luncheon held in Vermilion on Wednesday, Feb. 22.

Jack Thompson was a visitor to the Henningsen home on the 21st, on his way to Cold Lake.

WHIST PARTY HELD

A whist party was held at the school on the 24th under the auspices of the Community club. There were six tables and the winners were: Ladies 1st, Betty Militz, 2nd Mrs. Art Scoggins and Mrs. Steve Jacula tied. Mrs. Scoggins won on the cut; consolation, Florence Ludwig; men's 1st Lyle Farkash, 2 Paul Dubov; consolation, Robert Farkash. The lucky number on a box of chocolates was guessed by M. Walter Walker. We were pleased to welcome to the centre Mr. and Mrs. W. Walker, [illegible] and Brent of the Carleton district, Mrs. J. Thompson, Miss Alma Cameron, Miss Betty Militz and Miss Eunice Yaskus, all of the Vermilion School of Agriculture. Hope you enjoyed yourselves and will come back again. The next do at the Centre will be held March 10th.

TWIN CALVES BORN

Twin calves arrived at the Henningsen farm on St. Valentine's day and were promptly named "Saint" and "Valentine".

COUNTRY CLUB MEETS

The February meeting of the Chatsworth Country club, which had been postponed from the previous Wednesday on account of stormy weather, was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. [illegible]. The Sick committee, Mrs. S. Jacula and Mrs. Arthur Tovell, reported no sick visits made. The Canadian Association of Consumers' bulletins were handed out as were the Home Economist papers. The monthly Multiple Sclerosis letter was received and the Club's membership in the Chapter was renewed. Arrangements were made to hold a tea and sale of home baking and farm produce on Saturday April 15. The Sick committee for March is Mrs. Farkash and Evelyn Henningsen. The nickel draw donated by E. Henningsen was won by Mrs. Burton. The next meeting is to be held at Mrs. East's on Thursday, March 16th — please note change of day. The lunch committee consists of Mrs. Dubov, Mrs. Clayton Davis, Mrs. S. Jacula and E. Henningsen.

Clandonald W. A.

The Clandonald United Church W.A. met at the home of Mr and Mrs. C. W. Laird on Thursday Feb. 9th with Mrs. Campbell in the chair and 14 members present. All were happy to welcome three visitors, Miss Howe, Miss Nelson and Miss Lovell.

Plans were laid for the Women's World Day of Prayer service held Feb. 19 in the Clandonald United church. In spite of a sharp drop in temperature and a considerable amount of snow the gathering proved as in previous years, quite worth while. The program was well shared and featured an address by Mrs. F. Stanley and an accordion selection by Miss Colleen Preston.

Members were again indebted to the Lairds for their hospitality when representatives of Allandale, Riverton and Clandonald met to arrange for summer services. With Rev. C. Miller in the chair and Mr. C. Laird recording, a cycle of service hours was planned to rotate through nine weeks. The first three services, conducted by the summer student will commence at 9 a.m. for Clandonald, 11 a.m. for Riverton and 7.30 p.m. for Allandale.

In the meantime, Rev. Miller of Vermilion is holding services every second week in Clandonald. The next service will be at 3 p.m., March 12th.

The next W.A. meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Carlton on Thursday March 9th.

OBITUARY
JOHN HENRY COWARD

John Henry Coward, an esteemed old timer of the district, passed away in the Vermilion hospital on February 12th, after an illness of only a few hours.

Jack as he was known had made his home in Vermilion the past six months prior to his death with his sister-in-law Mrs. Lily Giles, and had enjoyed fairly good health up until his passing. He was a good neighbor and had a kindly word for everyone.

He had spent a number of years at Easyford, Alberta, where he had bought land close to his son and had been quite active up until a year or two ago. He was 79 years old.

Mr. Coward came from London England in 1903 with the Barr Colonists and filed a homestead two miles north of what is now Blackfoot, but stayed there only a short while before settling in the Islay district.

In 1921 he married Nellie Sherwood and one son was born to them. He was predeceased by his wife in 1930. He is survived by one son John William Coward of Easyford, four grandchildren, and two sisters in England.

Pallbearers were Charlie Burt, Frank Robinson, David Giles, Charlie Mix, Alf Searle and Ernie Wetherspoon.

Moyer's Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. Burial was in the Vermilion cemetery.

Floral tributes were received from: Loving son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dedulty, Tom, Harvey and family, Frank, That, ms. Margaret and Brian. The Renaghans, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Burt.

Retarded Children's Association, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sherwood, Mrs. Cummings and Ruby, Giles Family, Ed. Doris, Ricky and Randy Wells, Pearl, Dave and family, Walker Family, Mr. and Mrs. Leonid Geer, Mr. and Mrs. George Denny, Easyford, Krogman Family, Hugh, Donalda, Eleanor Evans, Marg, Bob and Jean Minard.

The Anglican Church Building fund (2) and Jessie Stephens.

Gideon Memorial Bible Plan: Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mix; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Anderson.

CLAYSMORE CLIPPINGS

Mr. and Mrs. N. MacHardy are spending a few days in Edmonton at the home of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Preston MacHardy.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gerrie and Carolyn, called at Claysmore en route to Cold Lake where Stan has a construction job at the air base. They expect to be there about two months.

Mrs. Peter Krushinsky left by plane last week en route to visit her brother and family, also a sister in California. We all wish Annie a very nice holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacMillan and Rickie were visitors at the H. Williamson home Sunday afternoon.

WHIST PARTY

Six tables of whist were in play at Claysmore Community centre last Friday evening. Winners were: Ladies' high, Ella Bauer; 2nd, Vi Olstad; consolation, Mary Seymour; men's 1st, W. D. Woywitka; 2nd, Bill Woywitka; consolation, Harvey Seymour. There will be another card party at the school on Friday, March 10, so keep this date in mind and plan to attend.

The next W.I. meeting will be held at Ronnie Bauer's instead of the Allan Olstad home so please note the change.

Coffee guests at the Olstad home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Horne and family of Kitscoty and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leversedge of Vermilion.

Mrs. Ronnie Bauer entertained the Lutheran Ladies' Aid last Thursday evening. Mr. P. Willes showed moving pictures of their trip to England.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Warawa were visitors to Elk Point last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Horne and family were Sunday supper guests at the F. Grunsvelt home.

Couple's Club Host Wainwright

The monthly meeting of the Alliance Chapel Couples' club was held on Thursday Feb. 23rd with a large group in attendance. Special guests were members of the Couples club from Wainwright.

The Wainwright group provided the entertainment for the evening including games and contests, concluding with a devotional service. Rev. Johnson of the Pentecostal church, was chairman. Musical items were contributed by Rev. and Mrs. Ken Loge of the Wainwright Gospel Mission and the devotional message was given by Rev. Chris Cornish of the Church of the Nazarene.

Lunch was served by the Vermilion group and it was agreed that a good time was had by all.

Safety sign: "Watch out for schoolchildren — especially if they're driving."

The Rev. Jack Strapp of Wainwright is M & M convener and was chairman. Rev. Bill Irving, Western Field Secretary of the M & M committee was guest speaker. Gerry Rogers of Wainwright was guest soloist accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Strapp. Discussion groups made it informative and most interesting. A film, "Treasure at Bethany" showed one phase of what M & M contributions does. The ladies of Vermilion United Church served a most delicious supper which put all in a good mood.

Dave Martin attended the Agriculture short course at Lloydminster.

The Bill Aaby family and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Burt drove to Edmonton Sunday. The Burts went to see their son Keith and the Aabys visited at the Ken Reid home. They report Keith doing as well as can be expected but will be in hospital for quite some time yet.

Bill Wilson thanked Mr. Sweet for planning the spiel and obtaining the prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldon Westman and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Webb Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilkinson of town on Sunday when a game was curled which ended in a tie. Kin Midgets Sweep Four Games

Members of Vermilion Kinsmen hockey team kept themselves in shape for the next round of the provincial playoffs by playing a series of four games over the week-end, and winning them all.

Last Friday, the boys went to Lloydminster for a midget tournament and took all the marbles with three straight wins.

Climaxing the day's activities with a 5-0 victory over Kitscoty in the finals, the Vermilion boys swept through the earlier rounds of the knockout competition by defeating Paradise Hill Midgets by a score of 8 to 5 and the Lloydminster Kinsmen Midgets by 4 goals to 3.

Saturday night in Vermilion, in search of new fields to conquer, the local boys entertained — if that's the word — the Wainwright Midgets, and the result was a 9 to 0 shellacking for the visitors.

LOSE 8-7 TO BEVERLY

Vermilion Kinsmen Pontiacs are one goal down in their two-game total goal series in the Provincial Midget hockey playoffs.

Pleasant Valley

Spring is drawing closer every day with lovely sunshine to bring the bulbs in bloom in time for Easter. Hyacinths have been grand and now we have a box of tulips breaking forth.

I like the following nurseryman's creed. "Each plant, shrub or tree you purchase has been watered, fed and pruned with care. When to them we say 'adieu' we pass this project on to you. Knowing that if our creed you share, you'll be repaid with beauty rare. God in nature you will find, patience, beauty, peace of mind."

There were quite a few visitors at the writer's home last week. Now that roads are open folks are paying those long promised calls. Percy and Esther Golby, Lenora, Fred Gould and Dever were supper guests Tuesday. Eric Elliott visited on Monday over a cup of coffee. Saturday night Marvin, Agnes and Sylvia were supper guests and Sunday night Jean, Keith and family also Mr and Mrs Bill McClean and family were supper guests. We certainly enjoyed seeing them all. Mrs. Gillies spent Thursday with the writer and on Friday she stayed at Betty's home while Betty and Lloyd went to Vermilion to visit Jean and Keith.

Christie attended the big horse sale on Saturday and purchased a Shetland pony for the kiddies. Watch girls, and don't let him buck you off!

We are glad to report Keith Burt is doing nicely now. On Sunday Mr and Mrs Bill Axley drove Charlie and Angelique up to the city to visit Keith. While there the Axleys visited at the Ken Reid home.

RIVERTON

Mrs Doris Spicer, representative for Stanley Parts plan, held teas at the homes of Mrs M. McLean and Mrs B. Timanson recently. A good attendance was recorded.

Mrs Joy Hill of Compeer, Alberta, is visiting her father Mr W. Vivian and her two brothers Jack and Donald Vivian.

Get-well wishes are extended to Mrs P. Hansen, Marge Hansen and Clayton Hansen. The latter recently had his tonsils removed.

Visitors at the Jim Elliott home last week were Shirley Elliott, Wendel Elliott and friend Sophie, all of Edmonton.

On Feb. 12th the Omnesses attended church service in Vermilion. Rev. C. Miller had a very interesting sermon "Changed Plans". Rev. Bill appreciated very much the gifts received and extended a hearty welcome to all to visit them at any time. Greetings came from Miss Ann Evans in Scotland. Ann enjoyed a wonderful Xmas holiday. The Alps she says are majestic like our own Rockies. Austrian folk who live there have a difficult time to eke out an existence in the valleys of the Alps as the [illegible] reaches there. In Germany and Switzerland skiing was enjoyed as well as lovely [illegible]. Miss Evans will have [illegible] weeks holiday at Easter and plans to spend them in Spain. He was an [illegible] worker in the Pool and [illegible] welfare of others.

Ed Sloan Visits Homeland After 36 Years Absence

MANNVILLE. After an absence of 36 years, Eddie Sloan is once again back in County Down, the place which song writers have made famous! in Northern Ireland very close to Belfast. Eddie expects to be away for about ten weeks and while there will make an [illegible] tour of the British Isles renewing acquaintances with [illegible] relatives and old friends. He is planning also to visit Denmark and tour some of their farm lands and agricultural progress. It will be interesting to hear his comments on comparison with Canadian farm practices.

Journeying home by jet, Eddie made an interesting observation as regards time comparison with the trips 36 years ago — the length of time amounted to approximately one hour for each day travelled by ocean voyage.

The Sloan family has enjoyed much success in farming and are highly respected. They employ the most up-to-date methods on their farm, having a keen interest in any type of improvement. Eddie, who is single, lives with his widowed mother. His married brother Percy and he farm together and through a fine spirit of cooperation have achieved the success they both share.

Mrs. Sloan Sr. enjoyed a trip to her homeland, Ireland, a few years ago and all Eddie's friends are happy to see him taking this well-earned trip back to the land of his birth.

When you are sick, don't let opportunists take advantage of your hope to get well quickly. There are always some who will do anything to make a quick dollar, even though it endangers your health.

Watch out for certain door-to-door peddlers, mail-order promoters and radio or television salesmen who promise much. It is your health they are gambling with. Be safe. Mannville Pupils Present Concert

MANNVILLE. — Pupils of the Elementary School from grades 1-6 presented a most enjoyable concert on Friday, Feb. 17th in the Gym. Mrs. Muriel Lugg was the chairman. First on the programme was a musical presentation, with commentary by Perry Mistow, taken from an enterprise study of Africa.

1. Waltzing Matilda. 2. Kangaroo Song. 3. Kookaburra Song. 4. Teddy Bear's Picnic. All songs were sung in good time, and most pleasing. Teacher of this grand 4 group was Mrs. Alice Hamilton.

Second item was Mrs. Keatings adorable grade one group who gave examples of what constitutes a rythm band and gave an appealing Choral speech. A solo on the accordian was given by Danny Myroniuk.

The grade three children under the guidance of Mrs. Sheila Baldwin presented Festival of the Birds Song. Girls were in very good bird costumes. The next item was Mrs. Otto's grade 2 class who sang Valentine songs, attractively dressed in dresses and hats designed with hearts for the girls and boys in white shirts for contrast.

Mrs. Hamiltons class of grade 4 again made their appearance in the well known play "Snow White" which was well acted. Mrs. Baldwins class made their re-appearance with club swinging, which is quite an achievment for those so young.

Finally Mrs. Gambles grades 5 and 6 presented some choruses as follows: Tovial Beggar. The Choral speech numbers were Squirrell, Long Long Ago, well executed being "Quest and Columbus." A Playlett entitled "The Dragon Who Liked Jake" was well interpreted by the children, depicting the old custom of throwing people to the dragon to appease a wrong . . . as their studies regarding ancient times. Only, in this case . . . the Dragon was satisfied with cake, and did eat some . . . angel cake it was too.

Dewberry Hi News

Swoop! Swoop! Swoop! was heard from the Dewberry Curling rink bright and early Saturday Feb. 18th where the Dewberry High school bonspiel was held. Each of the ten rinks entered played three games.

The rink coming out with the most points was Art Mead's quartet consisting of Larry Romanick 3rd, Richard Goad 2nd and Dennis Loomp lead.

Joyce Elliott's rink ran a close second, losing by only one point. Her team consisted of Peter Romanick 3rd, Joe Fluney 2nd and Arne Johre lead. Third prize was won by Garth Sweet's rink, 3rd Jerry Hartwell, 2nd Lynne Purner and lead Tina Whiteside. The booby prize went to the good sports of Wayne Garnier's rink, 3rd Betty Mathison, 2nd Marian Braithwaite, lead Gerry Loftsung.

The last inter-school basketball game of the season was played at Clandonald. The girls won their game but the boys lost their encounter.

After the basketball game the students met at the school where a Valentine's party was held. This was a box social and Valorie Keast's box was picked as the nicest. Richard Goad happened to be the lucky guy to get it.

On Friday Feb. 17 the Dewberry Eagles (boys) played an exhibition game against the Dewberry "Professionals". Some of the "Professionals" got two games mixed up and started playing football! The next game may be played on March 3rd between the Dewberry Eagles and the Professionals.

The annual play night will be held Saturday, March 11th in the Dewberry school auditorium. There will be three one act plays "Wise Freshman" and "Grenachika" by the Drama 10 class, and "Who's Afraid?" by the Drama 9 class. Come and enjoy yourselves with us!

Many Activities Planned by United Church W. A.

The regular monthly meeting of the First United Church W.A. met in the church hall on Tuesday, Feb. 14th at 8 p.m. with fifteen ladies present.

The president, Mrs. Herbert, opened with a few words of welcome and the W.A. theme prayer was read in unison. The devotional was led by Mrs. Marfleet using "Prayer" as her topic.

The minutes were read and accepted. It was noted that all old business had been taken care of. Mrs. Williams gave a report on the executive meeting re projects and program planning for the coming year. One of these projects was started during the meeting and will be continued at the next meeting. A report from the W.M.S. Presbyterial delegate was read by Mrs. Herbert dealing with the new "United Church Women" organization to come into effect in 1962.

Moved that the W.A. keep the flower baskets in the sanctuary filled for Sunday services, that the W.A. hold a spring tea very early in May and the material on hand was taken by those present; that the W.A. cater to a Pastoral supper [illegible].

A letter was received regarding the St. Pauls W.A. Annual Presbytery to be held March 1st in St. Paul, registration at 9:30 a.m. An invitation is extended to all ladies to attend this annual meeting.

The meeting closed with the singing of the W.A. hymn and the serving of a tasty snack by Mrs. Cameron and committee.

Ladies' Groups Mark World Day of Prayer

MANNVILLE.—Women of the congregations of United Church, Mannville Alliance Tabernacle and Anglican Church, gathered at the McQueen Memorial United church on Friday Feb. 17th to observe the World Day of Prayer. Mrs. Frank Andrews was the organist and members of each church specially selected at a former committee meeting led the prayers and petitions. Due to inclement weather there were only 40 present.

Mrs. Garry Sheri delivered a [illegible] address with much thought provoking material correlated therein, [illegible] on the theme of the day, "Forward Through the Ages in Unbroken Line".

Others taking part in the service were Mrs. E. Smith, Mrs. A. Hubbard, Mrs. P. Labdier, Mrs. W. Stefanyk, Mrs. E. Symington, Mrs. R. McLaughlin, Mrs. C. Hamilton and Miss A. R. Cain. Taking up the offering and ushering were Mrs. M. Smith and Mrs. A. E. Williams. Mrs. R. Lugg sang the oldtime favorite "Jesus", and was accompanied by Mrs. Andrews.

It was a most inspiring service and those who were free during the ladies' bonspiel attended in their curling togs.

Celebrate Birthday Of Scout Founder

During the evening under the leadership of Harry Allen and the Rev. H. Shell boys of the two groups entertained their guests and it was noted some of the fathers also joined in the hi jinks'.

Slides of the Boy Scout Camporee held at Lake Whitney last May were shown. Scouts from Vegreville to Lloydminster and from Cold Lake in the north to Chauvin in the south took part in this Camporee as they are troops from what is termed the "Three Rivers District".

All Scouts and Cubs of the Mannville district are asked to take notice that a church parade is being held on Sunday, March 5th at 11 a.m. in the Anglican church.

The members of both troops expressed sincere thanks to the Legion for use of their hall and its facilities, to the two groups of the Anglican Church and to the ladies who helped so willingly and anyone else who assisted at the pot luck supper.

It was really gratifying to see the fathers and sons out for an evening of pleasure together and thus commemorate being a member of the World's largest boys' organization.

Committee Plans Rummage Sale

MANNVILLE. — The annual meeting of the Rest Room and Library committee was held in the municipal office on Saturday Feb. 11th at 2 p.m. There were eight members present.

It was decided to have a plaque placed in the rest room so that tourists might know how the building originated.

The members agreed to present a small gift to the new hospital wing upon its completion. Plans were made for the rummage sale to be held Saturday, April 8th.

The members expressed appreciation to Mrs. John Finlay for the excellent condition in which she keeps the library and rest room, also to Mrs. Rutherford for her interest in planting flowers each year.

It was decided to contact the village council regarding the dangerous condition of the sidewalk leading to the rest room as it was felt that someone could be seriously injured.

The same officers were returned for 1961, namely President, Mrs. Charles Finlay; Secretary, Mrs. Ed Herzog; Treasurer, Mrs. A. Rutherford.

OBITUARY

HARRY JENNER

Heinsburg and Frog Lake communities mourn the loss of an old timer in the person of Mr. Harry Jenner who passed away in the Elk Point hospital after a lengthy illness. Mr. Jenner was 78. They came from England in the early part of the century with their one son and located in the Frog Lake district where farming was engaged in until two years ago when they retired and moved to Heinsburg.

Mr Jenner's greatest hobby was his garden where he grew wonderful early vegetables and flowers which were admired by all.

Service was held in the Frog Lake hall conducted by the Anglican missionary where, in spite of the inclement weather, a large number gathered to pay last respects. There were many floral tributes from everyone who had known him through the passing years.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, one son and one grandson. They also had one daughter born in this country, who passed away in her childhood.

Deepest sympathy goes out to those who are left in their bereavement for a good man, husband and father who had the respect and love of all that knew him.

Pallbearers were Archie Dewey, George Kinch, Frank Bristow, Fred Bristow, Trigve Ky, Jenner and Jack Nichols.

Interment was in the Frog Lake cemetery.

Alberta's Four-Point Tax Program Will Prove Boon to Municipalities

By [illegible] Sheppard

EDMONTON. — Alberta's broader base of taxation will result in reduced mill rates for at least forty-one towns and eight cities, according to Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke. Speaking in the Alberta Legislature in the Throne Speech debate, Mr. Hooke outlined the new concept of education and municipal taxation. It's a four-point program designed to "head off dire educational expenditures and stabilize costs in future years", said Mr. Hooke. Calgary and Medicine Hat will not experience tax decreases.

The four points as outlined by the Minister are: (1) all Government buildings, including the Alberta Government Telephone system will be placed on the tax rolls. Grants to the full extent of the tax will be paid by the Province. (2) power lines and pipelines will also go on the tax rolls. Exempted from this [illegible]sification are Rural Electrification Association power [illegible] Rural Telephone Association lines and municipal water and sewer systems. (3) industry will be taxed on a basis of 100 per cent for land and buildings and 30 per cent on equipment. The equipment taxation is cut in half and will result in a considerable saving for industry, said Mr. Hooke. Each municipality will continue to collect this tax. (4) education will be placed on the same basis as hospitalization. The hospital program calls for a 4-mill tax rate allocated to a provincial pool. Mr Hooke said legislation will be introduced to establish a uniform education tax in all municipalities at a maximum of 32 mills. The Government will pay 100 per cent of the costs over the 32 mill [illegible] under the [illegible] program to be announced later by Education Minister A. O. Aalborg. This [illegible] of the program is expected to cover all approved capital construction costs. Other exemptions from the [illegible] program are all government, municipal and civic hospitals, all farm buildings, and all government educational buildings.

Outside the Legislature, Mr. Hooke said that if municipalities work on the basis of this program, and they certainly should be able to, there is no reason why tax relief can't be handed on to home owners.

Other officials pointed out that municipalities have had to cut back on capital programs due to rising education costs. It's quite possible the municipalities will want to use part of the mill rate saving to catch up on these programs or to help pay off municipal debt.

Education, drug prices, the national oil policy, criticism of Federal government and another request for a Legislative Hansard were main features of other debate during the week.

Education Minister A. O. Aalborg announced he would make a statement before the end of the session concerning government action on the recommendations contained in the report of the Cameron Royal Commission on Education. The Minister said his department and educational organizations throughout the province had given the Cameron report extensive study and the reactions were being compiled. Some of the recommendations had already been implemented, while others were being prepared for implementation.

Ernest Watkins (PC-Calgary Glenmore) opened the Throne Speech debate with commendation for some government proposals in the Speech. He said he awaited with interest full details of the new program of educational finance and the broader tax base on real property. He moved a non-confidence motion in the Social Credit Government for failing to co-operate with the Government of Canada in such fields as crop insurance, urban development, students' residences at the university, vocational training and rural rehabilitation and development. His motion was seconded by F. L. Gainer (Coalition Banff Cochrane), but the two stood alone when they attempted to force a division and standing vote on the question. The Social Credit majority laughed at the attempt and defeated the motion on a voice vote.

Earl Ansley (Ind. SC Leduc) said he awaited with interest Mr Aalborg's statement on the Cameron Commission report. He said the nature of the majority and minority reports contained in it represent a crossroads in the field of education. He said the decisions made as a result of the 280 recommendations in the report will be the most important for some time to come. Mr. Ansley, who had been Education Minister for the Government until 1948, asked how much guidance will be accepted from the Legislature in formulating the policies.

Ed Gerhart (SC - Edmonton NW) expressed the opinion that teachers should work longer hours until 5 p.m. with the extra hour used for teaching slow students, marking papers, preparing lessons, attending staff meetings or extra curricular activities.

ADVOCATES FOURTH 'R'

Randolph McKinnon (S.C. - Strathcona West) defended the teachers and said that problems in education are the responsibility of society as a whole. He advocated a fourth "R" in education, for responsibility.

CALL FOR INQUIRY INTO DRUG PRICES

The Legislature gave unanimous approval to a private members' motion calling for a Federal inquiry into the price of drugs and the costs of manufacturing and marketing them to determine if the prices charged consumers are "just and fair".

Debaters spoke of the "emotion" connected with the subject because the price of drugs touches everyone. The motion was moved and seconded by two Calgary Social Credit MLAs Albert Ludwig and Donald S. Fleming.

PC Ernest Watkins expressed pleasure when his motion calling for support of the assembly for the Federal Government's National oil policy met with favorable support from the government members.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT TWO YEARS BEHIND

At the same time Industry and Development Minister A.R. Patrick led an attack on the Federal government for the delay in coming up with such a policy. A policy which Alberta had suggested two years ago. The delay has resulted in unnecessary economic loss, not only to Alberta but to Canada as a whole.

Mr Watkins moved another motion calling for a verbatim record of debates and business of the Legislature. This is the seventh year in succession the subject has been debated. From the tone of debate by Government members, it will suffer the same fate as in the past.

Other highlights — Premier Manning said his Government did not propose to introduce legislation at this session to prevent trade unions from transferring funds to political parties.

Welfare Minister Jorgenson reported 31 homes for senior citizens were in operation with an average occupancy of 97.8%.

Highways Minister Gordon Taylor called for an investigation into electrical equipment prices and criticised the cost of warning light systems at railway crossings.

Mannville Girls Entertain Mothers

MANNVILLE. — A most delightful banquet was enjoyed by C G I T members and their mothers on Tuesday, Feb 14th, as daughters treated their mothers on Valentine's Day. Each mother received a corsage of a handmade and attractively designed heart, which daughters pinned on the guests. The tables were tastefully decorated with Valentine Hearts for place cards. After singing of the grace Marion Schork proposed the toast to the mothers in the words of an unknown poet as follows:

"God thought to give the greatest gift in His Almighty power
To Earth, and deeply pondering,
what should be one hour
Of fondest joy and Love of Heart, outweighing every other
He moved the gates of Heaven
apart, and gave to Earth
a Mother".

This was replied to by Mrs. Maurice Smith who praised the two groups for having the wisdom to unite Juniors and seniors into one large group, and felt sure they would work successfully together.

The banquet was much enjoyed, so much by some who complained of eating too much. Mrs. Gamble congratulated the younger girls who had convened the supper and called upon Shirley Metruner who explained in full the Foundation of the C G I T purpose from the Bible.

The girls and leaders all in uniform looked very smart as they went about their several duties.

Offer Prize for Best Tourist Slogan

How would you like an expense-paid week-end for two at an Alberta resort in exchange for a snappy slogan that would describe the appeal of the province to tourists?

The prize is being offered by the Alberta Tourist Association in an effort to obtain a suitable slogan to further its work of promoting the province's big tourist industry.

Slogans should be sent to Mr Herb Webster, Secretary, Alberta Tourist Association, 810 Centre St. S., Calgary.

The closing date is April 20th and entries should be marked "Slogan Contest". The competition is open to all resident Albertans.

The Association is looking for a slogan that will be representative of the entire province, not one particular portion of it. All entries will become the property of the A.T.A. There is no entry fee. The slogan should not exceed ten words. The A.T.A. reserves the right to vary wording of a suitable slogan.

The award of an expense-paid stay at an Alberta resort may be claimed by the winner at any time in the coming season with exception of the months of July and August. The judges will be representatives of independent advertising agencies.

Report From Ottawa

By Cliff Smallwood, M.P., Battle River - Camrose

The House of Commons has now been in session since the Christmas recess for four weeks and one of the most important items of legislation to be passed is the amendment to the Veterans' Pension Act which will give an increase of twenty per cent to [illegible] who are receiving pensions. I feel that this is long overdue and I am sure that it will be very [illegible] appreciated by the veterans.

Another important item of legislation was introduced in the [illegible] on Jan. 25th, namely the Farm Rehabilitation Act, [illegible] I should like to draw your attention to some figures which outline the position of the farmers in stark and dramatic [illegible]. According to the economic classification of farms in the 1956 census, 21 per cent of Canadian farms produced less than $1200 worth of produce annually. At that time out of a total of 575,[illegible] farms, there were 120,342 which fell into this category. I think the picture by provinces will [illegible] of interest to all.

Newfoundland 78% of the farms under $1200; P.E.I. — 28% under $1200; Nova Scotia — 61%; New Brunswick 59%; Quebec 26%; Ontario 19%; Manitoba — 11%; Saskatchewan — 4%; Alberta 9%; B.C. — 46%. I am sure these figures are interesting as they give a general outlook on the agricultural picture across Canada, and it is from a study of these figures that this Government has introduced such legislation as the Farm Rehabilitation Act, which is hoped will improve the lives of those small farmers who [illegible] eking out a very meagre existence.

We wish to extend sympathy to the family of Mr. Roy Kent of Marwayne. Mr. Kent was buried on Friday. He was a brother of Mrs. Fred Bedell of Paradise Valley.

Curling is still going strong at the local rink. A mixed competition is being played at present. Some good games are going on both on the ice and behind the glass.

The School Lunch

Health Unit Notes

Mother your child's health as well as his progress and interest in school may be affected by the meals he eats each day. Therefore, it is important to realize that the school lunch is more than a mid-day snack — it is a mid-day meal. One of the best ways you can help is to make sure that this mid-day meal is a good one. Here are some suggestions for you: a good lunch has at least one food from each group. Milk to drink or a milk dish; meat, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese, dried peas and beans, peanut butter or nuts; whole wheat bread, bran muffins or oatmeal products; fruit or vegetable, raw or cooked.

Hints for Preparation of School Lunches

1. Have one spot in a cupboard for wax paper and lunch utensils.

2. A well-ventilated metal lunch box is recommended. This should be thoroughly scoured each day.

3. Use a tightly covered container for such foods as milk puddings or salads.

4. Introduce occasional surprises such as nuts or raisins, to be eaten at the end of the meal.

5. Keep sandwiches moist by wrapping them in wax paper. If they are made the night before, cover with a damp cloth and keep in a cool place.

VEGETABLES — Shredded lettuce, sliced tomato, cucumber, radish, chopped raw cabbage, carrot with raisins or grated cheese, baked beans.

THE HOT JAR METHOD

By taking a little more time, you may give your child a hot dish with his lunch. Select some food that can be successfully reheated. Place in a glass jar labelled with his name. This could be heated in a hot water bath at school.

HOT JAR — Creamed beef, vegetable scallop, fish chowder, stew, potato scallop with sausage, thick vegetable soup, cocoa, baked beans, meat pie, mixed vegetables, cream of vegetable soup, cheese and rice scallop and rice fruit pudding.

Artland Wins Hockey Tourney for Second Time

A determined and seemingly tireless band of hockey players from Artland, Sask. won the rural hockey tournament here on Saturday, taking a well-played final from Elmer Kreller's Mannville entry by a 4 to 2 score.

Artland won the event one year ago, and annexed a similar tournament at Lloydminster on the previous Saturday.

CLOSE GAMES

The winners had a hard row to hoe all along. In the first game against a Faculty of Education team from the U. of A., comprised chiefly of Vermilion students the Artlanders eked out a narrow 1-0 victory; turned back Lindberg 4-2; Fort Pitt 2 to 1, and then took the final from Mannville 4-2.

16 TEAMS ENTER

Sixteen teams entered this crowd-attracting event, and the arena was packed all day with hockey fans.

SPONSORED BY TIGERS

This event is sponsored annually by the Vermilion Tigers. The executive and players are to be commended highly for their enterprise in this connection, as it takes a long day of concentrated work to bring the many games, fifteen to be exact, to a successful conclusion in good time.

It's a big event, a worthwhile event and attracts a very large crowd of people to town.

TWO ARENAS IN '62

Next year, with two arenas in use, it might be even a bigger and better tournament, although it is difficult to see how Saturday's event could have been improved on.

OTHER WINNERS

To cop second place Mannville first played and defeated Lloydminster Carpenters 5-4, Marwayne 3-2 and Irma 5-0.

Teams playing were Marwayne, Vermilion, Mannville, Lloydminster, Vermilion Juveniles, Irma, Heinsberg, Paradise Valley, Ft. Pitt, Vermilion Lynx, Indian Creek, V.S.A., Leduc, Lindberg, Artland, Varsity Education.

Refereeing and score-keeping was handled by Tiger hockey players and executive members.

Saturday Classes For Grade 12

Commencing this Saturday morning, classes will be held for grade 12 students from 9 to 12 noon and will continue until June exams. These extra sessions will give students an opportunity to receive instruction in any subjects they feel it is necessary.

Cancer Poster Contest Closing

Mrs. Fred Stewart, president of the Vermilion Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, announced Thursday that the school poster contest being conducted throughout the province, will soon close. All entries to the contest should be turned in to the local branch officers not later than March 15. Officers are Mrs. Fred Stewart at Simpsons-Sears and Mr. Tom Watts at the Northern Hardware.

Judging for the posters on the local level will take place shortly after that date. Judges will be a committee made up of the [illegible] Community Art class with Mrs. Carmen Long as convener.

Following the local adjudication the prize - winning posters will be sent to the Provincial headquarters of the Society in Calgary where they will be judged on the provincial level.

Attention all teachers in the Vermilion, Clandonald and Islay districts — see that these posters are in by next Wednesday, March 15th.

Vermilion Trained Men Win Awards

At the Macleods Limited sales convention held in Edmonton last week, practically all the prizes for outstanding achievements in the year 1960 were won by Macleod store managers who received their early training at the Vermilion [illegible] of the store, and who were at one time Vermilion citizens. Included in the list of winners were Norman Willmer, now at High River; Rand Calvert, Beaverlodge; Charlie Calvert, at Edson; Charlie Spencer, Athabasca; Roy Watkins, Leduc. Just to complete the picture, Charlie Underhall of Vermilion was the winner of a clock transistor radio in a lucky draw.

Artland Wins Northern Hardware Trophy

Artland added the Northern Hardware trophy to their silverware by battling through to victory in the annual Vermilion tournament, finally downing Mannville 4 goals to 2 in a good final game. Shown above are Artland Captain Roy Bienach, Northern Hardware manager Thos. Watts holding the trophy, and Captain Frank Ewing of the runner-up Mannville team. —A Standard Staff Photo

Court of Revision Monday Night

Vermilion Court of Revision, dealing with taxpayers assessment appeals will meet Monday night, March 13th at 8.00 o'clock in the town hall.

Legion Polio Fund Drive Starts Monday

This Year's Objective $2,000

Next week, Legion members will canvass the business area of Vermilion for donations to the Polio Fund. Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary will canvass homes throughout the town. As it is next to impossible for farmers to be visited, it is asked that people in the country make their donations to any of the Legion executive, or to Thos. Watts, Thos. Wilson, Geo. Martin or E. H. Buckingham.

GEO. MARTIN, CHAIRMAN

The chairman of the Polio committee is George Martin who states that this town and district has given wonderful support to the Polio fund during the past eight years. The need is greater now in this province and in this district than at any time in the past. In 1960 there were 198 cases of paralytic polio in Alberta. This is three times as many as we had in 1959. It all means, Mr. Martin said, that more funds are required or needy cases cannot be taken care of.

HELP IS NECESSARY

Citizens may wonder at the necessity of a special fund for helping polio victims. The government does a lot but there are still many ways in which help is needed where government grants do not apply.

There is the matter of ambulances, transportation by bus or train, braces, crutches, etc. There are many other ways in which the fund can be used where children or older people are struck down by this dread disease. It is surprising also the number of families where this disease occurs where there are no funds whatever to take care of extra expenses.

EXPENSES BORNE BY LOCAL BRANCH

Chairman Martin wishes to make it clear that all money collected is remitted to Alberta headquarters for the Canadian Chapter for Poliomyelitis. Any expenses incurred in the canvass are paid by the local branch of the Canadian Legion.

We should bear in mind that this area forwarded $1200 to headquarters last year but payments to needy polio victims and in helping their families have amounted to $1835. So it would appear that we are not quite holding up our end.

OBJECTIVE $2,000

[illegible] of the Vermilion Branch and all the polio canvassers ask that residents of the town and district be generous in their giving to this important fund. The objective for the current canvass has been set at $2,000. Can we make it. The canvassers think we can, let's vindicate that faith.

V.S.A. Students To Hold Gym Night

Besides hockey and curling, the students at the V.S.A. participate also in various inside recreation activities, most of which are in the gymnasium. Coming March 18th the public will have an opportunity to see what this is all about because that night is "Gym Night". This is an annual event where both boys and girls give a demonstration of their accomplishments in mainly the physical education during the term 1960-61. The program, which has [illegible] numbers, starts at 8:00 p.m.

Time and again people have been wondering about the meanings of the 5BX and the XBX. Now these are plans on physical fitness for boys and men as well as girls and women of all age groups. These methods were developed by the RCAF and are used extensively by physical education instructors and doctors alike. On March 18th boys and girls of the V.S.A. will give demonstrations of the fundamentals based on these plans.

Another interesting event will be a badminton demonstration which might be of benefit to those interested in this game. During the performance a commentator will give valuable hints with regard to plays in singles as well as in doubles.

On the program also is a dancing demonstration. Previous to Christmas, and with additional reinforcements from [illegible] of the Vermilion Senior [illegible] school there was a most satisfying turnout. Since then attendance has dropped considerably but nevertheless the students will be [illegible] to show the public some of [illegible] accomplishments. The dances are all fundamental and there will be a variety which includes square dancing [illegible].

For the past two months several boys' teams have been engaged in a house league basketball tournament. To [illegible] to the interest of the program it was decided to have the final game [illegible] on Gym Night. However, [illegible] the [illegible] will be [illegible] and the winner will take the VSA [illegible] League Trophy. The contending teams are the Alberta Eskimos and the Flyers, and the officiating is in the hands of the B.C. [illegible] who took third place in this tournament.

Besides [illegible] Horse and Spring Board and Tumbling the program includes other numbers of interest. However this preview should give an indication of what the students hope to present at their annual Gym Night at VSA on March 18th, commencing at 8:00 p.m. During the opening no one will be permitted to enter the gymnasium as this will interfere with the procedure of the program, so please be on time. Your co-operation will be appreciated.

After the gym demonstration there will be a dance followed by refreshments and everybody is invited to stay. Those who have had the experience know that VSA dances are tops, and will do their utmost to attend. VSA wishes you a pleasant evening.

Teams Trade Bats For Brooms

Saturday, March 11th at 8 p.m. in the Vermilion arena sees the return of broomball to town.

The Flying Canaries of soft ball fame trade their bats for brooms [illegible] purposes as they take on the hulking Checker Ghosts. It looms up as a real battle and no doubt the [illegible] more targets than just the ball to land on.

A small admission will be charged and this will be turned over to some community project.

No Decision Yet On Routing Of Highway 41 . . Taylor

The Honorable Gordon Taylor, Provincial Minister of Highways, told a delegation from the Vermilion Chamber of Commerce that no decision had yet been reached on the question of the eventual route of Highway 41.

Reporting to the Chamber at its meeting, C. J. McCormick, who along with Ken Urquhart had a meeting with Mr. Taylor and M.L.A. Ashley Cooper on Tuesday morning of this week, said the Minister assured them that although surveying is under way to find the best route for the highway, no decision had been made. The Minister said that if the time ever comes where a change in the route of the highway is seriously contemplated, he will call a public meeting in Vermilion and come here and outline the plans himself.

Dealing with the question of Highway 41 north of Vermilion to Elk Point and on to the junction of 28, the Minister said that if funds were available a two-coat treatment would be considered for this stretch, but he emphasized that he was giving no promise that it would be done — just that it would be considered.

Education: A Potent Key

Education is a key that opens many doors, but too many students in Canada today are losing the key before they find a lock to open.

This week is National Education Week. Unlike many weeks that come and go throughout the year, there is good reason on this occasion for Canadians to sit down and do some thinking about the Canadian Conference on Education's slogan for 1961: "Stay in School".

Our society has arrived at a point where it is having less and less need for untrained minds. The machine has replaced the pick and shovel. Automation has moved into our factories and offices. Today employers have little interest in unqualified help, but are more and more interested in men and women who have trained minds — individuals capable of responsibility and initiative.

Today a grade 12 education, which not too many years ago allowed an individual to feel educated, is now only an ordinary achievement. Students who want to play a reasonable part in the affairs of their community and nation must be prepared to go on to specialized training at a University or an advanced technical school.

In almost every field we are becoming a society of specialists. There is less and less room for individuals to make a success out of their lives without specializing — without as a minimum a complete secondary education.

The Western World is being challenged as never before by the Communist states which are concentrating on educating an elite but are doing it on a massive scale at state expense. We in Canada today are moving to more and more state help in education, but the decision on which direction individual education will go is left to the student — he makes a free choice.

Unemployment is becoming a great national problem. Students thinking of giving up school or university before graduation would do well to study recent Unemployment Insurance Commission statistics. Back in 1955, two out of every three unemployed had not gone beyond grade eight in school. It is also interesting to note that those with only two years of a secondary school education were not much better off than those who had only a grade eight education. Surely by now, or within a few years, those with only grade twelve will be almost in the same boat as those with grade eight education were five year ago. Our society is moving ahead swiftly. Those who are prepared for the technical era will reap the rewards.

We know the temptations that lead young people to want to leave school. Earning money and wanting to feel grown up may seem more attractive than getting a good education.

But their future depends on them sticking to their education. It will pay off both for themselves, their nation and our way of life. Today our society needs young men and women capable of being highly trained to man our company offices and factories, to staff our schools and colleges, and even to represent us in our councils, legislatures and parliament. We must encourage our young people to "Stay in School" so that they can share the rewards of a greater tomorrow. Education is the key to personal success and national prosperity.

BLOAT

Dr V. E. Mendel, Department of Plant Science University of Alberta, has begun research into the causes of feedlot bloat of beef cattle. Dr Mendel arrived in Alberta only last October from California where he had done his post-graduate work on this subject. Many feeders associate alfalfa hay with bloat but often bloat occurs where alfalfa is not used. Dr Mendel will not approach the study of bloat from a feed point of view but from what the animal does that promotes bloat. In California it was proved beyond reasonable doubt that the flow of saliva enhances or reduces bloat. Animals with a high flow of saliva seem less likely to bloat. Bloat is the concentration of gases in rumen in a very stable foam. The animal is unable to expell the gas and the increasing pressure impedes breathing and eventually causes damage. If the stability of the foam can be broken down gas can usually be expelled. In some animals bloat is relieved naturally while with others it continues unchecked. This difference in animals is what will receive Dr Mendel's attention and he will attempt to determine the origin and causes of bloat.

PLASTIC MULCHES

Plastic mulches and shelters have doubled the yields and advanced the dates of harvesting in northern Alberta gardens. On land previously prepared for planting, a 36-inch wide plastic is rolled out and firmly anchored down. To plant corn openings are made about two inches in diameter every 12 inches and 2 or 3 seeds planted in those openings. When the corn is 2 or 4 inches high the weaker seedlings are removed by hand leaving only one plant per opening. The procedure is similar for other plants. Vegetables grown under clear plastic mulch mature earlier and produce higher yields than those grown under black plastic. Black plastic however promotes better weed control.

AVADEX and CARBYNE

Many farm sprayers checked in a 1960 survey sprayed an uneven pattern. Some delivered twice the recommended volume as others in a given period of time. In the application of 2, 4-D, this may mean possibly a few twisted heads of grain, poor weed kill or an increased cost of chemical of perhaps fifty cents an acre. An overdose of Carbyne or Avadex may change the cost of application from $1.50 to $2 per acre and severely injure the whole crop. When using your sprayer it pays dividends to be certain that the machine is performing properly.

BULL SALES

The cheapest and most rapid way to improve a herd of cattle is to purchase a good bull. Good bulls will be offered by auction at the Vermilion Bull Sale April [illegible] and Lloydminster Bull sale, May 1 and 2.

During a [illegible] hockey play-off game between the Bruins and Blackhawks, won by the Bruins 2 to 1 five penalties were handed out. Toner 2, O'Brien, Link and Brower one each. Brower got two goals for the Bruins, Dwyer one. LaChance scored the lone marker for the Hawks.

Twenty seven rinks participated in the annual bonspiel. Jock Morison carried off both primary events with ten straight wins.

Because she risked her own young life to save the lives of seven other children, Rosetta Annetts, nine-year-old heroine of a Vermilion fire which swept the farm home of Alexander Rennie in November last, has been awarded the bronze medal of the Humane Society.

March was ushered in with as rare a rainfall and chinook as it has ever been our pleasure to witness. Snow disappeared very rapidly and all high places, plowed fields etc. were bare before the wind finally shifted too far north and brought lower temperatures.

THE LENTEN SEASON

This is a good time to experiment with a few new recipes using fish and cheese. Both of these foods are nutritious, easy to cook and economical.

Has your family complained when you served fish dishes? Improper cooking methods have often resulted in a dislike for fish. Be certain to cook quickly at a high temperature 450 to 500 degrees F.

SPENCER METHOD FOR FISH:

This is a good method for cooking fish fillets. Here is the recipe:

2 pounds fish fillets
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs

Cut fillets into individual portions and soak 3 minutes in milk to which the salt has been added. Drain and roll in dry bread crumbs. Place fish on a greased baking dish and hot butter. Bake in a very hot oven 450 to 500 degrees F. Allow 10 minutes per inch thickness if cooking frozen fish.

TEST FOR DONENESS:

Your fish is cooked when the flesh loses its translucent appearance and becomes opaque, the flesh will flake readily when cooked, and easily pierced with a fork.

GARNISHES FOR FISH:

Add a garnish to fish to make it appear more appetizing. Use lemon quarters, lemon slices dipped in chopped parsley, onion rings, hard cooked eggs or shredded carrots.

FISH ODOURS:

Dishes which have been used in preparing or cooking fish, should be washed in water to which vinegar has been added (2 tablespoons to 1 pint water) before washing in hot soapy water. Kill cooking odours by burning sugar or a few cloves in a pan. Odours may be removed from the hands by rubbing with salt, then washing in clean warm water before using soap.

Death and Funeral of W. R. Kent

The funeral service for the late William Royden Kent, who passed away February 21st in the University hospital, Edmonton, was held in Holy Trinity church, Irwinville, on Friday, Feb. 24th at 2:30 p.m. with interment following in the Irwinville cemetery. The Rev. Brian L. Brown of Wainwright officiated, assisted by Mr. Preston of Clandonald. Mrs. Brian Brown was organist, the two hymns sung, "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds", and "The Lord is My Shepherd", being favorites of the deceased. Taking part in the graveside ceremonies was an Honour Guard of the Marwayne Branch of the Canadian Legion. The large number in attendance and the beautiful service were a fitting tribute to the affection and esteem in which Mr Kent was held by a very wide circle of friends and associates.

The pallbearers were Messrs. James Jackson, Milo Fleming, R. S. Pidcock, J. K. Whiteside, Gerald Kent and H. M. Kneen.

Moyer's Funeral Home of Vermilion was in charge of arrangements.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife Olive, and four sons, Hugh of Edmonton, Jack in the R.C.A.F., Montreal, Malcolm of Marwayne and James in the R.C.A.F., Barrie, Ont.; also one brother J. A. Kent, Marwayne and five sisters, Mrs. Graham Gardiner (Marjorie) Hazeldine, Mrs. Fred Beckett (Edie) Paradise Valley, Mrs. George McKerihan (May) Hatti, Mrs. Robert McKerihan (Joy) Kitscoty and Mrs. Jack Leader (Grace) Berrymoor.

Roy Kent was born at Jocelyn, St. Joseph Island, Ont., in 1898, and moved to the Irwinville district with his family in 1907, where he grew up and resided ever since. During the three years spent with the Canadian Infantry overseas, he was severely wounded at Vimy. In 1922 he was married to Olivia D. Smyth and began farming at the present site.

Versatile and astute of mind he took a keen interest in every phase of life and whatever he undertook he did well. Several beautiful specimens in the homes of his friends reveal his skill as a taxidermist and much of the interior finishing in the lovely Irwinville church will remain as a memorial to his handicraft. A keen sportsman, but a true conservationist many lives have been enriched by his knowledge of natural history, especially of bird life.

He was always interested in people and their problems and gave unstintingly of his time and talents to serve his community, his church and his country. He had for many years served as Vicar's warden and on the vestry of the Irwinville church. He was lay delegate to Synod and had worked on the Edmonton Diocesan Executive board.

105 Attend School BusDriver Conference

A conference of all school bus drivers, Divisional Board trustees and principals of schools to which pupils are conveyed was held at Kitscoty high school auditorium on Saturday, March 4th. There were 105 persons in attendance.

D. C. McGrath, chairman of the Divisional Board, was elected chairman of the gathering and suggested that the meeting had been called to discuss the whole field of school bus operation in an attempt to provide the best possible service and the best possible understanding among the various interested parties.

The importance of strict observance of the regulations for operation of school buses as issued by the Government of the Province of Alberta was stressed as the keynote of the conference by Mr. McGrath.

DISCUSS BUS INSPECTIONS

The two types of bus inspection being practised received considerable attention and there was some criticism of the general inspection undertaken by Highway Traffic Board officials. A resolution was passed requesting that the general inspection be conducted at each centralized point rather than at one centre for buses from several centralizations.

Mr Weeks, member of the Divisional Board, reported that a recommendation had been approved providing for mechanical inspection by mechanics appointed by provincial government in addition to inspections in the month of March and August required to be made in local garages.

DRIVER CERTIFICATION

Driver certification received considerable attention and emphasis was placed on regulation which requires regular and relief drivers to hold Class A certification.

Meeting endorsed recommendation that a pool of relief drivers should be available at each centralization and the following resolution was passed:

Resolved that in an attempt to provide a pool of relief drivers the Divisional Board be requested to defray the cost of obtaining Class A certificates for a limited number of applicants recommended as relief drivers by the bus contract-holders.

A suggestion was made that a new type of certificate be instituted to be known as School Bus Drivers' certificate to replace the existing Class A certificate, when applicants would be required to pass tests on mechanical operation of school buses and general knowledge of the importance of school bus operation.

MOTION: P Norman E. DeLeeuw that we recommend that the Highway Traffic Board issue a certificate to be known as School Bus Drivers' certificate to replace Class A certificate and that test for same shall include actual operation of a school bus. Carried.

At this stage the meeting adjourned for coffee break with refreshments being provided by Kitscoty Home and School Association.

(Meetings resumes with a brief, report continued next week)

Sunday At The Alliance Chapel

There is a new emphasis at the Alliance Chapel Sunday school this month "Marching to Sunday School".

Pastor J. M. Schroeder spoke at both services on Sunday in the morning on the subject "Spiritual Transformation" and in the evening he spoke on "Naming the Baby".

Pianists for the services were Margaret McLennan and Margwynne Clendenning. Special musical numbers were vocal solos by Mr Alton Curtis and Mr Robert Tidsbury and a duet by Mrs Ben Francesco and Mrs R Tidsbury. Albert Mix led the evening song service.

The sacrament of Holy Communion was observed in the morning service, the pastor officiating.

Special services are being planned for Easter and the first part of April. Further announcement will be made at a later date.

Letters to the Editor

[illegible]

I would like to write a few words in the behalf of Mr Wilson regarding the forthcoming municipal election.

I feel we are all aware of the way Mr Wilson has worked in the behalf of the ratepayers during the past three years.

In his term past there has been two hundred miles of road gravelled this includes all the school bus routes and 180 miles of new grade in a great many cases for people who have been without an all-weather road for many years.

Also last year Mr Wilson worked diligently in our behalf to obtain the Snowball bonus for all eligible persons when misunderstandings occurred.

Also Mr Wilson has arranged a much more [illegible] arrangement regarding the Public Works and Welfare of Div 3.

Considering all of Mr Wilson's efforts during the past three years and with due respect to his opponent I feel we the ratepayers should lend him our support on March 15th.

A Ratepayer.

Dear Editor:

Just a short comment on Mr. Young's letter. I have often wondered about the different races with their peculiarities which seem so definitely not "God created man in his own image" as I think it states in the Bible. Mr Young suggests five different Adams and Eves, so I suggest five different Creators in the world created in their own images the five different Adams and Eves.

Hardy Weer.

Shown above are "Prince" and "Mac", a team of 8 and 7 year old Percherons, one black and one grey. Until a week ago, they were the property of Isidore Nelson; now the Ziegler layout has them. They were auctioned off at the Vermilion Auction Mart at the last horse sale and brought the tidy sum of $500. Mr. Nelson purchased this team July 28th, 1959, from Mr. and Mrs. Gus Throndson, who are shown holding the lines of the fine animals. Prince and Mac were raised from colts by the Throndsons on their farm, and this team were prized very highly. At the time they were sold they weighed 1800 lbs. each.

Vermilion Horse Sale Again Brings Alberta's Top Prices

Last Saturday, one of the most successful horse auction sales to be held in the Province of Alberta in the past few years, took place at the Vermilion Auction Mart.

Approximately 1,000 people saw 90 head go through the ring, with the average price of $121 . . . tops for the province . . . being four dollars higher than last year's average when the price of $117 per head again led the average for the province.

Ken Watts of Vermilion had a team of blacks in the ring weighing around 1800 pounds each which drew the second highest price of the successful day.

Buyers from Innisfail, Edmonton, Lacombe, Saskatoon and Westlock were among those on hand for the sale.

Red Cross Appeal Opens

Mr. D. Byrne Shaw, Chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, warned that if the many Red Cross programs were to be maintained during the coming year the Society must raise the 1961 National Campaign objective of $6,370,826 (Alberta's quota is $524,300) and must operate within this budget.

He explained that returns from the 1960 Red Cross appeal were $5,763,000, short some $567,913 of the $6,330,913 objective. Through close controls the Society underspent its 1960 budget by $67,300 but the year's expenditure was still some $500,113 more than received through campaign returns. This deficit was made up from a contingency fund containing Red Cross bequests not designated for any special purpose. With all bills paid for the past year the fund will stand at $120,000. Against what the Society plans to spend in 1961 this amount would cover less than two full weeks' operation, Mr Shaw declared. In order to pay its way in the coming year Red Cross must raise $600,000 more than it did in 1960, he contended.

Commenting on the various Red Cross services, Mr. Shaw noted that the Blood Transfusion program was now complete across Canada with blood provided to every hospital patient without charge. Last year Red Cross collected 641,000 bottles of blood to maintain this supply and absorbed the cost of over three million dollars to provide this service.

"There is an odd thing about Red Cross", Mr. Shaw asserted. "Many people cannot believe we actually need the money we ask for". This might be due, he felt, to the perfect Red Cross record of performance which has never fallen down on the job of mercy, but it was necessary to correct this wrong impression and be frank in telling the public the true financial position of Red Cross.

"The Shadow" Plays Hockey Again

Tuesday night, March 6, there was an "Old Timers'" hockey game in the Edmonton Gardens between two clubs of "greats" and "near greats," calling themselves the Edmonton Old Timers and the Calgary Old Timers.

The game, an annual event, is for the Heart Fund.

Many of the players involved were and are household names throughout Canada for the records they left behind them after brilliant careers in the National Hockey League.

Skating again that night for the Edmonton team was one of the most famous forward lines ever to play in the N.H.L., Mac and Neil Colville and Bryan Hextall, who were super stars with the New York Rangers long before the "super" was added to the sports writers' vocabulary.

To many a pre-war hockey fan though, the appearance of the Stars of the N. H. L. brought back memories, secondary to those revived, by the sight of a player who never made the "big time" and whose mark on hockey was made in the short space of one Memorial Cup series, played between the Edmonton Athletic Club and the Oshawa Generals back in 1938.

In that series for Oshawa was a left winger called Billy Taylor the "hottest" thing on skates in those days, and already tabbed as a cinch to become an all-time great in hockey history. This destiny was never to be fulfilled as Taylor and another N.H.L. player were banned from hockey for life on charges alleged to do with gambling. However, these charges were never made public.

To go back to 1938 and that Memorial Cup series, which left the name of Elmer Kreller on the hockey record books forever: E.A.C. went into the series as underdogs — largely on account of the terrific scoring potential of Billy Taylor, playing for the Generals. For the first two games Taylor fully lived up to advance billing, scoring nine goals.

At that point the EAC management took a hand in the series which was developing into a runaway for the Eastern representatives. Elmer "the Shadow" Kreller was assigned to look after Taylor's scoring potential. So effective was the strategy that in the next three games (Oshawa won the series 4 games to 1) Taylor was credited with only 1 assist, an assist which Kreller disputes to this day.

That series, played back in 1938 and Taylor's and Kreller's parts in it were among many incidents in hockey history that came alive last Tuesday night, when "The Shadow" played hockey in Edmonton.

And speaking of Elmer Kreller. Wednesday of this week marked the tenth anniversary of his arrival in Mannville to take over a partnership in Mannville Motors.

Medicines, if potently fresh and properly used, can accomplish much good. For every sickness, there is always one particular medicine that is best. The problem is — which one? A wrong selection, from the thousands available, can be useless and even harmful.

That is why we sincerely advise you to avoid self-treatments and let your physician prescribe the one particular medicine which his judgment decides is best for you. A prescription can do more for you because it is especially for you.

Win Prizes At Vermilion 4-H 'Spiel

There were prizes for almost everything in the 4-H Bonspiel held recently at Vermilion, and out of the 30 rinks competing, the rink shown above had that "air of distinction" that won them a souvenir. Consolation prizes of little skunk deodorants went to this bunch of youngsters, happy as can be despite the fact that they didn't win a major prize. This is the Mannville 4-H Club No. 3, comprised of (from left to right): John Clennett, 3rd; Barry McDonald, skip; Betty McLaughlin, 2nd. Grant Nicol, lead, is not in the picture. —A Standard Staff Photo

This pretty little miss, Patsy McLaughlin of Mannville No. 5 rink, was the only member left when it came time to receive the prizes. Patsy's rink, skipped by Doug Livingstone, won second prize with 24½ points. Presenting the prize is Dan Peters, Assistant D.A. Other members of the quartet were Lester McLaughlin and Arleigh Stephenson. —A Standard Staff Photo

The Hon. Gordon E. Taylor pauses long enough to say a few reassuring words to Tom Sharkey of Calgary and Dennis John McConaghy of Edmonton, two of Alberta's crippled children attending the special crippled children's camp at Lake Isle

Honorary President Alberta Children's Camp

The Hon. Gordon E. Taylor has been named Honorary President of the Alberta Children's Camp Council, incorporated as a society under the Alberta Societies Act in May, 1960. On an 111-acre site overlooking beautiful Lake Isle, some 60 miles west of the city of Edmonton, now stands a summer camp for the handicapped and crippled children. To this haven of rest and recreation may now come all who need special camp facilities — the Cerebral Palsy; those with heart conditions; birth defects, and those with crippling diseases.

This is one of the many projects supported by the Easter Seal campaign. Mr W O Bates, chairman for the 1961 Easter Seal campaign in Alberta states "this year our objective is $130,000. 310,300 Easter Seal envelopes have now been mailed to all householders in the province. It is now up to the people of Alberta to help us help crippled children. Walk to the mail box and give help to a child who can't walk. Please return that Easter Seal envelope together with your donation. This is a cause which comes close to the hearts of all of us. We want crippled and handicapped children to have every possible chance to be like other children, to walk, to acquire an education, to learn a vocation so they can make their own way in society. The special help they need can be provided through your support to the Easter Seal campaign."

Last year in Alberta, 2,514 crippled and handicapped children were given help through the sale of Easter Seals. Twenty-two of these were open heart cases. The campaign dates are March 2 to April 2. At no other time is an appeal made anywhere in Alberta to assist the handicapped or the crippled child.

MARWAYNE

At a Boy Scout and Cub group committee meeting, held Monday, Feb. 27th, two new officers were elected in the persons of R. Johnson as president and Mrs. J. Elliott, vice-president. Mrs. G. GETS 29 HAND IN CRIB

Roy Hutchinson, in a 3-handed cribbage game with his wife Bertha and Rolly Bew, held a 29 hand on Monday evening. This is the highest hand obtainable in crib.

Joe Hale is a patient in Lloydminster hospital. Cecil Midgley is in the Islay hospital.

MANY ACTIVITIES

This has been just another busy week in town. The Elks held a banquet on Sunday 27th. The Cubs had a skating party followed by hot dogs and hot chocolate on Wednesday. Also on the same day an exhibition hockey game was played with Marwayne Comets defeating the Heinsburg team 6-3. The Scouts held a round-robin bonspiel on Thursday and Friday afternoons. The Hobby fair drawing its usual good crowd was on Thursday March 2. The second Parent Teacher interviews were held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday with a very good percentage of parents again attending.

SPEAKS ON CIVIL DEFENCE

Mrs. A V Smith spoke on Civil Defence at the F.W.U.A. meeting on Monday, Feb. 27th at the home of Mrs. Peck. As a result of her talk much interest was created. Classes will be held in Civil Defence as soon as Mrs. Smith gets the materials.

Mr. Vandervaate Sr. has spent some time in the local hospital. Mr. Lee Dommesworth has returned from Edmonton, and is now a patient in the Mannville Hospital.

Mr and Mrs. Jack Oxford and children were Edmonton visitors over the week-end.

John McLeod informs us he and his wife have a new addition to their family born in University Hospital Edmonton, on Feb. 21, baby Donna Mae, a sister for Betty. Congratulations. They arrived home Wednesday.

Mannville is being represented at the Viking ladies' spiel by Marjorie McLaughlin, Mrs. McFadden, Audrey Holden and Norma Ewing.

Danny de la Salle is employed at the Beaver Lumber (Alberta) Ltd.

Work has commenced once again on the house south of the R. Ewing residence, which is being built by the Alberta Wheat Pool for their agent.

Much fun is evident at the mixed spiel now in progress at Mannville. A number of teachers competed in the Teachers' spiel at Innisfree on Saturday.

Hinman Introduces Record Deficit Budget Totalling $336,687,970 To Legislature

By Russ Sheppard

EDMONTON. — Another record budget has been introduced in the Alberta Legislature, totalling $336,687,970. The total is $8,094,000 higher than the estimated expenditure last year. Provincial Treasurer E. W. Hinman, in his budget, estimated revenues for the fiscal year April 1st, 1961, to March 31st, 1962 at $323,405,795, leaving a deficit for the year of $13,282,175.

The deficit budget is accounted for through an anticipated drop in revenue from the sale of petroleum and natural gas leases. A decline in this phase of government business during the past fiscal year accounted for a deficit of over $34,000,000 to the end of last December.

Despite the drop in this revenue, Mr Hinman said that with increases in population, stability in our agriculture and [illegible] industries, an expected improvement in oil sales, and a multi-million dollar program in gas mains, sulphur plants and development related to gas export contracts, there is every reason to be optimistic about our economy.

GAS TAX INCREASED

The major news in the budget, to strike at the pocket book of most, is a 2-cent a gallon increase in the tax on fuel oil. This will bring the tax on gas to 12 cents and diesel oil to 14 cents a gallon. Mr Hinman said the increase in gasoline tax will make the motorists' contribution to our large highways' program more equitable. Purple gasoline will remain untaxed for farm use purposes.

The main source of revenue in the budget will continue to be natural resources with income from the Mines and Minerals Department estimated at $107,607,000, a decrease of over $20,000,000 compared with a year ago. The Federal-Provincial tax agreement will bring in another $88,763,000.

MAJOR EXPENDITURES

Major expenditures will be education and health, each eating up over 22 per cent of the budget. Education will see expenditures of $80,508,000. $56,000,000 of the total will be grants to schools while the province will contribute $8,000,000 toward the operation of the university. The education budget is almost $8,000,000 higher than last year.

Estimated expenditures for health are listed at just over $80,000,000, an increase of more than $7,000,000. This is accounted for entirely in increased hospital services and the new auxiliary hospital program.

The total highways' program will amount to just over $72,000,000 with $42,377,000 for construction and $27,218,000 for maintenance and assistance to municipalities in their road programs.

A new appropriation in the budget is $2,800,000 which will be paid to municipalities in the form of grants in lieu of taxes. This year for the first time, government buildings, excepting hospitals and schools, will go on the tax rolls under the new tax deal. The regular sum of $15,000,000 will again be distributed to municipalities as unconditional grants.

Mr. Hinman said municipal assistance is again higher, with almost $90,000,000 estimated as direct assistance and almost $67,000,000 in indirect assistance such as health and welfare.

Other highlights of the budget included

Public welfare will necessitate expenditures of more than $24,000,000 with Federal government payments reimbursing the province by almost $9,000,000.

Public works program will total almost $42,000,000. The breakdown on this work includes over four million for construction of university facilities at Edmonton and Calgary, almost four million for provincial institutes and hospitals; five million for homes for the aged; six millions for courts and other provincial buildings and 23 million listed for provincial buildings.

Commenting on the increased gasoline tax, Mr. Hinman said it is the first increase since 1951. It will bring the Government an estimated six million dollars in extra revenue and raise the income from the Fuel Oil Tax Act to $34,320,000.

In his concluding remarks, Mr Hinman said, "The Government has decided on a policy of retrenchment which can be accomplished without drastic reduction in services, without lowering the levels of assistance to municipalities, without the imposition of new taxes for provincial purposes and without such a call on our reserves as might lead us to the necessity of imposing some economy-shattering new taxes at a later date".

Mr. Hinman told newsmen that the budget does not contain a direct figure on actual financial assistance for the various municipalities under the new foundation program for education. These details are still being worked out. A lump sum of 49 million dollars for school grants, an increase of three million over last year is listed in the estimates.

SCHOOL FINANCING

Earlier in the week Education Minister A. O. Aalborg outlined a six-point formula to distribute financial assistance under the "Foundation Program of School Financing". The program is based on six cost factors: instruction, transportation, operation and maintenance, instructional aids, debenture repayments and administration.

Instructional financial aid will be paid on a basis of each teacher employed (varying according to the teachers' qualifications) and also on a per pupil basis.

Transportation assistance will be on a per pupil per mile basis.

Operation and maintenance assistance will be on a fixed amount for each teacher employed.

Debenture repayments will consist of a fixed amount per pupil subject to local conditions.

The sixth factor, administration, will be a small percentage of the total amount payable as determined by the other five factors.

Mr. Aalberg said the main advantage of this program is that the autonomy of school boards is preserved.

CONTINGENCY GRANT

The program is based on approved costs. For costs not approved by the Government, there is an unapproved or contingency grant phase of the program. The school board might be able to obtain a contingency grant for all or part of this amount.

Mr Aalborg said there are many details still to be considered such as determining and submitting requisitions for unapproved costs and treatment of surpluses and deficits incurred by the board.

In other debate in the Legislature Mike Maccagno (Lib Lac La Biche) questioned how much local autonomy was being retained when the Government strikes a 33-mill uniform tax rate and uniform assessment.

Two Calgary Social Credit members, Albert Ludwig and Charles Johnston, spoke in favor of the University Faculties of Law and Commerce being moved from Edmonton to Calgary.

Alex Gordey (SC-Vegreville) contended that a chain of neglectful attitudes and irresponsibilities contributed to the Lamont school bus tragedy of Nov 29th that claimed 17 lives.

Chauvin 4-H Rink Captures Fourth

Chauvin rink number 1 captured the fourth prize in the 4-H Club district bonspiel held in Vermilion, amassing 21½ points. This won them a prize of pens donated by Vic's Pharmacy. Left to right they are: Ken Swanson, skip; Joan Nystvold, 3rd; Linda Paradis, second, and Sharon Swanson, lead.

Protection Against Polio

Health Unit Notes

Vaccination is your protection against this dread killer and crippler disease. Here are some answers to your questions about poliomyelitis vaccine:

QUES. What is poliomyelitis vaccine?

ANS. The vaccine is polio virus grown in the laboratory, then killed and made safe so that it is effective in causing the body to build defences against the disease.

QUES.: Who should be vaccinated?

ANS.: Everyone, no matter what age, commencing with infants over the age of three months. Although poliomyelitis attacks are still most prevalent and serious in the 1 to 21 age group and among pregnant women, no one is exempt.

QUES.: How many injections are required?

ANS.: Three doses are needed, with one to three months interval between the first and second injection and six to 12 months interval between the second and third.

QUES.: When does protection begin?

ANS.: Body defences begin to form seven to ten days following the first injection and increase sharply after the [illegible] injection. The third [illegible] these defences to the [illegible] high level.

QUES.: How common is poliomyelitis in Canada?

ANS.: The disease, [illegible] infantile paralysis, [illegible] known in Canada [illegible] years. However, there has been a steady increase in the number of cases since 1946.

HERE IS CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE:

In 1955 a control test was run on 1,800,000 vaccinated and unvaccinated children in Ontario under 18 years of age. Among the 840,000 who had received one or more inoculations, there were five cases only of paralytic polio. Among the 960,000 who were unvaccinated, 71 attacks were recorded.

Any adult wishing to commence the course or receive their second or third injections will be able to do so during the baby clinics held throughout the Health Unit area at all main centres, and also at the special adult polio clinics held at various times throughout the year.

School Building Requests Under Advisement

In his annual report to the ratepayers, Vermilion School Division Board Chairman W. C. McGrath of Tolland, said that building plans for 1961 were not yet complete, and that two major construction possibilities were still under advisement.

REQUESTS FROM P.V. AND BLACKFOOT

The two possibilities deal with requests from residents in the Paradise Valley and Blackfoot areas for additional schoolroom accommodation. In his report Mr. McGrath said that the Board had requested the Department of Education to make a survey of the Eastern area of the division. This report has now been received at the division office in Vermilion and is under consideration.

In his report dealing with construction during the past year, the chairman noted that while no major building had been undertaken, a three-room teacherage had been built at Kitscoty, a new one-room school had been provided for the Hutterite Colony, porches had been built at Preston school and Vermilion high school and a complete water and sewer system had been added to the school plant at Streamstown.

In dealing with the building program in the school division over the past year, the report noted that the division had been fortunate in that its major building projects had been undertaken at a period when debenture money was readily available and consequently comparatively cheap. The report implied that the situation was different today, and any major construction in the future was liable to prove considerably more expensive than in the past.

INCREASED GRANT EQUAL TO FOUR MILLS

Dealing directly with school division finances, Mr McGrath said that increased government grants during the year had amounted to some $75,000, or the equivalent of around four mills on the tax rate. This increase in grant had enabled the Division Board to keep the rise in the local taxes down to one mill. However, during 1960 a change in the Grants Act was introduced, under which any school board having less than an average of 25 pupils per room would find the grant effected. Under present circumstances this could cost the Vermilion S. D. in the neighborhood of $36,000 annually. A delegation had presented a protest to the Department of Education and a resolution objecting to the situation had been sent to the Alberta School Trustees' Association. The chairman added that he hoped the change in the Grants Act would not affect the division adversely.

Two other points mentioned in Chairman McGrath's report of school division activities are of particular interest. The first dealt with the return of Trustees J. E. Millar and C. N. Brennan for subdivisions 2 and 6 and the second was an announcement that the division will not hold its 1961 budget meeting until the Legislature has determined the formula to be followed in making grant payments.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT IN SCHOOL STANDINGS

In his report presented to the divisional meeting, J. H. Blocksidge noted that the results from Departmental examinations written by Grade 12 students in 1960 indicated considerable room for improvement, and said that steps were underway to try and remedy that situation. The analysis of the results of Departmental exams for grade 12 students last year showed that, of the papers written by students in the Vermilion School Division only 10 or 3% of the 361 written, rated an H (80 or higher) standing. Of the remainder, 80 papers or 22% were graded A (65 to 79) 124, or 34% graded B (50 to 64) 93 or 26% of the total were only graded C or between 40 and 49 while in the D category, representing marks of from 0 to 39, fifty four papers or 15% of the total written fell into this classification.

ONLY 60% PAPERS ACCEPTABLE FOR MATRICULATION

In his explanation of the standings, the superintendent said that those who obtained B and better gradings (acceptable in matriculation programs and considered adequate in all programs) represented about 60% of all papers. A further approximate 25% gained C ratings (acceptable only on non-matriculation programs and weak gradings). The report quoted that this was close to the provincial average but by no means as strong as is desireable.

The number of papers written, 361, was lower than in the previous years, and is "very much a cause for concern".

MORALE & ACHIEVEMENT

The superintendent's report noted that during the year, much attention was given to the associated matters of morale and achievement by members of the board, the supervisor, principals and staff members. Meetings with students were held in several centres, and every opportunity to speak to adult groups on these matters was taken. The superintendent said that the problem is manifest to some degree in the grade 9 and 12 results, and the number of drop-outs in grades 9 and 12. Attention to the problem by all concerned, is continuing, but, Mr. Blocksidge said, it is recognized that community expectations are a major factor in such matters, and he sincerely hoped that positive attention would be given by all parents to help provide a solution to the problem.

He concluded his remarks on this question with these words: "Some changes are noted, but the problem is still of such immediate concern that there is no excuse for complacency".

SPECIAL COURSES MAY HELP OVERCOME LOW MARKS

In his report as School Division Superintendent, Mr. Blocksidge mentioned three separate projects, underway at the moment, designed to help overcome the weaknesses in the student marks. These include a special program in reading for Junior high school students - in this regard the superintendent said that reading is a tool - subject, common to success in most subjects, and that investigations over the past year have shown considerable difficulty with this phase of the general work. The second effort along this line at present underway in division schools is the holding of special remedial classes, in progress at Marwayne and Vermilion. In general the students placed in these classes were there as permanent placements for a year, and the work included new instruction as well as the remedial courses. Beginning Sept 1 1960, one of the rooms in Marwayne was organized on a full time remedial basis, in that it takes groups from many classrooms.

The report noted that this project had required a great deal of reorganization of all timetables in the school, and that it has taken a great deal of time and work on the part of the staff to bring the program to its present state. In his conclusion regarding these special classes, the superintendent said that in evaluating the work done by the remedial instruction there are major factors of grant and cost to be considered as well as the matter of progress. However at present it is felt that this experiment has proved highly worthwhile. The third project under way in Vermilion division schools deals [illegible] with the [illegible] effort [illegible] school [illegible] to [illegible] the academic standings up to more acceptable levels and is aimed at the improvement in high school mathematics. Mr. Blocksidge said a joint project is underway in five divisions to [illegible] and remedial attention for Mathematics 10. The principals and many of the teachers in grades 9 and 10 are actively involved. It is expected that a start in this field which will be continued in order to improve instruction in this subject.

Editor's Note: Attention of parents of grade 12 students who may be having difficulty with their [illegible] is drawn to an announcement in this week's Standard and [illegible], a further effort on the part of the teaching staff of Vermilion high school to help students improve their standings. Starting March 18th and continuing [illegible] until exam time in June, the staff is going to be on duty at the high school on Saturday mornings from 9 until noon to provide instruction to those students who feel they would benefit by extra help.

GOOD SIGN

A storekeeper who had heard his customers talking a lot about the unemployment problem, the farm problem, the [illegible] problem etc. etc. finally had an inspiration. He prepared a big sign and put it up on the wall where everyone could read it. It was a very provoking sign which read:

"Are you helping towards the solution or just part of the problem?"

The answer that question [illegible] for each of us to take a look at himself. Is he leaning on society or is he contributing to it? Is he asking for handouts or is he giving? Does his scheme for the welfare of the country call for any sacrifice on his part or is it a scheme to force others to sacrifice? Since the sign made customers less inclined to talk glibly about solutions to serious problems.

There is another statement that might well be set up in bold type and used as a sign for all to read. It's a quotation from a salesman who said:

"There is nothing wrong with the Canadian economy that a 20 per cent increase in sales wouldn't cure."

That makes sense. Today we are not able to manufacture and sell enough Canadian products to absorb the manpower once employed on farms but now seeking city work. Farm policies over the past twenty years have led to surplus after surplus and there is no realistic solution in sight. [illegible] industry must take up the slack. More Canadian goods must be made and sold on world markets.

How can these sales be accomplished? Only by becoming more efficient, by keeping our quality high and prices low. Any person who is not working towards that solution is part of the problem.

Canadians own $2 [illegible] worth of life insurance per person.

TIPS ON TOUR: Engineers and traffic safety experts make the modern super highways the safest possible high speed roads, but the last word in safety is up to you.

Here are some pointers on safe superhighway driving:

Stay alert! Sustained high speed, unvaried sounds and fixed staring ahead can hypnotize a motorist, make his mind wander, his attention go dull. Remember that at 60 miles per hour, you move 88 feet in one second. It takes 366 feet—or 23 car lengths—to stop. A second's distraction can be dangerous.

To stay alert, play the radio, talk to your passengers, sing, check the rear and side view mirror and the instrument panel.

Stop every two hours. Walk around. If you feel sleepy, splash cold water on your face.

If you stop, pull off the road completely. If you need help for repairs, raise the hood, tie a [illegible] on the left door handle. Then wait patiently - inside the car — for police or highway patrol.

As you leave a superhighway, check your speedometer to be sure you have slowed down. You are used to speed, and you must readjust your thinking and driving to the lower speed of the [illegible].

Minutes of February Meeting of Agricultural Service Board

These are the minutes of the Agricultural Service Board meeting held at the municipal office, Kitscoty, Feb. 21st. Present were: Chairman J. C. Anderson, members J. D. Stone, J. Hale, P. Dobson, H. M. Douglas, J. H. Kelly, Field Supervisor A. Hemack, Assistant D.A., D. Peters, Supervisor of Soils and Weed Control W. Lobay and T. Radikan.

Moved by P. Dobson that the minutes of the meeting of the board held [illegible] be adopted as read.

A discussion ensued concerning the form of the minutes as they had been drawn up in the past and during this discussion Mr Lobay pointed out that from the point of view of the Department the minutes were quite adequate but that the use which was made of them by the local administrative bodies would determine to a great extent the most suitable form in which the minutes should be prepared and [illegible].

FIELD SUPERVISOR'S REPORT

The annual report of the field supervisor concerning the activities of the board as presented in the auditor's financial statement of the M.D. of Vermilion River No. 71 which was sent to each ratepayer and was the subject of discussion at the annual ratepayers' meeting was discussed freely and at some length by those present. The actual functions of the board as related to the report of its activities were examined closely with a view to coming up with an honest appraisal of what was actually being accomplished by the board.

Moved by Mr Dobson that the field supervisor's report as presented to the ratepayers in the [illegible] statement be approved and that in future this report be presented to the Agricultural Service Board before being published and circulated to the ratepayers. Carried

TREES FOR WINDBREAKS

Correspondence between the board and the Field Crops branch concerning the [illegible] which trees should be planted from roads to form effective snow traps and windbreaks, prompted a thorough discussion of the whole field of procuring extra width on road allowances, moving fences, removing brush and making the land available and fit for cultivation. After reviewing the field thoroughly it was agreed that the co-operation of farmers involved in the particular project was absolutely necessary in implementing a [illegible] back-sloping and tree-planting and roadside seeding program.

The council members of the board pointed out that this had not always been forthcoming and it was suggested by the board that greater publicity should be given to the benefits of such a program and the need for [illegible] a successful year-round operation of traffic on municipal roads. Mr Lobay brought information to the board concerning the successful operation of the plan in some other parts of the province when all those involved in a back-sloping project were gathered together at a local meeting and the support of those present was solicited and obtained before the project was undertaken. In this manner the benefits of the program were brought directly to those who would be immediately affected. Many difficulties and misconceptions had been ironed out at such meetings. It was Mr Lobay's suggestion that the board could function most effectively in this capacity, their efforts being used to supplement the council's in this particular sphere of activity relating the agricultural benefits to the public works benefits in the implementation of a backsloping, tree-planting and roadside seeding operation.

Mr. Douglas informed the board that approximately 17,000 trees had been planted in 1960, which he considered to be a good year.

BLOOD - TESTING PROGRAM

In reviewing the Brucellosis blood-testing program as conducted to date the board was informed that approximately 11,000 cattle had been tested with the number of reactors revealed still being below the one-half of 1% allowable in a Bangs free area. The [illegible] of shipping reactors as outlined by Dr Morris at a recent council meeting was reviewed for the benefit of the board. The need for isolating the reactors completely from healthy animals was stressed and to carry this out successfully it was necessary to form a partition from floor to ceiling of the shipping vehicle a head-high partition not being sufficient.

The [illegible] ship[illegible] suspicious animals at the time they were so declared as opposed to keeping such animals in isolation until cleared or declared reactors was dealt with by the board. The comparison in terms of return to the owner being between the market price obtained for a suspicious animal as compared to that obtained for a branded reactor plus the bonus received from the government. Opinion seemed to be pretty well divided between the two schools of thought on this subject.

Correspondence was made available to the board from Dr. E. E. Ballantyne, Director of Veterinary Services, the Alberta Department of Agriculture, and Dr A. E. Lewis, District Veterinarian, Health of Animals Division, of the Canadian Department of Agriculture, dealing with the movement of cattle from Saskatchewan through the Lloydminster area facilities into the M.D. Vermilion River No. 71. Information was given to the effect that arrangements were being made for the Brucellosis testing of additions to the Bangs free area at the Saskatchewan border stockyards and auction marts. It was pointed out in the letter that no test is required on steers, spayed heifers, calves under 8 months and official vaccinates under three years.

Instructions were given to communicate to Dr. Lewis that the board, as well as being interested in the control of Brucellosis, is interested in the whole field of the Health of Animals and the intent as expressed in their motion at the last meeting of the board was to draw to the attention of the authorities the threat in the whole health of animals field posed by the lack of control at the Saskatchewan border stockyards and auction markets.

CONTROL OF WEEDS ESSAY WINNER

A communication was received from the Department of Agriculture enclosing the winning essay in the 1960 N.C.W.C.C. [illegible]. The subject was "How We Control Weeds on Our Farm". The winning essay was submitted by a 16-year-old 4-H club girl from Manitoba. Alberta's entry stood fifth in the competition. The essay stresses a year round program of measures designed to control weeds on the farm and mentions many facts regarding the control of such weeds. These facts accounted for the greater percentage of points awarded to the winning essay.

It was brought to the attention of the board that the 1961 competition will be launched before too long and the hope was expressed that many contestants would be submitting good entries for this contest. It was regretted by the board that time did not permit the presentation of the winning essay at the meeting, but instructions were given to have it available for presentation at the next meeting.

TREE PLANTER

The board considered the formulation of a guide in connection with the use of the tree planter which is to be made available to those engaged in agriculture in this area. Briefly the guide covers the method of obtaining trees for shelterbelt, farmstead or roadside planting, preparations which the farmer must have made before the planter is delivered to his farmstead, what he must provide in the way of a tractor and assistance and the rates to be charged for the use of the machine. A formal application will be appended to the guide for completion and dispatch to the municipal authorities or the district agriculturist. After much discussion it was decided by the board that to be most effective trees in roadside [illegible] should be planted 100 feet from road centre.

1961-62 BUDGET

In preparing the budget for the operation of the Agricultural Service Board activities in the municipality during the period April 1 1961 to March 31, 1962, appropriations were made under the headings as follows:

1. Personal Expenses: (a) The field supervisor's salary, $[illegible], government grant $[illegible], M.D. share, $[illegible]. (b) Field supervisor's travelling allowance, $[illegible], M D share, $[illegible]. (c) Board members' meetings, $400, M.D. share, $400.

2. Capital Expenditures: (a) Tree planter, $800: M.D. share, $800.

Operating Cost of Machinery: (a) Repairs, $10: M.D. share, $10.

4. Demonstrations: (a) Materials, equipment and labor, $300; government grant, $300.

5. Publicity (a) Publicizing A.S.B. program, $300, government grant, $[illegible]; M.D. $[illegible].

6. Special Agreements: (a) (4a) Herbicides, private land, $1200, government grant, $400; farmers' share, $400; M.D. $400. (b) (4b) Herbicides M.D. roads, $800; government share $[illegible]; M.D. $[illegible]. (c) (4e) Gully erosion control, $800, govt. share $200, farmers share, $200; M.D. $[illegible]. (d) (4f) Tree planting, $300, govt. share, $100; farmers' share, $[illegible].

7. Roadside Seeding: (a) Seed for 4 miles backsloped road per electoral division average value, $975, govt. share, $[illegible]: M. D. $[illegible].

8. Brucellosis Control: $11,000, government grant $11,000.

9 Pest Control (a) Coyote control, 1 horse, $75, M. D $75.

Total Budget $21,[illegible], government grant, $14,724, farmers' share, $[illegible], M.D. share $6,[illegible].

Moved by Mr Dobson that the budget providing for a total expenditure of $21,588 and for participation by the government in the form of grants to the extent of $14,724 and for the participation of the farmer ratepayers in the municipality to the extent of $800 and of the municipality to the extent of $6,054 be approved by the board and recommended to the council for consideration. Carried

Mr Lobay pointed out to the board that the Agricultural Service Board Act was enabling legislation and not mandatory, a council having the privilege of voting it into effect and voting it out of existence if they so desired. In the event that no Agricultural Service Board existed in the municipality no grants would be forthcoming under the Agricultural Service Board Act and, without assistance, it would be necessary for the municipality, under the Municipal Districts Act, to administer the terms of the Noxious Weed Act, and the Agricultural Pests Act. The first objectives of the board would be to administer a Weed Control program; further functions would be to interpret agricultural problems which would be passed to the Agricultural Service board rather than to the council. In this capacity the A.S.B. would be an advisory body to the council, but in addition to this it must be further stated that the board is also functioning in an advisory capacity to the Minister when it is fully operative and this particular facet of its existence is very often overlooked. Mr. Lobay further advised that fifty-two boards were operating throughout the province and performing a very useful service.

In outlining the objectives of Agricultural Service Boards and summing up their activities Mr Lobay stated that the purpose of the board and its function is to recommend certain policies to the council and in turn receive instructions from the council as to how these various policies are to be administered. The board then provides the necessary facilities for carrying out the policies of the council. The field supervisor as an arm of the board reports to each meeting his activities up to the time of the meeting, receives direction from the board as to his future activities in the form of a program implementation and then reports back progress to the board at their next meeting.

ADVOCATE USE OF PRESS, OTHER MEANS

Agricultural Service Board Not Fully Appreciated

It was found that the people engaged in agriculture do not, for the most part, appreciate the functions of the Agricultural Service Boards nor do they realize the benefits that accrue to them as the result of the Board's activities, to say nothing of the extent to which these activities may benefit them to an even greater measure by the proper presentation to the board, by farmers, of matters of concern to themselves and to the industry as a whole. As a result of the very small amount of publicity which is usually given to the boards' activities, many of the people engaged in agriculture did not know of the board's existence as an effective body and it was recommended that all forms of publicity including the use of television where available, publicity by means of the written word both in the form of circulars and advertisements and articles in the local press, on [illegible] the line to most effective promotion of all, that of the individual, be utilized to a greater extent.

The board was informed that in some municipalities a publication in the form of a news letter is sponsored and published by the local agricultural service board.

PURE BRED SIRES

The difficulties which had been encountered in successfully applying the terms and conditions of the Pure Bred Sire Area Act were reviewed by the board and the conclusion was reached that in practice the full benefits of the Act were not accruing to the area in that the terms and conditions could not be successfully applied although it was felt that much had been accomplished in improving the livestock in the area by having the Act in effect here.

Moved by Mr Stone that the council be informed that the board questions the applicability of the Pure Bred Sire Area Act in this municipality and requests the opinion of the council as to the advisability of investigating this matter further. Carried

WATER EROSION

The subject of water erosion was discussed briefly by the board and the program in which the Department would participate involving land up to 20 acres was outlined again. It was estimated that the acreage figure could be expanded to some extent under circumstances where full co-operation was forthcoming from the participating farmer.

RUSSIAN WILD RYE

The board considered the virtues of Russian Wild Rye. Its unusually high retention of the Vitamin A content to a relatively late [illegible] provides a particularly nutritious pasture crop in the late fall. Experience has also proven its high resistance to winter kill.

Moved by Mr. Dobson that the board is highly appreciative of Mr Lobay's attendance at their budget meeting as he has contributed very greatly to its success. Carried Moved by Mr. Douglas that the meeting adjourn.

Vermilion Public Schools Observe Education Week

School Board Member Addresses Rotary Club

Claude Brennan, member of the divisional school board, was the guest speaker at last Friday's meeting of the Vermilion Rotary Club. Mr. Brennan chose as his subject "The Development of Educational Facilities in this District."

[illegible]

The speaker said the first school in Vermilion started in 1906 with 8 children. During the present school year the enrolment is nearly 900. Between 1906 and 1961 the historical record lists many devoted teachers and trustees who built up the fine educational facilities which we now have in this town and district.

Mr. Brennan mentioned that before 1905 there were very few settlers in this area and they were mostly ranchers. He mentioned Hugh Evans, Lance Payne, the Purvis and the Rutherfords. He had a great wealth of information on personalities down the years, which made his talk most interesting.

The speaker was introduced by Fred Stewart who was chairman of the committee. He was thanked by His Worship Mayor McCormick.

Vice-President Bill Sutherland presided at the meeting in place of President Elmore Stewart who was unable to attend owing to illness.

Objective Reached

The initial objective of $30,000 for the recreation and agricultural centre has been reached in the canvass of business firms and individuals in the district.

In reporting to the Vermilion Chamber of Commerce, Angus MacMillan said that subscription books are still open and anyone wishing to contribute would be given the opportunity to do so.

Speakers Outline History of Vermilion School District

As a feature of Education Week, a program of special interest to this community was presented on the evening of March 8th in the Vermilion Primary and Junior elementary schools.

The program was opened with a short talk by Mr. J. Kindrachuk principal of the schools. He stressed the importance and the desirability of the schools, the teachers and the parents meeting on the common ground of education. The centralized school was compared to a river being fed by many streams each adding its burden and its strength to the ever enlarging stream.

Following this theme the next item on the program was very capably introduced and co-ordinated by Mr. Claude Brennan. At the outset he gave a resume of the history of the Vermilion School District from the time it was first organized until the establishment of the centralized school as it now exists.

Introduced by Mr. Brennan were representatives from school districts now contributing to the Vermilion Central school. Each speaker gave a short historical sketch of their district and recalled some interesting highlights and personalities of pioneer days. These were much enjoyed by the audience.

These speakers and the respective districts were as follows: Bowtell Mr Tom Fenton; King Edward Mr Ross Taylor; Turkey Hill, Mr Jack Neale; Gap Lake Mr Stan McCrae; Thorncliffe, Mr Claude Bishop; Campbell Lake, Mr. Rock Mead; Poplar Heights, Mr Ralph Wilson; Island Hill, Mr. Norman Armstrong; Ottawa Mr Arthur Tovell; Optimist Mrs. Jack Hobbs; Chatsworth Mrs. Evelyn Henningsen; Pelican Lake Mr. Michael Simonot; Morrison, Mrs Keith Inman; Carlton, Mr Joe Hart; Bird Hill, Mr Morton Tovell; Union, Mrs. H Teasdale.

FIRST TEACHER, STUDENT PRESENT

The presence of two local ladies in the persons of Miss Gertrude Craig and Miss Beth Witherbe added much interest to the program.

Miss Craig was the first teacher of the Wildmere school way back in the year 1910. She spoke briefly of the incidents leading to her appointment as teacher of the school. She paid the highest tribute to the people of that district. Miss Witherbe was a member of the first school organized in Vermilion. She had on display a picture of the first class of eight pupils.

MUSICAL INTERLUDE

A delightful musical interlude was provided by Mrs. Wm. Rebuck who played a medley of Irish songs. Mr Johnny Webb, accompanied on the piano by Mrs Morris favored the audience with three familiar and well-loved songs. These were very appropriate to the occasion and much enjoyed by all.

Following the program lunch was served by Vermilion Home and School Association. Open House provided an opportunity for parents to visit the classrooms in the primary and elementary schools where children's work and books were on display.

The guest book, signed by approximately two hundred guests, was in charge of Mrs. Harry Scott.

The principal and staff of the primary and elementary schools wish to sincerely thank each and everyone who in any way contributed to the success of the evening. Among those deserving special mention are the speakers who gave the historical sketches of the [illegible], the Home and School for serving lunch and the parents who provided lunch for the evening. A big thank you also to those who contributed musical numbers and to the appreciative audience who by their presence made the whole undertaking worth [illegible] rewarding.

Livestock Sales Command Interest

Entries are now being received for the sale of purebred hogs which is scheduled for April 8th, and for the sale of purebred beef cattle which will be held on April 27th.

All breeders desiring to take advantage of the opportunity to dispose of quality animals are urged to present their entries to the office of S. C. Heckbert, Secretary Manager of the Vermilion Fair, as soon as possible so that catalogs may be prepared and distributed over a wide area in order to advise potential buyers of the animals available.

The Agricultural Society is anxious to support the distribution of high quality herd sires and others to breeders interested in the improvement of their herds.

Present plans call for holding the hog sale at the Vermilion Auction Mart and the cattle sale at the fine new pavilion rapidly nearing completion in the fair grounds. The building will be the finest of its kind in Western Canada and its availability for the use of the community has been made possible by the generous response of all district people and businesses to the canvass for funds initiated some time ago by the Agricultural Society and the Chamber of Commerce.

Those wishing to donate towards this building still have the opportunity to do so and contributions will be gratefully received at the office of S. C. Heckbert.

Father-Son Farm Agreements Arouse Considerable Interest

Many Subjects Discussed At Record Mannville Short Course

A better than average attendance greeted the speakers at the Mannville short course on February 28th, March 1st and 2nd. A high of 40 men in the morning and 75 in the afternoon was recorded at the Legion hall. The ladies course held concurrently in the United Church had a somewhat smaller attendance.

MANY SUBJECTS DISCUSSED

Dr McElroy, Department of Animal Science, U. of A., spoke Tuesday morning in which [illegible] he urged farmers to remember the time honored rules of animal nutrition, watch the dollars and buy beef cattle right before starting a feeding operation. After lunch Dr Ballantyne raised many an eyebrow when he discussed at length where farmers fit into the catastrophe of modern warfare. Later on Tuesday Joe Gurba, Alberta's Supervisor of Farm Planning, [illegible] what happened during 1960 and what could be expected in 1961. Wednesday morning Mr C. A Cheshire, Supervisor of District Agriculturists for Alberta, reviewed ten years of farm machinery development and warned farmers about the cost associated with owning machinery. He said there is evidence that farmers will be renting machinery sooner than we realize. Following lunch, Jack Stothart, Superintendent of Lacombe Experimental farm, reported on recent forage crop developments and what possibilities the future holds. Henry Friesen, officer in charge of Weeds and Crop Spray Development, Lacombe Experimental farm, discussed old and new crop sprays, soil sterilants and the importance of proper calibration of field sprayers. He then stepped

There were seventeen nurses present to welcome Mrs. [illegible] Seager, assistant executive secretary of the A.A.R.N.

The minutes and treasurer's report were accepted as given. Several letters were read and tabled until the next meeting.

"OPEN HOUSE" IN APRIL

It was agreed to hold "Open House" at the Vermilion hospital for interested high school students during the high school career program April 12. It is expected to have a film on nursing for showing at that time. Mrs Mary McLaughlin gave the report on the Chapter's by-laws. The annual gift to the student at the School of Agriculture obtaining the highest marks in Home Nursing is to be purchased by the president and [illegible].

Mrs. Doris Coulter was chosen as Friendship convener for the coming year and Mrs Edith Waldenberger as press reporter. Mrs Maxine King offered to convene the bake sale which is to be held in April.

Following the business meeting the president, Mrs. Catherine Jackson introduced Mrs Seager who brought greetings from head office. She was visiting chapters and hospitals in Eastern Alberta and had high praise for the beautiful and clean rooms in the Vermilion hospital. Her talk was very informative and clarified many points that heretofore had not been clear to the members. The program and plans for the convention that will be held in Banff in May were also outlined. After a quiz session a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close. Mrs Catherine Jackson offered her home for the March meeting.

Grade 9 Students Visit Legislature

Grade nine students of the Vermilion high school 67 in all made a tour of the Legislative Building in Edmonton on Friday last, proceeding from there to the Alberta Jubilee Auditorium. The students were accompanied by four of their teachers, Miss Sheila Purvis, Mrs. M Klashinsky, Mr Frank Welsh and Mr [illegible].

Supplying transportation to the city were a number of parents including [illegible] Ward McDonald, Joe Hart, Alan Jones, Clarence Moren, Joe [illegible], [illegible] Pedersen, Len [illegible], Otto Mergl and E. Clendenning.

The large party was met at the Legislative Building by the local M.L.A. Ashley Cooper who along with a guide Mr Campbell accompanied the party on a tour of the building.

Seated in the galleries the students also viewed the opening ceremony for the day. Mr Cooper then introduced the students as a body and the parents and teachers individually to the Speaker, cabinet ministers and members of the House.

Following this the party proceeded to the Alberta Jubilee auditorium for a guided tour of that outstanding building.

Polio Fund Canvass Under Way

On Monday of this week members of the Canadian Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary commenced a canvass of the town for donation to the Polio Fund.

According to George Martin committee chairman the canvass is getting a good reception from citizens and it is hoped that the objective of $2,000.00 will be reached.

In looking over past records the committee has confirmed [illegible] that objectives in the past always depended on the farmers' donations to put the canvass over the top. It is not possible to visit country places, so the committee asks that farm families bring in their donations.

The following will be pleased to accept contributions and issue receipts: Thos Watts, Thos Wilson, Geo. Martin, Ernie Buckingham or any member of the Legion executive.

Broadening of Tax Base Should Have Stabilizing Effect

Vermilion people generally, and the Town Council in particular, are no doubt wondering right now what the outcome of the new 32 mill school rate will mean in the way of dollars and cents. Those who understand the mathematics of the proposed system have worked out a few examples based on the requisitions actually made in 1960. For instance, in the Town of Vermilion the school rate was 33 mills, and requisition actually paid was $94,283.00. If the new equalized system had been effective in 1960 the mill rate would have been 24.72 and the requisition paid $67,-367.00, a very considerable reduction.

In the case of Vermilion River School Division, on the basis of 1960 the requisition would be lowered from $592,-288.00 to $512,284.00, and the mill rate from 37 to 31.36. It is to be hoped that the same situation exists in 1961.

The stabilizing effect of the broadening of the tax base should prove its worth in future years.

Youth Program: Continued Progress

Some 10,000 Junior Red Cross members in classrooms throughout Alberta contributed over $20,000 in the past year to help young people in under-privileged countries around the world. More than $14,000 of this amount was raised for World Refugee Year with close to $4,000 contributed to the Junior Red Cross Fund for International Understanding. The balance of approximately $3,000 went to provide health kits for young earthquake victims in Chile, bedding, toys and health kits to refugees in Hong Kong and layettes for use of disaster stock piling by the league of Red Cross Societies.

Friendship with classmates in other lands was promoted through exchange of correspondence albums, art and crafts.

Some 56 Red Cross youths from Alberta high schools attended the annual leadership training course held at Banff. For the first time this year the course was a joint project with 30 juniors from Saskatchewan registering at the workshop. To provide educationists with information on the Jr. Red Cross program and its application to the school curriculum the third annual teachers' workship was held at the Banff School of Fine Arts with more than 50 educationists in attendance from points throughout the province.

Agricultural Short Courses 1961

If we judge short courses by attendance, speakers and material dealt with, Lloydminster and Mannville were successful in 1961. To have a successful short course requires that someone does a lot of work, attends a lot of meetings and spends some money.

It costs money to bring an officer of an Experimental Farm to speak for two hours on two consecutive days. It disrupts a research program, involves transportation and lodging costs. Furthermore these men often receive salaries of up to forty dollars a day. Consequently two days off the job are a major expense to the employer. When a University professor goes to a short course, lectures stop. In view of the luxury of a short course we people of this part of Alberta must consider ourselves lucky.

But this is not all. A short course is usually organized by a local committee in view of an evaluation of the previous year. To this committee falls the job of deciding what to do this year. Their decisions are usually arrived at in the presence of the District Agriculturist and the District Home Economist who now must pick up the ball. The D.A. and D.H.Ec. ask for speakers, suggest alternatives and sell the local committee on ideas and at the same time sell headquarters on the local committee's ideas. In Alberta the D.A. and D.H.Ec. are in charge because they are the only people who are close to the local situation and understand headquarters.

Sometimes we feel that the speakers make the short course, but where would we be without a hall or without anyone knowing about the course? At Mannville the Agricultural Service Board does the advertising and picks up the tab. At Lloydminster the Chamber of Commerce and the Exhibition Association do an excellent job of advertising and pay the rent. This alone would not accomplish the turn-out at the door except for the excellent coverage by local newspapers, radio and TV.

Where Are the Teenagers' Jobs?

The Canadian economy, it is increasingly clear, is facing a very fundamental change of pace. There will soon be a great surge of teenagers — the vast number of post-war babies — flooding into the work force in annual numbers 15 to 20 times as great as in the early post-war years. Canadian businessmen are counting on the many demands of these youngsters as they come to the time of marrying, buying cars and houses, raising babies, etc., etc., to produce another big boom — probably in the mid-1960's.

But just having more people around won't be enough to carry the economy into a big-scale and lasting period of expansion. There will have to be many more jobs ready for the youngsters, or they will put off marriage, put off house-buying, put off spending until they have some income.

Plainly, the surge of young people into the work force provides Canada with a magnificent opportunity for growth and prosperity. But it would be tragic if the chance were missed because the government — which, after all, is the pace-setter for the economy — is too loaded with archaic ideas to do some free-wheeling and pragmatic thinking.

ALBERTANS INVITED BUCKINGHAM PALACE

Alberta residents planning United Kingdom vacations in May or July may make a request for an invitation to one of three Royal Garden parties to be held this year at Buckingham Palace. Invitation requests should be submitted to Alberta House, 37 Hill Street, London W. 1, England, according to Hon. A. R. Patrick, Provincial Secretary.

Canada House and Alberta House in London have been advised by the Royal Chamberlain that Her Majesty will hold garden parties Thursday May 11, Thursday July 6 and Thursday July 27.

Alberta's Agent General in the United Kingdom, R. A. McMullen, advises that all requests from resident Albertans will be forwarded to the Lord Chamberlain for consideration. Applications for the May garden party should reach Alberta House no later than March 31, while invitation requests for the July parties should reach Alberta House no later than April 30.

GREEN ACRES

Animal buildings, where controlled conditions are required, [illegible] the most critical of these is moisture removal. When a building is properly constructed, with a vapor barrier and insulation, moisture will condense on the walls and ceiling wetting the litter. These conditions are favorable for disease (pneumonia).

Ventilation serves two functions, the removal of excess moisture and stale air. Moisture is removed by exhausting warm air and replacing it with cold, relatively dry air. At the same time a good supply of fresh air replaces the stale air.

Precautions must be taken when ventilating to prevent young animals or birds coming in contact with drafts. In simpler types, the warm moist air is collected by a flue or fan and discharged from the building while an attempt is made to introduce the cold air in a thin ribbon around the upper perimeter of the building. This will prevent cold drafts.

BUILDING MAINTENANCE

Frame constructed farm service buildings represent an appreciable investment and their life can be extended greatly by the periodic use of paint or some other protective coatings, and this should be considered as essential a part of the construction as good foundations or weatherproof design.

OATS FOR HAY

M. R. Kilcher, Canada Department of Agriculture at Swift Current advises green oats make the best annual hay crop on the prairie drylands. Green oats on summerfallow, cut in the dough stage have averaged two tons per acre of hay compared with one and a half tons for the millets and one ton for corn.

Some other advantages of oats as a hay crop: special equipment is not required for seeding and harvesting; oats emerge from a cold soil much better than other crops; they grow more quickly and are usually harvested well before grain harvest. The other crops compete poorly with weeds during the cool spring, grow slowly at first and, if they survive the dry parts of the midsummer are not ready for harvesting until about early September.

COOKING CATASTROPHES.

These occur even with the most experienced cooks. The gravy is too salty or too lumpy, the custard sauce curdles or the cake icing becomes too hard before being spread on the cake. These and many more happen in most kitchens from time to time. Some cooking failures can be salvaged making the food more acceptable for serving.

WHAT TO DO

If too much salt has been added to soup or gravy, try adding a cut up raw potato which may absorb the excess salt. Sometimes you may merely increase the quantity of liquid.

When custard sauce or pudding separates or begins to curdle, place saucepan over cold water or dump mixture into a cold bowl and beat with an egg beater or wire whisk. Next time remember to cook custard slowly ... just until it coats a dry metal spoon.

If cooked icing starts to harden before you can spread it you've probably cooked it too long. Beat in a few drops of lemon juice or boiling water.

SOME COMMON PROBLEMS:

When home-made mayonnaise separates, put an egg yolk in a bowl and slowly beat in the dressing.

If the beans should get burned, quickly empty the part that isn't stuck into another pan, and add enough water to complete the cooking. Do not add fresh water to a pan where there is scorch. The unscorched beans will take on a scorched flavor.

When the fudge won't harden, possibly you haven't cooked it enough. Put it back into the saucepan, add a teaspoon or two of water and cook and stir until it reaches the degree of doneness [illegible] for in the recipe.

OTHER KITCHEN HINTS:

When possible wash cooking utensils as soon as you finish using them. Put cold water in utensils containing egg and starch [illegible] and hot water in those which contained fats and sugars.

Avoid sticking when rolling pie crusts and cookies. Use a canvas pastry cloth. A rolling pin slip cover can be made from baby's white stocking minus heel and toe. These can easily be washed every few weeks.

A kitchen timer with bell is useful for timing food which is cooking in the oven or on top of stove.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Due to numerous questions asked pertaining to Brucellosis control in our area, M.D. Vermilion River No. 71, I would appreciate space in your paper to comment on them.

First of all, I believe that Brucellosis control, if properly executed, is a wonderful program and will eventually help us all from a financial as well as a health point of view. We had a plebiscite on this matter in 1951 which passed and the "Federal Control Area of Vermilion River" was set up.

Agreements were made with all available veterinarians in the area and the program started. The ultimate objective was for a 'Brucellosis Free' area in approximately ten years. The program called for calfhood vaccinations between 4 and 11 months of age and vaccination was compulsory.

As I see the situation, this was the weakness in the whole program. It was impossible to cover the entire M.D. twice a year so farmers were advised to vaccinate regardless of age. I feel that a lot of family milk cows and dairy cows are affected on that account. If vaccinated after the 11 month age limit there is more chance of the animal retaining a positive blood titre for the rest of its life.

It seems that professional opinions vary greatly on this matter, but one question comes to my mind, assuming that the Service Board and M.D. have organized and operated according to provincial regulations. The question is, "Who is to blame for a 'suspicious or positive' reactor that has been vaccinated according to regulations and over th eleven month age limit?"

There have also been complaints due to rough treatment in blood testing. That matter seems to be ignored by all parties concerned. I do not believe that any farmer should stand these losses but so far have found no answer to the problem.

Some technicians are not taking the ages of the animals or properly filling out forms when blood testing is done. It is in the farmers' interests that this be done.

In conclusion, I repeat that if properly executed, this program could be very beneficial. Due to some regulations not being good enough and some carelessness of individuals concerned, I don't believe the public feeling or results are as desirable as hoped for.

Group Classes for Ladies' Organizations At Vermilion Fair

The advance prize list for ladies' classes for the 1961 Vermilion Fair are available for distribution and contain several interesting "group" classes for women's organizations such as Women's Institute, F.W.U.A. groups, Community Associations, etc.

Individual ladies and ladies' organizations are invited to obtain advance lists and prepare exhibits which will be housed in the splendid new building now nearing completion at the exhibition grounds.

Cash awards are made in all classes outlined in the list as well as for a number of special prizes so that groups particularly may earn substantial sums of cash to forward the objectives of their organization and, at the same time assist in making Vermilion's annual fair a truly district event.

For an advance prize list telephone No. 208 and one will be placed in the mail for you without delay.

Circle Eight Notes

The Circle Eight Square Dance club held their regular dance at Rowtell on Friday, March 10th. Club caller Johnny Maxwell was at the mike and we thoroughly enjoyed ourselves — then we very thoroughly stuffed ourselves with pie and ice cream.

Quite a number of our members turned out at the Isley Promenaders' dance and enjoyed the calling of Harold Schacher.

Our next dance will be on Friday, March 24th with Orv Johnson of the Cold Lake air base doing the calling. We are quite pleased to be the first club in this area to have Orv as our guest caller and we are equally sure that all the dancers will want to turn out for this occasion, so circle the date right now and be at the Rowtell hall at 8:30 p.m.

To eternity itself there is no other handle than the present moment. —Blaise Pascal

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT FINLAY

On February 28th Mr. and Mrs. Robert Finlay, residents of the Dewberry district since 1926, celebrated fifty years of marriage.

At a reception held in the home of their eldest son, David, the happy couple were feted by family and friends. Messages were received from Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Hon. J. Percy Page, Premier E. C. Manning and many many friends.

Members of the family gathered for this happy occasion were their three sons, David and Roy of Dewberry and John of Edmonton, three daughters, Mrs. Matt Brumacombe (Molly), Mrs. Russell Fleming (Marjorie) and Mrs. George Elliott (Eileen) all of Edmonton. Thirteen grandchildren completed the family circle.

The bride and groom of fifty years ago were both born in Newtownard, Ireland, and came to Canada in March 1926 settling in the Dewberry district. Here they remained, retiring from active farming eight years ago, but preferring to remain in the midst of family and friends.

A majestic three-tiered wedding cake was baked and decorated by their eldest daughter, Molly. The happy day was crowned with the presentation of a TV set from members of the family.

More About Mannville Short Course

out of his chosen field somewhat and reviewed fertilization. He warned as Mr. Cheshire and others had before him that we must not fertilize or spray because the advertisements suggest it or because the neighbors do it, but only because there is money in it.

FARM AND HOME MANAGEMENT

There was a change in the pace of the short course Thursday, when Miss Nancy Hooper, Home Economist and Morley Douglas, District Agriculturist, discussed Farm and Home Management. Miss Hooper outlined a means by which improved management could come about while Mr. Douglas pointed out what management means to the farm and who will do it. Both speakers stressed the importance of book keeping and asked if anyone would keep money in a bank where the banker refused to keep books.

FATHER - SON AGREEMENTS PROVE INTERESTING

After lunch a standing room only crowd listened to a panel discussion of "Father-Son Agreements". The panel was composed of Mr. Bill Dent, D.A., Two Hills; George Austin, Ranfurly, Gordon Miller, Vegreville; Castle Scott, Vermilion, J. J. Jones, of Mannville. Mr. Dent suggested ways by which fathers and sons entered agreements. George Austin, Gordon Miller and Castle Scott described how father-son agreements worked on their farms. At Austin's everyone is an individualist, keeping books on time and costs involved. At the end of the year, George, his brother and father settle their accounts. Gordon Miller stated why he and his father had used the Farm Purchase Credit Act to work out their agreement and pointed out its advantages. Mr. Castle Scott, a father, explained a 50-50 share agreement that he had with his son. Castle went further than anyone else stating that the son must gain management experience and he must make the decisions even if the first ones were wrong. Mr. J. J. Jones, Q.C., Mannville, summarized the legal aspects of all that had been said and warned the father that if they had made 2% on their investment over a 30-year period they shouldn't load their son down with 6 or 7% interest rate. As soon as the panel was heard from, the audience was organized into seven discussion groups. Each group made up a list of questions to be presented to the panel by Morley Douglas, moderator. The interest was so great that agreements, credit, homesteading, management, etc., were discussed in to the late afternoon.

If the Mannville district is noted for nothing else in 1961, the revival of the short course indicates that another should be held in 1962.

LIVESTOCK REPORT

On sale for Tuesday, March 14th at the Vermilion Auction Mart Ltd. were the following: 183 cattle, 432 hogs, 10 sheep, 1 goat and several dogs. By the way, we are refusing to sell dogs during our regular Tuesday sales from now on.

Prices were steady on all cattle and hogs with very little difference from preceding weeks. We had very few good choice feeder or fat cattle, but are anticipating a good run of feeder cattle and stock cows for Friday, March 24. Listings are needed.

Our horse sale scheduled for Saturday, March 25 and listings are coming in very nicely. Yesterday we had a pinto team of geldings listed that took top prize money at several fairs. They are 8 and 10 years old and weigh approximately 1600 lbs. each.

SPECIAL FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 21st:
15 Dairy Heifer Calves.
12 Bull Calves

Without prejudice, we are arranging for ample parking space for next Tuesday's sale. Please do not stay away because you didn't approve of the tickets being handed out. For three years nothing has ever been said or done and all of a sudden, without warning, we have supporters being obliged to come back a distance of up to 60 miles to pay a penalty for supporting a local small town business that is so badly needed in more ways than one

Wheat Pool Sub-District No. 503 Holds Meeting

On Wednesday March 8th, the third meeting of sub-district No. 503 of the Alberta Wheat Pool advisory committee was held at the Irma Legion hall. The meeting was called to order by chairman Mr. Harman Feenstra at 10:30 a.m.

The agenda for this meeting was approved on motion of L. Savage and Ed Jackson, both of Irma. Carried Minutes of the Nov 8th meeting were read and adopted on a motion by Ole Rasmock of Irma and Noel Rogan, of Vermilion. Carried.

Fourteen committee men were present as well as one visitor two delegates, Fieldmen Milo Fleming and Mr J. N. Ryason, of Country Information, Alberta Wheat Pool, Calgary.

After a short discussion on Wheat Pool matters, the meeting was turned over to Mr. J. Ryason.

Mr. Ryason then went into considerable detail about the handling, storing and grading of grains and how the three prairie Pools operate in general and also in regards to personnel from the former members to the staff and what their duties were. A rundown was also given on the Wheat Pool earnings for the 1959-60 crop year.

Following Mr Ryason's address an open discussion followed on different matters including rapeseed prices and the possibility of the Wheat Pool carrying more insurance such as life insurance.

Motion by L. Savage and Ole Rasmock that the fall meeting be set for Vermilion around November 10th, carried.

Mr. Ole Rasmock thanked Mr. Ryason for the valuable material given in his address and a general vote of appreciation was moved as this was Mr Ryason's last meeting with the committee in its present group.

Mr Jas. Jackson, Pool delegate concluded with a few interesting remarks.

Meeting adjourned.

April meeting will be at the home of Mr and Mrs Alvin Theroud [illegible] and Mrs Irvine Strome.

Whist was played at the centre last Friday with six tables. Winners were ladies 1. Ralph Strome 2. Minnie Nelson, consolation Mrs. Mary Wilson. 1. Vic McKee, 2. Bill Hall and consolation Ernest Syrenby for the men. Next whist March 24. All were pleased to see at the party Mrs. Proud, her son Bob, and grandson Don from Dewberry.

Closing thought — "Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years; people grow old only by deserting their ideals. Years wrinkle the skin but to give up enthusiasm wrinkles the soul. Worry, doubt, distrust of self, fear and despair — these are the long, long years that bow the head and turn the growing spirit back to dust."

"LIVING IS AN ART"
by Aldous Huxley (born 1894)
In former years the average person's main concern was to earn enough for the necessities of life while saving for his later unproductive years. Good health was often sacrificed to these efforts.
Now your chief problem is to keep your body healthy enough to enjoy the extra years which medical research has added to your life. Helping you to live better is your physician, who can prescribe needed medication, and your pharmacy, where you can obtain all the necessary medicines and health-aids. We welcome the opportunity to help.

Islay Choir To Present Play Friday, March 17

The Islay United Church choir is presenting a play on Friday, March 17th in the community hall. You should not miss this. Two personalities you haven't seen on the stage since 1920 will be back, those you just can't pass up. There will be many more, of later years, some of whom you have never seen on the stage. Lunch will be served immediately after the play.

W. A. HOLDS MEETING

The W.A. of the Islay United Church met on Thursday, Mar. 2nd. It was the missionary meeting and the devotional period was led by Miss Bessie Anderson. To finish she read a chapter from the book "The Ship Under the Cross". So many events are taking place around us that dates conflict so the April meeting will be held March 30th instead of April 6. The spring tea will be held April 7th.

FILMS ON WATER SAFETY

On Monday evening in the school the Red Cross representative for Water Safety, Mr Gilmat provincial director, also Mrs. Hedley, president of the Red Cross from Vegreville, ran some interesting films on lessons in water safety, also some slides of his own taking at various points in Alberta. This is something all parents and children should have seen.

Today's pioneers are building tomorrow's progress.

ATTENDS WORK SHOP FOR WHEAT POOL AGENTS

Mr. Wm. McLean, the Islay Wheat Pool agent, spent a week in Calgary recently at a work shop for agents. During his absence Mr Carl Eyben was in charge of the elevator. Many items were studied at the short course, learning the recent varieties of grain for malting purposes. International Business machines were studied. These are electrical for completing data and reports must be exact, as [illegible]. A couple of days were spent on studying the values of fertilizers, the good and the not-so good, where and when to use them and final results. These were but a few of the subjects on the lengthy and interesting agenda.

Agents were in attendance at the short course all the way from the southern border to Fairview in the north.

VISITS VARSITY

On his way home Bill visited the university in Edmonton as this was Varsity Guest Week-End visitation. The university has really grown into a very large establishment, so much so that in order to see it all would take several days. Bill learned much and those who are interested in progressive farming can certainly get some help from him.

QUOTA NOW 4 BUSHELS

Did you know that all four elevators now have telephones? Also that the grain quota has been opened to four bushels per acre.

Mr and Mrs. Lloyd Brown recently enjoyed a two weeks' holiday, going to Tacoma, Wash., and to Yakima, then on up to Victoria V.I. where Mrs. Brown's sister and mother live.

Kitscoty-Islay A.T.A. Hold Meeting

A meeting of the A.T.A. Kitscoty-Islay sub-local was held at Kitscoty on Thursday Feb 23.

A report of the work of the Curriculum committee was given at the meeting. Criticisms were answered and misunderstandings removed. The meeting endorsed the work of the Curriculum committee. It was further suggested that an exhibition of the books reviewed by this committee be held at the time of the convention and it was decided to forward this suggestion to the Convention Planning committee.

Suggestions for the 1961 Teachers' convention were considered. The meeting felt that perhaps more time should be allotted for educational discussions.

Microwave Chain On Test

Officials of Alberta Government said Wednesday work is almost completed on a [illegible] $1,500,000 microwave relay network linking Edmonton with Vegreville, St. Paul and Wainwright.

A spokesman said equipment is being tested prior to putting the system in full operation. The relay provides 600 voice channels, which makes allowance for future carrying of television broadcasts.

Officials also said work is expected to be completed by next fall on an $800,000 extension of the network which would link the television station at Lloydminster to the Cross-Canada TV network.

Multitude of Subjects Dealt With At January Meeting M.D. Vermilion River

At the regular Council Meeting in January of 1961, the Council of the M D Vermilion River No. 71 gave approval to the establishment of a substantial dwelling in the Noyes' subdivision of Lloydminster Rural to the owner of the property, Russ Drury. Approval was also given to the establishment of two subdivisions the first on the SW 2-[illegible]-6-w4th in connection with the Rosewood School, the second NW 29-[illegible]-4-w4th, for a private owner.

THREE BY-LAWS

Three by-laws were given consideration and passed concerning the sale of a Tax Recovery Lot in the subdivision of Borradaile.

DISCUSS SCHOOL BUS OPERATIONS

The communication from the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts advising of the formation of a committee by the Minister of Education to inquire into School Bus Operation in the province of Alberta prompted a discussion of this very vital subject and in answer to the request for suggestions from the Council by the Association suggestions were forwarded from the Council for their consideration.

RECEIVE DIVIDEND

A cheque for $1,721.00 representing a dividend from the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts was received by the Council. This sum represented a dividend on purchases through the Association from December 1, 1959, to August 31, 1960. A statement accompanying the cheque showed that the Municipality had a balance in the reserve account of $[illegible] after distribution of the 1954-55 reserves.

HEALTH UNIT REPORT

The fourth quarterly report of the activities of the Minburn-Vermilion Health Unit was received and presented to the Council and out of the discussion of this report the Council requested the Department of Health and the Minburn-Vermilion Health Unit to participate with a representative of the Council in setting up a committee to investigate the operations of the Tulliby Lake Municipal Nursing Service and to make recommendations concerning the continuation of this service.

NEW SHARING BASIS FOR CIVIL DEFENCE

Advice was received from the office of the Alberta Emergency Measures Organization advising of a new sharing basis for Civil Defence expenses which provides for a 75 per cent contribution by Federal agencies, a 12½ per cent contribution by provincial agencies and leaving a residue of 12½ per cent to be borne by the Municipal government. Receipt of this information by the Council provoked a discussion of the whole program in which the term "Compulsion" with reference to Civil Defence Training occurred frequently. It was felt that to a certain extent the program lacked positive direction and that as a consequence the maximum benefits were not accruing to the contributing parties. A third reading was given to a by-law establishing a Civil Defence Organization under the new set-up and Mr George Martin of Vermilion, Alberta, was appointed the Director of Civil Defence for the municipal district. Cr. J. C Anderson was appointed to the Civil Defence Control committee. It was decided to hold in abeyance the appointment of further persons to this committee pending recommendations by the Civil Defence Director. Instructions were given to request his attendance at the next council meeting to discuss thism after and other Civil Defence affairs.

OUT-PATIENT SERVICE

The Council received an account from the Islay Municipal Hospital representing the cost of Out-patient Service during the year 1960 and instructions were issued to pay this account. The Council undertook to assume the cost of this service in 1961.

ASK DELAY IN OPENING SECOND LODGE

Communication was received from the Board of Directors of the Vermilion River Foundation advising of an estimated operating deficit for the year 1961 and requesting an advance of a sum equal to a quarter of the deficit to provide operating funds for the Lodge at Vermilion. It was decided by the Council that this sum should be paid. A resolution requesting the Department of Public Welfare to defer the opening of the Senior Citizens' Lodge at Lloydminster until the Vermilion Valley Lodge at Vermilion is occupied to capacity was carried by a very narrow majority four voting for the resolution and three against.

FUEL SUPPLIES FOR YEAR

The subject of the supply of diesel fuel lubricating oil requirements for 1961 engaged the attention of the Council for a considerable time during the meeting and representations in this connection were received from the Lloydminster and District Agricultural Co-operative Association Ltd by Mr Doucet, the General Manager from Husky Oil and Refining Ltd., by their representatives Mr McClelland and Mr MacKenzie, and by Mr R. S Matheson, of Canadian Kodiak Refineries Ltd. The matter was tabled for consideration at a later date.

KODIAK COMPANY OPERATIONS

A brief report of the Canadian Kodiak operations was given to the Council by Mr Matheson, executive vice-president of the company who attended the meeting to discuss the future of the company in this area and the disposition of the Cleaning Plant on the SE 6-50-1-w4th.

ROAD ACCESS TO HAY FLAT

Representation was received from Mr Potvin concerning road access to the hay flat on the north side of the Vermilion River in NW 33-51-4-w4th, the situation there having changed considerably with the construction of the large fill at that location, constructed under the auspices of the contingency grants vote of the Alberta Provincial Government.

DAMAGE CASE

The Council was brought up to date on the Mergl damage case by a communication from the Municipal representative, Mr Brownlee. The Council issued instructions governing Mr Brownlee's conduct in the defence of the case.

REPORTS RECEIVED

Reports were received from the Gas Inspector and the Road Superintendent concerning their activities during the month of December 1960. The matter of providing an assistant to the Field Supervisor was considered by the Council, the matter being tabled for future consideration.

GAS RATES AT ISLAY

Following the representation of the Council to the Public Utilities Board dealing with the natural gas rates in the Hamlet of Islay a reply was received and presented to the Council. The Secretary of the Board pointed out that the rates charged by Northwestern Utilities Limited were reviewed by the Board a short time ago, and went on to say that the rates charged at Islay were the same as those charged at Hilliard, Hinton, Innisfree, Josephburg, Lamont, Lavoy, Minburn, Mundare, Ranfurly and Sylvan Lake. In arriving at the rates for any given community it was established that the charges depended to a large extent on the cost to the company of providing the service to the particular community and also to the extent to which the service is used by that community. It was drawn to the attention of the Council that the rates payable in the communities listed above did not provide a successful service from an economical point of view considering the large cost involved and the relatively small number of customers. The conclusion reached by the Board was to the effect that to raise such rates would make the gas service non-competitive with other fuels but that on the other hand there would not appear to be any basis on which the rates could be reduced at the present time.

Eight cases under the Public Welfare Assistance Act were considered and dealt with by the Council.

Eight ratepayers representatives and visitors were received by the Council and their representations dealt with.

FIRST AID COURSES

Correspondence was received from the Hudson's Bay Route Association enclosing a Supporter's Certificate for the year 1961. A resume of the year's operations and a request for further support during the current year was also received. Notice was received from the Workmen's Compensation Board advising of the conducting of a Safety First Aid Clinic in Edmonton and information was given to the Council to the effect that Mr Garnier and Mr Bostman had attended these courses last year and had expressed their satisfaction with the training received and both were successful in passing the First Aid exam which was conducted at the completion of the course. It was thought by the Council that this year's course would in all probability provide a duplication of training if the same persons attended again and in view of this a decision was made to have no representation from this municipality at the Safety and First Aid Clinic this year.

The March meeting of the Dewberry United Church W. A was held at the church with 11 members and one visitor present.

The opening hymn was followed by reading from the Bible by Mrs. G Ewen and from the Upper Room by Mrs. J. Porter. The Lord's Prayer was then said in unison.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. Considerable correspondence was read and from this, several motions were made and adopted. A page will be sponsored by the W. A. in the school magazine "The Torch". A sum of money will be sent to the Presbytery W.A. An electrical demonstration will be put on by Canadian Utilities and the date decided upon is June 6th, providing this is suitable for the Utilities. A bake sale and apron sale will be held at the St. Patrick's Day tea, being held by the C.G.I.T. in the Dewberry hall March 18th. Twelve plastic table centres were bought, also three sets of salt and pepper shakers. Secretary was told to purchase two more fold and carry tables.

At the close of the business part of the meeting a most impressive "Presentation Service" took place. It is members like these ladies who make the W.A. what it is, a successful church organization.

All Alberta Towns Would Benefit From New Provincial-Municipal Finance Program

By Russ Sheppard

All towns in Alberta would have received a tax benefit ranging from 1 mill to 16 mills, says Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke, if the new municipal finance program had been in effect for the current year. Mr. Hooke gave in detail the number of communities in the province that would have gained benefit from the program which will see a 32 mill tax on equalized assessment throughout Alberta for school costs. The province will pay the remainder of the school costs to an approved level which will give a good standard of education.

Mr. Hooke said that, of the 138 villages in the province, all but one would have received mill rate decreases ranging from 1 to 16 mills. The one village, Wembly, would have had a slight increase. With the counties, only Vulcan would have experienced an increase of 1½ mills, while the remainder had decreases up to 10 mills.

Increases of not more than 2 mills would have been necessary in the M.D.s of Willow Creek, Eagle, Lamont, Bonnyville and Sturgeon, while the other 32 MDs would have had decreases varying to 12 mills.

Of the 51 local improvement districts, 15 would have been increased, while all the rest would have had decreases ranging up to 12 mills. The reason for the large number of L.I.D.s showing increases is that many of these contain large areas of territory lying outside the boundaries of organized school districts, these areas not having been subject to educational tax at all even though arrangements have been made by the Department of Education to educate children living in them. The special areas would have benefitted about 5 mills.

As for the cities, Mr. Hooke said seven of them would have been able to decrease educational mill rates from 1 to 9 mills, while two others — Calgary and Medicine Hat — would have increases. The Calgary increase being 6 mills and the Medicine Hat increase .45% of one mill.

Concluding his statement Mr Hooke said: "It must be pointed out in all of these calculations that, while figures are correct, no allowance has been made for a mill or two as is sometimes allowed to take care of discounts and non-collections". The number of towns, villages, etc., mentioned were as of Dec. 31, 1960.

Mike Maccagno (Lib., Lac La Biche) opened debate on the Government's 336-million dollar budget saying he had expected some dynamic departure in the budget from the routine of spending more money and more taxes. He also said he had thought that the Government would see the necessity of keeping the purchasing power in the hands of the people. Instead we have a 2c increase in the gasoline tax and taxes on power telephone and pipe lines. These latter three he said will result in [illegible] power and utility rates at a time when Albertans can less afford them. Mr Maccagno contended that Utility companies should operate at a much lesser rate than the 7½% which they have taken to be a guaranteed rate of return. He called on the Utility companies to do their part in holding the line. The Lac La Biche member was critical of Mr Hooke for saying when he introduced the program, that he anticipated the Power and Utility companies would pass the new tax on to the [illegible].

Arthur Dixon (SC - Calgary) voiced what he termed "the feelings of some" that [illegible] should carry some of the [illegible] of gasoline taxes. He said that originally tax-free gas for the farmers was urged for small farmers. Instead some farmers with three or more trucks are using tax free gas. He suggested tax-free gas be limited for use in one truck per farm. Mr Dixon also voiced the opinion that the diesel oil tax should not have been increased again.

NEW CANCER INSTITUTE

Health Minister Dr. J. D Ross speaking in the budget debate [illegible] programs of his department [illegible] He spoke of [illegible] Institute [illegible] present facilities [illegible] obsolete. The [illegible] the cause of cancer and eventually the cure [illegible].

Outlining plans for auxiliary hospitals to be located throughout Alberta at a cost of $16,000,000 over the next four years, Dr Ross said the hospitals will not be used as dumping grounds for elderly people whose families no longer recognize their responsibility in caring for them. Admissions to the hospital will be on a basis of those who are incurable and can't be cared for at home, transfers from active hospitals and those requiring treatment over periods ranging from 8 to 12 months.

Dr Ross also reported that 5,000 alcoholic cases had been handled by the Alcoholics Foundation since 1953 with a record of 50 per cent success. 1,900 cases of poisoning had been recorded and treated at hospitals under the new Poison Control service with 16 deaths recorded. 46 emergency air ambulance flights had been ordered last year carrying fifty patients most of them from northern areas.

ELIMINATE FOUR SEATS

The elimination of four rural seats and the addition of two city seats is recommended in the report of the special redistribution committee tabled in the Legislature by chairman of the six-man committee, minister without portfolio Fred C. Colborne (Calgary). If adopted the change would drop representation in the Legislature from 65 to 63 members.

Three of the four rural ridings eliminated are in the east-central area of the province and the other in southern Alberta. The metropolitan areas of Edmonton and Calgary would each receive an additional member with the new constituencies being [illegible] Edmonton-Jasper Place and Calgary Queen's Park. Metropolitan Edmonton will have ten MLAs under the plan and Calgary eight.

Mr Colborne said the actual ridings eliminated in the east central area cannot be named because a general redrafting of constituency boundaries makes a complete change. No constituency names have been lost, but ridings in the area now have a combination name such as Vegreville-Bruce, Willingdon-Two Hills, and Sedgewick-Coronation. In the south, the riding of Gleichen is actually eliminated, being divided among three other constituencies but the name appears as Drumheller - Gleichen. By combining and redrafting boundaries the Olds and Didsbury ridings become Olds-Didsbury and a new constituency name of Three Hills is added.

If the recommendations are approved by the Legislature they will not be proclaimed until the next provincial election is called. At that time nominating conventions will determine which rural members now sitting in the House will be eliminated.

NEW ALBERTA TARTAN

The new Alberta Tartan was on display in the Legislature in the form of ties and one curling tam. Industry and Development Minister Russ Patrick presented members with a tie each and also presented Welfare Minister R. D. Jorgenson with a tam.

It seems Mr. Jorgenson, who has no need for a brush or comb, had been commenting about the cool air in the Legislative chamber. The Minister wore the tam in the House each day following the presentation.

Health Unit Notes Yellow Jaundice

Incubation period. Can be 35 days.

Notification. To local Health Unit.

Isolation. 7 days from onset of illness or longer. Patient should be careful, stay indoors, rest, eat plain, simple foods, fat free.

Onset. There is usually a history of gastro-intestinal disturbance and nausea 3 to 4 days prior to the appearance of jaundice. The child runs a 2 to 3 degree temperature, is irritable, disinclined to food, tongue becomes furred and breath is unpleasant. Vomiting is usual and some mild abdominal pain. The bowels are constipated but there may be diarrhoea for a few days and stools offensive. After three or four days temperature falls and motions become white or clay colored.

As to diet, simple fluids such as lemonade may be given and should be well sweetened. Fat should be eliminated from the diet until jaundice disappears. Foods as skimmed milk, milk puddings, chicken broth, fruit jellies may be eaten if tolerated.

Appearance. Jaundice appears first in the conjunctivae of the eye. Within a day or two the skin becomes jaundiced, the color varying from pale lemon to pale yellow. The skin is often itchy. Bile pigments then appear in the urine and it becomes very dark in color and stains clothing.

The Prognosis Outlook is almost invariably good. The jaundice fades after about one week and recovery is usually complete in a fortnight if patient takes care of himself during his convalescent period.

This disease should be treated with respect. Why? As the jaundice may deepen and the child sinks into a drowsy state and succumbs from acute necrosis of the liver. In the other case the jaundice persists for weeks or months and the liver becomes more fibrotic.

Should jaundice not clear after the period of two weeks and the individual seems more ill than usual, it would be wise to contact your family doctor.

Legion Sponsored Ice Carnival At Mannville Big Success

MANNVILLE — With a stimulating community, the Mannville Legion sponsored ice carnival got off to a fine start Saturday, Feb. 25th as Vermilion Pipe Band led the Legion Color Party, followed by all those in costume. Flags were deposited following a two minutes silence observed in respect to the memory of the late Edwin Torrance.

There were costumes of every description from bunnies, Black Cats, Old Woman in a Shoe, Queen of Hearts, Indians and Little Bo-Peep. The usual races were run, and a new one, the Chuckwagon race met with great success, as four competed in the team, two pushing, one riding, and one pulling, and anyone could enter. The clowns (Harry Thomas and Walter Prill) added greatly to the entertainment value of the carnival. One of the best Tug-of-Wars yet was witnessed with the Legion competing against the "World", with the Legion declared winner after much indecision. A well trained drill presented by Mr. and Mrs. F. Groenevelt, and Mrs. Nellie Whitson consisting of girls attractively dressed in black and yellow Junior high school sweaters and dark slacks featured precision and figure skating. The young girls went through many intricate formations which were most pleasing. It is noted that the clowns were so intrigued they took part also.

A new angle was featured this year, as Kings and Queens ran in pairs for candidates honors, and a most lively campaign was waged with Derek Boe and Dawn Kreller being the Royal couple crowned by his worship, Mayor Merle Malin in a few well chosen words. Runners up were Colin Kennedy and Lorraine Anderson. The King and Queen received cups, and all four contestants received presents. Train and crown bearers were Suzanne Goshko and Roderick Boe.

A well planned, action packed evening was brought to a fitting close as the Legion Color Party retired the colors. Appreciation was expressed by the Legion and its auxiliary committee to all those who helped, judges, clowns, those in costumes and the audience, the figure skating drill team and their teachers.

There were 30 prizes awarded for costumes, and prizes for races given.

Of the 43 men in the group that was called the Fathers of Confederation, the delegates to the Quebec Conference of 1864, only two were later to become Prime Minister: Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Charles Tupper.

Canadians spend about $4.4 billion a year in food stores, slightly more than a third of the total paid in taxes to all governments.

105 Attend School BusDriver Conference

MEETING RESUMED WITH SUBMISSION OF BRIEF

Meeting resumed with the submission of a brief by Mr I. D. Inman on hazards of school bus operation and safety precautions. The brief had originally been presented to the Highway Traffic Board and Mr Inman had received a complimentary letter from Hon. Gordon Taylor for the submission. The brief exhorted all parties to take every precaution to lessen the various hazards to which the pupils who travel by bus are subjected. The hazards requiring particular attention would include patches of bush and location of loading areas on highways. Driver and pupil attitudes are of primary importance. Suggestion of appointment of overseers received considerable attention. A good round of applause was accorded Mr. Inman's presentation.

CONDUCT OF PUPILS

Meeting discussed conduct of pupils on buses and it was stressed that principals are prepared to insist on correct conduct on the part of pupils when reported by bus operator.

Motion by E. DeLeeuw that regulations should provide for bus operator to open bus door at railway crossings was endorsed by the meeting.

BUS DRIVERS' CONTRACTS

Mr C N. Brennan outlined position of the board at time of contract changes. The following resolution was passed in connection with contract changes during the life of the contract:

"Whereas there are occasions when a bus contract holder wishes to relinquish his contract and whereas the contract holder is desirous of adequate protection in his investment, therefore be it resolved that at such times the bus contract be advertised by the Divisional Board and the retiring bus contract holder be assured of the trade-in value of his bus as evaluated by a recognized bus dealer when aforesaid contract is being awarded to successful applicant."

Problems arising on highway 17 for bus drivers conveying pupils to Lloydminster due to the fact that Saskatchewan and Alberta laws differ were discussed by Supt. J H Blocksidge.

ENDORSE DRIVER SCHOOLS

Bus driver schools were approved by those in attendance and a resolution was passed that if and when a bus driver's certificate is issued by the Highway Traffic Board such certificate should specify that holder would be expected to attend bus drivers' school.

Principals from centralized schools endorsed the safety program as undertaken in the schools by Inspector K Parton and stressed that pupils should be warmly dressed when being conveyed by bus in the winter time.

Suggestion of patrol at Vermilion primary school was referred to Tr C N Brennan.

YEARLY EVENT

The meeting gave unanimous approval to a resolution requesting that bus drivers' conference be a yearly event in the Vermilion School Division.

Wildmere W. I.

Wildmere W. I. met at the home of Mrs. C. Cruthers with nine members and four visitors present.

Mrs R. Osterberg was in the chair. Correspondence included a letter of thanks from the Vermilion Valley Lodge. Canadian Utilities request to sponsor a demonstration of electrical appliances.

The members donated costume jewelry and hand lotion as gifts to patients of Ponoka hospital.

Roll call was an Irish story, joke or song. Education convener Mrs. W. D. Westman introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. George Senz, principal of the Vermilion retarded children's school. She gave the W.I. a vivid description of her work with the children for the last fifteen months and how encouraged she and her assistant Mrs. H. Hemmingway are by the improvement shown by the children. Mrs. Senz hoped that in the near future they would have a larger school building.

The April meeting will be at the home of Mrs. R. Dibben. Roll call bake and bring your favorite cookies or cake. Topic will be [illegible]

Pleasant Valley

(Too late for last week)

It must be spring as the first crow has been seen in the district by Percy Gelloy — and you can't fool a wily old crow or can you?

On Sunday Sylvia Gould celebrated her birthday with relations coming from Elk Point and Lindberg. There were 22 at the supper table with three birthday cakes on which were a total of two hundred and sixteen candles. There was lots of old time music, old songs were sung and tales told of the early days.

Lawrence and Christie Gould and family were supper guests at the home of the writer Saturday night. A very enjoyable time was spent at the home of Peggy Elliott last week too. She has a lovely selection of colored pictures and a projector. Some of these pictures showed the river flats with the hills and bluffs in the background making lovely scenes. Peggy also has some beautiful plants prospering in the kitchen window.

NEWS from ALLANDALE

(Too late for last week)

Lovely March weather predominates, mostly above zero readings.

Mrs. Walsh, the former Della Omness, who now lives in Edmonton, passed grade 3 Toronto Conservatory violin exams from Olson's Music school with honors. Their daughter Doreen is doing very well in her violin lesson and Adele in her piano.

Mr Allan Ramsley so well known hereabouts, is now the assistant manager in the Toronto-Dominion bank on Jasper and 142nd street in Edmonton.

Mrs Andy Dejong, Dianne and Bernie of Clandonald left on March 3rd by plane from Edmonton for her home in Holland for a holiday with her parents, sisters and brothers. Best wishes for a happy holiday.

Dean Cooper of Ethelwyn has been working in the city for some time. He is staying with his sister Joyce the MacGillivray home.

ATTEND PRESBYTERY

Mrs. Norma Laird, Mrs Opal Cooper and Mrs Omness accompanied Mrs. Elsie Campbell to St Paul on March 1st to attend the St. Paul United Presbytery Women's Association of the United Church of Canada. It was a very interesting and educational meeting. Great praise goes to our retiring president Mrs Roddick who did an excellent job. Mrs Andrews of Mannville was guest speaker, her topic "The United Church Women" was very enlightening, especially at this time. It was so pleasant to meet distant friends at the Presbytery. Miss C Bell from Vilna sent greetings to the Nelson families, also Mrs. Viola (Varney) Parent from Grand Centre. Mrs Ralph Steinhauer from Saddle Lake and Mrs. House and Mrs Bull from Good Fish Lake. Mrs. Goheen from Lloydminster sent greetings to the Omnesses. The hospitality and kindness of the St Paul ladies was greatly appreciated. A big thank you to our chauffeur Mrs. Campbell.

Mr and Mrs. Peter Lacusta and son Owen were visitors at the latter's parents the Idelore Nelson home on Sunday Feb. 26.

March 3rd. What at the Johnny Starko home was much enjoyed. Nine tables were played downstairs, an idea place. Winners 1. Ellen Omness, 2. Thelma Armstrong, consolation for the men, Woody Wilson. Pleased to meet new friends, Mrs. Starko's brother Mr and Mrs. Metro Radish and family from south of town, and neighbors Mr. and Mrs. M Koblyka and family.

Well drillers are at the Steve Gordey home. We hope they are successful in finding a good supply of water which is very essential on a farm. Noticed awhile back they were drilling at the Starko home.

Mr and Mrs. Harry Brake Sr of Clandonald, daughter Marilyn and her fiance Mike Harper visited at the Omness home last Saturday afternoon.

Greetings to Pearl and George Ronaghan at Creston B.C. We received your letter, or rather, a parcel of news. Thanks. All are well there.

George's sister, Mrs. Annie Easton at Vancouver, has just passed her 72nd birthday. Her hobby is quilt making and she has three on the go this winter. Her daughter and husband Mr and Mrs. Neville Calvert of Chipman have purchased a home in Edmonton near the university. Mrs. Easton plans on spending the summer holidays with them. Mr and Mrs Pat Ronaghan have a home at Cloverdale just out of Vancouver.

Mr and Mrs Idelore Nelson and Leslie spent last week-end in Lloydminster with daughter Helen and Frank Schmidt and family. Anna and Peter Lacusta and son Owen joined them on Sunday.

Closing thought: "Youth is not a time of life, it is a state of mind. It is not a matter of ripe cheeks, red lips and supple knees, it is a temper of the will, a quality of the imagination, a vigor of the emotions, it is the freshness of the deep spring of life."

TOLLAND TOPICS

(Too late for last week)

It is with deep regret that we report the death on Wednesday March 1st of Mr John Hackett of Lamont, Mrs. Roger Watt's youngest brother. Members of the family were called to his bedside the previous Monday evening. The funeral took place on Saturday at 2 p.m. at Lamont. Mrs Watt stayed at Lamont with her brother Emery for several days.

The northernmost point of land in continental United States is in Canada because 200 years ago a mix up in defining the boundary made American territory of a peninsula that juts into the Lake of the Woods north of the 49th parallel that is part of Minnesota but can be reached by land only through Manitoba.

NEWS from ISLAY

While in Vermilion one day last week the funniest thing seen was a real old Ford car, sounding like a peanut thresher, loaded down with a group of students, blowing horns and shouting by way of advertising, and who should be one of them? Grace Simmons, bravely doing her part.

Remember 'the Gay Nineties', two hours of music and surprises by the Islay choir Friday evening, March 17, in the hall, and a good lunch immediately after.

Mrs. Moncrieff has been in charge of the primary room the past week due to the illness of Mrs. Shaw.

Mr. Jim Allan and Mr. Omar Easton were supper guests at the McGuigan home Friday and on Saturday were visitors to Vermilion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken McLennan are now in Calgary where Ken is adding to his electrical knowledge. They are living next door to Bob and Bell Carmichael formerly of Vermilion.

The writer spent an hour or so viewing TV at Mrs. M. Moncrieff's. During the talk on art we saw three paintings of Mrs Linton's.

It is with regret we learn of the passing of the Rev. George Driver in White Rock B.C. He was minister of the United church for a number of years in Kitscoty and Islay.

Gym Activities at Mannville

MANNVILLE — Gymnasium activities organized by sports representatives Jimmy Tymchuk and Vivien Lynch, have provided noon hours of excitement for the Junior high [illegible]. Volleyball leagues were organized for both boys and girls before Christmas, but by February many players had lost interest and failed to turn out to games, thus greatly inconveniencing those who did wish to play. As a result teach ers and sports representatives formed teams for indoor baseball, which is comparatively new to most students and met with amazing success.

While baseball is in progress, table tennis enthusiasts are able to use the stage for their games. These organized activities have provided recreation indoors for the winter season and take place on Tuesdays and Thursdays of each week.

The average sum received was $177.70. The special acreage payment on the 1959-60 crop was the second of its kind, the previous payment being on the 1957-58 crop. Purpose of the acreage payment is to bring up the income of the small grain producer by direct payment in lieu of a domestic price for wheat.

Details of the special payments of $1 per acre up to a maximum of $200 acres are given by provinces [illegible] and average amounts: Manitoba 42,712, $7,190,148, $168.30; Saskatchewan 106,089, $19,732,916, $186.00; Alberta 76,965, $13,203,028, $171.50; B.C. 1,763, $285,080, $161.70; Ontario [illegible].

Artland Takes Hockey Tourney

Artland won the rural hockey tournament at Vermilion for the second year in a row taking a [illegible] from Mannville by a 4-2 score. Mannville team was directed by Elmer Kreller who, as of old, proved to be a [illegible].

FINAL GAME

The Mannville team opened the scoring on a smart unassisted goal by Mark Lithe after only thirty - three seconds of play. Nothing daunted by the sudden show of speed, Artland came back to event the count at 7.31 with Ed Prediger denting the hemp assisted by team captain Roy Bienech. At the 13.12 mark the Artlands went one up with Harold Bienech scoring on Ed Prediger's pass. One penalty was handed out to Vic Zavidiuk for cross-checking.

The second period was scoreless with no penalties.

THIRD PERIOD

The third period started off fast with a bit of rough play creeping in. Kreller was being watched very closely and soon he and Zavidiuk were banished for roughing. Mark Lithe had the Mannville fans on their toes when he tied up the game 2-2 at the 11.35 mark, only to see the Artland boys go one up again one minute later with Jack Sonberg slipping the puck around the goal post from the side for the winning counter. In the last minute of play Mannville pulled their goalie but the strategy back-fired when Bud Charney fired an end to end shot which ended up in the open goal.

Penalties were plentiful towards the end of the period with Ed Prediger, Ray Bienech, Kreller and then Ray Bienech again drawing two minute penalties each time.

Despite the fact that each team had played four games during the day the final was a good one, played before a packed arena.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

TIPS ON TOUR: Wise women watching family budgets know that some corner-cutting can lead to false and foolish economy. How many of these fruitless attempts at cutting car costs do you recognize?

1. Trying to beat the meter. Drive around town for half an hour hunting for a free space or meter with time left on it. Saved: a few cents parking charge. Lost: time, fuel, and the wear and tear of stop-go driving (far worse than highway cruising).

2. Drive miles to get cut-rate gasoline. Saved: a few cents. Lost: the fuel used for the trip, plus possible harm from fuel of unknown quality, plus the service and car-check you get from a dealer with a well-known brand.

3. [illegible] the period between oil changes and lubrication. Saved: a few dollars a year. Lost: performance, power and efficiency plus possible permanent damage to the engine.

Your modern car is a beautifully made machine as well as a big investment. You hurt it and and cheat yourself if you cut corners. Real economy comes with proper care. Any reliable dealer will be glad to see that your car gets it.

C. of C. To Investigate Before A Final Decision Is Made

The possibility that Vermilion may become a "Tuesday night town" with the stores closed all day Wednesday, seems almost certain to become a reality in the very near future.

The proposal was placed before members of the Vermilion Chamber of Commerce this week by Rudy Renaud, chairman of the Chamber's retail merchants' committee, on a "let's discuss it" basis. Judging from the initial reaction of the Chamber members, the idea will receive very favorable consideration when it comes up for a full dress discussion, probably next week.

In introducing the subject, Mr. Renaud said that as yet no full canvass had taken place in the [illegible] on the question. He added that this would be done within the next week. Meanwhile he asked that the members talk it up among themselves and with their customers to get a general overall reaction to the [illegible].

VERMILION, A FARMERS' TOWN

In his contribution to the discussion Ernie Cleadenning, the president of the Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that Vermilion had always considered itself a farmers' town and he thought that a Tuesday night opening would be a definite service to the rural area as it is auction day at the Vermilion Auction Mart and late shopping hours on that night would enable the farmers to do their business in town the same day as they sell their stock and any other sale items.

[illegible] TO [illegible] ATTEND SALES

Clarence Lowig, manager of the Auction Mart, when asked about the operation of the market told the meeting that while he was definitely not trying to influence the chamber members in their decision, he thought that a Tuesday night opening would be a good thing offering a service to the farm population and to the business firms a chance to increase trade. Mr. Lowig said that the average sale attracted between 400 and 500 to town, and occasionally the number reached 700 or more. He pointed out too, that the farmers had very little chance to do any shopping with their families, as it was usually 6.30 or 7:00 o'clock at night before all the cheques were issued and other details attendant on the sale [illegible].

Jim Champion, who had already done some sampling of farm trade opinion of the proposed move, told the meeting that the reaction was universally favorable, one lad remarking that as far as the merchants who might be worrying about any lost Wednesday morning business was concerned, they — the lady and her husband — never came to town Wednesday anyway and as far as [illegible] none of their neighbors did either.

District Breeders Do Well At Shows

Queenie Creek Ranch Bull Brings Calgary's Top Price

Vermilion district livestock breeders were prominent in the spring livestock shows and sales at Calgary and Edmonton.

Homer Campbell's Queenie Creek Ranch at Clandonald took top price at the Alberta Cattle Breeders' annual sale at Calgary. The animal, which sold for $3,000, was Reserve Grand Champion of the Hereford section of the show, and was bought by Ben Timanson of the Riverton district.

The Grand Champion Hereford bull was bought $[illegible] at Calgary.

EDMONTON SHOW RESULTS NOT COMPLETE

Results of the spring sale and show in Edmonton have not yet been received in detail, but the initial indications are that, once again district stockmen are more than holding their own with the "cattle kings" of the southern parts of the province.

W. L. Robinson and Son's [illegible] Farm showed the reserve champion animal in the [illegible] of the Edmonton Exhibition Association's 50th annual spring show and sale, and several other breeders from the area are reported to have done very well, but as yet no details.

"The Dear Departed" Will Be Vermilion High School Entry in Drama Festival At Tofield on Friday

Friday afternoon sees the above group of young high school players taking part in the Drama Festival at Tofield. The play "The Dear Departed" was one of four presented by the high school drama classes last Friday during their annual play night. Directed by Miss Margaret Watt and Miss Kay Fairley this production was extremely well presented and should rate high in the [illegible] competition. The plot is laid around the supposed death of Grandpa Merryweather but who in reality is very much alive. Needless to say many embarrassing situations arise. The final [illegible] is when "Grandpa" invites them all to his wedding. The young players above are (left to right) [illegible], Frances Wilson, Margeyne Cleadenning, [illegible].

S. C. Heckbert Given Masonic Life Membership

Of great interest to Masons in this area and also in the province was the presentation of a Life Membership to M.W. Bro. S. C. Heckbert, from Vermilion Lodge No. 24, at a meeting held on Tuesday evening, March 7. This honor was conferred for outstanding service in Masonry and was the second one that Bro. Heckbert has received, the other being given by his original lodge in Nova Scotia, when he was the guest speaker at the centennial ceremonies last fall.

The Worshipful Master Chas. Heckbert (son of the recipient), asked W. Bro. Claude Brennan to make the presentation, which he carried out in a very creditable manner, mentioning the many services and attainments of Bro. Heckbert during his 42 years of past membership. He had been given the highest honor that Vermilion Lodge could confer, and also had been the Grand Master of Alberta when the Grand Lodge held the 50th anniversary in 1955. He also officiated the next year when Vermilion Lodge under W. Bro. Wm. Crabb, celebrated its 50th anniversary. In reply, M. W. Bro. Heckbert thanked the Lodge, Wor. Bro. Brennan for his remarks, and several other brethren who had helped him during his many years in the craft. He had many happy associations, and was looking forward to having many more in the years to come.

Abolish "Ethnic Origin" In Census

Canada's census question about "ethnic origin" should be abolished, J. B. McGeachy writes in The Financial Post. The only reason for retaining it is the legitimate desire of the French Canadians to be recognized and counted as a distinct cultural group. But the cultural hallmark of the Quebecois is his language, and a truthful picture of the size of "the French fat" in Canada is given by census statistics on mother tongue, which was French for four million Canadians, or 29% of the population, in 1951. Figures on birthplace show the number of natives of other countries living in Canada. Those on "ethnic origin" are inexact and lack significance because Canadians of all origins, except French, are assimilated into the English-speaking majority in [illegible] or three generations.

McGeachy also suggests that the census statistics on religion are of little value because it is simply not true that, as reported in the 1951 census, 99.6% of Canadians belong to one church denomination or another. "Did you go to church last Sunday?" would be a better question than "what is your religion?"

Canadian Library Week

"A good book," wrote John Milton, "is the precious life blood of a master spirit, embalmed and treasured up on purpose to a life beyond life." Books have been the best means for handing down, from one age to another, all that has been most valuable in man's thought and aspiration. It is hard to know how civilization would have developed if books had not provided a record of past wisdom and present achievement. Books enlarge the mind, stir the imagination, please us in our leisure hours and help us in the serious business of life.

Today books are not alone as media of communication but books have been, and remain, indispensable.

It is the aim of Canadian Library Week to remind us of these basic truths and I hope that the reading of good books by Canadians will steadily increase.

—John Diefenbaker, Prime Minister.

Latest Traffic Survey

For the third consecutive month since the Lamont school bus disaster, Alberta's highway death toll has fallen well below year-earlier figures, the provincial Safety Council reported Saturday.

In February, according to a survey of police reports, twelve deaths were recorded. A year ago, there were 23. In January there were nine (15 a year earlier) to bring the 1961 total to 21, which is 44 per cent below that for the same period of 1960.

At 637, the year's injury total is one per cent under 1960. The overall accident total, 4,026, is 4 per cent higher.

In December, the death toll was 14, compared with 27 the previous year. In November, however, the Lamont train-bus collision claimed 17 lives, bringing the month's total to 42, a figure only exceeded by July 1958, when 44 persons were killed on Alberta highways.

Ten of the February deaths were reported by the RCMP, while Calgary and Edmonton each reported one, a driver in Calgary, a passenger in Edmonton. The RCMP [illegible] classify fatalities reported in its jurisdiction.

In urban areas, according to a council survey, 53 drivers were injured, 52 passengers and 42 pedestrians.

So far this year, with 1,349 accidents, Edmonton exceeds the total of either Calgary or RCMP patrolled areas. They have had 912 and 1,170 accidents, respectively. Calgary, however, with 121 injuries, exceeds Edmonton's toll by one, but falls short of the RCMP's 328.

Too Much For Too Few

One of the most difficult subjects for any citizen to discuss is inflation. So many forces are at work at one and the same time which may affect the individual's power to buy that it is hard to pin down the effect of inflation by itself.

Canada's Farm Forum members have decided that inflation is a bad thing for them, however. About 90% of them reported that inflation has hurt their position as farmers, in a recent survey.

Most farmers want to see government policy designed to ensure maximum employment while at the same time, limiting inflation. That this dual objective is difficult they concede, but maintain that it must be accomplished.

To carry out such a policy, suggestions ranged from government control over corporation growth and administered prices to higher income taxes. There seemed to be a general feeling, perhaps best expressed by the line: "The money seems to be getting into too few hands, as it did before and during the Depression."

SOIL MANAGEMENT

Alberta Department of Agriculture Field Crops Branch is prepared to work out a limited number of demonstrations with farmers for the control of gullying, sheet and wind erosion or the reclamation of problem soils. Such a demonstration involves forage seed, the cost of which the Field Crops Branch are prepared to share equally with the participant up to a limited acreage. This is not a give-away program. This is a demonstration program in which a farmer demonstrates the use of a proper forage mixture in soil management. Each demonstration requires an inspection by the District Agriculturist so that the proper mixture can be arrived at and whether or not the job is at all feasible. Only a limited number of demonstrations can be done this year and visits will be allocated on a first come, first served basis.

PRUNING

Pruning is done to encourage strong, shapely trees and must be done before the buds begin to swell. All dead and damaged wood is removed first. Then the water sprouts, suckers, crowded and cross branches are taken off. Branches are removed flush with the bark and wounds of 1½ inches or more must be treated with a protective dressing. Don't prune too harshly on the south west side of the tree because these branches prevent spring sun scald. Prune just enough to remove troublesome branches to make cultivation possible and allow penetration of sunlight.

HEALTHY PIGS

Only healthy pigs are profitable. Dr. J. P. Bost, Supervisor of Alberta Veterinary Inspection [illegible] any farmers believe that by [illegible] antibiotic feed additives, disease-free [illegible] can be [illegible]. This attitude has led to many disappointments. Healthy hogs can only be raised where the four basic principles of animal husbandry are observed: sanitation, ventilation, nutrition and disease prevention. The district agriculturist is the man to see about the first three problems, but a veterinarian is trained in disease control. There is satisfaction in curing a disease but there is money in preventing a disease.

NEBRASKA HORSE POWER

Tractors do not deliver horsepower in Alberta at the rate reported from Nebraska. Several factors contribute to this fact among which is Alberta's higher altitude, temperature variations (the tests are based on 60°F), the condition of the motor, field and traction conditions. All Nebraska tests are done on a level track and loaded for maximum traction efficiency.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Will you kindly publish the following in the "Letters to the Editor" column in the next issue of the Standard?

FOR, AND ON BEHALF OF THE PETITION SIGNERS

Respecting the recent notice by the Council of the Town of Vermilion, of its intention to go ahead with the construction of cement curb and gutter, in certain sections of the town, and to levy the cost of ($2.50) per foot in addition to the general taxation, over a specified time, against the property owners effected, instead of against the general assessment of the town.

Section 403 of the Town and Village Act states, "The property owners concerned have the opportunity to protest to the council by petition, signed by the owners of over 50 per cent of the property concerned."

This was done and duly carried out according to, and in the meaning of the Act last fall, and need no further comment or action taken to nullify the validity of the council's by-law on the matter.

KITCHEN TOOLS

With useful tools on hand, a cook's job is greatly simplified. Although the imaginative cook can often improvise when she is caught without a particular [illegible], having the right tool for a task saves time, and usually gives better results.

[illegible] utensils will always be essential. What homemaker would think of setting up housekeeping without a paring knife, or can opener? Certain utensils have a specialized purpose (eg. ice cream scoop) and are not always essential.

KNIVES—BASIC TOOLS:

Since most food preparation tasks call for some kind of cutting, chopping or slicing, a selection of knives is the first requisite of a well equipped kitchen. The number and types of knives in any particular kitchen will be determined by the kinds of cooking to be done. The finest blades are made of high carbon stainless steel with vanadium added. Next come high carbon stainless steel with chromium plating and finally high carbon steel. The handle of a knife should be carefully scrutinized for smoothness, durability and heat and stain resistance. A final check on knife quality is to hold it as if you were cutting. It should be well balanced and comfortable to use.

OTHER USEFUL UTENSILS:

FLEXIBLE SPATULA — The blade may vary from 4 to 8 inches in length. You'll use this for icing cakes, spreading butter and sandwich fillings, levelling measurements and loosening food from pans.

RUBBER SPATULA—Use this to scrape the last bit of batter from the bowl. It is also ideal for scraping plates prior to washing.

WOODEN SPOONS—These are used for mixing doughs and batters, since these give greater leverage than most metal spoons. Since these do not conduct heat, they are well suited to top-of-the stove stirring.

KITCHEN STRAINERS — These are available in fine, medium or coarse mesh, and are designed to fit over mixing bowls or saucepans. They are useful in draining cooked vegetables or rice or for washing dried fruits.

TONGS—These are useful for turning meat, handling baked potatoes, and cobs of corn. They are ideal for lifting jars and lids out of hot water when canning.

PASTRY CUTTER — Although not essential, this tool is a convenient one to use especially if you make a lot of pies. It acts as a cutter to blend lard into flour. If you only occasionally make pastry, two knives can substitute for the blender.

Phases of Alcoholism

Recovery from the illness of alcoholism is possible. This we know. It has been proved over and over again.

There are conditions, however. The alcoholic must recognize himself as a problem drinker. He must recognize he cannot solve this problem of recovery from alcoholism by himself any more than he can expect to recover from T.B., cancer or any other illness by his own unaided efforts. He must not only recognize the need for help, but he must also seek help. He must be honest with himself.

Help is as near as the telephone. There are in Alberta two major resources for help in recovery from alcoholism, the Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta and Alcoholics Anonymous. Each of these organizations has one main immediate objective, to help suffering alcoholics recover from their illness: to recover sobriety, health, happiness, productiveness, the capacity to function again as useful members of the community.

In all the cities, and in many towns, there are one or more AA groups. They are usually listed in the telephone book, but if not, frequently there is someone who knows where help is available, a minister or priest, a doctor, or the police.

Members of Alcoholics Anonymous are recovered or recovering alcoholics themselves. They are men and women who know from bitter experience the misery, shame, guilt and remorse that often overwhelm the active alcoholic. They say themselves, "Alcoholics Anonymous is a fellowship of men and women who share their experience, strength and hope with each other, that they may solve their common problem, and help others to recover from alcoholism." They have been phenomenally successful in the twenty-five years of their existence, and now number about 300,000 in their groups in more than 80 countries. Their program for recovery is contained in the "suggested twelve steps to recovery." They say of themselves, and there is a reason to believe it true, that "Rarely have we seen a person fail who has thoroughly followed our path."

Alberta's other major resource, the Alcoholism Foundation, operates two treatment clinics, one in Calgary and one in Edmonton, as well as consultation clinics in Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, and Grande Prairie. The Foundation's ultimate objective is prevention of alcoholism through research and education, but it has an extensive and highly skillful treatment staff comprising specialists in internal medicine and psychiatry, psychology, sociology, and social work.

The Foundation has an impressive record of success in treating alcoholism and its attendant problems. The Foundation is not connected with Alcoholics Anonymous, but they co-operate closely. AA refers members to the foundation, and the Foundation encourages its patients to associate themselves with AA for continued, life-long sobriety.

Wildmere Winks

Mr. and Mrs. Waldon Westman accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Webb Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. E. Samuelson to Edmonton on Wednesday to see the Don Messer show. Also going to the city the same day were Bert Fadden and June Lamsley, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Cruthers, Mrs. Lloyd Howard and Mrs. Frank Gibson. Many thanks to the local Massey-Ferguson dealers who helped to bring this outstanding show within the reach of so many farmers. We all really enjoyed it.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith returned home Friday, reporting a nice trip with good roads all the way.

BREAKS ARM AT SCHOOL

Stewart Smith had the misfortune to break the large bone in his arm just above the wrist while playing at school on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Shepherd spent the week-end visiting at both parental homes.

TAKE IN LADIES' SPIEL

Two ladies rinks took part in the Vermilion bonspiel at the week-end. The Lysons' rink won in the second event while the Gibson rink lost out in an extra end in the third event.

Some of the men are playing in the Wainwright annual spiel this week. With water lying around and spring officially here, one finds it hard to keep in the curling mood.

Don't forget the F.U.A. and U.F.A. Co-op meetings to be held at Preston school on Friday, March 24, a bingo party will follow.

Church service will be held at the Wildmere church on Easter Sunday with Rev. C. Miller taking the service. Everybody welcome.

Marwayne F.W.U.A.

The regular meeting of the Marwayne F.W.U.A. was held at the home of Ruby Peck on Feb. 27th with twenty-seven members and seven visitors present.

Due to the popularity of the smorgasbord held last month, it was decided to have another one next year. All the members brought aprons to be entered in the Hobby fair, along with the rose cross-stitch quilt, which is now completed. All present donated their pennies to the 'Pennies for Friendship' fund.

OF MANY THINGS

By [illegible]

CLOSE UP OF CLOSE UP?

If you watch CBC TV for very long, you are likely to be convinced that the proletariat gets pushed around badly in Canada. A program called Close Up, which is usually well done, sells this brand of thought all too often. If a moral were stamped at the end of each episode, it would probably read: "Free enterprise is in a mess; vote socialist or communist."

Of course no such bold moral is flashed on the screen. The indoctrination is subtle, sustained and clever. The little man is depicted as a pushover for the big bad manipulators of our free [illegible].

Once in a while, when the program tries really hard to sell that idea others decide to take a close up of Close Up itself, and what they find looks rather worse than the 'fixing' that was so widely deplored in American telecasting.

There was the case of the so-called divorce witness in a multitude of faked adulteries. It turned out that the faking was faked and while Close Up remained exciting it became a good deal less persuasive.

Now there is the case of the "unemployed" Hamiltonian whose pride was damaged so badly because at 43, he was too old to find employment in this cruel old Canada with its devil take the hindmost form of organization. Mr. Starr, the Minister of Labor, took his own close up of this one. He found that the "unemployed" man over whom we had all cried and with whom we all sympathized wasn't in such a sorry position after all. He had quit a $6000 job because he didn't think it had a future. To the citizens in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics that kind of a job would have looked like past, present, future and Heaven all rolled in one! Furthermore, the "unemployed" man had job opportunities which he apparently thought best to pass up, at least until his Close Up appearance was over!

According to Mr. Starr, the CBC paid the man $25 a day during the weeks he was engaged while the program was being produced. He has now been flooded with job offers.

Was the CBC again "fooled by someone whose story it related"? Well as Mr. Starr said so fitting is, "If the CBC wants any real facts before launching upon a program of this kind they can easily obtain them."

Former Vermilion Man On B.C. Brier

Playing with the British Columbia curling champions in the Macdonald Brier at Calgary was a Vermilion-born boy in the person of Neil Esben of White Rock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Esben, formerly of the Buffalo Coulee district, who now reside at Cloverdale, B.C. The B.C. rink finished with a very creditable record, winning five and losing five.

Coming from the coast to watch the Canadian curling championship were Neil's parents Mr. and Mrs. Herman Esben, while another son of the family, [illegible]bert who lives in Edmonton, and his wife also joined the family gathering.

Campbell Reports M-F Curlorama

TORONTO — I sat in on the final games of the Massey-Ferguson Curlorama in Toronto on March 3 and believe me I saw plenty of spirited high grade curling. The attractive Boulevard Club was the setting for this "big moment" as the five leading rinks from Western Canada settled down to hotly contested playoff to find the big winner.

The rinks showing their wares were the survivors of the big M-F [illegible] that saw [illegible] farmers [illegible] the Prairie Provinces [illegible] through three [illegible] playdowns [illegible] from [illegible] Calgary, Edmonton, [illegible] Regina and [illegible] district [illegible] rink [illegible] the best in the business.

[illegible] calibre of the [illegible] at the windup of [illegible] that of [illegible] good round [illegible] good final [illegible] stone [illegible] when the skip came up there wasn't a rock in the house!

That tell me that this is just a start for the Curlorama sponsored by the 114 year old Canadian farm machinery company. Later they intend to make it a national playdown with farmers participating from across the country. If they continue to come up with rinks as good as these I'll be there to watch.

Mr. L. Fapjack was again elected as councillor for the St. Paul division with a large majority. This goes to prove that during his other term of office he must have given complete satisfaction. Congratulations are in order on his recent return to this municipality as councillor and we wish him all the best during this coming term.

Don't forget the meeting on Saturday, March 25th at 2 p.m. to discuss the bridge.

There is considerable water on the river ice and it looks as though it won't be long before the cage will be running across the river if present weather holds.

LIVESTOCK REPORT

An accurate count on all different classes of livestock had not been reported at press time; however an estimated 300 head of cattle, 500 hogs, 12 sheep and 2 horses were sold at Vermilion Auction Mart Ltd. on Tuesday of this week.

Prices were a shade lower on hogs. A good supply of bred sows is meeting demand. Good classes of breedy types are still keeping a good price range.

Cattle prices were generally in line with other weeks, possibly a bit lower on the 600-700 lb. class. The following prices prevailed:

Good Steers, over 700 lbs.	$20.00 to $20.50
Good replacements, up to 600 lbs. (depending on quality, condition and weight)	$19.00 to $23.00
Good Heifers	$19.00 to $20.25
Good Cows	$14.50 to $15.50
Good Bulls up to	$16.50 cwt.

Veal calves, good, running from $28.00 to $32.00.

Replacement cattle on the thin side are finding a better outlet, possibly for pasture purposes.

HOGS

Weaner Hogs, from	$10.00 to $12.50 each
Feeder Hogs, from	$18.50 to $21.00 cwt.

Bred Sows averaged $48.00 each.

This Friday we expect a good run of bred cows and feeder cattle. Be on hand early.

Remember our Horse Sale on Saturday, March 25th.

SPECIAL FOR TUESDAY MARCH 28th:

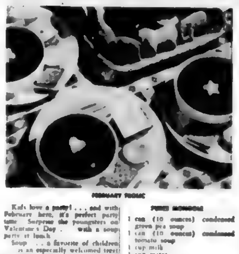
Kids Love a Party!

Soup 'n Crackers Make Lunch Hit



FEBRUARY FROLIC

Kids love a party! . . . and with February here, it's perfect party time. Surprise the youngsters on Valentine's Day . . . with a soup party at lunch.

Soup . . . a favorite of children . . . is an especially welcomed treat on a cold winter day as they come trooping home from school. Choose their favorite canned condensed soup, or whip up a combination of two kinds of condensed soup. Garnish your selection with heart or star shaped croutons.

Natural go-togethers with soup (and also favorites of children everywhere) are cracker sandwiches. Serve a variety of crackers with fillings of ham, cheese or peanut butter.

Make dessert fresh fruit and animal crackers.

PUREE MONGOLE

- 1 can (10 ounces) condensed green pea soup
- 1 can (10 ounces) condensed tomato soup

In saucepan, blend soups, milk, and water. Heat, but do not boil. Stir now and then. Makes 4 servings.

[illegible]

- 1 can (10 ounces) condensed tomato soup
- 1 to 2 soup cans water

In saucepan, blend soups and water. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

the Snapshot Guild

Museum visits are a travel must. You can't always take pictures inside, but don't forget the outside.

Traveling With Cameras

It's safe to say that travel and pictures go together just as surely as the "love and marriage" popular singers sing about.

No, we aren't referring to the picture postcards we all send home to "wish you were here." We mean pictures that you take with your own camera—snapshots, color slides, and/or movies—that record your travels and keep your impressions vividly alive for many years to come.

Note that we say "snapshots, color slides and/or movies" because all three kinds of cameras make equally good traveling companions whether you're off on a weekend junket or setting out on a long jaunt around the world. And more and more travelers today [illegible] with at least [illegible] [illegible] film [illegible] story of their travel [illegible]. hand and have [illegible] loaded and set for approximately the lighting conditions that prevail. That way, you won't miss any of the countless picture possibilities confronting you at every turn.

The seasoned traveler will know [illegible] a slave to equipment. Camera and film are the only items you really need—and a lot of extra gadgets can become more of a hindrance than a help on a trip.

To capture truly memorable pictures of your travels, you don't have to have professional skill or be a born artist, either. Surrounded by interesting people and picturesque places, you can hardly miss coming up with some pretty wonderful shots. Always impressive is a lively image of human activity set against a striking man-made or natural background — imposing architecture, landscaped gardens carefully tended farmland, or perhaps just the sheer majesty of mountains, sea and sky.

Moving in close to your subject will help you catch with your camera what you see [illegible] [illegible]

"NEEDLEWORK" Presented by High School Players

When a group of young ladies get together for a sewing session, just watch out for flying fur — of the unfortunates that aren't there! Just how wild gossip starts and builds up was enacted by the above young players. In the middle of it all was a befuddled professor whose interests ran to botanical specimens. However, the tables were turned on the gossip mongers by the lovely young lady who was their main target. Left to right the players are: Sharon Isley; Jean Pus; Terry Cooper; Director Frances Sherwood, Margaret Sweeney; Maureen Cruthers, Joyce McCrae; Grace Simmons, Dorothy Tovell; Margaret Robinson, Diane Simonet; Joan Dibben.

Mrs. Sylvia Gould Celebrates 72nd Birthday March 5 at Islay

(Held over from last week)

On March 5th Mrs. Sylvia Gould of Islay celebrated her 72nd birthday. Aunt Sylvia had a big surprise when her nieces and nephew dropped in for the day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stults and family Dean, Donna, Doreen, Betty Lou and Clifford from Lindbergh, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Hellquist from Elk Point, Mr. and Mrs. George Jacobson, Randy and Joanne from Elk Point, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Laughlin and Gary from Lindbergh, Mr. Fred Gould from Islay, Mr. Devor Ireford and Mrs. Lenora Dupuit, Islay, Marvin and Agnes Gould, Islay. Aunt Sylvia's three nieces Alta, Irene and Hazel each brought a lovely decorated cake with candles, daughter-in-law Agnes served a very delicious hot dinner following which the evening was spent with music and singing, and some very good reciting by Aunt Sylvia. It is understood that she is taking part in a program in the Islay hall on March 17th, the "Gay Nineties". If weather and roads permit, there will be a good representation from the north country present at this program. There is more snow up around the river than here near Vermilion.

Aunt Sylvia received many long distance phone calls and numerous birthday cards and gifts. During the party she had a telephone call from [illegible] [illegible], Edmonton. All wish to take this opportunity to thank Aunt Sylvia, Marvin and Agnes for the lovely enjoyable day.

All are very proud of nephew Dean Stults who now has his diploma for auctioneering and judge of cattle having completed his course at the Riech School of Auctioneering in Mason City, Iowa. Dean spent Xmas and New Year's with his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] and family in [illegible]. He also visited his grandmother in that state. Every success is wished Dean in the future.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the McHugh families whose mother, Mrs. Mary McHugh, recently passed away at the age of 7[illegible] years. She will be [illegible] remembered by her friends and neighbors.

"THE WILL" Enacted In High School Play Night

"The Will" was the only three-act play on last Friday's play night at the Vermilion High School. Each act depicted a lapse of a considerable number of years, beginning with a firm of lawyers drawing up a will for a young man with no money to speak of but an aim in life and love for his wife. As the intervening years pass the aim is achieved but on the way love and purpose are lost. In the last scene, the lawyer who drew the first will, now a doddering old man, mouths truths in his mutterings and sums up the whole situation. Players taking the various roles were (left to right): Russell Kupin, Raymond Kowalski; Faye Luchyk; Ronald Gillman; Allister Cruthers; and Douglas Heckbert. —A Standard Staff Photo

E. J. Smith Addresses Local Rotary Club

E. J. Smith, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Vermilion, and a member of the Rotary club, addressed the weekly luncheon meeting last Friday.

Mr. Smith took for his subject "The Historical Background of Banking". He stated that banks were in operation away back in ancient Greece. The bankers paid 10 per cent interest on deposits and they charged 20 per cent on loans. Borrowers get a little better deal today.

Bill Cross introduced Mr Smith and Carl Heckbert thanked him on behalf of the club for an address sincerely and capably presented.

4-H SPEAKERS, GUESTS

The club had as guests Lynne Davidson and John Stewart, both of Vermilion. These two 4-H members were winners in this area of the public speaking contest which is sponsored locally by the Rotary club and the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Also present were Hugh Stewart and Mr and Mrs. Stan Davidson, parents of the winners.

The club had as guests and visitors Ross Cairns and Henry Kolesar, both of Vegreville, Dr R. Reese, Assistant Superintendent of Schools for Alberta, Harold Killens of Calgary, Ken Brown and Johnnie McLean of Vermilion, Sid Casey, Bob Halgarth, Joe Renaud, Joe Mistal, Jack Reddoch, Dr. Payment and Dan Peters.

Ghosts To Organize For New Season; Hope For League

Looking ahead only a few weeks, the Charley Ghosts will hold their annual organizational meeting at 7:30, Tuesday March 28, in the library basement.

The meeting, which will not only organize the team for the season will, it is hoped, lay the ground work for a four team softball league this summer.

The idea of a four team league for Vermilion is to allow all who want to play softball an opportunity. In the past, many players who wanted to play, could not, because of the limited number of teams operating . . . It is hoped that the formation of a league will allow all to play who [illegible].

If you are interested in men's softball this summer . . . you are invited to attend this meeting.

The Alberta Government will make a grant of $300.00 to the Mannville Old Timers' Association in order to assist in the publication of an historical review of the Mannville district. This is the maximum grant for historical reviews.

Ashley Cooper, M.L.A. for the constituency, appeared before the Historical Sites Committee, comprised of the Hon. A. R. Patrick, Hon. Jas. Hartley and Hon. E. C. Hinman, on Wednesday and made the application on behalf of the Mannville Association.

Mr Cooper, who has read the typewritten script, had considerable praise, not only for the content of the interesting history but for the excellent manner in its preparation.

Signs of Spring

Killdeer, gophers, ladybugs, crows, starlings, bluebirds — all signs of spring, have been reported as being sighted from thither and yon in the past week or two.

The first gopher of the new season was reported a couple of weeks back by Carl Johnson of Vermilion, who spotted one of the rodents on the highway just outside the V. S. A. But evidently he was a lone venturer, because it wasn't until Thursday, March 16th that the reports of the reappearance of winter banished birds and other spring signs became frequent.

Reports of returning wildlife on March 16th included a killdeer by Willmer Jaremko on his farm west of Vermilion, and a gopher on the farm of Bruce Winters, west of town, the third gopher of the season, as Keith Lysons had spotted one the day previous in the Telland district.

On Friday St. Patrick's Day Peggy Callaghan of town found a ladybug in the garden, while Saturday March 18th brought a report from Mrs. O. Wolters of Borradaile that she had seen a crow, and Susan Martinson saw an early bluebird the same day on highway 41, south of Vermilion.

And, just in passing, is there anyone who hasn't noted the return of those pesky starlings, by the hundreds!

Information Sought On Banded Pigeon

Reg Lovell, who farms 35 miles north-east of Vermilion has a problem.

A short time ago a blue pigeon arrived at his farm and made itself at home. The bird's stay there was short lived however, as Reg found it drowned in the stock tank where it had presumably been having a drink. Upon examining it, a band was discovered on its leg bearing No. AU58M2452.

Thus far no information has been uncovered regarding banded pigeons in this area. If someone has knowledge of the whys and wherefores of pigeon banding, please contact Mr Lovell or the Standard.

Cancer Society To Organize Fund Drive

There will be a special meeting of the Cancer Society, at which it is expected a goodly number of Women's Institute members will also be present, to hold a workshop, and view films of great importance in Cancer Research, along with talks from different speakers. This is to be held in the old high school, west end, on Wednesday the 29th of March, at 8 p.m.

People of the town and district are very welcome, and it should be an interesting evening. Preparations will also be made for organizing the annual canvass for funds.

Annual Meeting Of Retarded Children Association

The annual meeting of the Vermilion Retarded Children's Association will be held in the school for the retarded on Monday, April 10th at 8 p.m.

A film of the local children's Christmas play will be shown. These films were taken right at the school by Mr Stan Jones during the performance and should prove most interesting for the public to see just what is being done.

A review of the year's work will be given and election of two parents to fill expired terms will be made.

All groups, associations and interested parties are asked to attend. Coffee will be served. 37-8

Wheat Pool Delegate and Fieldman Conduct District Meetings

During the last three weeks the Alberta Wheat Pool has conducted a very successful series of country meetings in sub-district 602. The delivery points in this sub-district are Mannville, Minburn, Innisfree, Myrnam and Derwent. The purpose of the meetings is to explain to the members how the Pool conducted the [illegible] of their company during the past year. One of the features of these meetings is that all phases of the operation are subject to examination. The Delegate and Fieldman have a complete set of records, and are prepared to discuss them fully. Many good suggestions were made by the members as to what should be done in the future.

George Mead, Delegate, and Milo Fleming, Fieldman, conducted the meetings. Two very good general interest films were shown. This year, for the first time, slides were used to explain the year's operations. The highlight of the year was the return to the members of 4.36 cents per bushel on wheat, flax and rapeseed, and 2.8 cents per bushel on oats, barley and rye. The average dividend return on wheat over and above the market now stands at 3.95 cents per bushel for the last seven years, and is 3.25 cents per bushel for the last three years. A dividend of 4 per cent was paid to members who purchased fertilizer through the Pool. This brings to almost 28 million dollars the amount returned to the members in the form of dividends by the Pool since it was formed. Many other items were covered, such as the Member's Accident Policy, and the purchase of the elevators of Ogilvie's Ltd. and the purchase of Victoria Elevators Ltd., with its terminal at Victoria, B. C.

The attendance at the five meetings totalled over 730, and indicates the acceptance by the farmers of the efforts the Pool has made on their behalf over the last 38 years.

Battle River Camrose Social Crediters will nominate a candidate for the next Federal election at a convention to be held at Viking on Saturday April 8. Registration is from 12 noon to 2 p.m. Combined with nomination will be the annual meeting of the Federal Constituency Association.

The decision to nominate was made at a fully attended executive meeting held at Viking Saturday March 18th. Thirty members of the executive were in attendance with every part of the extensive riding represented. Present were the president Walter Pearson of Camrose and secretary John Polyhenko of Daysland.

FORMER MEMBER TO CONTEST NOMINATION

Former member for the riding James A. Smith attended the meeting and during a brief talk announced that he would be candidate at the nomination convention. Judging from the ovation this announcement received it was apparently good news for those present.

SIX MLAs ATTEND

Attending the executive meeting were six members of the Alberta Legislature, five of them representing provincial constituencies included in the Federal riding. The members, each of whom spoke briefly, were: Chester Sayers, Camrose; Henry Ruste, Wainwright; Earl Hardy, Bruce; Hon. Anders Aalborg, Alexandra; Ashley Cooper, Vermilion.

[illegible] Hansell, member for Macleod-High River and former member of parliament was present and addressed the gathering.

Civil Servants Enjoy Bonspiel

On March 11th, the civil servants of Vermilion sponsored a bonspiel of civil servants and their friends.

Rinks from Edmonton, Vegreville and St. Paul were among the guests. The Vermilion rink skipped by Gib Stephens won first prize. Members of his rink were Neil MacLean 3rd, Jim Wilson 2nd, Edna Evans lead.

There were four rinks tied for second spot, therefore each of these skips was required to throw one rock. The rocks nearest the button were given second and third prizes, winners being the Walter Duncan rink of Vermilion second, and Jerry Strelchuk of St. Paul third. The skunk prize went to Arnold Walters of Vermilion who obtained the least number of points.

Another bonspiel is anticipated for next year and it is hoped that a banquet can be arranged for it.

J. H. Clark Speaks On Artificial Breeding

Mr. J. H. Clark, Canadian representative of American Breeder's Association speaking to the Manitoba Artificial Breeders Association said, "Artificial Breeding is the Dairyman's opportunity to increase his net earnings and at the [illegible] production costs. One of the surest ways to cut production costs is to milk fewer but higher producing cows."

Expanding on this statement Mr. Clark said that the bull is more than half the herd. This was supported by a report on research carried on at Beltsville, Maryland, over a period of 25 years in which Holstein cows were mated to unrelated production proved Holstein sires.

All daughters were kept without regard to type or production. During the period average production per cow increased by 178 pounds butterfat. There was no culling, but data was analyzed to determine what the results would have been had they discarded all the cows producing less than 425 pounds butterfat, plus the consequent exclusion of all the daughters.

"The discarded cows outproduced the selected herd by an average of ten pounds of butterfat per head. They also found that daughters of low producing dams usually gain up to the average of the group in two generations, when high producing proved sires are used", Mr. Clark reported.

He said this does not conflict with the practice of culling low producing cows, for it has an immediate beneficial effect on the herd average and economy of operations. But it points up the fact little genetic improvement can be made in a herd by discarding daughters of low producing cows.

It has been fairly well established that for every young or unproved sire which is capable of increasing production, there are two which either show no improvement or actually decrease production. Thus the importance of proving sires is established.

"Because of its very nature A.I. provides opportunity to thoroughly check bulls being used, to insure they are outstanding since they are bred to so many cows it is economically sound to make closer selection, and prove them by testing their progeny."

Noting the use of A.I. throughout the world, Mr. Clark said, that last year 13% of cows in Canada were bred artificially; 31% were bred by A.I. in the U.S.; 55% in Great Britain; 80% in Japan and 100% in Denmark.

The legend is that Saskatchewan's Onion Lake acquired its name when the daughter of an Indian chief drowned herself there because of her lover, who had been bewitched, cursed her for eating onions.

A. Johnson of Amisk Takes Pool Trophy at F.U.A. Bonspiel

On Tuesday March 14th rinks from various sub-districts of District 7 of the Farmers' Union of Alberta met in Wainwright for the first district play-off. Rinks from the following places took part: Derwent, Lloydminster, Ribstone, Edgerton, Amisk, Lougheed and Irma.

WHEAT POOL TROPHY

The Alberta Wheat Pool donated a trophy for annual competition which the winning rink holds for one year. There are also four souvenir trophies which accompany the challenge trophy. These souvenir trophies are retained by the members of the top rink.

Play commenced at 10 a.m. in a double knockout. At noon a sumptuous luncheon was served to the visiting rinks by ladies of the Wainwright Curling club, which added much to the enjoyment of the day's activities.

Mrs. Lena Bekk, F. W. U. A. director and chairman of the Curling committee, welcomed the players to this first event undertaken by the F.U.A. in the area and wished them an enjoyable day.

THE WINNERS

Mr. Milo Fleming presented the Alberta Wheat Pool trophy to the winning rink of A. Johnson of Amisk, which had father and two sons as members. Runner-up in the first event was the C. Ingualdson foursome from Lougheed. George Finlay made the presentation of large divided relish dishes on behalf of the district F.U.A. The second event was won by the Mudryk rink from Derwent. Prairie Farmers Turn to Rapeseed

Farm value of the 1960-61 crop is estimated conservatively by the Canada Department of Agriculture at over $20 million if last year's average price of four cents per pound prevails. This record-breaking figure, when compared with the $7.2 million value of the previous year's crop, offers concrete proof that rapeseed is coming into its own as a leading [illegible].

A total of 736,000 acres was seeded to rape in the 1960-61 crop year. Average yield was 729 pounds per acre for a production of 551 million pounds. Exports to nine countries, mainly western Europe and Japan, totalled 260 million pounds.

The previous year 213,000 acres were seeded with rape for a total yield of 178 million pounds.

A wartime "baby" introduced to Canada in 1943 to bolster dwindling supplies of strategic oils, rapeseed today is rated as the country's fifth largest crop.

The 1961 objective of the Canadian Cancer Society Campaign is $3,287,000. More money will be spent on research than ever before.

"Accidents Need Not Happen" theme for 1961

Though she doesn't know it, this little lady is playing with danger. For the scissors she holds can be, in hands as young as hers, as deadly as a loaded pistol.

And accidents such as the one this child is courting are all the more tragic because they need never have happened. In the majority of cases, simple safety measures on the part of adults [illegible] the thousands of [illegible] that yearly bring tragedy to homes around the world.

It is in recognition of accidents as a growing health problem throughout the world that the World Health Organization has chosen "Accidents Need Not Happen" as the theme for the celebration April 7 of the 13th anniversary of its founding.

WHO and its 105 Full and four Associate Member States are working to reduce the hazards to health that accidents of all description represent — in the home, on the farm, in industry, aboard ships at sea, planes in the air, trains on land, and in the streets of the world's cities and towns.

Of all accidents, those affecting children are perhaps the most costly and tragic. For the loss or maiming of a child not only brings sorrow to his family — it also robs the nation of a part of its future.

Yet this year such adult oversights as a tube of aspirin left within a child's reach, an unguarded kettle of boiling water, or a forgotten pair of scissors or sharp-edged tool will make more cripples and kill more children around the world than polio and tuberculosis combined.

WHO and its Member States are doing their best to eliminate such needless tragedy. Their global campaign against accidents needs more than purely official support, however. It needs the help of all parents, indeed of all men and women everywhere who would reduce this dreadful toll on human life and well being. It needs your help.

Speech Difficulties

Health Unit Notes

It is estimated that there are more than 12,000,000 speech and voice cripples in the U.S. upward of 1,000,000 of whom are in the school population. Generally speaking speech is considered to be defective or distorted when it deviates so far from the speech of other people in the group that it calls attention to itself, interferes with communication, or causes its possessor to be maladjusted.

Since speech is by far our most important means of communication with our fellowmen, difficulty in speaking is a serious handicap in social, academic and work relationships. Even if the difficulty is a physical abnormality, psychological aspects are bound to complicate the picture sooner or later. If young children are permitted to go along with any form of distorted speech with the idea that they will later outgrow it, not only will the disorder or defect itself be far more difficult to cure but also the child's personality may be warped permanently.

Ideally children entering school for the first time should have a speech examination by a trained examiner to screen out those with speech difficulties. Not many schools have this service so the authorities agree that the next best procedure is to have the classroom teachers report speech difficulties to the nurse or the physician serving the school. For this reason it is recommended that teachers, as part of their training, learn to recognize any speech disorders. The procedure after recognition involves examination by a speech clinician or trained speech correctionist for diagnosis and the planning of treatment. In some cases surgical or psychiatric treatment may be required before voice and speech training are started. In school systems in which speech correctionists or specially trained teachers are not employed this training may be carried on by the parents or teachers under the supervision of the specialist responsible for the diagnosis and treatment. In some communities speech clinics which offer diagnosis and treatment of speech disorders may be available for the individual or group treatment of children who need it.

VARIETIES OF SPEECH DISORDERS

Speech disorders differ widely as to cause, kind and degree of handicapping. Roughly they may be classified as follows:

1. Speech difficulties caused by some structural defect in one or more of the organs involved in speech. Examples of such defects are cleft palate, harelip, protruding upper or lower front teeth and missing front teeth, nasal obstructions, and any abnormality in the larynx.

2. Weakness or sluggishness of the soft palate, tongue and lips, which results in a distortion of speech because more effort is required in speaking than is normaly put forth. Examples are lisping and nasality.

3. Complete or partial loss of the power to speak or to write (motor asphasia) or of the ability to understand spoken or written languag (sensory aphasia) because of injury or disease of the speech centers in the brain.

4. A disturbance of the rhythm of speech usually symptomatic of a personality maladjustment. The outstanding example of such a so-called "emotional disorder of speech" is stuttering or stammering.

5. Poor quality of voice which may be due to a structural or functional cause. Voices of poor quality may be husky, weak, nasal, shrill, breathy or monotonous. Excessive loss of hearing or nerve deafness (due to a lesion of the auditory nerve) is quite likely to result in monotonous phonation. Learning to speak is an imitative process. Children cannot learn to speak well if they cannot hear well.

6. Substitution of one speech sound for another beyond the period at which correctness of speech is usually acquired. The popular term for this difficulty is "baby talk". It may be due to a slight temporary interruption of the growth process, or to a home environment in which baby talk is encouraged, or to some emotional blocking.

7. A noticeable unusual accent caused by the influence on English speech of a foreign language, local dialect, or family peculiarities of utterance. Since speech (as we have noted above) is largely imitative, children cannot learn to speak English correctly if they constantly hear English spoken correctly.

240 ATTEND SINGSPIRATION

Two hundred and forty adults and children were at the Legion hall Vermilion on March 3rd to attend the third annual Singspiration festival of music and song sponsored by the Vermilion Salvation Army senior youth group.

Ten churches were represented from Edmonton, Wainwright, Lloydminster, Marwayne, and Vermilion. Each item was very well rendered and it was very evident that a lot of preparation had been put into them.

In the interval the audience was treated to a story by Mrs. Major Hosty of Edmonton and also the singing of choruses.

Guest speaker for the evening was Captain T. Wagner of Edmonton Salvation Army who gave a very interesting talk on the importance of being in tune with God. After the festival everyone was invited to partake of lunch to round off a very enjoyable evening of fellowship.

Chairman for the evening was John Scott president of the S. A. Youth Group and he expressed on behalf of the group, sincere thanks for such a wonderful attendance and also to all the churches who had given of their time and had travelled so far to make this event so successful.

An additional donation was made towards the insurance on the church and contents to be added to that of the senior W.A.s contribution as regards same.

"Rep by Pop" Not Feasible, Minister Tells Members In Alberta Legislature

By Russ Sheppard

EDMONTON. — The concept that representation by population should be the basis for representation in the Legislature is impractical and virtually impossible, says Minister-without-Portfolio, Fred C. Colborne. He says that representation on such a basis has never been achieved in North America. Mr. Colborne was chairman of the special committee appointed to study and recommend on representation to the Legislature and provincial boundaries in Alberta. The committee tabled a report in the Legislature March 7th recommending a reduction of constituencies or MLAs from 65 to 63. The proposals would add one additional member to each of the Edmonton and Calgary metropolitan areas and eliminate four rural ridings.

Formally presenting the report to the Legislature, Mr Colborne said that the Chambers of Commerce and the Conservative party in submissions to the Committee had called for representation by population. He said the Committee was able to persuade the groups that they were mistaken in their concept of representation. Replying to editorial criticism that "there is no true democracy unless there is representation by population" Mr Colborne proceeded to quote in detail Federal and Provincial constituencies across Canada, pointing out that rural ridings are larger in area but smaller in population generally in all areas. He noted that in Manitoba representation by population is prevented by legislation.

Keith Everitt (SC-St. Albert) was critical of the Committee for removing over 200 voters from his riding to that of Redwater. Alex Gordey (SC-Vegreville) and Jack Hillman (SC-Sedgewick) were both critical of the major changes in the east-central part of the province where a wholesale realignment of constituency boundaries was carried out.

The changes result in the constituency of Vegreville becoming Vegreville-Bruce and Sedgewick becoming Sedgewick-Coronation. Mr. Hillman said a representative for the Sedgewick - Coronation riding would have to have the agility of a jack rabbit and the wisdom of a Solomon to serve the constituency properly.

Wm. Patterson (SC-Lac St Anne) commended the Committee for taking into consideration problems of his constituency's boundaries in its recommendations. Mr. Colborne noted following these statements that members can make further suggestions on boundaries when the legislation to implement the report is before the Legislature.

Premier Manning spoke for about two hours during the budget debate reviewing the recent Federal Provincial fiscal conference. He said Alberta was agreed in principle with the new program of Federal - Provincial taxation. At the outset Alberta will tax 16% on income tax, 9% on corporation tax and 50% of the succession tax. Alberta is guaranteed as are other provinces, of not receiving less revenue from the plan than they are from the present tax agreement.

Mr Manning said Alberta had suggested an alternative plan calling for a "basic national standard of health, education and welfare". He said these matters were our first line of defence. "If we don't properly provide for the education of our children and the health and welfare of society as a whole we will decay and perish." The premier emphasized the need for everyone to co-operate in controlling the ever - rising costs that are pricing the country out of export markets.

The most heated debate of the session developed during consideration of a motion entered by Michael Maccagno (Lib. Lac La Biche) calling for a Government white paper detailing the new taxation program. On several occasions the Liberal member had asked for details on the subject. Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke spoke for an hour reviewing part of his two-hour speech of two weeks previous. At that time the Minister had outlined the broad principles of the plan. During his debate Mr Hooke referred to Mr. Maccagno's questions as dumb or stupid. Reference to stupid was made several times. After Mr Hooke had concluded his remarks Mr Maccagno said the Minister had made a lot of noise but had still failed to answer his questions or details of the plan.

Premier Manning, speaking on the motion, said the white paper could be taken as the government's final stand at the [illegible] and this was not desired. He said we have had competent co-operation from the groups concerned in preparing this program. It is one of the most important matters to come before the Legislature. We are prepared to consider any worthwhile suggestions to improve the program and want to keep it flexible.

The day following Mr. Hooke's use of the term stupid, Mr. Maccagno said he had talked to municipal, school board and utility company officials and they were awaiting details of the new plan. "Calling me stupid," said Mr Maccagno, "is fine and dandy but you are also tarring the people I have spoken to with the same brush." Mr. Hooke arose to say he had said "no one can be that stupid" not to understand the plan. Mr Maccagno retorted "spoken like a smart politician."

The Legislature has given unanimous support to a resolution calling on the Federal Government to enter negotiations with the U.S. Government with a view to finalizing an agreement for the immediate upgrading and paving of the Alaska highway in Canada. A. J. Fimrite (SC-Spirit River) mover of the motion said that unless the project is undertaken on a cost sharing basis between the two governments we will not see the Alaska highway completed in our time. He suggested a completion date for the more than 1,000-mile project be 1967, the centennial year for both Canada and Alaska.

The Dominion curling champions Hec Gervais and company were honored in the Legislature for bringing the championship to Alberta for the eighth time in the 32 years of competition.

AMATEURS OUTLAWED

Included among bills introduced this week is one to amend the Dental Association Act. It contains a definition of dentistry and outlaws amateur dentistry even if done at no charge.

Procedures for expropriating land and determining compensation for land are outlined in a new bill which replaces several other Acts covering the subject. It is intended to make procedures uniform and reduce variation now contained in the other Acts.

$1,944,000 SPENT ON CURBS, SIDEWALKS, PAVING

Answering questions by Henry Ruste (SC-Wainwright) brought the reply that $1,944,000 have been committed to curb, sidewalk and street paving in hamlets, villages and towns throughout the province under this phase of the Government's five-year program. Street paving totals 100 miles. [illegible] centres have signed agreements with the Government under the program.

TRADING STAMPS

The Bill designed to outlaw "trading stamps" is progressing through the Legislature. It has passed second reading and al[illegible] specifying trading stamps. It is designed to give [illegible] Licensing Act to handle the situation. Loss of licence is among the penalties.

Welfare Minister R. D. Jorgenson says never has the province received more for [illegible] than is received in the homes for senior citizens.

The government has already opened 11 of the homes with the ultimate object being fifty. Mr Jorgenson was replying to criticism of the homes. He said further there is nothing anywhere under the sun to equal this program.

Vastly Changed Boundaries Are Proposed for Vermilion Const'y

Eagle M. D., Large Part of Bruce Riding Added, including Viking

A major change for the Vermilion Constituency is proposed by the Committee of the Legislature in the redistribution plan now being considered by the Alberta Legislature.

One constituency in the area — that of Bruce — is being eliminated, and Vermilion will be enlarged by a large part of that constituency, represented at the present time by Mr. Earl Hardy, M.L.A. The area to be added to Vermilion includes the centres of Viking, Kinsella and Phillips.

The western boundary of Vermilion riding is being moved further westward and now takes in the villages of Ranfurly, and Lavoy, formerly in Vegreville.

The Vermilion constituency in turn loses all the area lying north of the CPR and highway 45, chiefly in M.D. of Eagle, and all territory lying north to the Saskatchewan River. Centres included are Derwent, Myrnam and Beauvallon. This area will be included in the constituency of Alexandra, represented by the Minister of Education, the Hon. A. O. Aalborg.

Mr. Ashley Cooper, M.L.A., for Vermilion, when asked as to his reaction to the revised boundaries stated that he welcomed the new area into the constituency, but sincerely regretted losing the northern portion of the constituency centering around Derwent, Myrnam and Beauvallon. This has been a most active and progressive portion of his constituency, according to Mr. Cooper, in which he had spent a lot of time and where he found the people to be very co-operative and very very friendly.

Mr. Cooper will continue to represent the area until the next election. [illegible] boundaries of the new constituency are as follow:

[illegible]

THE PROPOSED NEW PARTY

A large delegation of the C.C.F. membership and other interested people in the Battle River-Camrose riding, met at Viking on Saturday, Feb. 25th for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to the formation of a political party in which all men and women whether they be farmers, small businessmen, workers engaged in industry, transportation, offices or elsewhere could join hands for their common good.

A large number of those attending took part in very lively discussion [illegible] the form the new party might take.

[illegible]

A National [illegible] the question of whether the proposed party [illegible] be decided.

[illegible] Battle River-Camrose [illegible] to attend the [illegible] convention. These delegates will use their own judgment when discussing and voting on matters pertaining to the economic and political principles as well as the structure of the proposed party.

For an Alberta Cabinet Minister to become so all hot and bothered over the constitution and objectives of the proposed party even before these matters have been decided seems premature indeed.

What kind of medical protection do you enjoy?

Centuries ago, Babylonians believed that hostile demons lurked everywhere and that protection from illness or madness could be obtained by the use of magic amulets, talismans and other kindred charms. Images of the gods, swines' teeth, claws and even little stones strung on a thread or chain were especially favored.

Today, the comprehensive pre-paid medical care provided by Medical Services (Alberta) Incorporated, means freedom from worry and protection against costly illnesses for Albertans. Enjoyed by over 488,000 people in this Province, it offers the greatest protection for all members of the family at the lowest possible cost. M.S.I. includes such services as home, office and hospital calls, diagnosis, treatment, surgery and many others. There is no age limit, or exclusion for chronic or pre-existing ailments.

Birch Creek W. I. Hold Successful St. Patrick's Tea and Fashion Show

MANNVILLE — March 16th found the ladies of Birch Creek W. I. ready to receive their guests at a tea and fashion show in the Anglican parish hall at 3 p.m.

The tea, which was most tasteful, was served by attractively attired waitresses and wearing shamrock trimmed aprons. The tables were enhanced by small pots of shamrocks bearing a verse, and grown by Mrs. Mac Ross, a member of the group, in her greenhouse. [illegible] were lovely baby mums also grown by Mrs. Ross, in small vases. These made a charming addition to the surroundings.

A break in the tea time came at 4 p.m. as ladies who had attended the recent Sewing Clinic presented and modelled their various efforts of sewing. Miss Ruth Gray was a most capable commentator, her outfit ably described by Mrs. Rutherford as she modelled her daffodil yellow [illegible] of simple lines and accentuated by a new high crown model hat of the exact shade and accessories. Next appeared Mrs. Norma Watling in her smart afternoon model of white linen, graceful lines suitable for the tall girl. Following her came Mrs. Dorothy Bauer in an attractive blue wool broadcloth and close on her heels was seen Mrs. Iva Scott in an afternoon ensemble of green cotton with green and white polka dot trim and lining most pleasing to the eye. Mrs. Irene Finley chose for her creation a drip dry cotton, which could be ready in a short time after laundering to wear, most practical. Mrs. Dorothy Allen sauntered casually across the room in her afternoon two piece ensemble of brown cotton worn with white accessories; a bouquet was handed her by commentator as Mrs. Allen had supervised lunch the first day of the Clinic and still appeared in class with work on her dress caught right up to the rest (after hours effort no doubt.) Mrs. Anita Williams modelled her casual suit of frosty blue rayon blend material which was duly admired followed by Mrs. Irene Smith in a Dan River gingham frock of delightful pink, which so suited her coloring.

Mrs. Dorothy Johnson (who called in at the classes for one hour's duration) proved she remembered what she saw and heard, by modelling her self styled car-coat of wool with slight shag effect, large patch pockets and swing back. And [illegible] cool days.

Mrs. [illegible] was extremely attractive in a mauve afternoon print frock, which could be accepted anywhere. Mrs. Mary McLaughlin modelled her brave effort of a wool mohair boucle coat with set in pockets, and tapered sleeves etc., which was greatly admired. Mrs. Ruby Bauer modelled a [illegible] crepe frock suitable for anytime with matching hat. Mrs. Nellie Whitson modelled her Kohama acetate afternoon frock, with full length zipper set in at the back in attractive color of blue. At this point the commentator asked the gathering to wait for the appearance of two city models who would display the very latest in fashions. Their entry caused ripples of laughter throughout the crowd as Dorothy Bauer and Norma Watling swept in with hats at least 3 feet in width and dresses suitable in great grand mother's day complete with bustles and whatever they wore then.

It was truly a most enjoyable afternoon, and something quite different. The remark was passed that it was hoped the W.I. would do a repeat of a similar nature in the near future.

New Plant Science Building at Olds

Construction of a new Plant Science Building at the Olds School of Agriculture is to commence immediately. This statement was made by J. E. Hawker, Superintendent of Alberta Schools of Agriculture.

The building, which replaces the agronomy building lost by fire just over a year ago, will contain lecture rooms and laboratories for teaching field husbandry, botany, horticulture, irrigation and agricultural science. In addition there will be a potting room, office space for instructors, cold storage area and grounds workman. Greenhouses will probably be added later.

Mr. Hawker said that the new building should be ready for occupancy during the 1961-62 school term.

There is a transcendent power in example. We reform others unconsciously when we walk upright. — Madame Swetchine

Duck Puddles Prospects Gloomy

A very dry fall across the prairie provinces and very little snow gave a dismal picture of water and duck prospects up to the end of January.

February snowfall has been relatively good however and the outlook for the spring run-off is much improved.

In Alberta, north of the Red Deer River, there is snow for a fair to good run-off, but in the south little run-off is in sight at present.

The same situation exists in Saskatchewan. The northern area, from about Saskatoon north, has the potential for a fair to good run-off while the situation is poor in south-western Saskatchewan but improves eastward. The potential in Manitoba is uniformly good.

It must be emphasized that what is described here is potential run-off only. With the extremely dry fall, seepage losses from melting snow are likely to be abnormally high. These losses will be needed to produce the full potential of the snow now on the ground.

Chiropractors Meet At Lloydminster

Dr. Glenn Landin, Director of Public Information for the Alberta Chiropractic Association was a visitor in Lloydminster on March 4th week-end to address the Lloydminster area Chiropractic Association members.

The growth of responsibility in the field of Chiropractic in the last few years has made it imperative for the Chiropractic Association to strengthen the ties of membership. The coincidental increase in the membership ranks of the profession has necessitated a more closely knit organization.

In Dr. Landin's capacity as Director of Public Information, one of the functions is to coordinate and organize liaison in specific areas throughout the province, such as Lloydminster, so that these districts may cooperate more closely with other major areas such as Lethbridge, Calgary, Medicine Hat, Red Deer and Edmonton to the common good of the Association and the patient.

Dr. Landin is a graduate of the Logan School of Chiropractic in St. Louis, Missouri, and has practised in Edmonton for the past seven years.

Also present were Dr. Orville C. Berg of Lloydminster, President of the Alberta Chiropractors Association and Dr. J. H. Love of Vermilion.

Vermilion Women's Institute

Eleven members met at the home of Mrs. J. McCaig for the March meeting of the W. I. The president Mrs. W. J. Bell was in the chair. The meeting commenced with the usual exercises, followed by the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report was given.

During the month eleven get well cards and one sympathy card were sent and 28 sick calls made. On March 10th the W. I. served coffee and doughnuts at the National Grain film demonstration. The president reported on the visit to the Health centre regarding equipment owned by the W.I. and stored there; one wheel chair is to be kept for short term loan only.

Layettes are to be made for the Unitarian Service committee to be ready by May if possible. Four members will attend the cancer films on March 29th. Discussion took place on the proposed adoption of a needy child. A letter was received from Miss Hooper regretting she could not attend the meeting but would do so in April. Mrs. R. Mead was also unable to come and give her talk. Roll call was 'Our Pet Grievance', but not all had grievances. A very nice social visit was enjoyed following the serving of a delicious lunch by Mrs. McCaig. Mrs. Ford won the mystery box.

MOISTURE LOW BUT CROP HOPES HIGH

Western farmers and farm officials are worried about the low moisture reserves on the Prairies, but they're not writing off the 1961 grain crop yet, reports J. K. Edmonds in The Financial Post. Recent heavy snowfalls on the Prairies have been just like money in the bank to some regions. Improved machinery and methods have rendered the crop more drought-resistant than it was in the 1930s. Another reason wheat farmers aren't panicking is that farm income depends not on what's grown, but on what's delivered to the elevator. Livestock is more apt to suffer than grain if rainfall is short again this summer. Prairie pastures are carrying record numbers of cattle and adequate supplies of water and feed are essential. Provincial ministers of agriculture met in Regina to assess dangers, and plan strategy if a drought develops.

Royal Arch Masons Advance Thirteen Members

History was made on Tuesday evening, March 14th, when Vermilion Chapter of Royal Arch Masons held their regular meeting and advanced thirteen new members into a higher degree. Only once in many years does this happen. The meeting was in charge of Comp. Robt. Anderson, and the degree was presented in a very efficient manner by Comp. Alec Callas and his officers. A social time was enjoyed afterwards.

After lunch President Waldenberger gave the club an outline of the next social, to be held in the Legion hall on Wednesday, April 19th in the evening commencing at 8 p.m. sharp — please note change of meeting from afternoon to evening. Bingo will be the feature attraction with groceries for prizes. Mr. Waldenberger also thanked the members for their loyal support as shown by the wonderful turnout, and hoped the April social would attract many more new members. As stated before, a sincere and hearty welcome awaits all newcomers in our district who are fifty years of age or over. Feel free to attend these socials, where you will meet many new friends, and the executive members feel sure that after attending one of the socials, you will not want to miss any future ones. Mr. Waldenberger called upon the M.C., Mr. Percy Cross, who read a letter of appreciation from the Canadian Legion, Post 11, thanking the ladies and gentlemen of the club who gave so liberally of their time in repairing and washing and waxing of all the card tables; also a letter from Mr. Alex Wannop of Galt, Ont., who sends sincere thanks for the nice card and good wishes. Many will remember Alex who left Vermilion around 1938. He still enjoys reading the Standard, sent to him every week by his sister, Mrs. B. Anderson. All take this opportunity to wish you a speedy recovery Alex. To Mrs. Preston for your very nice expression of thanks, it is indeed heartening to know that a card from the club gives a boost while one is confined to hospital. To all members who are on the sick list and to all friends at the coast and elsewhere, the club extends sincere Easter greetings.

The afternoon came to a glorious end with Mrs. Simonet accompanying in the singing of the theme song, followed by "The Queen".

Prog.-Con. Student Federation Elect Officers

At the annual general meeting of the Alberta Progressive Conservative Student Federation held March 7 at the U. of A. the following officers were elected:

President — Gerry Offet, Lacombe; Vice-Presidents — David Parsons, Red Deer, Marc Berzins, Red Deer, Lawrence Chapman, Edson; Sec.-Treasurer — Dorothy Jean Stewart, Vermilion; Members at Large — Dixie Schreyer, Mannville, Hu Lynch Staunton, Pincher Creek, Doug Lampord, Red Deer.

E. Watkins, M.L.A., spoke at the meeting and called for a long time planning in Alberta Government especially with the dwindling revenues from national resources.

What Can Be Done About Beavers?

Alberta farmers whose hay and crop lands are being flooded each year by beaver dams have two alternatives. Either they can apply for a permit and trap the animals themselves or they can lodge a complaint with the Fish and Wild Life Division of the Department of Lands and Forests.

When the trapping is done by the farmer himself, he simply gets a $3.00 resident trapper's license from the Fish and Wild Life Division. Either he or somebody he appoints can then trap the beaver. If, however, he is not interested in doing the trapping, he should contact the Fish and Game Officer in his district, his municipal office, field supervisor or district agriculturist immediately. Time is of the utmost importance here because arrangements have to be made to put a trapper into the area before the pelting season closes on May 1st.

Co-operation on the part of all farmers in areas infested by beaver would be greatly appreciated by the Fish and Wild Life Division. When complaints are lodged together and a description of the location of each farm given, considerable time is saved. The officer simply picks up the complaints from the municipal district office instead of calling at each farm. The farmers are then asked to sign the release forms while the trapping is in progress.

Under the Game Act the Fish and Wild Life Division have the [illegible] any beaver or dams which are causing or liable to cause damage to somebody else's property without the consent of the owner on whose land the [illegible] is situated. Up to the present this prerogative has [illegible] had to be used. Farmers have always been most cooperative where damage to the property of others has been concerned.

Many Entries In Slogan Contest

Judging by the first entries in the Alberta Tourist Association's slogan contest, Albertans can think of as many colorful descriptions for their province as the province offers colorful places to visit.

"The judges of this contest will really face a difficult task," commented Herb Wester, secretary of the A. T. A.

The contest is designed to obtain for the A. T. A. a slogan that will be descriptive of all of Alberta, from top to bottom and side to side. The slogan may combine the many appeals that Alberta holds as a vacationland or a nice place to live, but the whole should be condensed to ten words or so.

For the winning slogan, the A. T. A. is offering a week-end for two at any Alberta resort of the winner's choice. The A. T. A. will arrange the accommodation. The prize may be collected any week-end except in July or August.

Entries have been received at the rate of about ten a day from all over the province. The contest is restricted to resident Albertans. Entries should be marked "Slogan Contest" and mailed to the Alberta Tourist Association, 810 Centre Street S., Calgary. The contest closes on April 30th.

Seed Cleaning Plants To Reach 8 Million Bushels

Alberta's 41 seed cleaning plants are expected to probably surpass their objective of eight million bushels of grain during their operations this year.

The volume of grain handled so far this season has been larger than in the past according to S. Goddard, Supervisor of Special Projects with the Alberta Department of Agriculture. This may be partly due to mild weather and good road conditions.

To assist these plants to maintain efficient service, a series of regional meetings attended by directors, managers and district agriculturists representing the various municipal seed cleaning plants were held recently at Falher, Morinville, Vegreville, Vermilion, Lougheed, Wetaskiwin, Bentley and Vulcan. In all cases the [illegible] were well attended and [illegible] questions discussed.

Harold Webber or William Nel[illegible] from Co-operative Activities, George Chambers, Secretary of the Provincial Seed Cleaning Association and Spencer [illegible] acted as panel members answering questions and leading discussions.

WHAT'S NEW?

These new ideas and new products are reported in The Financial Post. For Housewives: A fold-away hood that covers the kitchen range while cooking is in process, and disappears under the cabinets afterwards, has been introduced in the U.S. For Motorists: To protect your car against salt spread on streets and highways in winter, a spray-on rust inhibitor is now available. It is supposed to last through several washings and won't injure paint finishes. For Bird Lovers: A plastic feeding box from Germany which attaches to any window pane by means of four suckers. Box has a roof resting on four pillars so that birds may be easily watched through window while feeding.

A NEW LOOK FOR MEN

The men's clothing industry is ready with the British Look and [illegible] a Winnipeg [illegible] reports Ray [illegible] in the Financial Post. HULL ADHERENCE IN MALTING BARLEY

Scientists Tackle Problem

Of all the cash crops grown, probably none requires closer attention from the time it is ready for harvest than does malting barley. In this connection new methods of harvesting and handling grain have made the matter of hull adherence in malting barley an urgent problem especially since the recent changes with respect to the percentage of peeled and broken kernels permitted in certain grades. Hull adherence, in fact, is considered the major physical property of barley that requires improvement at the present time.

Canadian scientists and plant breeders are concentrating upon the problem with a view to finding the contributing causes of peeling and to developing tight hulled strains of barley which have all the desirable properties of the existing malting varieties.

Among other things it has been found that barley is handled at least 15 times and in some cases as many as 22 times during transit and processing and depending on where it is grown, how long it is stored and where it is processed. As it is moved by various augers, or carried over various types of conveyors or is handled by other types of equipment it is subject to considerable abrasive action. Thus the first step has been to measure the relative susceptibility of different barley samples to mechanical damage.

It has been established that looseness of hull is a varietal characteristic and with this in mind the hybrid lines from current barley breeding projects are being carefully screened with respect to hull adherence. Also being explored is the transfer by plant breeders of tight-hull characteristics of certain feed barleys to malting type barleys. Eventually this problem — like many other problems with which plant breeders have been faced in the past — will be solved. In the meantime, producers are warned against handling barley that is intended for malting purposes any more than is absolutely necessary.

Doctors "Give Up" On Confirmed Smokers

Doctors who regard smoking as a major menace to public health have given up trying to reform adults addicted to tobacco, says an article in the current Maclean's.

Instead, says writer Franklin Russell, the doctors in Canada, the U.S. and Europe are developing a campaign to dissuade youngsters from taking up the habit.

Russell quotes an English doctor as saying: "I no longer advise adult patients to quit smoking. Apparently life with out the burning weed seems purposeless to them, so let them have a short life and a merry one.

"But in heaven's name, let them keep their children from smoking. Let the next generation live."

Parental example is the most important single factor among the causes that prompt youngsters to start smoking, Russell reports. Studies have shown that a teenager is more likely to become a smoker if both his parents are.

However, he adds, the opposite motive, the desire to rebel against their elders, also prompts many youngsters to start smoking, but this happens mostly when non-smoking parents forbid smoking, not when they are merely indifferent about it.

USE OF WEED ON INCREASE

Smoking among teenagers in Canada has lately increased so much, says the article, that many schools have given up trying to prohibit it. Instead they have set aside smoking rooms for students. [illegible] when I'm 60."

Vermilion Member Reviews Constituency Matters in Assembly

In a wide-ranging thirty-five minute address in the budget debate at an evening sitting of the Legislature on Thursday last, the Vermilion Constituency M.L.A., Ashley Cooper, commented on the budget, the many achievements in the constituency under the five year plan, under annual grants, and notated several problems which he asked Cabinet ministers to help solve. His address immediately followed that of Premier Manning.

Mr Cooper's address follows: "Mr Speaker: It is rather an unenviable position for an in[illegible] [illegible] bencher to follow [illegible] Premier of this province in the budget debate. Some of my colleagues on the back-benches have suggested that it is a case of David and Goliath. Knowing the Books of Samuel, I cannot cast the Honorable Premier in the role of Goliath; rather I see him as a David, leading his Alberta people to a new democracy and a new way of life.

Another member of the back bencher squad likened me to a Volkswagen following a Lincoln.

At the outset I wish to congratulate the Hon. Provincial Treasurer on the far-reaching and humanitarian budget which he has introduced at this session. A budget which despite a general recession across the length and breadth of Canada continues to give to Albertans the fine type of services to which we have become accustomed without lowering the levels of assistance to municipalities and which maintains a high standard for our welfare, for education, for hospitalization, for agriculture and without curtailing our highway construction, all without adding any general taxation.

In view of the record of the Social Credit government, it is perhaps not surprising that one feature of the budget which was selected for headlines in the daily papers was the 2c per gallon tax increase on gasoline.

The fact that during the last ten years the Alberta Government has made only three minor tax increases makes it worthy of notice. Back in 1951 fuel oil tax was increased from 9 to 10c. There were no further increases until 19[illegible] when the tax on diesel fuel was upped [illegible] and this year, with the increase of 2c on gasoline. This is the lowest gas tax in Canada. When travelling by car in the eastern provinces Albertans pay as high as 15, 17 and even up to 19 cents per gallon tax. This at least gives us some chance to retrieve part of it from tourists coming to Alberta.

I should mention also that during those ten years in which there were the three minor increases two taxes which the Government inherited were abolished. These were the unearned increment tax and the amusement tax.

So it is little wonder the daily press picked out the unusual and headlined the gas tax increase although I doubt if this was their reason. However I cannot help but feel that other humanitarian features could have been highlighted such as the $80 million for the Department of Health in order to take care of our sick, our pensioners, Albertans who suffer from TB, from cancer, polio and those in our mental institutions. The press too might have highlighted the fact that the Department of Welfare is working towards a new concept of welfare which is the granting of social allowances based on individual need. This is another advancement in social work and a definite first for Alberta being a leader in the Social Welfare field. And you could go through the whole budget and find that every dollar is being spent in the interests of Alberta people for very [illegible].

And yet the honorable member for Calgary-Glenmore, sitting in front of the TV [illegible] recently, seemed to [illegible] on the theme of his [illegible] the Alberta [illegible]'s only claim to being a good government was in the large sums of money which it spent. In listening carefully to his talk, that was the only thought which seemed to be running through it.

Imagine developing such a theme in a province that is fairly bristling with progress, more and better highways, better schools, more hospitals, more parks and recreation spots, more new industry than anywhere in Canada.

VERMILION CONSTITUENCY

However on this occasion I want to talk about my constituency and what has been done with grants made possible under various phases of the five-year plan. There is in the Alberta film library a movie called the 'Changing Face of Alberta'. It is a most enlightening film dealing with all the important changes which are taking place in Alberta. I would now like to talk in a similar vein, taking as my theme the 'Changing Face of My Constituency'. What has transpired in the Vermilion constituency has no doubt been repeated in every rural constituency in this province under the program of grants for hard surfacing, for curbs and sidewalks, for recreation, for municipal parks, senior citizens lodges, all under the five-year plan and in the many other activities carried on from year to year by the various departments of government.

DERWENT

On travelling along provincial highway 41, we first visit the active village of Derwent. Here, within the past year new cement walks and cement curbs have been built; the Alberta Control Board [illegible] a new store, and speaking for the modern building itself, it would be an addition to the business section of any town. Derwent people, too, are rejoicing at the inauguration of 24-hour telephone service, and are now able to purchase their car and truck licenses in their own village as a result of having a licence bureau agent appointed there. All of these changes taking place within a year.

Two adjoining towns on the Cariboo Trail, built a century ago at the time of the Fraser River gold rush, are named Whiskey Creek and Soda Creek.

MYRNAM

In travelling a little further west we come to the village of Myrnam, and here, also, during the summer and fall there has been great activity in sidewalk and curb construction, the improving of the children's playground, the building of a new outdoor skating rink and effecting improvements to the curling rink. The curling rink at Myrnam, as in many villages, is practically the community centre during the winter months. Myrnam too, is now enjoying 24-hour telephone service inaugurated during the past year.

SITE OF SENIOR LODGE

Myrnam has been the choice by the M.D. of Eagle and villages in the area, for the Senior Citizen's Lodge, yet to be built, and a lovely site has been selected for this fine building.

Eagle M.D. is an area quite remote from the location of any Senior Citizens Lodge, so that I would recommend to the Hon. Minister of Welfare that construction of a lodge there should be carried out early, in the resumption of the program.

Some $25,000 is being spent on a modernization program in the Myrnam Municipal hospital.

BEAUVALLON

At Beauvallon, just a hamlet, the recreation grant has been put to a mammoth amount of use, and I rather imagine that the people of the village rallied around and much of the actual labor was volunteer. The skating rink was repaired and rewired, playgrounds improved and ball diamonds set up.

PARK AT SUNSET LAKE

The progressive M.D. of Eagle has already commenced development of a municipal park at Sunset Lake, a beautiful spot.

FINE MARKET ROAD

Stretching across the Eagle M.D. from the north at the Saskatchewan River, to the south boundary of the M.D., lacking but two miles, is a very fine market road constructed by contingency grants from the Department of Highways.

This highway is being carried on from north to south by the contingency grant road through Minburn M.D., another large part of the Vermilion constituency, so that the constituency is now traversed from north to south by an excellent gravelled [illegible].

BRIDGE REQUIRED AT MYRNAM FERRY

I would draw [illegible] your attention Mr Speaker that the north end of the road ends at the Myrnam ferry on the Saskatchewan River and I respectfully suggest to the Hon. Minister of Highways that the need for a bridge here be carefully considered in the bridge construction program for the very near future. A few miles to the north of this ferry lies the town of St. Paul with well populated areas on both sides of the river and for this reason I believe this to be one of the busier ferries.

MARKED RESULTS AT INNISFREE

On hard-top highway 16, travelling from west to east in the constituency the first village visited is Innisfree. The people here made maximum use of their recreational grant, and the village was simply a hive of industry all summer long. The ultimate result is a brand new well-lighted large outdoor skating rink with most commodious waiting rooms and a new 3-sheet curling rink building with a two storied waiting room. This was a most outstanding achievement all engendered by the recreation grant under the five-year plan.

GRANTS RESULT IN ACTIVITY

I do not think that anything ever done has stirred up more activity in villages particularly than the grants for recreation, for curb and gutter, and for hard surfacing. It just seems to give the people a renewed interest in their home town. Officiating at day long festivities celebrating the opening of the curling rink at Innisfree were the Hon. Russ[illegible] and Mr. A. W. [illegible], member for [illegible] and myself.

MICRO WAVE TOWER

At Innisfree shortly will be erected a mammoth micro wave tower, another link in the new connection being installed by the A. G. T. The mention of telephones reminds me that Innisfree telephone subscribers were also added to those enjoying 24-hour service during the current year.

A highway camp kitchen will be built on the shores of Birch Lake, just a mile south of Innisfree. It is hoped that this spot will be developed into a municipal park by Minburn M.D. with grants supplied by the Alberta Government.

TELEPHONE SERVICE

I should divert at this moment to thank the Hon. Minister of Telephones for his sympathetic hearing of representations for 24-hour telephone service. During the year, 24-hour services have been inaugurated at three villages in my constituency, Myrnam, Derwent and Innisfree and now only one small village remains without the desirable convenience of full-time telephone service.

MINBURN

At Minburn the recreational grant was spent on improving and equipping the community hall. Another interesting development near Minburn is the Minburn community pasture which will be put into use next spring.

FIRST HUTTERITE COLONY

Vermilion constituency now has a Hutterite colony, located on the former Mixburn ranch in the Minburn district. At a public meeting called to discuss the colony, not one voice was raised in protest. But I would hasten to add that this was the one and only block of land available for colony purposes.

HARD-TOP AT MANNVILLE

At Mannville a wonderful change has been wrought by the hard surfacing of the main business block. This is a broad street and is really set off by the fine piece of pavement. So pleased were the people with their pavement that they had a gala opening complete with banquet, a street dance on the hard-top, during which time they paid much tribute to the Hon. Minister of Highways and their M.L.A. I was very happy to have the Hon. Minister, Mr. Taylor, present that night; in fact during the dance he was "the rage". I now realize how he remains a bachelor: he believes that there is safety in numbers!

HOSPITAL ADDITION

Mannville Municipal Hospital Board No. 1, which means that this area was the first to organize and build a hospital under this plan back about 1919, is presently spending some $90,000 on enlarging and renovating their hospital. $40,000 of this is from a building fund of the Municipal Hospital District augmented by a $50,000 grant from the Provincial Department of Health.

PROUD OF COMMUNITY

Mannville people are proud of their active town and community, so much so that Old Timers' Association undertook to compile a history of the district dating back to the days of the first settlemen. I have read the script and highly commend those responsible for writing it. I was very pleased to meet the Provincial Historic Sites committee and to recommend that the publication of this book be aided by the maximum grant of $300 to such laudable historic projects, and this the Committee decided to do.

Vermilion to Try Tuesday Night Store Opening

Motion Passed By Chamber of Commerce at Luncheon Meeting

By a vote of 15 to 8, members of the Vermilion Chamber of Commerce gave approval this week to a recommendation of an "experimental" period of late opening for retail stores on Tuesday nights, with all day Wednesday closing.

The ballot vote for the five-day shopping week culminated considerable discussion over the past few weeks, and came as the result of a motion placed before the meeting by Ernie Clendenning and seconded by Russ [illegible].

Mr Clendenning, president of the Chamber of Commerce was in the chair for the meeting and asked for a motion from the floor on the subject. When none was forthcoming he turned the chair over to the vice-president, Aldous Kent, and presented the motion himself.

RESOLUTION CALLS FOR SIX WEEK PERIOD

The motion as it was finally put to the meeting calls for a [illegible] that the retail section of Vermilion remain open Tuesday nights until nine o'clock, and close down all day Wednesday, starting April 4th, and following the pattern until May 17th.

New shopping hours recommended will be: Monday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. with the stores closed all day Wednesday. It is hoped that the new store hours will offer considerable shopping convenience to the farmers in the area as it will enable them to attend the weekly auctions at the Vermilion Auction Market, or, as many of them ship their stock direct to market, and [illegible] time for them to do their shopping.

NOT ALL BUSINESSES AFFECTED

Not all retail businesses in Vermilion will be affected by the change in hours.

Roger Rowe reported to the meeting that Garagemen's Association had held a meeting last night, and was seriously considering a change in the hours of operation. Present plans call for all gas outlets in town to close at [illegible] p.m. nightly except Sundays and holidays with one garage staying open late on these days.

ONLY A RECOMMENDATION

It should be emphasized that the new hours are not binding on any individual firm or group of firms, being simply recommendations.

The lumber yards originally voted to stay closed Tuesday night, but following the Chamber meeting had a further meeting among themselves and decided to give the new hours a trial run of one month staying open on Tuesday nights until 9, and remaining open all day on Wednesday as at present. They will close Saturday afternoons.

Mrs. Edith Brown, Stephens Ltd. Win Rotary Awards

Mrs. Edith Brown, staff member of Stephens Ltd was selected by the Rotary Club committee as winner of the courtesy award for this year.

Rotary President Elmore Stewart made the announcement at last Friday's Rotary luncheon, where Mrs. Brown and her employers, Miss Margaret Stephens and Mrs. Betty Stephens were [illegible].

In the lower picture chairman of the selection committee Gordon Park is presenting a miniature trophy to Mrs. Brown. This trophy is kept by the winner.

A film 'The Invisible Keystone' was shown by arrangements of J.W.G. Morrison, Q.C. chairman of the International Information Committee. It was run off by Alex Palin.

There will be no Rotary meeting on Good Friday.

"Little Royal" Climaxes Agricultural School Year

Saturday afternoon and evening at the Vermilion School of Agriculture were given over to the school's "Little Royal", Achievement Day" and "Colour Night", during which the public had the opportunity to visit the school, see some of the student activities, and the outstanding students were presented with their awards.

The Little Royal, which opened the day's proceedings at 1:00 o'clock, was highlighted by student competition for the Hirsch trophy for ring showmanship. Up for competition for the first time, the trophy was won by Terrance Vickerson of Sexsmith who beat out Romeo Lauzon of La Corey by three points. The winning score for the showing of three animals was 244 points.

In the second event of the day, the judging competitions, first place went to Maynard Jorgenson of [illegible] who won out over [illegible] other contestants. Second place went to Arthur Christensen of Heath and third to David Clovers of Ioco, B.C.

Judges for the showmanship and judging were J. L. [illegible] of Ponoka, Morley Douglas, D.A., and J. F. [illegible] of the V. S. A. staff.

During the time the 76 boys were strutting their stuff in the livestock ring, the school's fourteen girls staged an outstanding show of their year's work in the college building. Many fine examples of clothing, cooking and other activities were on display.

To Build Bridge

The meeting which was held in the school auditorium to discuss the proposed bridge was very well attended. The Hon. Ministers A. O. Aalborg, Gordon Taylor, A. R. [illegible] and the engineer were the speakers and it was thought likely the bridge would be started some time in July of this year and completed in the latter part of 1962. It [illegible] up the river from the town.

After the meeting the party stopped at the ferry building to talk with the ferrymen who were on duty as the cage is now in operation. They also took photographs of the cage running [illegible].

It would appear that everyone was well satisfied with the results of the meeting.

A very nice lunch was served at the conclusion.

Purebred Livestock Sales Scheduled April 27

The Vermilion Agricultural Society is to hold separate sales of purebred hogs and purebred beef cattle, both on Thursday, April 27th. The hog sale at the Vermilion Auction Mart will start promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning, and the cattle sale, at the new agricultural building, will commence at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Society has in mind the distribution of outstanding individuals in this area and all interested in securing good animals are cordially invited to attend the sales.

The sale of hogs was originally set for April 5 and this has been advanced to the morning of April 27, which date should be borne in mind.

Every possible effort is being made to offer only first class animals altogether free from disease of any kind and from premises which bear the stamp of government approval. Papers will in all cases be provided to buyers.

The policy of the Alberta Department of Agriculture to bonus top boars and bulls will be effective for the sales and farmers and ranchers are reminded that this is an excellent opportunity to secure a good quality herd sire or worthwhile female breeding stock.

The Society undertakes by every reasonable manner to make sure that all animals sold are proven breeders and it is one of the conditions under which animals are entered for the annual sales of purebred hogs and cattle.

There would appear to be a ready demand for first class livestock and the Agricultural Society extends an invitation for you to attend and secure [illegible].

Vermilion Rink Wins In Wainwright Spiel

A Vermilion rink skipped by Darrell Currah with John Bereton third, Glen Gibbons second, and Reg Rowe lead dropped the first game in the Wainwright shirtsleeve bonspiel last week, and then went on to win eleven straight games, picking up two firsts and the grand aggregate [illegible].

After losing the first game in the [illegible] Challenge to the Dobre rink of Viking, the Vermilion foursome went on to take the second and third events with eleven wins.

During the week the boys drove almost 500 miles to and from Wainwright.

Incidentally Dobre of Viking, placed second to the Scott rink of Lloydminster in the Vermilion bonspiel a few weeks ago.

Vermilion's other entry in the Wainwright spiel consisting of Mark Norton, Walter Duncan, Orson Church and Austin McKelvey didn't make the prizes.

EASTER . . .

The churches this week-end will be filled with the praises of Easter Day. They will sound a note of triumph in a world that does not really know if it is moving toward or away from God and His peace.

As is the custom, the churches will be filled to the brim with people. Also according to a less laudable custom, they will be "back to normal" a few weeks later.

Why does this happen to the greatest and most meaningful festival of Christianity?

There is no doubt that churches are jammed at Easter partly because of the abiding faith of many in Jesus Christ, the Resurrection and the Life. "Christ is risen!" And the Christian rises to a life of righteousness with Him!

But Easter has become as much a witness to the need of Faith in the world as it is to the possession of Faith. Many are drawn to the side of Jesus at this time, not because He is their avowed Lord and Master, but because the day speaks of a victory that they earnestly desire. In our troubled times, when destruction seems closer than creation, Easter Day is the wish of all people in their right minds. Consequently, the Festival has an audiences which reaches far beyond the perimeter of the devout and worshipping Church.

There are no "short-cuts" to Easter Day. The promise of Easter is vain indeed if it does not also bid us to share in a way of life that leads first to the Cross. When that is done, or at least tried, then we are assured that the triumph of God takes hold upon human life.

Easter can be a real fact in the world. This will happen as we cease to be Easter church-goers and become regular church-goers who "hunger and thirst after righteousness", when we cease to be an audience and become an army.

May the Easter anthems rise in joy from crowded churches! But may they come from hearts and minds dedicated alike to the cross as well as to the empty tomb and ready to clothe aspirations and hopes with sacrifice and service.

Accelerated Construction Program For Highway 41

The Standard adds its voice to that of the M.L.A. and the Chamber of Commerce in asking for an accelerated program on [illegible] Highway 41, and for the hard-surfacing with the double-surface treatment where the completed road so warrants — that is, in brief, in this area. The highways survey crew has worked for some considerable time in this district and this fact gives rise to the hope that the coming season will see some Highway 41 reconstruction immediately north and south of Vermilion.

Congratulations, Livestock Breeders!

The outstanding achievements of livestock breeders of the Vermilion district are a never failing source of amazement, and the Standard this week extends congratulations to Homer Campbell and W. L. Robinson and son Bill, for winning major awards at the Calgary and Edmonton Spring Livestock Shows. These are the biggest events of their kind in Canada with the exception of the Toronto Royal.

Placing well in the prize lists were several other senior and junior exhibitors. With the number of entries at these major Alberta events, competition is exceptionally keen and the winning of an award, or the selling of an animal for higher than average prices, is an outstanding accomplishment.

So hail to our livestock breeders — they are a source of pride to this district!

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

"Mark how fleeting and paltry is the estate of man,— yesterday in embryo, tomorrow a mummy or ashes. So for the hair's-breadth of time assigned to thee live rationally, and part with life cheerfully, as drops the ripe olive, extolling the season that bore it and the tree that matured it."

Marcus Aurelius.

Dewberry Scouts And Cubs Hold Parents' Night

On March 8th the First Dewberry Scout troop and Cub pack held a Parents' Night in the Dewberry hall. This was opened with breaking flag, then the singing of "O Canada".

Mr. J. Whiteside, chairman of the group committee, welcomed the parents and friends of the boys, extending also a special welcome to the special guests District Commissioner David Harrold and Mrs. Harrold and Rev. Mr. Shortt and Mrs. Shortt. Mr. Harrold in his short speech congratulated the boys on their smart appearance and their good attendance.

Under the guidance of assistant scoutmasters Joe Phillips and Jim Hunter and assistant cubmaster Earl Mitchell, the program was well presented and much appreciated by the audience. The few mistakes that were made only added to the fun. These boys have not been organized very long and are to be heartily congratulated on their team work and enthusiasm in Scout activities.

Mr. Gregory, the new C.P.R. agent here, presented his son to the Cub pack for enrollment and he was received as a new Cub. The Grand Howl was then heard, followed by a knotting demonstration by the Scouts. Mr. David Harrold then conducted the boys in games. Slides taken at the Camporee last May at Lake Whitney were shown by Mr. [illegible] and much enjoyed. A mock campfire was held, the Scouts and Cubs singing their campfire songs led by Assistant Scoutmaster Bob Parker. Mr. Harrold presented Bob with his part II basic training certificate.

After the singing of "God Save Our Queen" the ladies served a delicious lunch which was very much enjoyed. It is sincerely hoped another of these fine evenings will be held in the not too distant future.

Again, congratulations to the scoutmaster and assistant scoutmasters and the cubmaster and assistant on the very excellent work being done. Praise is also due to parents of the boys for their help and encouragement.

Happy Centre W.I.

MANNVILLE — The March meeting of Happy Centre W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Osborn with 21 members and 3 visitors present. Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Roll call was "What I wish I could grow," and roses seemed to head the list. A report on the library was heard, and a discussion took place as regards the forthcoming rummage sale, tea and bake sale. It was moved that the W.I. donate a book "The History of Mannville" to the library as soon as it is printed, as well as a gift to the new hospital wing when completed. It was moved that a donation of two packs of cards be made to the old timers' cabin here. Mrs. Blackburn read a portion of "Within Our Borders". Mrs. Scott read an article on gardening and Mrs. O. Younge from the C.A.C. bulletin as regards meat, etc.

It is hoped to have Miss Hooper give a talk on 'Copper Tooling' at the April meeting, or probably 'Huck Weaving'. A quilting party is planned for the near future on a quilt which was donated. After completion it is planned to raffle same. A number of Irish songs were sung at the meeting's conclusion. The group was pleased to welcome Mrs. Federchko as a new member. Pig in the poke was won by Mrs. Herb Sturt. Mrs. Osborn and Mrs. Mercer served a dainty lunch, to end a [illegible] evening.

Most of the support for cancer research in Canada comes from [illegible] contributions collected during April by the Canadian Cancer Society.

GREEN ACRES

SEEDING FORAGE

The grain drill is the most commonly used forage crop seeder. The nurse and forage crop seed are usually mixed in desired proportions and the two operations are done at once. A problem often arises, especially during dry springs, whether to sow deep enough to insure nurse crop germination or shallow enough so the forage crop may emerge. Using grain drills on which the drive can be slowed up sufficiently some farmers sow the nurse crop first and cross drill the forage seed at a shallow depth.

This same technique has been adopted to the conventional drill by cross drilling one-half bushel per acre of nurse crop seed mixed with the forage seed. Grass seeder attachments are available for most grain drills but usually they are better adapted to one grass seed or another and involve further investment. Before a farm operator decides upon what method to use the cost of operating a tractor and drill must be carefully considered. It costs at least $3.00 an hour to operate a modern drill behind the tractor. In view of these high operating costs many farmers have pulled out the fertilizer spouts and slowed down the fertilizer attachment as much as possible. In this manner the clover seed broadcast on the surface while the nurse crop is drilled at a desired depth. This method takes more seed, at least 12 lbs. to the acre but it eliminates a second operation.

The broadcast seeder, a relic of the past has been rejuvenated, mounted on and driven by the tractor. Because of its low initial cost and the high speed of seeding the broadcast seeder is probably the cheapest second operation as yet devised. It is especially reasonable if shared by two or three farmers. The broadcaster puts grass on or near the surface and is used successfully to apply fertilizer to grass land.

MANAGER?

"Who manages your farm?" Some men are rather reluctant to admit the lady of the house is the boss. Probably it would be better to have the lady of the house running things than to make decisions because the neighbors find it profitable. Some people are convinced that the greatest yield per acre or the greatest gain in pounds per day is the most profitable operation. Is it? Recent management studies indicate that many farm families would have had more money to spend at home if they hadn't bought a new tractor just because the neighbors did. In fact an old rule still holds today with regard to going into new enterprises. Ask your neighbors and if enough of them are going into hogs hold the line or get out yourself. This is equally true of rapeseed, flax, sheep, grass seed, or any specialty crop. It is also true that before a farmer (the manager) is satisfied with his production, put a price tag on the produce and a cost tag on the resources involved in production. Do you manage your farm or does some sales pitch on TV help you make your decisions and rid you of surplus income?

REMEMBER THESE DATES

Vermilion bred sow and boar sale at 1 p.m. April 6th at the Vermilion Auction market.

All of these sales are approved by the Alberta Department of Agriculture and any bulls or boars passing through the sale ring are eligible for government assistance.

Mrs. Annie Parr, Dewberry, Celebrates 93rd Birthday

DEWBERRY — On March 11 an enjoyable celebration was held at the home of Mrs. Annie Parr, known to all her friends as "Grandma".

The afternoon passed quickly then the family gathered around the birthday table, which was centred by a birthday cake which had been nicely decorated by Mrs. Spicer. Grandma received many and varied gifts and enjoyed visiting with all present among whom were her three sons, John, Frank and Bert and their wives, Laura (Mrs. Frank Parr), Doris (Mrs. Bert Parr), Mrs. M. Inge, Mrs. Parr's niece of Staplehurst, and Mrs. Inge's son Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spicer, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Sinclair, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wood, Mrs. Pete Hansen. Mrs. Staley was unable to attend owing to a bad cold.

Mrs. Parr is wonderful for her age and takes a keen interest in family and friends. Mrs. Liversedge, Mrs. Parr's sister who lives in New Zealand has recently passed her 90th birthday.

Best wishes Grandma from all your family and friends for good health and future birthdays.

Paradise Valley

Lots of moisture as we write these notes. It is certainly needed as very little snow fell this year. The roads were drying up in good style but now there is plenty of mud again.

Mr. Virgil Phillippe of the Searle Grain Co. has been relieving at Vermilion. The agent at that point being on the sick list.

On Tuesday night the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Stoddart gathered in the community hall to say the best of luck in your new home at Red Deer. Games and dancing were the order of the evening. This popular couple was presented with numerous gifts. The local Legion sponsored the evening. Percy will be missed in the Legion, on the local fire brigade and from many other activities.

We regret to have to report that Mr. Joseph Knor and Colin Hargest are both patients in the Lloydminster hospital. Mr. Knor had to be rushed in on Sunday morning for treatment.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vice on the birth of a son, born in the Lloydminster hospital on March 19th.

A touring team from Naramata will be at the United church on April 20th. The speakers will be Natalie Jeswak and Waynes Borden.

The meeting in the United church with Rev. Jackson Stapp which was to have been held April 5th has been postponed until further notice.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Shouldice of Virden, Man., on the birth of a daughter born March 22. Mrs. Shouldice was the former Gloria Elliott.

Film Shown After Anglican Service

MANNVILLE — Following the mid-week Lenten service at Anglican Christ church, Mannville on Wednesday, March 22nd, a film was shown to members of the Anglican and United church members which was vitally interesting from its historical content. The film was entitled "The Four Religions" and covered Hinduism, Buddhism, Christianity and Islam. World famous historian and scholar Dr. Arnold Toynbee commented on these religions which have been fully covered at the Lenten services by Rev. Harry Shell of the Anglican church. A very good turn-out was noted.

W.A. To Stage Tea And Baby Show

MANNVILLE — When we think of Mothers we naturally think of babies also and in conjunction with this thought the United Church W.A. is having a Baby Show along with the Mothers' Day Tea on May 13th in the United Church Social Rooms.

All mothers with babies are welcome and the ages of these sweet bundles from Heaven may range from newborn to two years. It will be interesting to see whose baby can crawl the fastest, has the most teeth and which one can make the most noise. We feel this will be a most popular event and should be well patronized.

Irish Tea Held

MANNVILLE — Members of United Church W.A. sponsored a successful tea and bake sale on Saturday, March [illegible] in the social rooms. Guests were greeted at the door and Irish Colleens of the Hi-C group waited on tables and served the tea which had that "Irish look". Tables were tastefully decorated with Shamrock motif, matched also by the serviettes.

Judging from the large crowd assembled at this affair it was no secret that another success would be chalked up for this enterprising group of ladies.

At the bake table a well known lady from the Emerald Isle, Mrs. McCauley, presided over the sale of goodies.

"Surely He has borne our griefs and carried our sorrows." —Isaiah 53:4.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Elizabeth Stewart and J. French

At a double ring ceremony in St Saviour's Anglican church, Miss Grace Elizabeth Margaret Stewart, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs W Fred Stewart became the bride of Mr John Edward French, son of Mr and Mrs. Freeman J. French, all of Vermilion.

Canon D Ford of Calgary conducted the service in which the bride was given in marriage by her father.

For her wedding, the bride wore a full-length gown of peau de soie en train and her chapel veil was held by a coronet of seed pearls. She wore long kid gloves and carried her white CGIT Bible mounted with a mauve orchid and Sweetheart roses.

Miss Patricia Stewart was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Connie Stewart, cousin of the bride, Laurier Edey and Joanne Mitchell. Their identical cocktail-length dresses were in mauve organza, complemented by white accessories and mauve headpieces. Each carried a cascade bouquet of daffodils and heather. Their gifts from the bride were [illegible] pendants.

Flowergirl was Susan Novak dressed in a yellow organza frock and yellow head bandeau. She carried a nosegay of white mums.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. A. West and as the bride came up the aisle the bridal party turned to greet her. Soloist was Mrs. E. Edey, singing "The Wedding Prayer".

Mr Dwight French was his brother's best man and guests were ushered by Mr Peter Stewart, Mr Jerry Stewart, cousins of the bride, and Mr Garnett Gunn.

The mother of the bride was dressed in a navy blue sheath dress with bone accessories and a pink hat. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Mrs. French chose a jacket and dress ensemble of light blue lace with which she wore pink carnations en corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where one hundred and seventy five signed the guest book of which Miss Marie Huckvale of Edmonton was in charge.

A three-tiered wedding cake banked with mauve tulle and sprigs of heather, graced the table. Mr. Reg Mitchell proposed the toast to the bride.

For going away the bride changed to a navy sheath of shantung, white hat and gloves, complemented by purse and shoes of watermelon shade.

Upon their return from a honeymoon in Kalispell, Mr. and Mrs. French will make their home in Vermilion.

The 51st anniversary of the Birch Lake Lodge No. 63, I.O.O.F., was celebrated at a banquet held in the evening of March 16th in the I.O.O.F hall, Innisfree. Past Grand Master L. A. Hillier and District Deputy Grand Master R. R. Cameron were featured as special guests and spoke to a large audience during the program following the banquet.

A delicious turkey and ham banquet to mark the 51st anniversary was prepared by the wives of the I.O.O.F. Lodge members, and by the ladies of the Minburn-Innisfree Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. W. D. Tym and Mrs. A. Spevakow undertook the task of convening for the anniversary banquet to which close to 200 people attended.

Visitors, representing I.O.O.F. and Rebekah Lodges from Killam, Sedgewick, Ryley, Vermilion and the Edmonton Lodges, brought greetings, best wishes and congratulations to the Birch Lake Lodge on the occasion of its 51st anniversary.

The program also featured Donald Lutzak, a candidate for the Mannville-Minburn-Innisfree Zone competition in oral speaking for the annual United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth to the United Nations Organization in New York. Bride-Elect Of April Is Feted

Mrs. Myrtle Senz and Mrs. Joan Kowalchuk were co-hostesses at the home of Mrs. Senz on Friday evening, March 24th, when twenty-six ladies gathered to fete Miss Mary Gibson, bride-elect of April 5th. After several contests Mary was presented with a gaily decorated grocery cart filled with many useful gifts wheeled in by Karen Hemmingway and Marilyn Senz. After the gifts were opened and admired, Mary graciously thanked the guests. A delicious lunch was then served to bring a delightful evening to a close.

On Saturday evening, March 25th, Miss Doreen Martin held a shower at her home in honor of Miss Mary Gibson. As the guests were school pals and old friends a quiet evening was spent visiting and reminiscing. The bride-elect was presented with many beautiful and useful gifts. As each gift was opened Mary made a wish for each guest and many are looking forward to fur coats and holiday trips. The evening was brought to a close by the serving of a dainty and delicious lunch.

ALLANDALE

Rain and several inches of wet snow came on the 24th. Prior to this main roads were dry in several places.

Gophers and crows have been seen, and starlings. The latter are akin to crows and are not a native bird of North America. They were brought over from England, only a few pairs, to the New England States by some misguided person and have since spread right across the continent at a rapid pace. Appear early.

Belated congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Armstrong of town on their 40th wedding anniversary, March 29th.

Frank Schmidt of Canadian Utilities, stationed at Lloydminster, has been transferred to Drumheller, to leave around the first of April. Helen and family may remain in Lloydminster until the end of the school term.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lacusta and son Owen were at the home of Mrs. Lacusta's parents the week-end of the 23rd. Peter spent some of the time at Two Hills. They returned home on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Nelson and Leslie also went to Lloydminster for Sunday.

Men, Isidore Nelson, Norman Cusack, Vincent Cusack. Pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cusack, son Vincent and Norman Cusack join us for the evening.

We are fortunate in having church service in Clandonald conducted by Rev. C. H. Miller of First United church in Vermilion. His sermon was very appropriate and inspiring on the 26th. Miss Margaret Laird was organist. Let us all go to the church of our choice on Easter Sunday and throughout the year. Easter is a day to celebrate life, not death. It speaks of tomorrow, not yesterday. It is the day of the Lord, not a night of doom.

Traces of rain and snow fell throughout the week, with .41 of rain on Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Fred Goddard very ably kept the ladies, about seventy-five in number, busy with contests and games, which ended by all writing good advice for the bride-elect on clothespins and initialling it. All pins were then put in a pretty clothespin bag and presented to Marilyn. Following this, Mrs. Goddard, with a few well-chosen words, on behalf of the ladies, presented the bride-elect with beautifully wrapped parcels on a decorated table and background of flowers and streamers.

United Church Ladies Hold Busy Session

The regular meeting of the First United Church W.A. was held in the church hall March 14 at 8 p.m. with the president, Mrs. Herbert, addressing the 27 ladies present and extending them a warm welcome.

The devotional was led by Mrs. John David and Mrs. Herbert. A Bible reading followed by the W.A. creed and hymn. An article on "Faith" was given, followed by hymns 263 and 380, and prayer. Minutes of the February meeting and the special business executive meeting were read and accepted. Treasurer's report was given in detail and 'carried'. New and old business: That a tea and bazaar be held May 13th; that mileage expenses be paid to one car driver; buy fifty new hymnarys; hold a rummage sale in April and pay for cleaning of choir gowns. All carried.

Church and manse conveners were able to report that the kitchen and hallways are tiled now and that a kitchen cleaning bee will take place Wednesday. Several suggestions re manse kitchen were brought to the group's attention.

Mrs. Geo. Webb asked that we all do our part on visitations, or contact her when necessary.

Mrs. Barr gave a short resume on the ninth annual W.A. Presbytery meeting dealing with the new United Church Women's organization. The forty-two locals are now zoned and the seven zones will be headed by one or more presbytery officers to help explain the U.C.W.

Following the business meeting, the president introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Clarke, who gave us a short history on Oriental floral arrangements, as depicted by the artistry of the Japanese. Several charcoal drawings were also on display, giving proper spacing dimensions. The main theme throughout all flower arrangements is one of extreme simplicity.

A very enjoyable W.A. meeting was brought to a close around the tea table. Several new members were added to the ever-increasing list. Bazaar material may be had by contacting Mrs. Jack Marfleet.

"IT WILL ALWAYS DO TO CHANGE FOR THE BETTER"
James Thompson (1700-1748)
The pharmaceutical manufacturers are engaged in a continuous search to find better drugs. No matter how good any medicine works, they are always trying to create a newer one that will be still more effective.
Each year we destroy medicines which have been replaced by others. They have become worthless. When you consider the research cost of producing new drugs and losses from obsolete ones, it is amazing the average cost of all prescriptions is only about $3.00.

Prior to their departure to take up residence in the Flaxcombe, Sask., district, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Francisco were honored by members and friends of the Alliance Chapel. After the evening service, Sunday, March 19th a large group gathered in the basement auditorium of the church, lunch was served, and Pastor J. M. Schroeder presented the young couple with a token of the esteem in which they are held by the Chapel. Mr. and Mrs. Francisco suitably replied.

Both services of the day were taken by the Pastor, speaking in the morning on the subject "Spiritual Identification" and in the evening on "I have a message from God unto Thee." This was "Stay to Church" Sunday and there was a special message for the younger people in the morning service. In the evening service a special guest was Miss Cora Harris, formerly of the congregation, at present home on missionary furlough from Japan, she gave a very interesting testimony and account of her many experiences. Music for the service was provided by Miss Margaret McLennan, and Miss Dorothy Grinde, vocal solos, and by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Francisco a vocal duet.

Out of town visitors in the services were: Miss Cora Harris, Three Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robinson and family; Miss Evelyn Hetherington, Wainwright; Hazel Habstritt, Edmonton; Sylvia Dibben, Margaret Sturt and Mr. and Mrs. Weiss, Lloydminster; also Gilbert Giesbrecht and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Walde and two sons, Saskatoon, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Heppner.

It was announced that the film "Power of the Resurrection" will be shown at A. Y. F. Good Friday, March 31st, with special musical programs on Easter Sunday.

The Salvation Army

Services at The Salvation Army on Sunday were conducted by the corps officer, Lieut. D. Reynolds. In the morning, the band gave a helpful message in its rendition of "Take Time to be Holy" and the officer's topic was "Faith to Follow Blindly". Visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Stan Geake from Edmonton.

In the evening, the Lieutenant took for his text "Thou art the Man", and the orchestra's contribution "Numberless as the Sands" added to the inspiration of the service.

The Senior Youth Group sponsored a successful Irish stew supper and donated the proceeds to the Corps Building Fund. This fund was considerably helped recently by an anonymous gift of $100.00.

The Senior Youth Group will also be travelling to Edmonton this Saturday to present an original play "The City" at the Salvation Army Youth Councils for Northern Alberta.

HIGH SCHOOL HI-LITES

Split Ball Honors

Kitscoty high school girls and Vermilion high school boys split championship honors in the basketball play-offs in Vermilion.

The Kitscoty girls had little trouble in disposing of their opposition, while the V.H.S. boys' team took its championship by downing Kitscoty in the first game, and then copping the title by besting Lloydminster.

The high school students wish to thank Mr. E. Schurman for the loan of his public address system and Mr. W. Pettigrew for the loan of his Model A car, both of which were used in publicizing the play-offs.

Vermilion School of Agriculture students were guests at a dance held recently by the local high school students. The V.S.A. Saints provided music for part of the evening.

Last Friday the drama club of the high school held a very successful drama night when members presented four one-act plays. One of the plays, The Dear Departed, will be the V.H.S. entry in the Tofield drama festival.

The Vermilion high school bonspiel will be held on Saturday, March 25th at the Vermilion Curling Club rink.

NEWS from ISLAY

(Held over from last week)

We were glad to hear news of Mrs. Creasy (Mrs. Bob Davies) in New Westminster when Mrs. Sylvia Gould had a recent letter.

Well, our curling women are now through for the season. They finished up at Vermilion but fortune failed to smile on them.

Mrs. Bob Sheppard entertained at dinner for her mother's birthday, having the Axley family and Sheppard family as guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Beck were in Edmonton at the week-end and visited Keith Burt. They report a bit of improvement, and that he is more cheerful. His wife has been with him for the past couple of weeks.

April 2 church service time is 2 p.m., and will be held at that time for the next three months. It is Easter Day service.

CONCERT ENJOYED

The Gay Nineties concert on Friday was really personified when Mr. Bowser, 90 past, in a lively manner, played two old tunes on the mouth organ. That was one of the surprises we were promised, and the other was when Mrs. Sylvia Gould, an elocutionist of early days, gave three of her favorites, never missing a word — a great memory. Another surprise was Nora Ronaghan, whom some of us had never seen on the Islay stage. Great talent was brought to light with this program under the leadership of Mrs. Bill Waterfield. The costumes were typical, also the songs, dances, the waltz, seven step, etc. The 4-H girls portrayed "The Wedding of the Painted Doll", their costumes were pretty and added color to the program. The "Barber Shop" quartet, Bill McLean, Ralph Anderson, Harold Roebuck and Jack Hurst excelled, and so did the soloists Mrs. Axley, Jack Hurst, Ralph Anderson and Harold Roebuck. Mrs. Ronaghan and Ralph Anderson really made Silas and Mirandy live again; Richard Sweet and Mrs. Ronaghan certainly brought back the "Merry Oldsmobile" — Nora, with early day experience, could really use the old air pump on the blown out tire. Others in the cast were Mrs. Dave Martin, Mrs. Schaffer, Mrs. Bill Hancock, Mrs. Bill King, Mrs. Bob Sheppard, Mr. Bill Hancock, not forgetting the two humorists, Gordon Gould and Ev Inman, who made a lively time in between acts with jokes and music; and one they couldn't have done without was the artist, Mrs. Alex Linton, who applied the touch of youth to each. It was a very enjoyable evening. Lunch was served after the show and folks had time for a visit, some who hadn't seen each other in a long time. The hall was filled. The group has three invitations to present the program. Members and directors of the Gay Nineties wish to thank all the people for attending and showing their appreciation.

Health Unit Notes

The many different types of anemia fall roughly into two broad classifications:

(a) Anemias in which the red cells are abnormally large and contain an abnormally large amount of haemoglobin.

(b) Anemias in which the red cells are abnormally small or are normal in size but deficient in haemoglobin.

Anemias in the second class include those caused by a deficiency of iron and other blood-building substances (the so-called "nutritional anemias"). Iron deficiency anemia is fairly common in infancy, early childhood and about the age of puberty.

Examination of a blood specimen is the only sure way of telling whether a child is anemic and, if so which one of the manifold forms of anemia is present.

The name leukemia means literally "white blood". It was invented about a century ago by Rudolph Virchow, a famous German pathologist, who found some cases in which the blood had turned white as a result of the replacement of red cells by white one. Actually, cases of leukemia in which this phenomenon occurs are extremely rare. In many cases, however, the blood is paler than normal, because the wild uncontrolled overgrowth of the white blood cells crowds out the red cells and eventually destroys their manufacturing centres and those of the blood platelets as well.

Largely because of the decrease in deaths from the communicable diseases of childhood, leukemia (classified under cancer) has advanced to second place in the ranks of the leading causes of death in the school age (5 to 19). It is one of the diseases for which there is as yet no cure. However it is being intensively studied with good hope that some day some group of workers will "hit the jackpot".

CHANGES IN SKIN COLOR

Changes in skin color is usually associated with blood disorders.

PALLOR: In the popular mind pallor is so often associated with anemia that it is tempting to think or say of any persistently pale child that he is 'anemic'. As a matter of fact, the color of the blood may be normal, greatly reduced or raised, according to the type of anemia from which an individual is suffering.

While pallor is frequently misleading as an indication that anemia is present or, if so, in what degree it exists, its presence is a valuable diagnostic aid to the physician. The history of its onset as obtained from parents is occasionally vague and unsatisfactory, especially in the chronic forms of anemia. Physiological adjustments in chronic anemia may be so efficient that physical activity can be carried out for long periods of time with a decidedly lowered haemoglobin level. Hence, a teacher who observes that a child is beginning to look paler than usual and seems tired or generally not up to par will be doing that child a great service by referring him to the public health nurse who in turn will see that the child is referred for a medical examination.

Vermilion Member Reviews Constituency Matters In Provincial Legislature

(concluded from last week)

NEW AGRICULTURE AND RECREATION CENTRE

In Vermilion the recreation grant of $32,400 was donated towards a new agricultural and recreational centre costing $234,000. This building is of all-steel construction, with a seating capacity of 2300. It has every facility for livestock displays and sales, 4-H Club shows, and meetings as well as an arena rink. This is quite an exceptional building and an ambitious undertaking. It is now completed.

I thought that you would be interested in the changing face of the Vermilion constituency, much of it brought about as a result of these grants by the Alberta Government. The expenditures were not large, but they provided the incentive for accomplishing much more than the sums would indicate.

VERMILION VALLEY LODGE

I purposely omitted mention of the Vermilion Valley Lodge, our senior citizens' home. I visited the guests there on numerous occasions and they are very happy indeed. We feel that we were fortunate in our choice of matron and staff. While the number of guests has not as yet reached 50 per cent of the capacity, ratepayers of the Vermilion River M.D. apparently do not object to paying the present deficit on operation, as at the annual meeting three weeks ago they voted in favor of opening a second senior citizens 'lodge in the same M.D., located at Lloydminster, a building which is now nearing completion.

I do have a few troubles, Mr. Speaker, which I wish to mention. They are not connected subjects, so that I shall jump quickly from one to another.

PEDLARS and HAWKERS

The first one concerns growing activities of large city firms in sending out pedlars and hawkers to neighboring towns, and selling their products from door to door. The council of the Town of Vermilion, supported by the councils of many other towns and villages, in an effort to protect small industries and manufacturing plants located in practically every town in the province, is asking that a change be made in the Town and Village Act to protect such enterprises from door-to-door hawking and peddling from these large city-located firms. While this is particularly applicable at the present time to bakeries, dry cleaning and printing firms it could quite conceivably grow to include other lines.

The Vermilion council feels that a town licence be compulsory before such a pedlar or hawker can operate in a town, and that granting or otherwise of such a licence be left to the discretion of the council of each town. At the present time, there is no choice but to grant such a licence.

Peddling and hawking from the larger cities can be disastrous to small industry in our town, and with the hard-surfaced roads now reaching out in every direction from the cities the practice could reach disastrous proportions into every line of manufacturing and retailing.

VERMILION SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

I would like to quote now from the Budget. This appears under the Department of Agriculture, and will lead up to my remarks on the Vermilion School of Agriculture. I quote:

"Farming today is an industry requiring the proper use of land, control of agricultural pests and a knowledge of modern techniques to economically raise, harvest and market crops and livestock." (end of quote).

Every farmer faces the problem of changes today. Technical advances and new marketing methods call for new knowledge, new expenditures, expanded production programs. It is almost impossible for the individual farmer to keep pace, and yet he must try to keep up with the changes, which are the root of many problems of low farm income and the cost-price squeeze.

"Adjustment" is the watchword today, the key to farming's future; and I do believe that valuable leadership and education can be given at our provincial schools of agriculture, and that, realizing this, there will be a revival of interest in these schools. Therefore I do think that this government should be cautious in any steps at this time which would curtail the services being rendered.

Attendance at times at the schools has been disappointing, but with what amounts to practically a crisis in our farming world, there should be a resurgence of interest in the agricultural colleges. I sincerely hope so.

Possibly we ourselves, the Government, are in some measure to blame for low attendances. The courses of studies at the schools are studied and revised each year, so are kept right abreast of all new developments, trends and techniques in the field of Agriculture. But unfortunately, not the same can be said for the physical plant, the buildings, labs, barns . . . the building program has lagged far, far behind that of every other line of education in the province. No new major additions, replacements and remodelling has been done for many years. Not since 1948 have additional facilities been provided, and these were the conversion of war time buildings to school use, chiefly a drill hall which made a wonderful building for farm mechanics. So, because of the lack of a modernization program, the present buildings, both in condition and design, are generally much below the standard of present day educational institutions; consequently they just might not be too attractive to the young people who should attend.

Before leaving the V.S.A., I would like to commend those responsible for the landscaping and care of lawns, flowers, shrubs and trees. The grounds provide the finest show place on highway 16 and are plainly visible to passing motorists.

NEED IN PARK LAKE MORE WATER IS VITAL

We are indebted to the Hon. Minister of Lands and Forests for a well-developed and beautiful provincial park of some 2400 acres, built up around the shores of an artificial lake. This lake is right on the front doorstep of the town of Vermilion. The park attracts tourists from all over North America. Every convenience has been built there by the Parks Department, trailer park, tenting grounds, public laundry and showers, bath houses, piers, beaches, band shell, playground and equipment, games for the adults — we lack nothing except another foot or two of water in our lake. The water level is controlled by a dam and a variable spillway. Every fall the water level is drastically lowered, and the result is that during the winter we lose all the fish in the lake, we lose all the spring run-off and the water level is low all summer when we need it high for boating, fishing and swimming. There is fully five feet of dike that hasn't been wet for five years, and all I ask is one more foot of water, which can be done with the present dike and spillway. Engineers state that due to the narrow valley, a "flash" flood could easily occur, or that in the spring a sudden break-up could fill the lake at short notice; consequently, provision must be made against such emergencies. Now, Mr. Speaker no doubt the engineers are correct, and such things are possible — but, I have lived overlooking that valley for forty years, and I have yet to see even an excuse for a "flash" flood, nor have I ever seen a spring break-up that didn't take weeks, and so is easily controlled at the spillway.

The Department of Lands and Forests has spent tens of thousands of dollars in developing a fine and popular provincial park, all it lacks is the water, which can be supplied without costing the budget one cent — and I appeal to the Minister of Water Resources and to the Minister of Lands and Forests to give me just one more foot of water for my lake — to complete a perfect picture!

NEW HIGHWAY INTO HOLIDAY COUNTRY NORTH

I wish to bring to the attention of the Hon. Minister of Highways the need for an accelerated program on building highway 41 and for the hard-surfacing with the double - surface treatment where the completed road so warrants. This highway, reaching as it does from the international border south of Medicine Hat, north through the eastern part of the province, into the fine holiday country of lovely lakes and good fishing lying north of the Saskatchewan River in the Constituencies of St. Paul, Bonnyville and Lac La Biche, will tap a flow of United States tourists into this fisherman's paradise which presently goes to Saskatchewan, and then north in to the Waskesiu and Lac La Ronge areas. This highway in the eastern half of our province will, when completed, cross and tap no less than seven east-west Alberta highways. We are quite pleased to see that one of the big obstacles of construction on this road, that of a bridge over the South Saskatchewan, is well underway at Sandy Point.

HIGHWAY 45

My people in the Eagle M.D. are also asking that double-surface hard-topping be applied to highway 45, with a start made on stretches of the highway which will require no change of route. This is a much-used highway serving the well-populated area of the northern half of my constituency.

FARM PURCHASE CREDIT ACT

To return to problems created by money, or lack of it, I wish to commend the Department of Agriculture for the introduction of the Farm Purchase Credit Act introduced in 1958. Apparently there was a real need for this act, and its provisions have provided the means whereby many young farmers have been able to commence operations of their own; at the same time, those who wished to retire were thus able to do so.

APPLICATIONS INCREASING

The proof of the value of an act is the use made of it, and the flow of applications under the Farm Purchase Credit Act appears to be continually increasing. This is evidenced by the fact that 154 applications were approved in 1958, 301 in 1959 and 455 during 1960 in the province.

FARM HOME IMPROVEMENT ACT

The following are the loans made under the Farm Home Improvement Act in the province: 1959 — 32 loans valued at $50,675; 1960 — 87 loans valued at $134,365. Total: 119 loans valued at $185,040. The first loan under this act was granted in October, 1959 and there appears to be a fairly steady flow of applications.

$800 MILLION PER YEAR IN INTEREST

I cannot help but wonder if people, apart from Social Crediters, ever worry about the staggering amounts we Canadians pay out for the privilege of using our own credit. The Canadian national debt is now $20 billion, and rising all the time, but let us take a look at the interest — the amount we pay for the use of our own credit — and, remember, the payment of this interest has priority over all payments, it is the first debt paid. The interest on this Canadian debt is eight hundred million dollars per year. This breaks down into $66,666,666, every month, or $2,222,222 each and every day paid out for the use of our own credit. Think of all the worthwhile public works which could be carried out for that amount; think of the jobs which could be created; think of all the unemployment and suffering which could be alleviated. $800 million a year out of tax revenue to pay for the use of our own credit!

HOPEFUL SIGNS

There are, however, hopeful signs, as witness this which appeared in an article in the Financial Post, March 11, 1961. The article is under the caption of "Where are the Jobs for our Teen-agers?" in that column headed "Nation's Business", and deals with the post-war population explosion. I would recommend that you read the entire article, but the closing paragraph states:

"Plainly, the surge of young people into the work force provides Canada with a magnificent opportunity for growth and prosperity. But it would be tragic if the chance were missed because the government — which, after all, is the pace-setter for the economy — is too loaded with archaic ideas to do some free - wheeling and pragmatic thinking."

Adherents of old line parties have difficulty grasping theories from this side of the House, that we are striving for a better way of life for our people. Hoping to reach them, I am going to resort to poetry, and close with a little poem. It is called "Ode to the Daring", and has on occasion been quoted on the floor of the House of Commons:

TO THE DARING

The things that haven't been done before
Those are the things to try.
Columbus dreamed of an unknown shore
At the rim of the far flung sky,
And his heart was bold, and his faith was strong
As he ventured in dangers new,
And he paid no heed to the jeer-
ing throng
Or the fears of the doubting crew.

The many will follow the beaten track
With guide posts along the way,
They live and for ages back
Have a chart for every day.
Someone has told them it is safe to go
On the road he has travelled o'er
And all that they ever strove to know
Are the things that were known before.

The things that haven't been done before
Are the tasks worth while today.
Are you one of the flock that follows
Or, are you one that shall lead
the way?
Are you one of the timid souls
that quail
At the jeers of the doubting crew
Or, dare you whether you win or fail
Strike out for the goal that is new?

Heavy Piglet Litter

MARWAYNE. — On the farm of Joe. Hale recently, a purebred Lacombe sow, in her first litter, gave birth to ten pigs. The average weight of these being 4.3 pounds. Two of the little porkers weighed in at five pounds each. According to statistics the average weight of Lacombes are 2.9 pounds and Yorkshires 2.5, so these pigs are certainly away to a good start.

Two-Price System for Wheat Brings Forth Lengthy Debate In Alberta Legislature

By Ross Sheppard

The plight of farmers being caught in the cost-price squeeze and not receiving a fair share of the national income produced the lengthiest debate in the Legislature last week. Discussion centred on a resolution introduced by M. Kelts (SC—Acadia-Coronation) and seconded by Chester Sayers (SC—Camrose) calling for a two-price system for the sale of Canadian wheat. The mover and seconder saw no reason why such a system couldn't work with a fair minimum price for domestic sales and a lower price for sale on the world market at a competitive price.

Mr. Kelts said agriculture is the oldest and most important industry but farmers are not receiving a fair share of the national income. He quoted a number of examples of the farmer not receiving proper payment for his produce. One example was that the label on a can of tomatoes cost three times what the farmer was paid for the tomatoes.

Charlie Johnston (SC-Calgary) said agriculture was the only industry not protected by tariffs.

Premier E. C. Manning, like many other speakers across Canada today, was critical of the Conservative government. He said that when the Conservatives were in the opposition they favored a two-price system for wheat, but now that they are in office they suddenly find many difficulties in instituting the system. "Farmers face many problems", Mr. Manning said. He also expressed the view that we would not be facing the marketing problems today if we arranged the necessary lines of credit to needy nations so they could purchase our products and relieve the hunger and privation that exists.

Earl Ansley (Ind. SC-Leduc) said he was not too optimistic that the two-price system would work. Agriculture Minister Halmrast said that farmers are seriously concerned about being caught in the "cost - price" squeeze. Farmers are looking around for the answer, according to Mr. Halmrast, and feel the two-price system would be of benefit. Henry Ruste SC-Wainwright) and Joe Scruggs (SC-Dunvegan) pointed to low farm income. Mr. Scruggs spoke of a farmer with a $48,0000 investment in his farm getting only an $1800 net return in a year. The farmer could invest the money outside agriculture and do better. Mr. Ruste pointed to the salaries of teachers and others and questioned:

"Is it any wonder young people leave the farm?"

Glenn Johnson (SC-Ponoka) said the problems of agriculture would be solved if the Bank of Canada was ordered to print a run of money to cover the situation.

The Legislature gave itemized study of departmental estimates during the week without any major problems arising but discussion covered a wide range of topics.

Editorials in newspapers, the CBC and statements by two University of Alberta professors, brought strong criticism from the Agriculture Minister Leonard Halmrast who is also Minister for Civil Defence, and from Premier Manning.

DEFEND CIVIL DEFENCE

During consideration of appropriations of $379,000 for civil defence, Mr. Halmrast said that newspapers had ridiculed civil defence as being utter confusion, while two university professors had advocated co-existence and said that if nuclear war occurred, we would all be burned up. Mr. Halmrast said "you know who else preaches co-existence". The Premier said there is no defence against a direct hit but there is defence against radiation fallout. The impression is being conveyed, he said, that there is no defence against fallout. In Russia, where they preach co-existence, steps have been taken to provide protection from nuclear fallout for two-thirds of the people. Premier Manning also charged the CBC with being the worst offender in belittling CD efforts. Ernest Watkins (PC-Calgary) noted the House was united in feeling the need for civil defence.

NEW SCHOOL PLANNED FOR HANDICAPPED CHILDREN

During consideration of expenditures totalling almost $70,000,000 for education the minister, A. O. Aalborg, said a new school for handicapped children was being planned and it would be located in southwest Edmonton near the School for the Deaf. The new school would serve the physically handicapped and the emotionally disturbed. Debate centered on the new education foundation program with the minister saying there are still a number of unknowns in the program and details could not be itemized at this time. He said formulae would be sent to the schoolboards shortly after Apr. 1st, and in a short time schoolboards would be given a quarter of the requisition to carry on operations.

Michael Maccagno (Lib.-Lac La Biche) charged that Mr. Aalborg was going ahead with a program about which he isn't sure.

WALKING IN DARKNESS

Ernest Watkins (PC-Calgary) said the Government was in the process of walking through the woods in darkness and won't know until the end of the year where or how they will come out. Earl Ansley (Ind SC-Leduc) said he was disturbed and disappointed in the lack of detail, and suggested schoolboards would have to impose additional requisitions to meet increased education costs.

ASKS MINISTER TO RESIGN

This week also saw a second remand from Ernest Watkins for Education Minister Aalborg to resign. Mr. Watkins entered a motion calling for courses in Junior and Senior high schools designed to develop the natural talents and abilities of students and also to equip them to follow academic, technical or vocational courses according to abilities and interest.

Mr. Watkins spoke of the Cameron Royal Commission report on education, saying it was wishy-washy and unclear as to what it proposes. He said it was written by a "committee mind" with no clear-cut language or recommendations and that it compared unfavorably with the Royal Commission reports on education in B.C. and Manitoba and he hit out at Alberta for delaying action on our report. He charged that Mr. Aalborg was bound up on committees to such an extent that he couldn't make decisions and in this was failing in his duty to the people and the Legislature. He asked the minister to resign. Earlier in the session Mr. Watkins had made the same request and the minister had replied he would be glad to do so if it would solve the problems. On this last occasion Mr. Aalborg was not in the House, having gone to Banff to address a meeting of the Federation of Home and School Associations. Premier Manning went to his minister's defence, saying the criticisms were unfair and anyone who wants public recognition is sure to obtain same if he stands up to condemn education.

ATHABASCA OIL SANDS

"Experiments and tests undertaken with the Athabasca oil sands in the McMurray area of northeastern Alberta have proven oil can be produced from the sands at a competitive price with well-produced oil." Replying to questions during consideration of estimates for the Department of Mines and Minerals, Mr. Manning made the comment quoted, but he added "we are in no rush because of the present oil market situation". Questioned concerning the prospects of an atomic blast below the surface of the oil sands as a means of separating the oil, Mr. Manning said: "In our view it is a proper peaceful use of atomic energy but the blast has been delayed in view of the ban on atomic devices."

NO HOPE OF END OF THE SESSION BY EASTER

Seventy-seven bills have been introduced in the House this session leaving a large amount of work to be done as the Legislature must give clause by clause study to each. This has practically eliminated any hope members have had of finishing the session before Easter.
